The sessions will be held in the high school auditorium at Winters and visitors will be welcome as long as there is space in the auditorium. Special groups will render numbers and a large chorus of several hundred voices will be heard in chorus singing under different leaders.

216 Children Receive Diphtheria "Shots"

Local physicians completed giving the first dose of toxin anti-toxin against diphtheria in the primary building of the Ballinger schools Thursday morning. The work was sponsored by the local Parent-Teacher Association who furnished free serum and the doctors administered the dose free with the assistance of the county health nurse and the health committee of the P-T-A.

A total of 216 children took the first dose this week and the work will be extended next week to the fourth grade and also to the pre-school children of the town. Only two children of the 216 cried when the needle was stuck in their arms. Teachers had talked to the children and prepared them for the experience and each child bravely marched to the doctor and held his arm up for the treatment.

At first it was thought that possibly 75 children in the primary building would take the treatment but as the campaign progressed many parents signed slips authorizing their children to receive the inoculation until practically all were included in the list.

An average of four children to the room did not take the first dose as their parents were not willing for them to have the treatment. A large number had already been to their physicians this year and last year and received the permanent immunization and were not required to take it or the rest this year.

Legion to Elect Officers Oct. 20

The Pat Williams Post of the American Legion will hold a county wide meeting here Monday night, October 20, at which time the annual report of activities of the post will be heard and new officers elected for the coming year. Dr. J. W. Macune has served the post for the past twelve months as commander, and Tom Caudle as adjutant. L. R. Tigner has served as finance officer for the past two years.

Aside from the reports to be submitted by the outgoing officers a number of problems that confront the Legion will be discussed among them being ways and means of continuing to operate their home, the library, a public auditorium and matters pertaining to the house. Finances have not been so good this year and the Legionnaires have been confronted with a big monthly expense that is hard to meet and is something that must be solved by the membership.

About three years ago the post moved into the Carnegie building here and started an improvement program that ran well over $5,000. The auditorium of that building had never been completed and one of the first moves by the Legion was to install an inclined floor, build a more modern stage, and repaint the entire building inside and out as well as do much repair work to walls and roof. At one time an order was given for $1,200 worth of scenery for the stage, and a velvet front curtain. Four hundred and twenty-five opera chairs were purchased at a cost of approximately $2,000. Later gas was piped into the building and many such improvements made.

By annual shows and money secured from the membership the debt incurred has been paid but expenses of maintaining, insurance, keeper, etc., go on and with a smaller membership than in other years have become burdensome.

The Legion has not been selfish with the use of the building but it has been used for any free gathering with janitor service, lights, heat and everything else furnished free. For attractions offering a performance with a paid admission, the house has been let at actual cost.

The meeting here on October 20 will be open for the general public and friends of the Legion are invited to attend and take a part in the discussions.

Between now and that time Adjutant Caudle will mail each member of the organization a card reminding him of the time and place.

Plan to Organize Humane Society

Ballinger people interested in organizing a humane society for prevention of cruelty to animals are asked to assemble at the chamber of commerce offices Monday afternoon. A number of cases where such an organization would have been called upon for action have been reported lately and the growing need for such an organization has caused a number of local men to ask for an opportunity to belong.

Practically every town has such a body thoroughly organized and ready to receive complaints when dumb animals are punished or mistreated in any way. A committee of the organization investigates such complaints and demands better treatment of animals and unless the owners cooperate, then charges are filed and prosecution started with members of the organization making witnesses for the state.

Women are invited to attend the meeting for the purpose of organization as well as men. In fact anyone interested in the protection of dumb animals and who want to see them properly treated has an invitation to be at the meeting.

The matter of an organization will be discussed before any officers are elected and if local people feel that there is no need for the society it will not be formed. On the other hand if there are enough who feel that the society could perform a service here an organization will be formed to function for one year under the direction of the leaders who will be elected.

A number of specific cases have been discussed on the streets that local people have witnessed that should have been looked after by such an organization and these men will be present Monday to verify their stories and recommend the society as a means of preventing their recurrence.

Red Cross is Ready To Distribute Seed

The American Red Cross has made available for immediate use in Runnels county approximately $1,500 for giving farmers free seed for winter gardens and pasturage. This money will be spent at the order of the county executive board of that organization and a set of rules have been passed that will govern the handling of the matter by them.

All beneficiaries must fill out the drouth relief questionnaires, obtainable from the following persons: T. J. McCaughan, Norton; W. J. Gardner, Winters; Edgar Jayroe, Novice route 1; R. W. Bruce, Ballinger; C. W. Lehmburg, Ballinger; and Paul Trimmbler, Ballinger.

2. All applications are subject to the approval of the county executive committee, which will meet weekly during the distress period.

3. This program calls for the furnishing of seed only for gardens or winter pasturage.

4. In no case will any single donation exceed $10.

Additional information may be obtained from any one of the above named men.

This information is being broadcast to the farmers of Runnels county in all newspapers this week and those desiring the free seed and who feel they are entitled to same can make their applications to any of the men designated to receive such applications. The present appropriation will only take care of 150 farmers who need the full amount that can be given and those needing this help should not delay in seeing some one of the committee and securing blanks.

This seed offer is a donation and farmers will not be asked to pay in any way for the seed received. Neither will they be asked to sign any note but it will be strictly a donation and only those whom the committee deems worthy of the offer will be included in the approved applications.

Farmers living in any part of the county are eligible for the free seed and members of the executive committee have been named from every section of the county so that no section will receive more than its quota.

Hatchel Preparing For Program Here

C. W. Lehmburg, Mrs. Lura Hollingsworth and J. D. Motley went to Hatchel Wednesday night to attend a community meeting of club members to make plans for the work to be done by Hatchel in the Achievement Week program. They returned to Ballinger from the meeting enthused over the enthusiastic work being done in preparation for this week of entertainment and educational exhibits to be staged here beginning October 14.

The parties from here found the women, girls and boys at Hatchel already arranging their booths and gathering the produce to be shown. The three clubs have the cooperation of the entire community in planning their displays and will fill the entire score card in all exhibits.

Committees have already been named and are at work on Hatchel's part in the pageant to be staged here by the clubs of the county on the opening night. Hatchel will furnish the old time dummies in the pageant, and committees are selecting characters, arranging costumes and doing all preliminary work. They will call a meeting next Monday night for the first rehearsal and will have their troupe all ready for the final rehearsal here on the afternoon of October 14.

The Ballinger people will go to Crews Thursday night and to North Norton Friday night to work and plan with the clubs in those communities.

Next week a number of meetings will be held each night and only one of the Ballinger leaders will be present at each meeting. The time is short and the work of planning must be completed next week so that each community can be ready for the final show here on the 14th.

Mr. Motley stated Thursday morning that wonderful cooperation was being found at every place asked to take a part. He feels that Achievement Week will rival the fall fair and in many respects the program will be bigger and more entertaining.

CRIPPLED BEARCATS OFF FOR EDEN GAME

Coach Wright left here Thursday at noon with 22 Bearcats for Eden where he will have one of the hardest conference games of the year. It was a crippled crowd that loaded in cars to go to Eden and put up a game fight to stay in the district race.

The old saying that "it never rains but pours" has proved again to be true and Coach Wright could not even guess at what his starting line-up would be Thursday afternoon. The first part of the week it was known Jones, McIntire and Jacob would be missing from the line-up Thursday.

Wednesday afternoon Capt. Reese showed up with a severe crick in his neck and was unable to go through practice. Partridge, quarterback, developed an injured back and could not run Tuesday or Wednesday. Thursday he was little better and it was doubtful if he would be able to go Thursday afternoon. Brown, left tackle, and powerful man of the entire line, became sick Tuesday with an abscess in his ear. Wednesday night he was unable to sleep and walked the floor the entire night seeking relief from his suffering. The team was not downhearted and left Ballinger with a determination to win so long as they had eleven men able to stay in the game.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The sagging foundations of a Greenwich Village rooming house for French and Belgians collapsed today, killing five persons and injuring seven.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney, who with other officials made a preliminary investigation of the cause of the collapse, said the demolition of four nearby buildings had undermined the foundations of the rooming house.

The district attorney ordered the arrest of all officials of the Fein Wrecking Company, which razed the four buildings.

Neighbors had reported the walls of the building sagging several days ago, declaring no precautions were taken.

HEALTH OFFICER URGES DIPHTHERIA IMMUNIZATION

Dr. E. R. Walker, city health officer, reports one case of diphtheria in the city and especially urges that parents immediately consent for their children to be given the inoculation against this dreaded disease.

The Parent-Teacher Association is fostering a move whereby all children in the three lower grades may receive this precautionary inoculation free of charge and many have taken advantage of the same but some have objected to their children being given this protection.

The health officer points out that the spread of this disease can be held well in check if proper precautions are taken, and states that the injection of the anti-toxin is the safest means of preventing an epidemic.

About 500 specimens of chromium will be exposed altogether. They are prepared by the U. S. bureau of standards. Tests on some other metals have shown that the sulphur from chimneys of industrial plants makes the air more corrosive than that of non-industrial centers.

It is only three days until Clean Up Week starts in Ballinger. Authorities have made plans to carefully inspect the town daily and see who is interested enough to cooperate in the matter and make their places free of trash, dead weeds and anything that might increase a fire hazard. Every effort will be brought to bear from October 5 to 11 to get Ballinger people to work in the campaign and look after their own places. A few have started ahead of the campaign and by the opening day will have their places an example for others to follow. There is nothing against starting ahead of the time set. The main thing is to have a clean town by the closing date on October 11.

Ballinger people can ride over a few blocks of new pavement Thursday and enjoy smooth riding where for many years it has been rough. The connecting link with the pavement on Hutchings Avenue and the highway on No. 30 has been filled with a 30-foot stretch of cement and Ballinger is rid of what has been more or less of an eye-sore for many years. The four blocks have been rough and were originally covered with crushed rock, so hard that light machinery could do little to make it smooth. The strip is wide enough to take care of the traffic on this street and tourists passing this way will not get a bad impression of the town on account of these few blocks. The work was done by the county and Commissioner R. J. Deens has the thanks of many people here for his interest in the improvement.

Many Ballinger people will be called upon to do something for the success of Achievement Week between now and October 14. The program this year must be handled without expense and the plans already made for entertainment features will call for many men and women. This week in a way might be called "loyalty week" and it is up to every individual to show his loyalty by entering into any part of the work he is called upon to do. If this is made a success it will place the Runnels County Fair Association in a position to start early next year to make plans for the biggest county exposition ever staged in West Texas. Be ready when you are called upon and perform the duty regardless of how big or how little.

Collectors in Ballinger on Wednesday, October 1st, reported collections better than they had been for many months and a number of people making payments on old accounts. This is a fine report and the merchant who realizes that his credit patron is making an honest effort to pay will protect his rating and at the same time be glad to help him when he needs an account for a while. Most firms in Ballinger operate on a 30-day basis. This means in every case that they expect their money at the end of the month and when it is not paid many times it is very embarrassing to the merchant as he has wholesale bills, house rent and help to pay from the collections he expects to make. When a patron opens a charge account he agrees to abide by the rules and the merchant goes to extra trouble to keep books and present bills on the first in order to make trading more convenient for their patrons. The merchant is entitled to his money after a month's business has been completed and every effort should be made to see that he gets it. Don't take a man's merchandise and then treat the matter of paying for same lightly.

The bleachers will bring the seating capacity of the stadium to 48,220 with standing room for several thousand more.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by DR. LAGO GALESTON For the New York Academy of Medicine

SCIENCE AND CREDULITY
All persons are credulous—even the most learned.

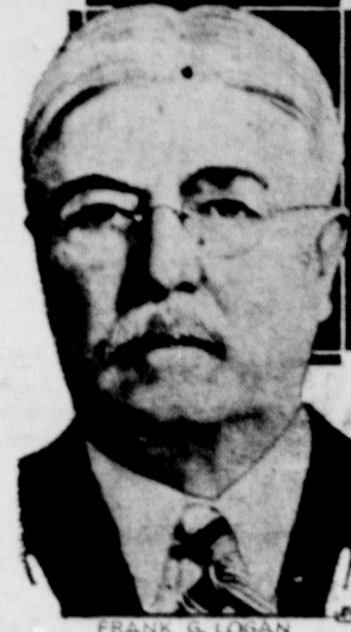

One of the greatest of the American philosophers recently wrote an endorsing introduction to a book published by a zealot who believed that he had a "cure-all" in a particular system of breathing. Credulity—the disposition to believe on slight evidence—is an essential and valuable part of human nature, but credulity has two phases, a constructive one and a destructive one. I may be credulous in believing something that is beyond my understanding—for example, I may believe that some day television may become a practical achievement. Such credulity is the basis of much scientific speculation, and often leads to great results. But there is a credulity which runs contrary to understanding, and contrary to established scientific facts. Thus, I may be credulous enough to believe that a horse-chestnut in the pocket will protect me against rheumatism, or guard me against lightning. Such credulity is destructive. We are surrounded by many so-called scientific miracles that it is difficult to differentiate these from the false miracles of the charlatan. But for that there is authority. The intelligent person does not take it upon himself to determine the legality of a contract he enters into. He consults his lawyer. And the intelligent person consults his physician when his advice is needed.

Probing Early Man Hobby Of Grain Trade Dean, 80

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, October 2.—Three archaeological expeditions, probing the beginnings of civilizations in Africa, New Mexico and North Dakota, are financed by Frank G. Logan, 80-year-old dean of Chicago's grain trade.

Mr. Logan's African expedition is seeking the "cradle of civilization" on the fringe of the Sahara Desert. The expedition in New Mexico is uncovering a civilization that may carry North American history back at least to 1500 B. C., and antedates the Aztecs. Another group is studying the last remains of the Mandan Indian tribes in North Dakota. All three expeditions hail from Beloit College, Beloit, Wisconsin, where Mr. Logan founded a museum and a chair of anthropology. This trader-scientist came to Chicago from his birthplace in New York state in 1870 when 19. In 1877 he founded the grain brokerage firm of F. G. Logan & Company and became one of the pioneers of the greatest grain exchange in the world, the Chicago Board of Trade. By 1901 he had made a fortune, so he founded Logan & Bryan, a financial house, and then retired at the age of 50 to entertain himself with science, especially anthropology. In 1893 he exhibited an anthropological collection at the world's fair. It was one he had gathered as a hobby. He also gathered a collection of Lincoln and John Brown relics which he presented to the Illinois Historical Society.

FRANK G. LOGAN

front and portrayed an assistant director in Buster Keaton's first talkie so convincingly that now he seems destined for a movie career. He's the hard-boiled sergeant in Keaton's second microphoned comedy. Habitual A local statistician reveals that Jack Mulhall has appeared in more pictures than any other star or featured player. His total is three hundred. Bebe Daniels claims 282, while Betty Compton he says, "has kept count up to 219." Mary Pickford and Norma Talmadge, who of late have been limiting their annual appearances to one picture, or perhaps two at the most, both are figured to total above 200. If practice makes perfect, these old-timers, and the others, have it all over the stage folk as far as camera training goes. Of course the microphone has been a great leveler. "The Great Day," stage musical comedy, is another whose music the screen will minimize in microphoning it. Fish cannery of California are considering limiting the pack to stabilize the market.

BETHEL NEWS
The first norther of the season arrived here Thursday night, which made us realize that winter is near. The rainy, misty weather did very little good to crops.

Mr. and Mrs. Hedrick Shelburn and baby, and Mr. and Mrs. Mead McShan and daughter attended services at Paint Rock Sunday and were dinner guests in the home of Rev. Ezell and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hays and family, McCamey, spent the weekend with home folks here.

Mrs. Walker Haynes entertained her Sunday school class, the intermediates of the Methodist church, with an ice cream social at her home Thursday night. All report a very pleasant time.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Davenport and Mr. and Mrs. Mead McShan attended the San Angelo fair last week.

Miss Lola Brasher spent the past week with Miss Alma Koenig. They have been close friends for some time as they taught school together near Coleman the past several years. Both will teach near Santa Anna this coming term which opens Monday, October 6.

Miss Eggens, of San Antonio, visited in the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Moonen, the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Little visited their daughter, Mrs. Dewey Campbell and family, at Ballinger Sunday.

Tuesday night a number of friends and neighbors of Tom Crockett gave him quite a birthday surprise by coming in for a 42 game. Five tables were arranged for progressive 42 which caused much fun. The prize winners were Mrs. Paul Richardson and Mead McShan. The cutting of the pyramid-shaped birthday cake with its 49 candles was done by Mr. Crockett, who passed to each of the guests, after they had lit the candles and expressed birthday wishes. A color scheme of pink, white and yellow was carried out. The September birthday flower, the golden rod, also was used in the decorations. Refreshment plates containing iced punch, sandwiches, and dainty baskets of candy and nuts, were passed to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. David Duke, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Lem Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Little, Mrs. Paul Richardson, Misses Isabel Richardson, Myrie Crockett, Clau Simmons, Earl Crockett and the guest of honor.

The children are all looking forward to Monday, October 6th, as that date will see the opening of this school's term. "REPORTER"

Commission May Change Plan of Highway Meets

By Charles Simons
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
AUSTIN, Oct. 2.—A proposal to change the method of conducting hearings of the state highway commission has been submitted and may be acted upon in the near future. During the September meeting of the commission the major portion of the board's time was taken up in hearing the applications of delegations for various kinds of road relief. So many delegations were registered that it was necessary to start sessions an hour earlier than usual and continue them several hours after the usual quitting time. Sessions the first two days lasted from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m. and it was necessary to continue the meeting well into the third day before all the delegations could be heard. A total of 54 delegations registered, the largest on record for the present commission.

The change, as tentatively outlined, calls for the hearings to be conducted in the various counties either by the members of the commission or by official representatives. It was pointed out that this would eliminate the necessity of delegations coming all the way to Austin. By conducting hearings in this manner, the representatives could make inspections of proposed projects and road problems and then make recommendations to the commission.

Such a procedure undoubtedly would save thousands of dollars each year to the taxpayers and would afford county officials more time in which to present their cases. Under the present system, the delegations often are forced to make hurried explanations of their problems.

The size of the delegations coming to Austin averages around five persons and in some instances they have to travel between 500 and 600 miles. In addition to paying their transportation the delegation often is required to remain in Austin from two to three days and this runs up a sizeable hotel and food bill.

A plan similar to the proposal is being followed by the railroad commission. Any member of the commission is empowered to hold a hearing on matters affecting trucks, busses or railroads and this has greatly facilitated the work of this governmental division.

In discussing the plan, one official of the highway department said he did not believe it would prove successful owing to the peculiar attitude of many of the county officials. Nearly all of them, he said, would much rather take up their road problems with the whole state highway commission than with one member of the board or any of its representatives.

They feel, the official said, that they can gain more favor for their counties if they obtain the ear of the commission itself, even though it is only for a few minutes. Then again, it was pointed out, it adds a certain prestige to the county official to go back to the home folks and say that "I told Mr. So-and-So this and that."

Under an agreement reached by the commission, only roads that have a state-wide importance and that form connecting links between the main highways will be designated as state high-

Coach Felton Wright, 24 players and a large number of fans left Thursday at noon for Eden where the Bearcats and Eden Bulldogs will meet at the main afternoon attraction at the Concho County Fair. This is a conference game and the results will have a big bearing in the district race in the western division of the 11th district.

Friday afternoon at Fair Park the Bearcat reserves will meet the Junior school football team in the first game for the Juniors this year. The game will start at 4:00 o'clock. Wednesday the Junior team will go to Winters where they will engage the Winters Juniors in the first matched game of the year.

The Bearcats enter the Eden game with three backfield men out of the game. All other players are in fair physical condition and ready to stage a fight for their existence in the district race. A defeat Thursday will mean their elimination from district honors this year.

The big game in West Texas this week that will attract local people will be staged in Brownwood Friday night when the Daniel Baker team meets the Trinity Tigers in an after supper game at Kirkpatrick Field. Coker, former Ballinger fullback, will get a chance to work in this game and is expected to make a fine showing at end.

BALLINGER BOY WILL PLAY DRUMS AT T. C. U.

FT. WORTH, Oct. 2.—The roster of the Horned Frog Band of Texas Christian University just announced for 1930-31 by Prof. Claude Sammis, director, contains the name of Chester Ueckert, of Ballinger, who will play the drums in the band.

This year's band contains nearly 60 musicians and is one of the best balanced in instrumentation that T. C. U. has ever had, according to Prof. Sammis.

The band plays at all home football games, at numerous student programs, and is the official band of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the ways in the future. At the last meeting of the commission approximately 25 requests for state designations were refused. Commissioner W. R. Ely of Abilene asserting that the time has come for the state to concentrate its work on the highways now in the system rather than keep adding additional mileage.

Ely stated that if many more miles were added to the state system, Texas would become the laughing stock of the country since it would have thousands of miles of highways on its maps with only a comparatively small amount of mileage improved.

"Ropes" are Evelyn's Job-- But She Hopes Movie Call

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Evelyn Laska spends her days on the water-front, selling rope to ship chandlers and sailing men.

Nights she sings and dances in a night club.

When she has a little spare time she may fly a bit, or call on the Elizabeth, N. J., fire department, of which she is mascot.

She's only 21, and a trifle over five feet tall, but she's ridden horses in Montana, coasted down mountain sides on skis, learned to sail a boat, made phonograph records, sung on the radio and had five years on the stage—part of it with Eva La Gallienne.

Evelyn's done a lot of things, and so thought the executives of a movie company when they sought a successor to Pearl White, of "Perils of Pauline" fame.

Evelyn was the first they considered and she is soon to have a screen test.

Star Cast in Lillian Gish's First Talkie, "One Romantic Night" Opening at Palace Sunday

Not since the memorable days of ten years or more ago, when an all-star cast was that and nothing less, has a more distinguished group of players appeared with a star than the one which supports Lillian Gish in United Artists' all-dialogue picture, "One Romantic Night," to be shown at the Palace for three days commencing Sunday.

Rod La Rocque, Conral Nagel, Marie Dressler and O. P. Heggie are some of the noted players assisting Miss Gish in bringing to the dialogue screen the romantic flavor, the sophisticated comedy and the tense moments of drama which characterized the original play by Ferenc Molnar.

Each member of this brilliant supporting cast is a star by virtue of experience and accomplishment and each has had his or her name emblazoned in electric lights throughout the world.

It is unusual in this day of the heavily exploited star for a great motion picture player to surround herself with rivals whose talents are almost as universally recognized as her own. Miss Gish, however, is not afraid that her own dramatic efforts will be dimmed by a competent cast of supporting players.

It is her belief that a picture can only be as great as the performances of the people who play in it.

"One Romantic Night," in addition to being Miss Gish's first talking picture, presents the popular star in a role that is new to her. As "Alexandra," she plays the part of a modern young woman who coolly chooses between two men who wish to marry her.

The innocent, flower-like roles in which she first established her name with D. W. Griffith are past. Henceforth the star of "The Birth of a Nation," "Broken Blossoms" and "Way Down East" will impersonate the more humanized girl of today.

"One Romantic Night" was directed by Paul L. Stein.

P.-T. A. Addressed On Fire Prevention

The Ballinger Parent-Teacher Association met Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the high school auditorium with a large percentage of the membership and a number of visitors present.

On the eve of Fire Prevention Week E. M. Lynn addressed the members present on that subject and gave statistics that caused many to think. Mr. Lynn had prepared his talk on fire prevention in a manner that was entertaining to listen to, using much humor aside from the great facts he drove home.

In the beginning of his address Mr. Lynn quoted a number of statistics compiled recently by the Hartford Fire Insurance Company. He stated that the fire losses over a period of the past ten years in the United States averaged approximately $1,000,000 per day or an aggregate sum of $350,000,000 annually. To visualize the property destroyed it would line both sides of a street with houses reaching from St. Louis to Boston and at every 1,000 feet along the street would be an ambulance called to look after an injured person and at every 4,000 feet on the street would be the charred remains of a fire victim. Of the $350,000,000 property loss it is estimated that two-thirds occurred from preventable causes.

Mr. Lynn stressed the point that many people do not consider this amount an actual loss as most of the property is replaced by insurance. It is an actual loss, he declared, and every fire requires that amount of the money of the world to replace it. That money which might be used for roads, construction of more buildings, etc., is gone and the fire was a loss in reality if not to the property owner.

In speaking of causes to be carefully considered Mr. Lynn referred to a number of leading fire hazards. He listed improper disposal of ashes, proper inspection of electrical installations, trash disposal, danger of spontaneous combustion of oily rags, mops, etc., careful inspection of gas connections before the winter, and gasoline. He said one pint of gasoline was sufficient to impregnate 200 cubic feet of air to high explosive power and urged the careful use of that dangerous liquid.

Coach Felton Wright addressed the meeting on physical education. Mr. Wright did not go into the matter of what physical education might mean later when it is finally developed. He told of what was being done at present, the first year it has been taught in the schools, to help children to have better bodies and to learn health habits.

The P.-T. A. voted to extend the immunization program through the entire fourth grade free and to offer the Schick test to all children in the elementary building, including all the seventh grade. This extension of this free service will practically immunize the entire school and will be a great accomplishment for the organization this year.

The organization voted to order study books "Character Training" and use them the remainder of the year for their study course.

Officers of the organization are delighted with the work being carried on by the committees this year and feel that the entire membership is more enthused than ever before.

Campfire Girls Fire Fighters' School Given First Rank Here Oct. 20, 21, 22

Mrs. D. W. Draper, San Angelo, Camp Fire Girls executive of this district, was present Wednesday evening to direct the activities in connection with the program of putting on a Grand Council Fire and administering of the Wood Gatherer's first rank upon the following: Mrs. K. V. Northington, Alma Davis, Emma Jean Jones, Mary Parks, Betty Sue Barnett, Belva Watson, Hallie Holwegler, Rosemary Lasater, Laura Edith Miller and Helen Routh.

Laura Edith Miller also was awarded the pollywog prize in the swimming contest.

The ceremony started at Fair Park at 7:00 o'clock and was witnessed by a large number of parents and many other visitors. Seventy Camp Fire Girls participated in the ceremonies.

The Ballinger Camp Fire Girls made a remarkable showing in the drills and the scenes attendant thereto were declared to be very beautiful.

No other proceedings being on the program the girls were disbanded after an hour or two of intensive work and all repaired to their homes with a mental picture of the campfires and drill work lingering to make the occasion one long to be remembered.

Those in charge of the activities feel that they are spending their time and efforts worthily and are gratified at the progress as shown by the units Wednesday evening.

M. C. Atkins, local fire chief, stated Thursday that a communication had been received from Zip Lee, assistant chief of the San Angelo department, that he would be in Ballinger on October 20, 21, and 22, for the purpose of teaching a fire school. This move has been planned for some time by the local fire fighters to give all members of the department a chance to study fire fighting from a scientific standpoint and the date has been delayed until Mr. Lee could come to Ballinger and personally conduct the school.

Mr. Lee has had a long experience in fire departments and has graduated from a number of schools in the East in different methods of fighting fires. He is one of the best in his line in the state and will be capable of instructing the department here in a manner similar to that taught in the best firemen's schools of the country.

Fighting flames in different types of buildings, use of chemicals to best advantage, and many other matters will be included in his instruction here. Putting out fire with the least damage by water and chemicals will be discussed by Mr. Lee and other matters that every fireman should know and be able to practice.

Mr. Atkins stated that he believed the entire department of 36 men would enroll in the school. Those who have been interviewed on the matter are anxious to take the course and are ready to take time off and be at every lecture given by Mr. Lee during the three-day school. In addition to the lectures and illustrations which will be given each evening, Mr.

Lee will take a pride in answering questions. In this manner he feels that firemen can get a better knowledge of the courses by asking for additional information on the things not thoroughly understood.

The sessions will be held each night of the three days and Mr. Lee will be at the fire station during the day to meet with any who can spare the time to visit him there. He will be glad to demonstrate the use of equipment and explain any other work of a modern fire department.

VATICAN RAILWAY CALLS FOR ENGINEERING SKILL

(By Associated Press) VATICAN CITY, Oct. 2.—The new Vatican railroad, although probably the smallest government line in the world—it is only 2,633 feet long—has demanded much engineering attention because of structural difficulties and the need to make it conform with the architectural beauty of the papal state.

Work on the railroad was begun in April, 1929, and pushed with great rapidity. Several buildings had to be demolished for the large railroad viaduct. The viaduct presented considerable trouble because of the uncertain nature of the terrain. Piles for the piers had to be driven 68 feet in order to offset the effects of subterranean water. The viaduct was completed March 1 of this year.

Because of these facts, the cost of the railroad is relatively high. Engineers calculate the final figure at between 20,000,000 and 24,000,000 lire, or between $1,000,000 and $1,250,000. This averages around $450 a linear foot.
