Road drags are beginning to run in the county and with no more rain all roads will be replaced in good shape this week.

The general election approaches and on November 4 voters will be expected to go to the polls to support their party.

When wet, bad weather there is always a number of people who turn stock out to graze and make their own living.

Rains have started grass and weeds to growing at a rapid rate and large fields of maize and other feeds are suckering out.

Duck season is now on and a number of local hunters who have visited favorite lakes in the county report the birds coming in fine for this early season.

A yield of 127 bushels of oats per acre was achieved on the farm of Isaac Isaacson, a dairy farmer of near Grand Rapids, Mich.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by DR. AGO GALESTON

ACUTE INDIGESTION

Acute indigestion often is given as the cause of sudden death.

More often sudden deaths are due to heart failure, or to other disturbances in the circulatory and nervous systems.

Somewhat in the same manner the layman refers to various and sundry pains and disturbances which are located in the abdominal area as indigestion or dyspepsia.

Stomach complaint is a very common lay-diagnosis and one for which there are many household remedies.

Experience has demonstrated that the stomach is a rather tough organ which, given half a chance, will do its work without complaint. The stomach is subject to few diseases.

Many conditions to which the layman refers as indigestion or dyspepsia, are but symptoms of diseases in organs other than the stomach.

Thus in a certain number of cases of tuberculosis, the earlier symptoms will be loss of appetite and gastric disturbances.

This also is true of certain forms of heart disease, disease of the kidneys and in profound emotional and psychological disturbances.

In the light of this, it must be self-evident that stomach troubles cannot be accepted on their "face value."

They may be a mask for other and perhaps more serious conditions.

Indigestion, dyspepsia or stomach troubles, call for a review of the sufferer's health habits and for a careful examination of the body.

BLIND WHISTLER TO BE HERE THURSDAY NIGHT

Fred Lowery, blind whistler, will appear at the local high school auditorium Thursday night instead of Wednesday night as announced in Tuesday's issue of The Ledger.

The wrong date was published for the Lions Club entertainment as Mr. Lowery will stage his recital here Thursday evening beginning at 7:45.

In addition to himself and pianist, a few local numbers will be added to the program which will give more variety.

SUNDOWN STORIES

THE SWIMMERS

By Mary Graham Bonner

It took the Little Black Clock and John and Peggy some time to get out of the boat from the closed boat-house.

Every once in a while they would look at the overturned canoe and the brother and sister.

They were swimming toward the shore—swimming toward the shore upon which stood John and Peggy and the Little Black Clock.

"Why don't they go in the opposite way?" John asked. They're much nearer that shore and there'd probably be more boats over there.

"We'll get to them as soon as we can, but I'm afraid they'll drown first."

"The other way is so much nearer."

"They're coming this way," the Little Black Clock said, because the wind is with them, and it would be almost impossible for them to swim against the wind and take the canoe along with them."

"Why don't they leave the canoe instead of coming so slowly with it?" Peggy asked.

"I'll tell you later. We haven't time to talk now."

The Little Black Clock was taking off the coverings of the boat he had finally succeeded in getting out of the boat-house.

And now he was trying to make it go.

It was hard to get it started. Sometimes the waves looked so high that Peggy almost cried for fear that the brother and sister would not be saved.

Why are Camels welcomed with cheers in any company—a twosome or a crowd? Because they're mild—not flat or tasteless but naturally mild. They have the marvelous aroma that only choice tobaccos, mellowed by golden sunshine, then expertly cured and superbly blended, can give a cigarette. There's nothing artificial about this delightful fragrance. No doctoring, no over-processing can produce it. Camel's refreshing mildness is there from the start.

Swing with the crowd to Camels. Learn the happy difference between true mildness and insipid flatness. Smoke without fear of throat-discomfort or after-taste—just for pleasure!

DOROTHY DARNIT

WRECK DESCRIBED IN WHICH LOCAL MAN WAS KILLED

(Odessa News-Times)

Grady Nance, about twenty-five years of age, an employe of a novelty company operating in this territory, was found dead in his bed at the Griffin hotel here Thursday morning. Nance had been in an automobile wreck Wednesday evening, but was not considered seriously injured.

Hamp Lewis, employe of another novelty company, and C. C. Cornelius of the Palace drug store, of this city, were the first to discover the body. They had called at the hotel about 9:30 Thursday morning to see how Nance was getting along. The door to his room was locked and after knocking for some time with no response, they looked through the transom, and saw that he was dead. The key was in the lock from the inside and a skeleton key would not open the door. They called Mr. and Mrs. Griffin, who brought a step ladder. After forcing the transom open, one of the party crawled through and opened the door.

Officers were immediately notified and an ambulance was called to take the body to the local undertaker's establishment. A preliminary examination was made in the hotel room and the formal inquest was made in the afternoon at the courthouse.

According to accounts given by the men who knew Nance, he was the traveling agent in this section for the Eagle Novelty Company of Ballinger, Texas. His company had a number of nickel slot pianos in the cafes and other places here, and Nance had been here about a week looking after them.

Wednesday evening he went into the Palace Drug store looking for Hamp Lewis, a friend of his. He and Lewis and Leeman Jones of this city talked business for a short time, and about nine o'clock Nance prepared to leave. He said to his friends, "Well I'll see you next week," and got into his car and drove off. He was to have been on his way to McCamey on business.

In about forty-five minutes after his departure, Nance returned. Jones and Lewis, sitting in a car in front of the drug store, saw him coming across the street, and saw that he had suffered some injury to his left arm.

Nance explained that he had been in a wreck with a truck loaded with lumber, and that he had suffered injuries to his left arm. A doctor was called, and after an examination, Nance was taken to the doctor's office for treatment. His left arm, above the elbow was cut and torn in two places, both wounds being severe, but not considered serious. He did not seem to suffer from marked loss of blood.

During the examination and while his wounds were being sewed up, Nance showed extreme nervousness, but when it was finished he showed very little weakness. He complained of no other injuries. He talked with his friends and the doctor and took the doctor's phone number, saying that he would call during the night if he did not rest. He then got up and walked to the car.

Lewis and Jones drove to the Griffin Hotel, where they secured a room for Nance, and they assisted him in undressing and getting ready for bed.

When his friends were ready to leave, Nance told them he was all right, and got up and locked the door after them. He apparently then returned to bed, and probably died a few minutes afterward.

From the condition of the bed and the body when found, Nance seems to have gotten into bed, and pulled up the cover. As he laid his head on the pillow he died. The bed showed no signs of his having moved after lying down.

Nance is said to have been a resident of Pyote at one time, having once been the Justice of the Peace at that place. He had a brother who lives there at this time and is connected with a drug store there. The brother was the only relative located at the time of publication.

Mr. Nance lived in Ballinger and traveled from this point. He was a member of the local National Guard unit and had many friends here among the young people who were shocked at the news of his death.

He is survived by his mother and father, three brothers and one sister.

The body was shipped to Plainview last Sunday where burial services were held.

WATER PURIFIED BETTER BY PEPPED-UP CHARCOAL

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The old practice of filtering water through charcoal has been brought up to date by a method of making the essence of the charcoal rush about in the water.

This in effect is what the research department of the Hackensack Water Company has done by developing an activated carbon which they call activated char. It is pulverized substance, and 10 pounds of it spreads its effects through 1,000,000 gallons of water.

G. R. Spalding, sanitary engineer of the company, says that the new char absorbs bad odors and tastes.

Prison Guard Retires After 40 Years Duty

(By Associated Press)

HUNTSVILLE, Oct. 22.—After serving the state faithfully for 40 years "Uncle Johnny" Simms of Huntsville is out of a job.

In December 1891, Simms, then a youth of 21 years, applied for a job as guard at the penitentiary. He was a robust, alert youngster standing well over six feet—just the type prison officials were looking for as guards. Simms was immediately employed and assigned the job as picket guard at a salary of $25 a month.

For 40 long years Simms remained on the job as the "walls." During all those years he never had a vacation or missed a day except when he was ill. After 25 years service his salary was raised to $50.00 per month, and about a year ago the state raised the guards pay to $75.00 a month.

Simms is now 61 years old and broken in health. A month ago his health failed him so that he was unable to handle his job so the state had to replace him with a younger man.

"When I started to work Hogg was governor, Captain J. T. Goree was superintendent of the prison, and Captain J. D. Smith was warden, all of whom are dead," Simms said. "Not a single prisoner is now in the penitentiary who was in when I started to work—and there were plenty life-timers too."

"I never lost a prisoner during my years of service as a guard at the walls."

BETWEEN WAVELENGTHS

By C. E. Butterfield (Associated Press Radio Editor)

When one slips behind the scenes in broadcasting, there's lots to be heard, some that can't be recorded and some that can.

We'll sort of overlook a few of the secrets, but others are too good to keep. So we'll tell you that:

Ted Husing reads the dictionary ten minutes every day looking for words new to him for use in his more or less famous sports and other broadcasts.

Nat Brusloff, the funny fiddler orchestra leader, came home from Philadelphia so tired the other day that he did not wake up in his Pullman berth until after the car had been shifted into the railroad yards. He had to walk the ties three and a half miles to get back to the point where taxicabs operate.

They say that Eddie Cantor got $7,000 for his recent radio appearance.

These sports announcers who tell all about the football games seldom if ever get on the receiving end. Graham McNamee, Ted Husing and Bill Munday all claim never to have had the opportunity of tuning in for a game because they are pretty nearly always broadcasting themselves.

Pete Dixon and Aline Berry, who are married in real life as well as in the NBC "Raising Junior" series, have a son of their own.

FRUIT SHIPMENTS TAKE SLUMP DURING SEPTEMBER

AUSTIN, Oct. 22.—Shipments of fruits and vegetables from Texas during September was the lowest of any month in the past four years, the state department of agriculture has reported. Part of the decrease was attributed to the unusual heavy movement in August.

A prospectus of the U. S. department of agriculture shows that Texas farmers and fruit planters would bring about a corresponding increase in total shipments next year. Crop estimates were that 700 acres would be planted in fall cucumbers in Trinity county which were not figured in commercial production. Most increases in plantings will be in south Texas.

An eight per cent increase in the total movement of fruits and vegetables during the first nine months was noted, the 1930 figure being 47,093 cars as compared to 43,609 cars last year. The largest increase was in potato shipments 5,269 cars being shipped this year and 2,575 last year.

Tomato shipments increased 50 per cent while an increase of 30 per cent in the loadings of watermelons was noted.

Brady High Loses Game by Forfeit

The first football protests were heard in district 11 Tuesday when the executive committee met in Brady for that purpose. Two protests were filed last week following the week-end games, one affecting Brady and the other Coleman and Eden.

Brady barely beat Richland Springs last Friday by a score of 5 to 0. Following the game two protests were filed against players on the Brady team by Richland Springs.

At the meeting Tuesday charges were proven as to one Brady player being ineligible and the game was forfeited to Richland Springs by the score of 1 to 0.

The findings of the committee were that Clarence Beyer, half-back on the Brady eleven who played with Melvin last year, did not pass the required number of subjects and was not entitled to play this year in Class B football in this district. Charges against Sidney Johnson, end on the Brady eleven, were dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

The forfeiture of the game gives Brady a loss and places them in a bad way to win honors in that division. At least two other teams are expected to get through the season with only one loss, which will place them in a tie with Brady. San Saba may come through with a win over Brady unless the latter shows more power than against Richland Springs last Friday.

Coleman also filed a protest on the game with Eden of last week when a fumble was picked up across the goal line and raced back by an Eden player 102 yards for the winning touchdown of the game. The committee ruled in this matter allowing the victory to count for Eden as it was proven that the fumble was caught in the air and never touched the ground after the Coleman player crossed the goal line. No other protests were heard, however, these two have a big bearing on the races in this district.

The executive committee is composed of R. L. Williams, Brady, chairman; A. H. Smith, Winters; J. W. Toombs, Eden; W. E. Whitten, Lampasas; and H. H. Sampson, San Saba; E. E. Scarborough, Santa Anna; and R. H. Runkle, Coleman, alternates.

SCHICK TEST GIVEN THREE GRADES HERE

All children in the fifth, sixth and seventh grades of the local schools, have taken the Schick test to see if they are immune to diphtheria. The test was completed by the Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday and the report showed that 158 children took the test. All teachers in the intermediate and primary buildings also took the test to be sure they were immune.

The second inoculation of toxin anti-toxin was given in the primary building this week and no children were reported sick or with sore throats as a result.

CAPITOL NEWS

By Paul Bolton (Associated Press Staff Writer)

AUSTIN, Oct. 22.—Determined to keep the minority party a going concern, whether or not they have a chance for victory, nine Texas Republicans seek places in Congress at the coming election.

The list includes Texas' only Republican congressman, Harry Wurzbach of Seguin who has had frequent disagreements with his party leaders in Texas.

At least three others plan determined fights in their district.

Charles G. Watson, young federal attorney at Brownsville, has what some have termed the temerity to try to unseat John N. Garner, ranking Democrat in congress and for many years representative of the 19th district. Watson noted Garner's stand on tariff took into account asserted tariff benefits to the Rio Grande Valley farmers and fruit growers, and entered the lists with tariff the only campaign issue.

The seriousness of his campaign is indicated by the fact that he has a completely filled itinerary from October 15 to November 3, the day before the election. This itinerary opens at Hebbronville and Thompsonville and will lend with a radio address, the piece announced, with the keynote speech delivered at Carrizo Springs at a Republican rally October 18.

In the fourth district Floyd S. Harry of Farmersville has a speaking tour planned against the veteran Congressman Sam Rayburn of Bonham, and the Democratic and Republican nominees will fight it out over the seat of Claude Hudspeth, retiring as representative from the El Paso (16th) congressional district. Mitchell Waldrop of Del Rio was the Republican nominee and R. Ewing Thomason, former mayor of El Paso was the Democratic selection.

Other Republicans nominated for congress were Thomas A. Clarke, opposing Congressman Hottel W. Summers; George Seydlor Sr. who seeks J. J. Mansfield's congressional chair; W. C. Witcher, Republican nominee against Guinn Williams, and S. E. Fish contesting Marvin Jones.

There was some doubt as to the status of candidate Floyd S. Harry. His name was NOT certified to the secretary of state as a candidate for the district, and was NOT on the list of election supplies sent out by the secretary of state. Advice from Farmersville, however, indicated an active speaking campaign for Harry.

Congressman Summers in the fifth district, besides having a Republican opponent, will go up against the only Socialist nominated for Congress, C. A. Burrell. The communist party while filing a state ticket did NOT nominate for Congress.

Three Republican nominees for the state senate and twelve aspirants for house places have filed in the 19th senatorial district a close battle has been predicted, between Reno Eichenroht, Republican, and W. K. Hopkins, Democrat, both of whom retired from the house to seek the chair of A. J. Wirtz, Democrat.

State Senator Carl C. Hardin of Stephenville, who represents a string of counties from Bell to Coryell, stid recently that business was good, in his district. He reported banks in good condition, fairly good crops, and no need for farm relief.

While opposing a special session of the legislature this fall for farm relief, cotton acreage reduction, or any other purpose, Senator Hardin said he would come at the governor's call and probably approve relief measures. Hardin is prospective president pro-tempore of the senate. While admitting he would take the pro tem place if it were offered him, Senator Hardin indicated he didn't plan any sort of campaign to get it—"it's one of those things that has to be given you."

His election in the senate and the probable election of Fred Minor as speaker of the house, just about takes care of the quasi-honorary positions. Hardin's campaign for State Senator Edgar A. Witt, nominee for lieutenant governor, boosted his stock for the pro-tem presidency.

The research work will be started at once. Professor Turner's first task will be the listing and sampling of the different veins of anthracite in the three great basins, the Wyoming, in the vicinity of Scranton and Wilkes-Barre; the Lehigh, in and about Hazleton; and the Schuylkill, in the neighborhood of Pottsville.
