Scouts Prepare For Next Meet

All members of Scout troops 30 and 31 met Friday evening at the armory in a joint meeting at 6:30 o'clock. E. W. McLaurin and Scoutmaster K. V. Northington issued parts to a number of the boys which will be rendered at the next court of honor to be held here next Friday night. This will be a big event in Scouting in Ballinger and during the ceremony the Eagle Scout award will be presented to Jack Lynn the first Ballinger boy to reach the highest honor in Scout work. Sam Malone was elected scribe of troop No. 30 and Fred Wellhausen was appointed bugler for the troop. These boys fill places that have heretofore been vacant and enter upon their duties with enthusiasm.

Following the business program two boxing matches were held after which the program closed.

Big preparations are being made for the court of honor here next Friday night. A special program that will interest everyone interested in Scouting will be rendered and rehearsals will be held next week of all boys who have parts assigned to them. The place of holding the court of honor has not been selected but will be announced early next week and all citizens will be invited and urged to attend. Both troops will take part in the program together with some outside assistance and a number of out of town visitors will be here to witness the unusual program.

Conferences May Replace Meetings

(By Associated Press)

New Fight for Debuture Plan Looms in Senate

By Frank I. Weller
(Associated Press Farm Editor)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The return of William E. Borah of Idaho and George W. Norris of Nebraska to the United States Senate virtually assures a renewal of the farm fight for the export debuture before a new and more favorable congress.

It was Norris who introduced the resolution by which the Senate wrote the export debuture plan into its draft of the tariff act of 1929, and it was Borah who led the long, fruitless battle to have it enacted over the protest of House conferees.

Predicting another effort to revive the export debuture, Senator Borah said:

"It is my belief that until the debuture is put into operation the wheat growers and other important groups of agricultural producers will not be benefited in any degree by governmental action."

Briefly, the export debuture plan is an arrangement whereby exporters of agricultural products of which there is a surplus, receive from the treasury department certificates with a face value established by congress and intended to represent the difference in costs of production between this and foreign countries.

Such certificates are negotiable and good for their face value in payment of import tariffs. Thus, if the debuture were operative, the wheat farmer would receive for his product the world price plus the value of the debuture certificate.

Opposition to the scheme centers chiefly around the contention that it would reduce the federal revenue from customs receipts, dollar for dollar, the amount of the debutures.

For example if this country exported 300,000,000 bushels of wheat in which was issued debutures of 21 cents a bushel, importers who purchased the certificates for bringing dutiable products into the country would keep $63,000,000 out of the treasury.

Farm groups generally favor the process for, theoretically, the $63,000,000 would go into the farmers' pockets.

TWO LOCAL PREACHERS TO BE ABSENT SUNDAY

Two local preachers, Rev. J. H. McClain, pastor of the Ballinger Baptist Church, and Rev. T. E. Bowman, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will be absent from their pulpits Sunday. Rev. McClain will not arrive home from the state Baptist convention at Amarillo in time to conduct services, and Rev. Bowman will be attending the annual Methodist conference at Eastland. The Baptist congregation will have a visiting preacher at the morning service and no night service and the Methodists have called off both preaching services for the day.

Fog Forces DO-X To Land in France

(By Associated Press)
BORDEAUX, France, Nov. 15.—The giant German seaplane DO-X, on the third lap of its trip to the United States, was berthed today in the estuary of the Gironde River near Gauriac, 30 miles from here, after a flight from Calshot, England. The plane made a forced landing along the French coast last night on account of fog and darkness.

Tomorrow the DO-X will make a seven hours' visit in Bordeaux, then return to Gauriac to make a series of trial flights Monday. French airmen will be given an opportunity to make flights on the big ship.

TURKEY THIEVES CAUGHT BY FARMER NEAR BELTON

(By Associated Press)
BELTON, Nov. 15.—George Pricer, farmer of the Little River community, seven miles east of Belton, brought about the arrest of two men recently following a raid on his turkey flock.

Hearing a disturbance in the vicinity of his turkey pens he investigated, and by the light of a full moon saw two men sacking his choicest fowls, preparatory to loading them into a car, parked on the highway near his house. Having no desire to shoot the intruders, nor to run the risk of being shot in an attempt to apprehend them, he secured a pair of pliers, cut the gas line on their car and notified the sheriff's department. A short time later officers arrested the men.

CHILDREN GIVEN UP 35 YEARS AGO ARE HUNTED

Mrs. Nora Rittenhouse, North Side, is seeking her two children, Minnie Pearl and William Earl Rittenhouse, lost to her through adoption 35 years ago.

The daughter is 39 and the son 37. They were taken for adoption while the mother was extremely ill, after doctors had said she would not recover.

After she had cheated death, she made futile efforts to find her children. Since then, she has learned that the daughter is attempting to locate her. She believes the son was adopted by a banker and the daughter by a wealthy Texas rancher.—Fort Worth Record-Telegram.

In a letter to The Ledger Mrs. Rittenhouse asks help in locating her children, thinking they may be in West Texas.

China Moves to Erect Barriers Against Disease

(By Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, Nov. 15.—A national quarantine service, aimed at protecting China against invasions of disease and at guarding the rest of the world from her domestic maladies, is one of the constructive undertakings of the nationalist government at Nanking.

As a department of the ministry of health the service was officially born July 1, but it is only now beginning to function. Regulations had to be issued, methods of procedure established and a staff of quarantine service men gathered. The new quarantine regulations are said to be the most far-reaching of any nation.

The service is under supervision of Dr. Wu Lien-Teh. Born in the British Straits Settlements fifty years ago and educated in medical schools in England and the United States, he has for 20 years been directing the Manchurian Plague Prevention Service.

This service has won international notice and has been pronounced one of the noteworthy sanitation and health undertakings of the world. It has virtually erased pneumonic and bubonic plague and cholera from the three northeast provinces of China.

Judging contests in livestock, grains and meats will test other young agriculturists. Last year 3,000 boys and girls from 30 states attended the exposition.

A $15,000 stake for five-gaited saddle horses, which officials of the Royal American say is the largest ever offered in a horse show in this country, will be offered. Other prizes in the horse show total $30,000.

HOW'S your HEALTH

HEREDITY

Heredity has been defined as the science which enables one to blame his parents for his own faults.

Although given in jest, there is a grain of truth in this definition, particularly if one has in mind one's physical faults.

Accepting this definition, one is also obliged to give parents credit for certain of the advantages that come to us via heredity.

Heredity is of special interest to medicine because of certain inheritable diseases. These, may it be noted, are fewer in number than is commonly supposed by the average person.

For example, syphilis is commonly said to be an inheritable disease. In truth, however, it is a congenital disease. The child so affected is born with the disease because the germs of syphilis, in one manner or another, entered its body while it was yet unborn.

Color blindness, which is a disease only in the sense that it is physical, or better still, a functional defect, is, on the other hand, not a congenital but an inherited condition.

The difference between the two is that in the case of the syphilitic child those factors which determine heredity and which reside in the sex cells out of which the child is created were, to begin with, completely sound.

In the case of color blindness, however, the fault is strictly in the hereditary influences.

From this it may also be seen that, while several germ diseases may be congenital (syphilis, small pox, measles), none of them can be hereditary in the true sense of the term.

THE REASON WHY

By Mary Graham Bonner

"I've turned the time very, very far back," the Little Black Clock explained, "as you can see from the look of these old, shut-in houses and narrow streets."

"Now the reason that wool is upon the house is because a baby girl has been born there just a little while ago."

"That's the way these people announce to their friends that a baby girl has come to the house."

"Now we'll walk along and see if we can't see a house with a wreath of olive leaves fastened on it."

"Sure enough they did. 'I know!' cried John. 'That means a boy has been born in that house.'"

"You're right," said the Little Black Clock. "I knew John would be more interested in hearing about boys and Peggy would be more interested in hearing about girls."

"The town through which we're walking is a little town in Greece, and years ago this was what they always did when boys and girls arrived in the families."

"What a very, very funny idea," said Peggy and John together.

And then they continued their walk with the Little Black Clock and saw the house without any windows, and the strange, old-time clothes of the people.

In fact, John said it looked as though he were turning the pages of an old book showing Greek scenes of many years before.

"And in a way," the Little Black Clock said, "it is just what you are doing."

"Instead of turning pages of a book, however, I've turned the time actually back to those days, so you're seeing it all for yourselves."

"We must be off quickly," said the Little Black Clock.

"I've promised another friend of mine I'd bring you both to see him on Monday."

MOVIES

"Our Blushing Brides" Glamorous Romance, Starring Joan Crawford

"Our Blushing Brides," which will open Sunday afternoon for three-day run at the Palace Theatre is the talking picture companion to "Our Dancing Daughters" and "Our Modern Maidens."

Joan Crawford, who became known as America's Dancing Daughter by reason of her triumph in the original whoopee film, is starred in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature which reunites her with Anita Page and Dorothy Sebastian under the direction of Harry Beaumont—the combination responsible for the success of the silent-picture box office sensation of two years ago.

This is Joan's third talking picture following "Untamed" and "Montana Moon." It is the first audible role she has essayed in the type or part for which she is so well-known and loved by her audiences. In this picture she is a fashion model and wears the most gorgeous gowns ever created by Gilbert Adrian, noted stylist.

Mis Crawford climaxes the finest performance of her career by leading the famous Rasch ballet in the spectacular garden party scene.

Robert Montgomery, who played opposite Miss Crawford in "Untamed" and who is one of the most popular young players in picture today, again has the leading masculine role in the new picture.

Anita Page and Dorothy Sebastian, who share the feminine leads with Joan, triumphed with her in "Our Dancing Daughters."

Included in supporting roles are Raymond Hackett, Hedda Hopper, John Miljan, Gwen Lee, Mary Doran, Albert Conti, Edward Brophy, Robert Emmett O'Connor, William Tooker, Maude Turner Gordon and Martha Sleeper.

The story concerns the three shopgirls, roommates and chums, but with different views on life. The two bolder girls meet tragic consequences and Jerry (Miss Crawford) finds disillusionment in having faith in the store-owner's son. A dramatic climax brings out the sincerity of her love, however, and he realizes her worth.

The settings are very modernistic and impressive in elaborate detail. The gala garden festival where the huge fashion show and ballet spectacle is staged is the high-light of the production, being filmed with lavish ostentation.

TALBOT STARTS WORK HE NOW MUST FINISH

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Nov. 15.—A man-sized job has been wished on Col. W. E. Talbot of Dallas, defeated candidate for governor on the Republican ticket. He made his campaign on a "Texas for Texans" platform, and because of that campaign he says he is now in demand throughout the state to continue the work. Colonel Talbot is planning a centralized bureau of Texas information.

As a measure toward satisfying the demand for information about Texas and its resources and industrial potentialities, Colonel Talbot recently mailed several hundred requests for information to chamber of commerce managers.

During his campaign about 300 clubs were organized, pledged to do the following things: buy locally manufactured products; buy state manufactured products; to start spending judiciously, start having necessary work done to give employment to labor and consume as much cotton and wool as consistent with their needs.

The information sought by Col. Talbot is this: Name of firms manufacturing products in a town, name of the president or active manager and kind of product produced.

CEMENT MILL CARS RUN AND OPERATE LIKE TOY

DALLAS, Nov. 15.—Near Dallas there is a little electric railway that is run exactly the way this toy electric train is operated on the parlor floor—but it is work, not play, that sends the cars along the track at the bidding of the man who simulates the happy youngster sprawling on the rug. He, like the boy, moves a switch and then watches the cars respond, up and down the line.

He slows them, stops them, or reverses their direction of travel, without stirring from his place in the control shed. No one rides on the cars, which, to one unfamiliar with electrical methods, appear to move entirely of their own volition.

Lions Social is a Delightful Affair

The Lions Club social held in honor of the American Legion at the Ballinger Country Club Friday night was one of the most successful programs of the year here. Approximately 100 persons were present and everyone entered into the spirit of the occasion to receive all the fun possible and left declaring it to be a great success.

Soon after the guests arrived they were entertained by a stringed orchestra composed of Ernest Moody, J. D. Motley, A. R. Jones and Willie Willshire. This four entertained with music and song until the Lions committee in charge of the feed was ready to serve.

Women lined up first at the kitchen in army style and were served oysters, coffee, cakes, potato chips and other trimmings for such a plate. Card tables arranged in the large reception room furnished the place to eat in comfort and while the crowd was eating Lions passed through the tables refilling plates as long as anyone would partake.

As soon as everyone was through eating the tables were removed and the crowd seated in a semi-circle for the program. C. R. Stone, president of the club, spoke a few words of welcome to the Legionnaires and Auxiliary members and introduced R. E. White, chairman of the entertainment committee, who had charge of the program for the evening. Mr. White introduced Miss Mada Tittle, teacher of Spanish in the Ballinger schools, for a series of drawings. Miss Tittle delighted the crowd for several minutes with chalk cartoons that were indeed clever. Working fast and not taking more than one minute to any one drawing she turned into comical pictures all kinds of figures and shapes which brought forth hearty laughter from the crowd.

Following this number Mr. White spoke of the war days and asked a quartet of Legionnaires to render a group of wartime songs. Messrs. Earnshaw, Simpson, McGregor and Jones sang a medley of songs of the days of 1918 that seemed to put the crowd in the mood for singing. Then the quartet offered to lead any request number and for some 30 minutes members of the audience called for favorite songs of the war period and each was sung with the help of the crowd.

At the close of the singing R. W. Earnshaw told the crowd how he feels to go over the top for the first time. In well chosen words he painted a replacement being rushed to the front, into the front line trenches, and that awful night preceding the big drive. He told of the artillery barrage, the restlessness of those preparing to make the advance, the last few minutes before the time to start the advance and at last the zero hour. At the word "zero" a company of men outside the clubhouse, armed with shotguns let go a terrific volley of shooting and yells as the doughboys advanced toward the enemy and a huge cannon cracker with lighted fuse was thrown into the middle of the room. Women screamed and left their seats but after a few seconds had that pleasant sensation known to every soldier of realizing that it was a "dud."

The program here was turned back to President Stone who said that for weeks the Ballinger club had been looking forward to a visit from a nationally known speaker who was scheduled to speak here, and introduced Judge V. S. Stone of Wyoming who for an hour held the crowd to perfect attention with an address he is giving all over the nation. Judge Stone opened his talk with a tribute to the doughboys of the World War and then talked on "Pioneers." During the World War Judge Stone lectured in every state in the union on "The Man Behind the Gun," and since that time has been in demand as a lecturer all over the country. So impressed were the Lions of Ballinger with his message that arrangements were made for him to return to Ballinger on the Friday following Thanksgiving at which time a meeting will be arranged so that everyone can hear this great address. Those present Friday night declared that it rivaled anything they had ever heard and wanted to hear him again in the same address. Judge Stone filled his message with humor but kept driving home the big points of his message.

The meeting Friday counted for members of the local Lions Club in attendance and the side of which Joe Huffman is captain won the attendance prize for the evening.

Tickets On Sale Monday for Ballinger-Winters Grid Tilt

Winters and Ballinger have now finished their annual schedule of conference games with the exception of the big game next Friday when the two teams meet at Winters. The Blizzards successfully trampled the Melvin team underfoot Friday afternoon to a score of 19 to 7 and completed a season undefeated. The tie game at Coleman on Armistice Day counts as a victory for the Winters team as they made the most first downs and the League rules call for no tie games in class B football.

An announcement was made Saturday morning regarding the sale of tickets for the Ballinger-Winters game next Friday. Tickets will be placed on sale here Monday morning at Weeks Drug store and the high school with the pasteboards going at 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults. This sale will continue until next Thursday evening and on the day of the game the price will jump to 50 cents for students and $1 for adults. Ballinger fans will have four days next week to secure tickets at the cheap rate but all who delay buying their tickets until after Thursday will have to pay the high rate as this will apply to everyone.

The game will be played next Friday at Winters beginning at 3 o'clock on Blizzard Field. School will be turned out here at 2:15 Friday afternoon in time for all children to get to Winters in time for the start of the fight. The team will go there at noon Friday and will have time to rest and suit out before 2 o'clock. Only one official had been selected Saturday. Trammel will referee the game it was announced and two other officials will be selected before Monday. Trammel has worked in a number of Ballinger games this year and is one of the best officials in this section.

About 500 people saw the Melvin team stage a comeback Friday afternoon that looked like it might develop into a victory at any time for them until the breaks happened that clinched the game for the Blizzards. Among the crowd was more than 100 persons from Ballinger. Winters did not open up with their plays as they knew they were being closely scouted and only running plays with all the backfield carrying the ball were used.

Coach Felton Wright left for Junction soon after the game and did not express his opinion as to whether the Bearcats could stop the Winters offense or not. With Coach Wright at the game was quarterback Partridge but this young man refused to say what he believed of the play and indicated that it was a chance and would take plenty of fight from the Bearcats to hold the Winters running attack.

The Bearcats will be carefully coached in a defense to stop the Blizzards during the next four days.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS HOLDS SOCIAL THURSDAY

The Joy class of the Ballinger Baptist Church met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Parrish in a social and business session.

Mrs. Preston and Mrs. Davis were elected group captains and Mrs. Preston also was elected assistant teacher of the class and will take over that duty at once. A number of committees were appointed and a general discussion of coming work of the class was held. Plans were made for decorating the new Sunday school class room and for carrying on Christmas charity work.

Following the business session a social hour was enjoyed in

WEAK AND RESTLESS

Georgia Lady Says She Felt Tired and Nervous.—Took Cardui, Improved.

Blackshear, Ga.—Mrs. L. E. Thornton, of this place, tells how she was benefited in a case of weakness by taking Cardui.
"I was very weak," says Mrs. Thornton. "My back gave me a lot of trouble. I felt like my back was sprained. I was very nervous and restless. I did not sleep well at night. I was so tired in my back it seemed to hurt me when I tried to turn over."
"I did not want anything to eat. I was in bad shape."
"I thought I would try some Cardui. The first bottle seemed to ease the pain some in my back. I took another bottle, and then I felt more like eating. I noticed that I had more strength and my work seemed easier. My back didn't feel so awfully bad when I had to stand. I could sleep better and felt more rested when I got up in the morning. I took six bottles of Cardui. I certainly think Cardui is a good medicine for women."

For more than fifty years, women who had suffered, or who had gotten into a run-down, weak condition, have been enthusiastic in praising Cardui for the benefits obtained from its use.
Try Cardui in your case.
