Orange Mayor, Former Attorney Here, is Dead

(By Associated Press)
ORANGE, Tex., Dec. 17.—Mayor Ed S. McCarver, 51, stricken with apoplexy last Friday, died here this morning.

McCarver was former commander of the Texas division of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, former county attorney of Runnels county, a Mason and a member of other prominent organizations.

At death decedent was commander of Trans-Mississippi division of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, and president of the Municipal League of Texas.

Word was received here Wednesday morning of the death of E. S. McCarver at Orange, Texas, and immediately W. C. McCarver, Mrs. Lennie Harris, Miss Bess Corbett and Ernest Schott left in a car for that place. Mr. McCarver was in apparent fair health until late Tuesday when he suffered a stroke of paralysis which resulted in his death early Wednesday morning.

Mr. McCarver formerly lived in Ballinger and for a number of years held a county office here. He married Miss Bonnie Mae Corbett while living here. For a number of years he had been making his home at Orange where he was mayor of that town.

No information was received here regarding the funeral arrangements or any details of his death, further than stated above.

Land is Secured For Highway 23

County Judge Paul Trimmer announced Wednesday morning that all land necessary for the right-of-way on Highway 23 from Ballinger to Talpa had been secured and the last deeds had been signed. For more than one month Judge Trimmer had been working on this proposition and there is now nothing in the way of commencing grading.

Judge Trimmer said Wednesday he did not expect any construction work to start before the first of January on either grading or drainage structures. This contract was let at a last meeting of the highway commission in two separate contracts. One went to White Bros. of San Angelo for the grading and small drainage structures and the other to Austin Bridge Company of Dallas for the larger drainage structures, not including the bridge across Elm Creek. The contracts figured a little better than $40,000 each and both contractors are ready to begin as soon as possible.

The distance of the new road to connect with hard-surfaced road in Coleman county is slightly over 14 miles and when it is finally completed will be one of the best stretches of roadway in this section.

Christmas Programs in Rural Schools Start; To Close Friday

Christmas programs in rural schools started this week and a number will turn out for the Christmas holidays. The first one reported in the county was held last Monday at Gruenwald where Mrs. Earl Holliday teaches. A large crowd gathered there for a tree and a Christmas program and the event was reported to be a success in every particular. The entire community gathered and participated in the affair and a large number of the children of the school appeared on the program.

Tuesday night at Crews a box supper was held with R. E. White and C. W. Lehmburg attending from here and acting as auctioneers at the sale. These men report an excellent spirit prevailing and all boxes selling for

Three Officers to Retire January 1

Three county officials are getting their affairs in shape to vacate on January 1. None of the retiring officers has announced what his future intentions are but each promises a statement soon after the first of the year.

W. L. Brown, tax collector will retire in favor of W. A. Forgy on this date. Mr. Forgy has announced that Drury P. Hathaway will be his first assistant, and Mr. Hathaway will enter the office on January 1. Mr. Brown and his staff will remain in office and receive taxes up to and including December 31, transfer of the books to the incoming administration to be made that night. Mr. Brown said Wednesday that he had several matters in mind but could make no positive statement at this time. He will investigate several positions after the first of the year and make a decision.

R. E. McWilliams, sheriff, will turn over his office on December 31 to W. A. Holt, sheriff-elect, but the former is not yet ready to make a statement on future plans. He has several matters under consideration but will not yet opportunity to investigate and make up his mind until he can make a few trips to look over the propositions.

R. J. Deens will retire as commissioner of precinct No. 1 in favor of T. J. Parrish, at that time transferring all equipment and office records to the new commissioner. He, too, is not able to declare his future intentions at this time.

All three retiring officials have served the county long and efficiently, during their administrations having received wide praise for their excellent work. During Mr. Deens' tenure roads in this precinct have been put in excellent shape and maintenance has not been overlooked. Many of his projects will stand for all time as a monument to his untiring service to citizens of the Ballinger precinct. Both Brown and McWilliams have received statewide notice as officials and many honors have been heaped upon them. Sheriff McWilliams has held the highest office of honor in the Texas Sheriffs' Association. Auditors have declared Mr. Brown one of the most competent collectors in this big state.

The incoming officials are equally capable and are ready to give their very best efforts for the citizens of Runnels county. The success of their administrations depend largely on the cooperation of the citizens and each are asking for this support which is so vitally necessary in the conduct of their offices.

Can You Find Santa Claus? It's in Indiana

Everybody has heard of Santa Claus, but few know it is a hamlet in Indiana. The map shows its exact location—on a railroad—and the postoffice sign rather proves its existence.

(By Associated Press)
SANTA CLAUS, Ind., Dec. 17.—An Associated Press writer a few years ago wrote a Christmas story of "Santa Claus, Indiana" and ever since "Jimmy" Martin, the postmaster, has handled thousands of extra pieces of mail during the holidays.

Claude H. Wolff of the Indianapolis bureau wrote the first general circulated story of Santa Claus, a tiny hamlet of fewer than 100 persons.

The next year Martin had letters from scores of persons. Some sent cards and letters to be mailed there so they would bear the "Santa Claus" cancellation mark. Each year more and more mail has come to the Santa Claus post-office. This year it has been the greatest.

The Hoosier village tucked away in the hills of Spencer county, not far from the Ohio river is not on a railroad. It is historic, rustic and picturesque.

Lincoln, the boy, knew that vicinity as he lived there. The early settlers, who had hurdled the Appalachians and came down the Ohio river often camped in the county, and less often fought off hostile Indians in that region.

Santa Claus is a few miles east of Lincoln City, the nearest railroad stop Southeast is Tell City, and farther southwest is Evansville.

William Hershel, an Indianapolis newspaper man and a poet of distinction, first wrote of Santa Claus almost 25 years ago. One or two magazine writers in subsequent years told of the village, but it remained for Wolff to give the little town national notoriety.

Washington Interested In Dry Ruling of Judge

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Official Washington today evinced much interest in the ruling yesterday of Federal Judge William Clark of New Jersey, declaring the eighteenth amendment invalid.

The drys predicted that the decision would be reversed to a certain extent. Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas, co-author of the prohibition law, termed Judge Clark's position untenable and stated he was certain the ruling would be set aside on appeal.

Representative Beck, of Pennsylvania, uncompromising foe of prohibition, said he "could see no reason why the Supreme Court should not invalidate the eighteenth amendment, but thought it improbable at this late day."

At Newark, where Judge Clark made the far-reaching decision, Federal District Judges Guy Clark and William Runyon instructed United States commissioners to continue prohibition hearings. They decided neither to concur in nor to dissent from the ruling until some case is brought before them for an opinion.

Hyde Says $25,000,000 Drouth Aid is Sufficient

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Secretary of Agriculture Hyde today declared that an appropriation of $25,000,000 was sufficient to care for drouth stricken farmers in the United States.

Representative John Garner of Texas, Democratic leader, asked whether the department of agriculture would use all of the $25,000,000 proposed in the Senate resolution if enacted. Hyde replied that there "is no need to provide more money than is necessary. It is unnecessary to throw the budget out of balance in this manner."

The House agriculture committee then voted to reduce the Senate drouth relief loan bill from $60,000,000 to $30,000,000.

Present indications are that at least 25 families will need to be included in the big boxes Christmas and others will need to have things for their children if they have any Christmas at all. Only about 90 people out of the more than 4,000 here have heeded the call at all and unless others are willing to give a small gift, the work of looking after the poor will be sadly neglected this year.

The amount of money on hand Tuesday evening was $149.35 and at least $200 more will be needed or else some of the needy families will have to be left off and some children go without a Santa Claus this year.

Guatemalan Revolt Thought Successful

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The American legation at Guatemala City today notified the state department of a critical revolutionary situation in Guatemala, with the army divided. Some of the soldiers favor the rebels while others will remain loyal to the government.

Street fighting was reported but the dispatch was indefinite. The Guatemalan minister Reginos was later notified by a message from Guatemala City that the government of President Palma had been overthrown. It was announced that General Orellana was designated provisional president.

Spanish Revolt Apparently Ended

(By Associated Press)
MADRID, Dec. 17.—King Alfonso drove through the streets in an open carriage to church amid popular plaudits today, while Niceto Zamorra, whom the revolutionists had named as "president of the republic," was in jail, accepting responsibility for the trouble.

The country generally is quiet, but four rioting workmen were killed at the coal mines near Lambreo.

WEATHER FORECAST
(By Associated Press)

Santa Claus will drop in a parachute from an airplane here at 1:30 p. m. Monday. These arrangements were made Wednesday with the Clinesmith Flying Circus and all day Monday will be given to a great Christmas program for the people of Runnels county at Ballinger.

The program will start at the landing field north of town at 10 o'clock Monday morning and features will be run each 30 minutes until noon and after dinner the big stunt will be pulled when old Santa will ride into town and make a 5,000-foot parachute jump to the streets and spend the remainder of the afternoon here mingling with the thousands of kiddies who come here to see him.

The Clinesmith Flying Circus has appeared in a number of Texas cities this year and from each place comes nothing but praise of their great Christmas act. At Ballinger six big features will be shown during the day.

Monday morning at 10 o'clock "Upside Down Isaac" will start the show. He will go aloft keeping his plane safely above the crowd and around loops tall spire, whip stails, barrel rolls, falling leaf, inverted flying and other thrilling stunts. He will wear a buck chute in case anything should happen in the death defying stunts he is under contract to do.

At 10:30 will be presented wing-walking "Daredevil" Durant, widely known for the name he carries, will perform many hazardous stunts in his dangerous act.

At 11, balloon ascents, and parachute drop. This will be the real feature of the morning and the big 60-40 balloon will be inflated and sent up to a great height where the rider will cut loose in a drop to the ground.

At 11:30, serpentine cutting by Jimmie Woods, the "Gypsy of the Skies," in a Hiss swallow.

At 1 p. m. the guinea catching contest. Guinness will be dropped from a plane. Each person catching a guinea will be given a free ride.

At 1:30, the big event of the day, when old Santa Claus will ride over town in an airplane 5,000 feet in the air and will make a drop to earth in a parachute. He will remain here during the afternoon and meet the kiddies, take their letters and listen to their wants.

The fleet of planes will arrive here Saturday morning and any one desiring to take a ride can do so any time during the morning. At 12 o'clock they will leave here for a trip over Runnels county to distribute circulars to all towns. Mr. Clinesmith stated here Wednesday that if possible, he would like to take all these planes in formation on this trip and would do so provided seven passengers would go at $10 each. The trip will cover the entire county and will be a delightful

While you are thinking about buying for your car, don't forget that it is only a few days until time to place new number plates on the machine for 1931. These plates are now waiting at the tax collector's office and can be secured any time but may not be placed on the motor vehicle before January 1.

Ballinger will be closed tight on Thursday of next week in observance of Christmas. Stores will remain open late on Christmas eve to accommodate last-minute shoppers and then all employees will be given a day's rest before commencing the task of invoicing which must be completed by the last day of the month and year.

Ballinger hunters have been very fortunate this year and few have come in home empty handed. The bucks brought in this week by W. A. Bridwell and Dr. A. S. Love were three of the largest bagged this season. One shot by Mr. Bridwell was a fifteen-pointer, the largest he ever killed. A number of local citizens are hunting quail and a few have reported good luck at places, however, quite a distance from this city.

Have you bought your Christmas seals? Every home uses some kind of Christmas seals and right now the Runnels County Public Health Association is offering these attractive seals at one cent each to carry on the great battle against tuberculosis. This organization has no other source of income. In the rural sections of the county the sale is being conducted through the schools. In the towns special workers will make a house to house canvass. No salesmanship will be used in urging purchases but opportunity will be given all to secure any number desired.

MISS HOLT TO GIVE ART EXHIBITION

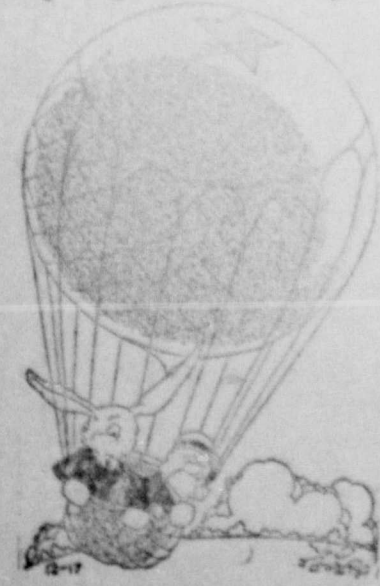

Miss Hortense Holt will have a display of pictures produced by her art class Saturday afternoon and evening at the King-Holt Co. store. Miss Holt is art instructor in the Ballinger schools, and the exhibition will contain examples of what her students have accomplished since beginning of this term.

Most of the pupils are new in this study and have had only three months in the course but some show considerable promise. The exhibition will be made up of copies, still life and decorative examples. Miss Holt cordially invites the general public to visit the sales and inspect the pictures on display.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by Dr. Iago Goldstein Academy of Medicine

DELAY IS DANGEROUS

In medicine, as in legal contracts, time is the essence of the thing. The right thing done at the right time, no matter how insignificant it may appear to be, is often enough to stave off development of a serious illness. A puncture wound, for example, thoroughly cleaned out and flooded with an antiseptic will heal in a day or two. Neglected, it may lead to a serious infection. A child with a fever, put to bed and isolated, may readily overcome a beginning infection. On the other hand, if allowed to roam about and to waste precious energy, it may contract other infections on top of the first. In this connection a heavy responsibility rests upon mothers—for the family, children in particular, look to her for guidance and supervision in health matters. Even the adult males are dependent upon her in this. In fulfilling this obligation to her family, it is not at all necessary that the mother should have even a "working" knowledge of medicine.

It is not essential that she should be able to tell what is wrong. She needs only to recognize the signs and symptoms indicating that something is wrong. This is a fairly simple task.

It is not difficult to tell when a child is ill. Fever is common, although not invariably present at the beginning of illness.

Headache, backache, vomiting, diarrhoea, nausea, "running" nose and eyes are the common signs and symptoms of illness.

Skin rashes are associated with a number of children's diseases, and their presence should always arouse suspicion.

An ailing child should be put to bed, and should be isolated from the other children in the house. It should not be "dosed" unless its condition is definitely known and the remedy is simple and safe.

EXPERIMENT TO KILL CROWS WITH DYNAMITE FAILURE

(By Associated Press) ARLING, Dec. 17.—An elaborate plan whereby representatives of the biological survey and county farm agents from the extension department of Texas A. & M. College hoped to destroy the great number of crows which infest parts of this section recently failed. The crows were particularly thick in the vicinity of the experiment, the mosquito-bred country in Jones county, and have caused farmers considerable worry.

Choosing a spot favored by the crows for roosting on the C. A. Sylvester farm ten miles northwest of Arling, the would-be exterminators planted six sticks of dynamite in such a way that they would be exploded in a depth of two feet, then filled the holes with gravel. The theory was that the gravel propelled by force of the explosion, would kill the crows.

But the theory did not prove out. An electric switch was pulled and a terrific explosion shook the countryside.

Fifteen men and boys rushed across a field, eager to note the solution of their pest problem. But not a crow was found, dead or alive.

The theory expressed as to their escape was that most of the birds warned probably by their "sixth sense" had alighted out of the danger zone.

SUNDOWN STORIES

WHAT NEXT? By Mary Graham Bonner

"We're going to have quite an interesting time for our adventure this evening," the Little Black Clock commenced. "Where are we going?" asked John. "Are we going to start right away?" asked Peggy. "Right away," said the Little Black Clock, "and we're going down the magic path."

"At one of the turnings we'll find a grandstand has been put up for us and we're going to sit in the grandstand." "Are we going to see races or a county fair or a parade or something or other?" John asked. "We're going to see something," the Little Black Clock said, "but we're not going to see races or a county fair or the kind of a parade of which you might think."

"It will be a parade in a way, for I'm going to turn the time way back and then keep turning it slowly forward."

"Through an opening we're going to be able to look out upon the world from our grandstand."

Come! We must be leaving now." Down the magic path they went and they took the turning which led them to a fine grandstand. There was a wide opening ahead and through it they could see old wagons being pulled along.

"What next? What will they be doing next?" they heard a chorus of people shouting. "What do they mean?" John asked.

"Why it is wonderful for them to see wheels turning around and wagons moving" said the Little Black Clock.

"Sure!" cried John. "I remember when those wheels were invented. Or rather, I remember when you turned the time back so we could see that happen."

"Of course you do," said the Little Black Clock. "Now I'm turning the time ahead you see."

And as he said this they saw through an opening a train puffing along.

"What next?" the people were shouting. "What in the world will they do next?"

CHRISTMAS NO HOLIDAY FOR LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER

(By Associated Press) BOSTON, Dec. 17.—To men of the lighthouse service Christmas is just another day of watchful waiting. Bells cannot reach their holiday dinner long in advance, however, and no appetizing tid-bit is missing. Although the peal of church bells cannot reach the lighthouse keeper or his family, there is a substitute in the tolling of the bell buoy, warning the sailor of dangerous rocks or reefs.

On The Screen

Under the glare of powerful lights and the stress of "Picture Making" the beauty rendered by Gouraud's Oriental Cream stands the test. It gives an alluring, peerly appearance that will not rub off, streak or spot. No "touching up" necessary as the skin retains the delightfully soft, seductive beauty under all conditions.

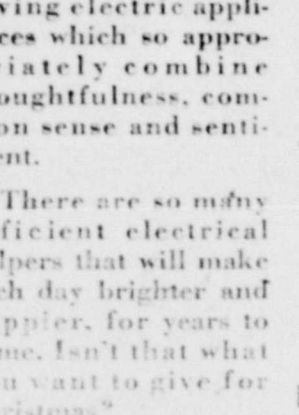

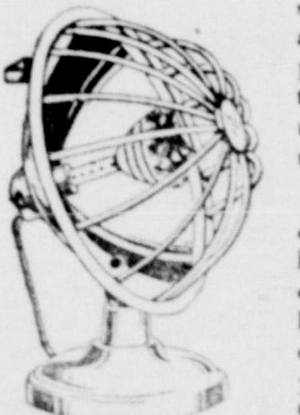

HELP US GET PERSONALS DURING THE HOLIDAYS

From now until after Christmas many people will be coming and going and The Ledger would like to have a local about every visitor to this city and about Ballinger citizens who are visiting elsewhere. Many students will return home for the holidays and as most of these will travel in automobile or bus it will be impossible to get the information without help of local citizens. Anyone who knows news of this description is requested to phone 27. A reporter will answer the telephone to take this information which will be greatly appreciated.

About New York

By Richard Massock
NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—(AP)—It wouldn't be New York without: Old ladies of aristocratic bearing, in prim black satin dresses and old-fashioned hats, shopping on Fifth Avenue. Blimps and airplanes cruising overhead. Lobsters and live fish in restaurant windows. The tall cowboy who walks the avenues in full regalia. Chauffeurs airing dogs. Hot chestnut vendors, with their charcoal ovens. The oyster bar in Grand Central terminal.

Washington Square, overflowing with bimbos from nearby Greenwich Village. The Bronx zoo. The halting of motor cars by red lights every two minutes. The swift flow of cars through the Holland Tunnel under the North River. The sun rising and setting over house-tops.

Photographic Art

Portrait photographs are a new note among the many exhibitions of art, in which Manhattan is the American center.

A current collection is that of Albert Petersen, Danish brother-in-law of Josef Hoffmann, the pianist. Most of them are of celebrities, Walter Damrosch, John Erskine, Fannie Hurst, Ruth Draper, Jascha Heifetz, Mrs. Edward Bok and Otto Kahn among them.

That of Mrs. Bok, widow of the Philadelphia publisher, and a patroness of music, was the first photograph she ever had had made.

Adventures

Another art exhibition is a collection of pastel portraits by Harry Solon, a San Franciscan whose hobby is traveling.

Solon was in Buenos Aires, drawing a portrait of Gen. Jose Uruburu, president of Argentina, at the time of the bloodless revolution.

The night before the revolution he had dinner at a party with former Minister of Foreign Affairs Oyhanarte. Afterward the official escorted the artist home in his carriage. Solon wondered why they were accompanied by two burly men who held their right hands in their coat pockets.

The next day he knew. Oyhanarte, fearing assassination, had fled the city, Solon said. The artist arrived at the Oyhanarte home in time to see the former official's library of fine books thrown out into the street and set afire.

Eight days later, he said, all official Buenos Aires was out enjoying the races, as though nothing had happened.

Solon's portraits are mostly of beautiful women and interesting men he encountered on a laund through the Orient—naughty dancers, Geisha girls and other glamorous types.

He traveled 14 months in the Far East. Sometimes he had to meet native girls in side streets, because of customs which forbade them raising their veils in the presence of strangers and which would have made them outcasts had natives seen them.

Yet nothing happened until he got back to New York. Here he was hit by a taxi the first week and was laid up with a broken collar-bone.

TOY BALLOON TRAVELS FAR

AUSTIN, Dec. 17.—Louis Bongull and Jack Bias, Austin youngsters, are miniature balloon enthusiasts. Recently they filled 2 toy balloons with gas and turned them loose with requests attached that any one finding the balloons communicate with the senders. Bias' entry came down at Andice, 45 miles away, while Bongull's balloon dropped in the yard of a resident of Dublin, 300 miles away in West Texas.

RADIO GLEANINGS

The year 1930, glancing backward, is one of its accomplishments has been the big improvement in the international broadcasts, both those coming from overseas and those sent to Europe.

"Sisters of the Skillet," a new NBC program, is the product of East and Dumke, stars of the WGN studios. The pair rate as heavyweight harmonizers.

Amos 'n' Andy have broadcast their daily skit from approximately every important city in the country. These two travel about quite a bit, and their voices are picked up wherever they happen to be. Chicago, however, is their headquarters.

Mary Hoople, NBC contralto, never goes to a football game, because, she says, she is afraid that the shouting she feels compelled to participate in will hurt her voice.

Bill Munday is known as WSB, Atlanta, where he got his broadcasting start, as "Bullet Bill" because of his rapid fire word delivery.

Wamp Carlson is that part of the Jesters' trio who tells the revamped fairy stories in the Swedish dialect.

OWNS OLD COIN

(By Associated Press)
SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 17.—A coin said to date back to the year 180 A. D. with its individual history beginning in an Idaho railroad camp of 1880, is in the possession of A. T. Stein of San Antonio.

The coin has been passed on as an authentic Roman piece, dating to the reign of Emperor Commodus, who came into power in the 180 A. D. One side of the coin bears the image of Commodus and the other a picture of a vestal virgin.

The coin was found, Stein said, by workmen on the right-of-way of the Oregon Short line near Pocatello, Idaho, who gave it to his father.

YOU ONLY, MR. GROWER, CAN RAISE THE PRICE OF COTTON

Consider the great amount of cotton on the market now and the subsequent low price that prevails. Cut down the acreage of your cotton and supplement your cotton with feed crops, poultry, hogs and dairy cattle.

Supply your table from your own farm. And by the same operation take advantage of the less fluctuating branches of farming to insure you an income if the cotton crop fails, and to insure you better prices regardless of the condition of the cotton crop.

The reduction of cotton acreage is the only sure means of improving cotton market conditions for the grower.

Angelo Chief Aids Poor Kiddies

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 17.—There will be no empty Christmas stockings in San Angelo this year as the result of an effort being made here by Chief John Parker of the San Angelo fire department, who has devoted much of his time to looking after the Christmas needs of poor children of the city.
 Having converted the central fire station building into a toy shop, where used and worn toys are repainted and rebuilt for distribution among the poor children Christmas, the veteran fire chief has had so much help in carrying out his plans that the storage space in the fire station has been filled to capacity with toys, insuring a supply that will more than mean a Christmas present for every boy and girl in the city.
 For several weeks Chief Parker has been gathering discarded toys, a task in which he has been assisted by members of the Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls. Reconditioning of these toys has been done by members of the department, who worked under the supervision of the fire chief. Now that more than enough toys have been gathered to meet the Christmas wants of the kiddies, Chief Parker has called on church organizations of the city for assistance in making one-day delivery of the toys to the homes of the poor on December 24. The toys will be delivered in well wrapped packages.

DRESS LIKE HALLOWEEN FOR CHRISTMAS PARTIES

(By Associated Press)
 ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 17.—Observance of Christmas by many persons of Scandinavian lineage in Minnesota assumes an aspect of Halloween.
 The practice is to dress in clownish costumes and wear grotesque false faces, and thus arrayed to visit neighbors. It is called the "Yule book," which in Norwegian means "Christmas fool."

Letters to Old Santa

The following letters to Santa Claus written by Ballinger children were received by The Ledger Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning and will be turned over to the old gentleman when he comes here for a brief visit before Christmas to see how the boys and girls have been behaving. So far, however, all letters received have been from good children and the editor is sure Santa will remember them as far as possible.
 The Ledger will continue to publish any letters to Santa Claus received, and to hold them for the kindly old fellow.
 Below are the letters last received:

Young Folk Enjoy Tree and Party

The young people's department of the Methodist church met Tuesday night at the church for a Christmas tree and party. About 50 young people were present and after a visit from Santa Claus and many toys being received by each one there, an evening of games started that proved very interesting to everyone.
 Before Santa Claus departed he asked that after those present finished playing with the toys that they be left in a box at the church and they would be turned over to the Goodfellows to be distributed to the poor children here on Christmas eve.
 Miss Alene Cochran was in charge of the games and everyone was included in the play time at the party. A number of other young people were present from out of town and everyone entered into the spirit of the party.
 Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the games and a sing-song was held with Miss Lucile Neely of Winters at the piano and everyone taking part.
 Another Christmas tree will be held at the church on Monday evening by another department of the Sunday school and gifts for the Goodfellows will be brought to this tree.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASS TO HELP GOODFELLOWS

The sophomore class of the Ballinger high school voted Wednesday morning to contribute $15 to charity, $7.50 to the Goodfellows Club and $7.50 to the Charity Board. This money was won by the class last year for the best decorated float at the Runnels County Fair and realizing the pressing need for charity at this time the students voted to give all they had in their treasury to help the poor. Miss Maurine Harris is president of the class, John A. Nicholson is secretary and Miss Maryvatt Smith is sponsor.
 The class shows a wonderful spirit in making this contribution and stated in a letter to the chairman of the Goodfellows Club that realizing "if it is more blessed to give than receive," they would contribute to help others less fortunate than themselves.

MOVIES

Noted Players Support "Lummo" Principals
 Among the well-known screen and stage figures in "Lummo," United Artists all-dialogue screen version of Fanine Hurst's novel, showing today and Thursday at the Palace Theatre, are Myrtle Stedman and Danny O'Shea, who interpret two of the leading characters so realistically that the author declares they might have stepped right out of the pages of her favorite novel.
 Miss Stedman, who plays her greatest talking picture role in Herbert Brenon's production for United Artists, and O'Shea, who makes his dialogue film debut as a romantic young policeman, share acting honors with Winifred Westover, Ben Lyon, William Collier Jr., Edna Murphy, Clara Langsner, Dorothy Janis, Torben Mayer, Myrtle Bonillas, Cosmo Kyrle Bellew, Lydia Yeamans Titus, Bobby Ullman, Fan Bourke, Ida Darling and other members of the large cast.
 O'Shea was a well-known juvenile and leading man on the legitimate stage before Mack Bennett signed him to star in comedies. He was under contract to Bennett for two and a half years, and later was starred by F. B. O. As a free lance he appeared in several big silent pictures.
 The "Lummo" company rehearsed from early morning until midnight for a solid month in preparation for the filming and microphoning of the picture. Miss Hurst, who wrote the dialogue of Elizabeth Meehan's scenario, was a daily visitor on the United Artists' lot during the shooting of "Lummo." The famous novelist and her husband went to Hollywood as guests of Joseph M. Schenck, head of United Artists, and remained until "Lummo" was completed.

Gripping Action of Gold Rush is Seen in Zane Grey Romance.
 "The Border Legion"
 In the exact spot where Black Bart and other early California outlaws actually perpetrated their deeds of daring, Paramount filmed its latest outdoor talking masterpiece, "The Border Legion," Zane Grey's popular and thrilling story of the West of gold-rush days. In the smashing action romance, which will be shown at the Palace Theatre here for two days, beginning Friday, audiences will see authentic scenes and action just as they took place in the 1850s.
 Zane Grey's stories are high spots of screen entertainment.

WHITE CALLS ATTENTION TO ATTENDANCE LAW
 Supt. R. E. White stated Wednesday morning that notices regarding compulsory attendance had been sent to all teachers of the county but so far no complaints had been filed by any. The date of attendance started on December 1 and a few had reported that their children were not in school because they had no suitable clothing to wear. In these cases teachers in these schools were trying to arrange for the needed clothing in the community and expected to make it possible for such children to enroll at once. A few others had not been enrolled because the families expected to leave this county during the month of December to live elsewhere, and would not start their children until after the first of the year and in their new homes. Mr. White stated that a strict check would be made after the first of the year and an effort made to have every child in the county within the ages enter school for at least 100 days.
 Most schools of the county will close Friday evening for the Christmas holidays, however, a few will teach until Tuesday, December 23. Schools in the county will take up on December 29 and were in silent form. To add to this realism, Paramount left no stone unturned to make "The Border Legion" true in every detail to the adventurous period it represents.

With the introduction of dialog, the characterful tales of the wild West have become even more realistically gripping than they were in silent form. To add to this realism, Paramount left no stone unturned to make "The Border Legion" true in every detail to the adventurous period it represents.
 A stage hold-up is one of the gripping episodes, and, for this action, Paramount selected the old gold trail from Columbia to Stockton, which winds through a rock-walled defile in the Sierra Nevada Mountains in California. The pass is just wide enough to allow for the passage of one vehicle and its strategic advantages were recognized and utilized time and again by daring bandit bands of the old West.
