Dinner and Bazaar Better Immigration At Offen Thursday

The community of Offen is inviting all people of Ballinger to spend Thanksgiving with them. A turkey dinner will be served at noon Thursday and included in the menu will be plenty of sausage and other trimmings for the noon meal.

Scates Announces Christmas Charity Show on Dec. 24

Last year, W. D. Scates, manager of the Palace and Queen theatres, presented a free show for charity and made a wonderful success of the affair. Monday he informed a Ledger reporter that he was ready to repeat the show this year, to be conducted similar to the presentation in 1929.

The free show will be staged from 9 till 12 Christmas eve morning and everyone attending will be admitted absolutely free. Those who are able, however, are asked to bring some article to the theatre to be placed in the Goodfellows' pack and distributed to the poor.

Children attending the show are invited to bring groceries, apples, oranges, candy, toys, clothing, etc. that they wish some poor child to have. The greatest need will be clothing and something to eat and if the children of the city cooperate with Mr. Scates many can be cared for.

Last years, the first time the charity performance was presented, the sidewalk and lobby in front of the Palace was stacked high with bundles, baskets of food, whole crates of fruit and toys by the hundreds when the show began, and it required a truck to move the merchandise when it was taken to headquarters for distribution. Included in the collection were good suits, overcoats, sweaters, food-stuffs of all kinds, and toys for children of unfortunate circumstances. Firms here sent whole boxes of fruit to the theatre and one $40 basket of groceries was included in the list.

Mr. Scates is announcing his charity show early this year so that parents will know about it and plan to let their children attend. He said Monday that he realized the need was greater this year than heretofore and in staging the show he believed he could do more good than in any other way. It is thought that this will solve the Christmas problem for a number of poor families.

George Killiam called at The Ledger office Saturday and said he wanted to help with the Goodfellow program this year and left his checks for $2. Mr. Killiam is the second contributor to the fund which is now $7. Those who desire may leave their donations at the newspaper office which will deposit it in the Goodfellow account. The formal drive for funds will commence about Dec. 10 and this paper will devote space every day to the campaign to spread Christmas cheer.

DALLAS, Nov. 25.—The advance guard of winter, marching across half the world, sent a cold wave toward the Atlantic seaboard of the United States today while Europe worked desperately to control floods which have driven thousands from their homes.

Frost, extending as far south as Galveston and Port Arthur, covered Texas during the night. Freezing temperatures were reported from some places and thin ice formed in some sections. The temperature at Love Field last night fell to thirty-two degrees.

The American storm from the far Northwest brought cold through Minnesota and the Middle East is suffering.

Across the Atlantic Ocean, England, France, Belgium, Austria, Holland and Germany struggled with rising rivers.

A heavy rain storm this afternoon increased the flood menace near Paris. Water is oozing into the cellars of the French foreign ministry building, and valuable documents are being removed to the upper floors.

Floods rushed over farms and small cities in England and continental Europe, spreading destruction. The week-end gales have subsided leaving murky skies and lowered barometers, presaging another blow over Europe.

The Ballinger team has not lost a game this season and is getting better each game it plays. Fans are invited to attend this game and see some real competition. The Valera quintet is rated as one of the best in this section and the local boys will have their hands full to defeat the visitors.

A double-header here last week resulted in two more wins for the locals. In the first game they easily defeated Maverick, 18 to 4, but found the Crews five a little harder in the second, managing however, to come out on top of the 20 to 17 score. The Ballinger boys were tired, having played two games in a row.

HOW'S your HEALTH?

URINALYSIS
There was a time in the history of medicine when certain healers pretended to be able to diagnose illness and to prepare efficient treatment by merely examining the sufferer's urine.

This was, of course, before the time of the microscope and the modern chemical laboratories, and the so-called examination made by these healers consisted in noticing the physical characters and qualities of the voided fluid.

What these groping healers pretended or thought they were accomplishing has become a common practice today, though not, of course, in their all-inclusive diagnostic sense.

By chemical and microscopical examination of the urine much may be learned about the body. Disease of the kidney, of course, may be established from the manner in which they function as judged by the chemical composition of their excretions.

But diseases in other parts of the body too may be diagnosed from the urine. Diabetes, for example, gives evidence of its existence by the presence of sugar in the urine.

Abnormality in the function of the liver and gall bladder, excess putrefaction in the large gut, pus or other bacterial infections along the urinary tract, all of these may show their existence in the excretions of the kidneys.

Most recently it has been found that pregnant women secrete in their urine a unique substance. This substance can be used as a test for pregnancy.

All in all, then, the ancient physician pictured in many a painting, looking wisely at a flask, may have been as much the precursor of modern medicine as the alchemist was of modern physical chemistry.

THEY' SCHOOL IS OPEN FAILS TO STR PEASANTS

LISBON, Nov. 25.—In the drive against illiteracy agents of the department of education are touring the countryside in automobiles shouting by megaphones to unlettered peasants to send their children to school.

Night schools flourish only in Lisbon, Oporto, and Coimbra, and in other towns lighted electrically but attempts to induce illiterate peasants to avail themselves of free educational facilities after work hours, have not proved a success.

Although education is compulsory in Portugal, peasants keep their children at farm work during the harvest.

SUNDOWN STORIES

MORE ABOUT MAGIC

By Mary Graham Bonner

John and Peggy wanted to hear again how it happened that the Little Black Clock had started taking them on adventures.

Of course they knew how the Little Black Clock always stood on the desk in the back hall with his hands pointed to seven o'clock, and they had heard once more how he had been given the magic.

So the Grandfather Clock told them.

"He came to see me one evening when he was off on one of his own adventures, before he began taking both of you along.

"There are two fine children living where I live," he told me, "and I wish I could take them off on adventures with me. I would like to share my fun with someone else. I meet, many, many people and I have lots of fun, but it is always nicer to have traveling and adventuring companions.

"You have been so good to me, giving me that magic, that I've hated to be greedy and ask for anything more, but would it be possible for me to have enough magic to take them with me?"

"I told him I'd see the magic maker and after I had seen the magic maker and found out I could have more magic for the Little Black Clock he began waiting to get your attention so you'd start off with him.

"He was well supplied with magic this time—so he could arrange and do everything, understand the language of all sorts of creatures and do almost anything at all.

"And you'll always be able to have adventures with him."

Oh, how happy this made John and Peggy, and how they loved the old Grandfather Clock who had told them just those very words before, too, which had so delighted them.

"There are two fine children living where I live, and I wish I could take them off on adventures with me."

So those words made John and Peggy so very happy.

When You OVER-INDULGE

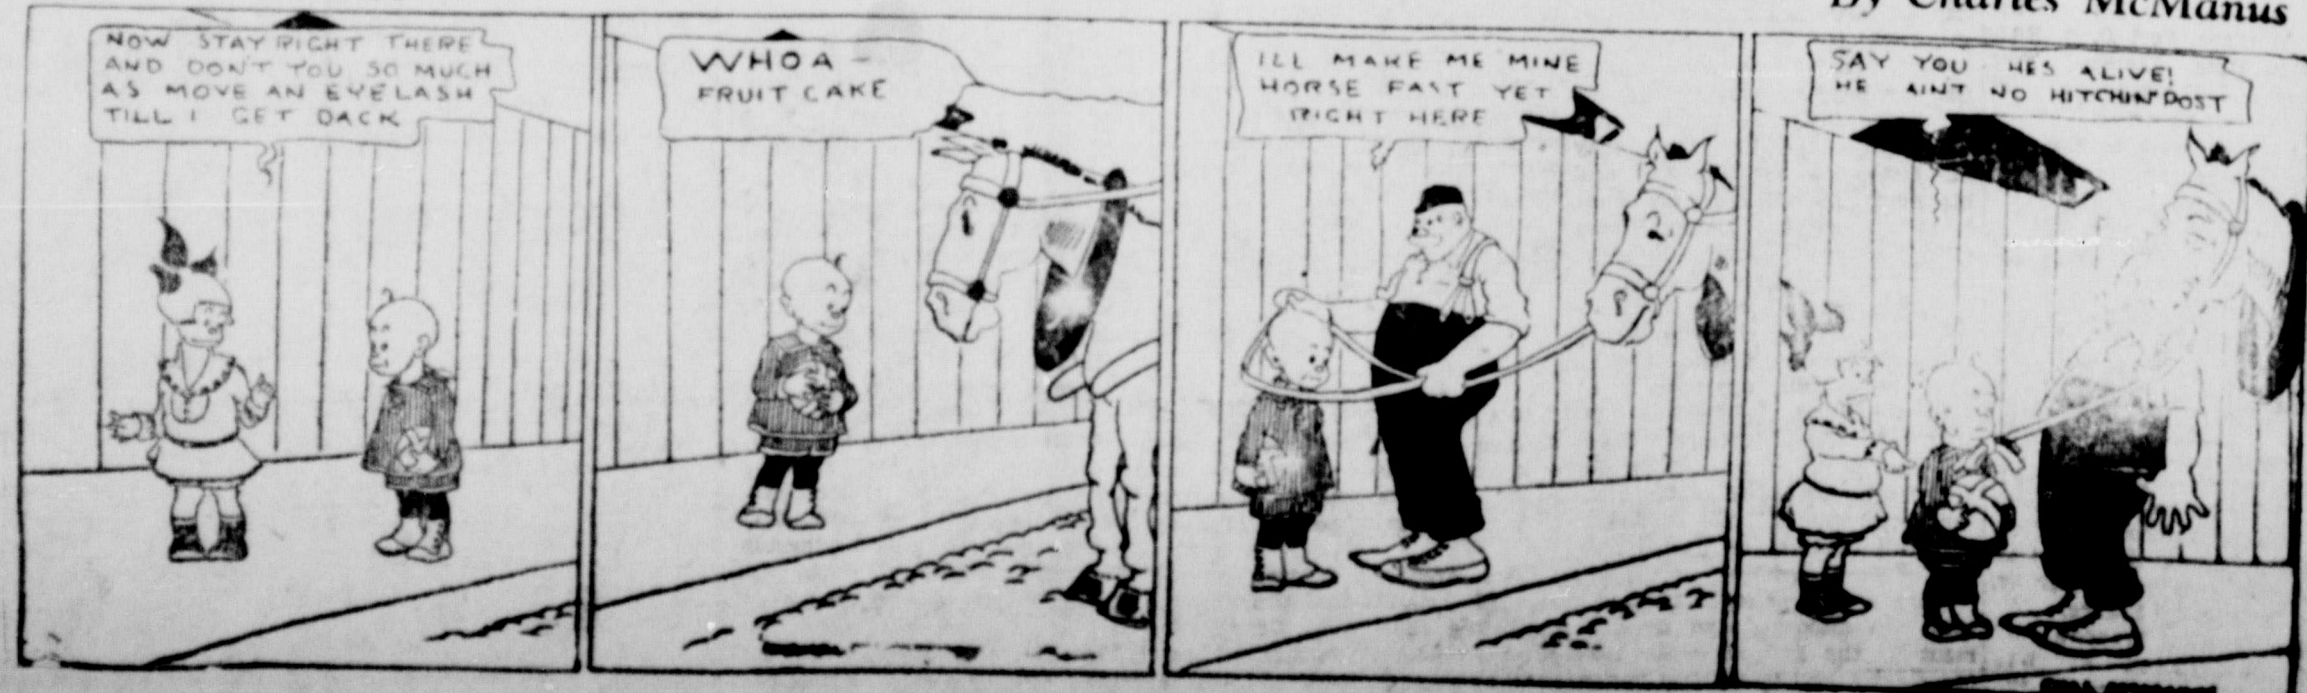

EVERY man, woman and child will occasionally over-indulge. But don't suffer for your indiscretions. It's folly to do so when you can so easily sweeten and settle a sour, upset stomach with a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Heartily eaten have long since learned the quick comfort this perfect anti-acid brings. Smokers know how it neutralizes nicotine; brings back a sweet taste; guards the mouth. Women know what it does for nausea—or sick headache. And when children have over-eaten—are bilious, constipated or otherwise upset—give them a little of the same, pleasant-tasting and milky-white Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. You'll be through with crude methods once you learn the perfect way. Nothing else has the same quick, gentle effect. Doctors prescribe it for sour stomach, indigestion, heartburn, gas, nausea, headache. It has been standard with them for over 50 years. Insist on genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, a less perfect product may not act the same. The genuine is always a liquid—never in tablet form—and the name Phillips is always on bottle and wrapper.

BELGIUM ARMS EASTERN BORDER AGAINST GERMANY

(By Associated Press)

BRUSSELS, Nov. 25.—Despite the urgent necessity of cutting down the next budget, the Belgian minister of national defence contemplates a reorganization of the eastern line of fortifications.

The strong defensive position of Namur on the right bank of the Meuse will be modernized so as to resist the most violent bombardment by modern artillery and protect the garrison against gas attacks.

The plan is seen as a direct consequence of the recent political rise in Germany of the nationalists whose pronouncements are interpreted here as advocating a war of revenge.

"Lawful Larceny," Starring Bebe Daniels, Coming Attraction at Palace Theatre

Absorbing as life's own tangles is the theme problem Bebe Daniels faces in her new film, "Lawful Larceny."

Probably no picture of the current season has drawn interest of women so widely as this new Daniels show, adapted to the screen from the Samuel Shipman stage hit.

Bebe plays the part of a wife who turns the tables on a love thief. Having lost her husband to the other woman, Bebe finds revenge and profit by stealing the other woman's lover.

Sharing honors with Bebe is Lowell Sherman in the part of the vamp's philandering boy friend. Re-creating the role he played in legit, Sherman gets the most from a character always hilariously funny.

Others in the stage-trained cast are Kenneth Thompson, Olive Tell, Purnell Pratt, Lou Payne and Bert Roach.

"Journey's End" is Soldier's Own Tale of Front Line War. The all-dialogue screen version of R. C. Sherriff's famous war play, "Journey's End," closes as the feature attraction tonight at the Palace Theatre.

The entire action of the play takes place in a dug-out and the 100 yards of No Man's Land that separates the British from the German trenches.

The four days before the attack are shown in the play—the reaction of the strain on the men is the subject of the drama.

"Journey's End" is a worthwhile offering.

RANCHMEN POOL HOLDINGS TO START NEW INDUSTRY

(By Associated Press)

ABILENE, Nov. 25.—Announcement of the completion of a $3,000,000 corporation, chartered under Delaware laws, by which a group of Fisher and Nolan county livestock men are pooling assets on a large scale to conduct a general ranching and farming business, together with a packing plant, has been made here.

The new corporation is known as the Circle Bar Cattle and Packing company. W. W. Barron, Sweetwater and Rotan banker, is president of the corporation; G. P. Baker, Rotan department store executive, is secretary-treasurer, and W. E. Barron of Rotan is to be manager.

Of the capital stock, $1,200,000 has already been paid in. Into the pool have gone 10,600 head of Hereford cattle, 152 horses and mules, 49,745 acres of grazing land and 2,900 acres of land now under cultivation.

The corporation reports having taken an option to purchase 101,000 acres additional in Fisher, Kent, Nolan and Scurry counties.

H. M. Fleeman of New York, who assisted in organization of the company, said the corporation will engage in grazing, packing and purchasing livestock, and in farming on a large scale.

Most of the company's livestock will find its way into the corporation's packing plant which will be established in this section of West Texas in the near future, Fleeman said.

DANISH PUBLISHERS WAR AGAINST FEE LIBRARIES

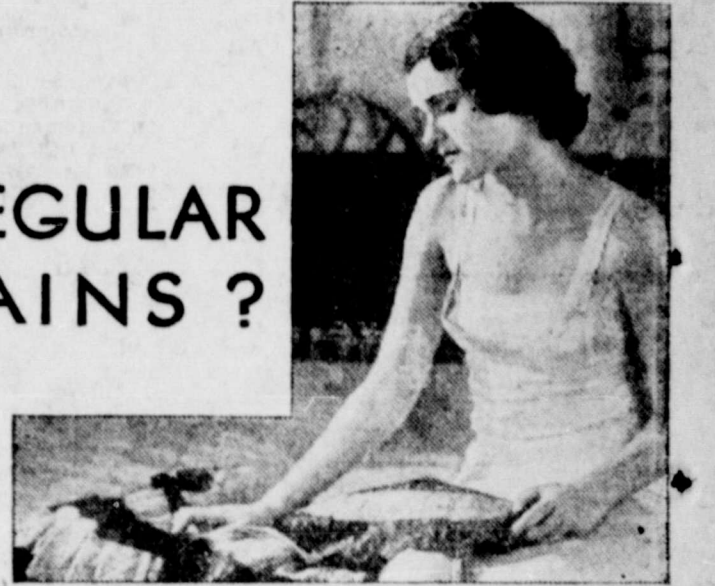

(By Associated Press)

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 25.—Combating a decrease in book sales, which they attributed to rental libraries, Danish publishers, effective with their October lists, made a provision that such libraries can not rent the books until April, 1932.

A special fee, equal to the price of the book, then will be charged for the privilege of renting the items, the publishers said.

Last spring the Danish supreme court upheld the validity of notices printed in books which forbade rental libraries from circulating the volumes without special permission.

SMALLER COTTON CROPS Mean BIGGER COTTON PRICES

Reduce your cotton planting—devote a part of your acreage to the cultivation of a vegetable garden if possible, to dairy cattle, to hogs and poultry.

Results—your table freshly supplied from your own farm; stable branches of farming on which to rely when the cotton crop fails, or low cotton prices—enrichment of the soil through livestock herds and crop rotation—a SURE year-round income instead of uncertain one season profits.

Surely these are sufficient reasons for adding variety to your farming activities—it certainly is the most practical, in fact the only way, to raise the price of cotton.
