State Road Bond Issue To be Presented Monday

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—Senator Walter F. Woodul, of Houston, today announced that he would introduce the $200,000,000 state road bond measure in the legislature Monday.

Senator Woodul declared the people should have the right to vote on this measure, explaining "nobody who can trust the people ought to want to give them the right to vote on this."

AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—Governor Moody, who will retire Tuesday, delivered his final message to the joint session of the legislature here today, pleading for a united Democracy, and reiterating his dissatisfaction with what he claimed was "mismanagement" of national Democratic party affairs. Referring to John J. Raskob's tenure as head of the party, Moody said "There can be no hope of discharging party responsibilities if he is allowed to remain its leader."

Pecan Industry In Texas Has Big Possibilities

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—The pecan industry of Texas has unlimited possibilities and, with organized direction, can become of more than passing value to hundreds of farmers, according to J. E. McDonald of Waxahachie, agricultural commissioner. McDonald said he had postponed appointment of a chief of the nursery and pecan division until he had ample time to look the field over in an effort to obtain the best man possible for the job.

Texas last year produced approximately 90 per cent of the pecans in the United States. A large portion of the production, however, was of the hardshell variety, the soft-shelled, or commercial variety being generally a market variety.

McDonald said he would confer with federal pecan experts and with the leading pecan producers before announcing the appointment of the pecan division head. "I want a man who knows pecans and who has the best interests of this industry at heart. I am vitally interested in it myself, and shall do everything in my power to advance and give impetus to the growing of commercial pecans in profitable amounts."

The pecan industry in Texas has a brilliant future, McDonald said, because the trees are native to the state and are more hardy and sturdy than trees in other sections. The commercial pecan can be grafted on the native variety with little difficulty without slowing down the production, he said.

The tree's root systems have been firmly established and all that is necessary to put the trees into profitable production is extensive topping and grafting of the commercial bud on the shoots, McDonald said.

Full cooperation to the United States department of agriculture, Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College and the pecan growers will be accorded by the state department of agriculture, McDonald said.

Secretary Hurley Talks Oil Tariff

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Secretary of War Hurley today told a conference here of independent oil producers of many states, including Texas, that the administration has taken no position favoring or opposing a tariff on oil.

Hurley said the federal tariff commission was studying the oil question, the primary question being whether the oil industry had reached the stage and congress can be convinced "that it is vital to the welfare of the oil producing states to put a tariff on oil."

Rufus Wheeler, of Abilene, was in Ballinger Wednesday, greeting friends and attending to business.

City streets in Ballinger will be gone over again soon by drags and graders. This too, has been delayed on account of recent rains.

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—The state railroad commission today granted the Frisco system's request to lower passenger fares on all Frisco lines in Texas from 3 1/2 cents a mile to 2 cents a mile.

Frisco officials explained that the change was part of the road's program for its entire system.

South Dakota Sends Humorist to Senate

By Fred Zimmer
PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 15.—(AP)—"There aren't any issues. Mac's got the job I want."

That is what South Dakota's Democratic governor, William J. Bulow, told voters before the November election—so they elevated him to the United States senate, displacing W. J. McMaster, Republican.

During the campaign, Bulow mixed blunt statements with humor and funny stories. Hundreds came to his speeches to laugh. Some stayed to vote.

His scorn for the conventional caught the fancy of the rural voters. His story-telling brought a tribute from Will Rogers that "he is funnier than I am."

Told by newspaper men, after his election, that he would have to wear a full dress suit in Washington, Bulow said, "I guess not. At a Democratic banquet in Washington a few years ago Will Rogers and I were the only ones not formally attired.

"And do you know, we were the only ones you could distinguish from the waiters?"

A bull gored and killed the Democratic nominee for governor in 1924, and Bulow was chosen to fill the vacancy on the ticket.

The senator-elect is a tobacco-chewer. The Republicans said he entered the campaign with great "expectations." Bulow countered with this:

"I may chew tobacco, but you can always have a bite off my plug."

Asked to make public his stand on national issues, Bulow said:

"During the campaign I was accused of pussy-footing. I guess I'll just keep right on pussy-footing."

When Al Capone, Chicago's number one "public enemy," was offered a haven in the Black Hills, Bulow protested.

"We've got too many Republican candidates for governor now," he said.

WILL SHIP PECANS TO CHICAGO FOR HANDLING

(By Associated Press)
LULING, Tex., Jan. 15.—The Guadalupe-San Marcos Valley Pecan Marketing association has received orders to ship all pecans from association warehouses on the Luling Foundation farm to a cold storage plant in Chicago, where they will be handled by the National Pecan Marketing Association. The local organization has received approximately 77,000 pounds of pecans this season. A substantial advance was made by the national association for the shipment, the remainder to be paid when the nuts are sold.

The American Hospital of Paris cared for 11,707 patients during the last year.

Banker Admits Son was Kidnaped; Ransom Paid

Grading Work is Started Thursday

All crews began work Thursday morning on highway No. 23 between Ballinger and Talpa. Between 50 and 60 men and 124 head of mules went to work in four crews.

Two crews commencing grading an effort was made to begin this a few days ago but the ground was too muddy and Thursday morning saw the first work of this nature. One crew started on the W. T. Routh place just east of Ballinger and another on the Claude Brookshire place just east of Benoit. Both crews will work eastward from present locations, each using a full crew of men, machinery and draft animals.

Two grubbing gangs are at work, one on the Spreen ranch and the other on the August Herling place. They are making good progress and will soon have all brush and stumps removed from the 100-foot right-of-way.

Contractors have all the laborers they can use and will not be able to employ other men for some time. The next construction on this sector of highway 23 will begin when a work order is received for building drainage structures.

The big crews of men and teams working in four different places on the 14-mile road will be able to make a good showing if the weather permits steady work. The ground has been wet for so long that any work where plows are used, grades thrown up with scrapers or drainage ditches dug, is a slow process. Some spots on the right-of-way are still too wet but most of the route was in fair shape for grading Thursday.

Arthur Heywood, Paint Rock gin man, was here Wednesday attending to business.

Bill Griffiths, of Coleman, had business in Ballinger Wednesday.

Mrs. H. T. Forsen left Thursday morning for Stanton to be at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Lee Richards, who was reported very ill. Mr. Forsen accompanied his wife as far as Abilene.

The local undertakers said the body was brought here by airplane under special permission of the Mexican federal government.

CORSIKANA, Tex., Jan. 15.—Isaac Cerf, wealthy banker, today admitted that his son, Robert, 24, had been kidnaped from the streets here on December 10 and held prisoner at a farm house near Dallas until the next day when a ransom of $15,000 was paid the abductors.

Earlier reports from Dallas had declared that James Cerf, a younger brother, was the one kidnaped.

THIS FARMER CLAIMS IRRIGATION PAYS BIG

(By Associated Press)
MULESHOE, Tex., Jan. 15.—Farmers of the Blackwater Valley in this section are losing $2,000-3,000 annually because of their failure to irrigate, in the opinion of O. P. Burnham, who has operated an irrigated farm in Iowa 15 years.

Burnham recently drilled his first irrigation well on a 400-acre tract in Bailey county. He expects to irrigate 10 acres in 1931. His first well is producing 1,500 gallons of water a minute, with a lift of only 30 feet.

With the light draft and low drawdown, Burnham estimated irrigation in row style could be done for 25 to 40 cents an acre, and from 60 to 75 cents an acre flood style.

Vast Oil Supply in Colorado Where Walsh Urges Inquiry

(By Associated Press)
DENVER, Jan. 15.—Vast areas of oil-bearing black rock in western Colorado again will be brought to national attention of the United States senate.

Proceeds from an investigation of the administration of oil shale lands proposed by Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.

Nearly one million acres of shale land—952,239, to be exact, lying on the western slope of the Rocky Mountains, form the center of a controversy brought to head recently by charges of Ralph S. Kelley, former chief of the general land office in Denver.

Before he was dismissed by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, Kelley charged there had been a "steady encroachment on the public domain in the form of concessions which enabled several large oil companies to obtain shale lands against the best interests of the public."

He said "political pressure" was brought to bear on Wilbur in the leases. President Hoover denounced Kelley's attack as an attempt to start an "odious oil scandal." An investigation by the department of justice found Kelley's charges to be unfounded. Later Senator Walsh proposed a senate investigation.

Colorado's shale deposits have been estimated to be worth potentially 40 billion dollars. They consist of layer after layer of friable rock, all filled with the shells of small crustaceans and skeletons and scales of fish from lagoons that existed thousands of years ago.

From 10 to 68 gallons of oil may be taken from a ton of shale. Geological experts say this shale possibly may control the future oil supplies of the world.

Dean E. Winchester, geologist, reported to the president through the federal oil conservation board his estimate of 79,625,998,000 barrels in the Colorado shales, of which he figured 47,625,598,000 barrels recoverable.

The amount estimated as recoverable equals the entire output of crude oil from all wells in the United States for 50 years, at a production rate of 900,000,000 barrels a year.

According to recent figures published there are about 200 men given steady employment on highways for each million dollars spent. These figures of course are a general average covering the entire length of the contract and at stages of the work more men are employed than at others. The work in Runnels county at the present time is far ahead of that average, as between 50 and 60 men are working on a $41,000 contract.

We are far into the winter season and nothing near zero weather has been experienced. Most of those who lived in this country last winter are ready for spring without such severe temperatures. This winter has brought plenty of cold but no cutting blizzards common to this region. Some look forward to February as a cold month but the reason for this prediction is due to the fact that we have had so little frigid weather to date that some is naturally expected.

Ballingerites will have more than fifty persons from out of town as their guests here Friday night. They will come here to see the town, to hear the good things that have been accomplished in this section during the past year, and to form new friendships. All loyal citizens should attend the chamber of commerce banquet to help extend the glad hand and show the visitors a real West Texas welcome. A poor attendance with so many guests will create a cold feeling which may be difficult to thaw. Their visit will do little good and might even harm. A large number of our rural friends also will be here as guests of honor and those who appreciate their records for the past year should show them by personal contact.

The weather is just a little chilly yet to think much about summer, outdoor parks and playgrounds, but this is the time to begin plans if they are carried out before arrival of warm weather. The Ballinger Lions Club is determined to make the park-playground project here a reality. It is to be a "city park," and every citizen is to have opportunity to help in some way. There is labor to be done, play equipment to be donated, grounds to be cleared, shrubs to be set out, gravel and sand to be hauled, tables and benches to be donated and a thousand and one other items. The person who cannot donate a sand-pile, a swing or a slide for the kiddies can at least give some of his time in building tables and benches. Every good movement must have a head and the Lions are taking the lead. If you want to help, send the club word what you will do.

SUNDOWN STORIES

TRADING

By Mary Graham Bonner

As John would come back from time to time, from his wanderings around the old Phoenician vessel, to talk to the Clock and Peggy, who stayed most of the time in one part of the boat, he would tell of some of the boat-swains. He knew by this time just how oars had been put through the holes in the sides of the ship and how the different parts of the ship were kept together by strong bolts.

They were going to travel all over the world, they had told John. They were going to explore and name places and build up trade and business.

"Yes," the Little Black Clock said. They will discover and found Carthage and colonies along the coast of Spain and Africa, but they will never know that a land such as our exists!"

"My goodness! How far you've turned the time back. Maybe I'll tell them about our country."

"They wouldn't know what you were talking about," the Clock smiled. "They would merely think you, as a boy were pretending to know more than they, as men know. And as for a world spread out as we know it—they'd never believe that, and you might only annoy them in suggesting it."

So John wandered back and forth—listening to what the sailors were planning and then hearing from the Little Black Clock of their great discoveries and journeys and of their boats and the knowledge of the sea these first sailors possessed.

But now they made many stops. The Phoenicians were beginning to trade, and John and Peggy were fascinated with the way they were going about it.

"Can't we stay with them a while longer?" John urged.

"Yes," the Little Black Clock answered briskly. "I'll make up your lost hours of sleep. Oh, yes, we'll stay a little longer."

HOW'S your HEALTH?

MEDICAL ETHICS

In the discussion of the economic and social aspects of modern medicine, frequent reference has been made in recent years to medical ethics.

Some have charged medical ethics with being outworn—others have staunchly defended them as essential for the guidance of a profession which the public vests with so much trust and confidence.

There can be no question but that a profession as privileged as that of medicine must have a code of ethics to guide it in its services.

Medical practice would be greatly embarrassed if patients were not assured that their records and histories would be held in strict confidence, or that their relation to the physician would be sustained on any other but a high moral level.

The Principles of Medical Ethics, issued by the American Medical Association, provides such rules for the conduct of the profession.

Its leading principle affirms that "A profession has for its prime object the service it can render to humanity; reward or financial gain should be a subordinate consideration. The practice of medicine is a profession.

"In choosing this profession an individual assumes an obligation to conduct himself in accord with its ideals."

These principles further provide that the physician should conduct himself with patience, delicacy and secrecy, and that his prognosis or judgment as to the issue of the case of illness should neither be exaggerated or minimized—and that while it may not be advisable that the patient should know the gravity of his disease, his family should be informed as to its condition and probable outcome.

Medical ethics provide that the patient must under no circumstances be neglected; that the physician's first and last obligation is to serve humanity, in serving the sick one.

First Talkie for Jackie Coogan in "Tom Sawyer"

There is only one celebrity of screenland who has never appeared in talking pictures. He is Charlie Chaplin, and he has said that he never will appear in a talking movie.

But the same can't be said for a young man who got his first chance in films with the great comedian of the suit-case size shoes.

Jackie Coogan, the kid of "The Kid," after appearances in 15 silent films, is to be heard for the first time on the talking screen.

Jackie plays the title role of "Tom Sawyer" at the Palace Theatre tomorrow and Saturday.

It is his first appearance in films, talking or silent, for three years.

"Those Three French Girls" Has Gags and Laughs

Sberer farce of the kind which the silent picture did not tackle because of the lack of dialogue, is more and more finding its way to the talking screen.

As their contribution to this phase of entertainment, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will present at the Palace Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week "Those Three French Girls."

The plot of this talkie farce is marked by its many opportunities for "gags" and laughs. Briefly, it concerns the meeting in jail of Reginald Denny, a somewhat gay young Englishman; Cliff Edwards and Edward Brophy—Americans of imbibitory habits, and three French modistes, Fifi Dorsay, Yoia d'Avril and Sandra Ravel, jailed because they threw flower pots at their landlord during an argument.

How the sextette escape from jail and how they are received by George Grossmith, as the Earl of Ippleton, Denny's uncle, provides the basis for the laughs of the production, which was directed by "Our Blushing Brides" and "The Florida Girl" fame.

The story is an original by Dale Van Every and Arthur Freed, with adaptation and continuity by Sylvia Thalberg and Frank Butler.

It is particularly interesting, however, because the dialogue marks the first cinema work of the eminent humorist, P. G. Wodehouse. In fact, the parts of the Earl of Ippleton and Parker, a butler a la the famous "Jeeves" of literary renown, are quite in the familiar Wodehouse genre.

Denny's position as a player of farce needs no introduction, while Fifi Dorsay has been one of the leading comedienne on the screen since her work in "They Had to See Paris." The Cosmopolitan picture has been filmed with a lavish hand and contains a new song hit, "You're Simply Delish," the work of Arthur Freed and Joseph Meyer.

TRANS-PACIFIC PHONE TO CLOSE CIRCUIT GAP

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Preliminary work has been started for the inauguration of trans-Pacific radio telephone service.

When completed, within a year, it is expected to close the gap in around-the-world voice communication.

Receiving and transmitting short wave stations near here will operate in conjunction with Hawaiian stations and will hook up American telephones with the Pacific Islands, Australia and Asia.

The complete circuit of the world by telephone from San Francisco through Sydney, London and New York will be 21,475 miles. The investment of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in the Pacific Coast stations will be approximately $1,000,000. The Hawaiian stations are to be constructed by RCA Communications, and will serve subscribers of the Mutual Telephone Co. in Hawaii.

For the first time the international date line will be crossed in a regularly established service.

The electric impulse carrying the voice of a talker in San Francisco to a friend in Australia will in the half second it takes to traverse the Pacific Ocean, pass from "today" to "yesterday" and back to "today" again.

Hollywood Sights
By Robbin Coons
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 15.—(P)—A number of familiar movie faces are to be seen on the screen again in big productions this year, after more or less lengthy absences or submersion in unimportant pictures.

Carmel Myers, who was about to go on a vaudeville tour, returned for an important role in "Svegnali," and Laura La Plante is to play in her second feature since her recent return to the screen, opposite Frank Fay in "The Devil Was Sick." In the same cast are Ethlyne Claire, former serial queen at Pathe, and Louise Brooks, who returned from foreign picture work a few months ago.

Ricardo Cortez made a complete come-back in "Her Man," and is in demand again, and Mae Murray, who made only one talkie, "Peacock Alley," is to appear with Lowell Sherman in "Bachelor Apartment."

Bravado
Two recent incidents illuminate the daring and sense of humor, respectively, of the reputedly temperamental blond star, much lime-lighted, known as Mary Nolan.

At a week-end party in the mountains at Lake Arrowhead, the guests included Mary and the former cowboy star, Tom Mix, lately of the circus.

All were out horseback riding when Mix performed one of his typical movie stunts, riding his steed swiftly over a steep precipice and diving into the water below.

Mary saw him do it. While the others looked on, she wheeled her mount, rode back a piece, turned again, and dashed over the incline in Mix's path, into the icy water!

Proving that no cowboy can "show off" before our Mary.

Juries are Called For District Court

Three petit jury venires and a grand jury venire have been summoned for the February term of 35th district court which convenes in Ballinger on February 12. The call is slightly different from heretofore and according to the notices the grand jury veniremen will report to the court here on Monday, February 9, at 1:30 p. m., instead of at 10 a. m. The petit jury veniremen for the first week will not report until 10 a. m. Tuesday. No petit jury was called for the last week of court.

Heretofore all prospective jury-men were called for four weeks of court and all reported at 10 a. m. of the first day. One jury has been omitted altogether, and the first petit jury venire will have one day off before reporting. This was done because it always requires some time before the docket is ready for cases to be called and the opening day jury usually has no cases to hear. The grand jurors will be sworn in the first afternoon of the session. By the time the first case is ready for trial the first petit jury will be formed.

The court docket for this term is light compared with previous terms, especially in number of criminal cases.

Following are the venires summoned:

Grand Jury
John Dean, C. S. Coleman, Paul Gerhart, Albert Afflerbach, P. R. Dietz, Carl Henslee, Milton Clayton, R. M. Albritton, E. J. Cervenka, Jos. Droll, J. C. Cook, E. P. Talbot, James E. Brewer, A. B. Davis, C. C. Carter and J. W. Ash.

New Football Class A District Proposed

A new class A football district of high schools in this section is being strongly urged by a number of school men and coaches. R. L. Williams, of Brady, is one of the leaders and has selected a district that he feels would be profitable and have eight schools of practically the same size and strength as contesting teams.

The proposed teams which Mr. Williams has selected for the new district would include Ballinger, Brady, Coleman, Brownwood, San Saba, Lampasas, Junction and Kerrville. All of these teams are at present members of district 11, class B, with the exception of Brownwood and Kerrville who are already in class A.

Letters have been sent to each of the schools asking their views on the league district and if the answers sound encouraging to Mr. Williams a meeting of representatives of the schools will likely be called later.

The forming of the district would not affect the class B district 11. There would still be enough towns left in it for a full schedule and with the six stronger teams out it would become a better district and would not have to be split into a western and eastern division.

There are a number of objectionable features in the proposed district that can be considered along with the good sides. In playing a round robin schedule jumps will necessarily be long and expenses will be much higher than in the present district. Expenses of officials may be more and when the season is over the new district will be thrown into a competition much harder than it can compete with.

Good features are that the entire conference schedule will offer good teams for competition and a long string of easy games will be left off. This of course will draw more fans and possibly offset the extra expense of jumps and other expenses.

So far officials at Ballinger have never given any serious thought to entering a class A circuit except to say no when the opportunity presented itself. They have felt that we were playing in the right class, however, the proposed teams look like about our equal and we could still hold our place in the district as one of the strongest teams and be able to stick near the top. In case the district should be formed and Ballinger should not enter it this school would be in a poor position as only Melvin, Bronte, Paint Rock, Robert Lee, Richland Springs and other small schools would be left to contest. There is one change that could be made to make the proposed circuit more compact—to take in Winters and leave out Kerrville. Kerrville is already in a class A district and could remain there and yet have its annual game with Junction.

VETERANS TEACH TRICKS OF POLO TO CAPITAL WOMEN
By Sue McNamara
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—After a good showing in its first games with Cleveland, the polo team formed by Washington society girls is preparing to face girl teams in New York and Palm Beach.

A game with Miami also is in prospect.

Unmindful of bruises, they go swinging over the turf at the Riding and Hunt Club.

The former Cornelia Vanderbilt, now Mrs. John Francis Amherst Cecil, has joined the wool-shirted, helmeted ranks of the Washington women. Mrs. Cecil, Miss Elizabeth Martin and Miss Eliza Cox, all experienced players, are teaching new members.

Mrs. Frank M. Andrews, another player, is the daughter of the late Gen. Henry T. Allen who was in command of the American Army of Occupation in Germany.

She also played on men's polo teams in Coblenz while her husband was stationed there after the war.

Mrs. Vernon Olmsted, also the wife of an army officer, has played polo at Fort Leavenworth where some of the best riders in the army received their training.

The capital girl mallet swingers beat the women's team of Cleveland in two games out of three. Elated by their success they even faced a Cleveland's men team—but were beaten. However one game resulted in a tie—12-12.

The women admit that polo has its dangerous moments, but they scorn such precautionary measures as first aid kits on the side lines when they go on the field.

Of the 114 counties in Missouri, 83 decreased in population between the census of 1920 and that of 1930.

ENDORSEMENT OF COTTON ACREAGE CUT IS EXPECTED
(By Associated Press)
HOUSTON, Jan. 15.—The probable endorsement of the Garrett five-year cotton reduction program by eleven southern state banking associations was seen here by J. E. Garrett of Corpus Christi, president of the Southern Cotton Reduction Association, and author of the Garrett plan.

After a conference here with a group of Louisianians and Mississippians, Clay Rand of Gulfport, Miss., was appointed to direct the work of the association in all states east of the Mississippi River. It was planned, he said, to send 60 to 80 men in the field soon to obtain pledges from bankers not to advance loans to farmers who would not agree to cut acreage.

The program for 1931 is to secure a reduction of 25 per cent.

Mrs. Strain is Honored
Mrs. H. S. Strain, who is leaving soon to make her home in Abilene, was paid a pretty compliment on Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. A. B. Stobaugh entertained the membership of the Missionary Society of the First Christian Church, in her home on Fourth Street.

The lovely interior of the home was given a pretty adornment for the afternoon's diversion which took the form of a delightfully informal program. Readings were given by Mrs. Charles Bailey and Mary Virginia Simpson. Following the presentation of a silver sandwich tray by Mrs. Floyd Carr, Mrs. Alex McGregor gave a Scotch farewell song. The words of both were written by Mr. Jack McGregor and were cleverly appropriate.

A delectable refreshment plate was passed by the hostess.

Mrs. Estes Lynn is Hostess at Two Parties

The hospitable home of Mrs. Estes Lynn on Eleventh Street was the scene of two enjoyable affairs last week.

On Tuesday club members were guests at a prettily planned one o'clock luncheon, and on Thursday evening Mr. Lynn joined Mrs. Lynn in the extension of a pleasant hospitality to Night Bridge Club members and a few additional friends.

Dainty New Year figures adorned place cards for the seating of the guests at the long luncheon table. Yellow chrysanthemums were combined with Indian currants to form the centerpiece of unusual beauty. A delicious four-course luncheon was followed by the usual four games of bridge.

Included were: Mmes. Bruce Creasy, Frank Pearce, Geo. Holman, Joe Simmons, Alex McGregor, Louis Tigner, Victor Miller, Ralph Erwin, George Pearce, Malcolm McGregor, D. Reeder, Joe Neff, R. L. Harwell, Misses Louise Orgain and Winnie

Blooming pot plants and ferns gave added beauty to the Thursday evening party at which Mr. and Mrs. Lynn included the following: Messrs. and Mmes. W. R. Bogle, Joe Neff, Malcolm McGregor, R. L. Harwell, Frank Pearce, Sim Cottle, Alex McGregor, Victor Miller, Joe Simmons, Will Dogge, Geo. Holman, M. S. Karmany, Mrs. George Pearce, Miss Louise Orgain, and Roy Reeder.

Methodist Missionary Circles Are Reorganized

The three circles of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Methodist Church underwent a complete reorganization on Monday afternoon of this week. Circle No. One members were delightfully entertained by Mrs. W. A. Francis in her Broadway home and elected the following officers: Mrs. W. F. Mason, chairman; Mrs. J. B. Striplin, vice-chairman; Mrs. Vernon Webb, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. C. P. Shepherd was hostess to Circle No. Two members who elected Mrs. W. W. Killam chairman; Mrs. F. V. Gates, vice-chairman; Miss Thelma Midgeley, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. R. A. Dickinson entertained Circle No. Three members and the following officers were chosen: Mrs. J. M. Skinner, chairman; Mrs. C. A. Watson, vice-chairman; Mrs. D. C. Middleton, Jr., secretary-treasurer.

Annual Banquet is Ready for Guests

After a canvass of the city by four teams selling tickets to the annual banquet of the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce there are still accommodations for the spread and those desiring plates can secure tickets at any of the local drug stores until the 25th are sold. Only two committees had reported Thursday morning and J. D. Motley, secretary, said these reported total sales of approximately 125 plates. Arrangements are being made for 250 plates and it is believed all places will be taken.

The banquet hall is about ready for the club women to put the finishing touches to the tables. A West Texas Utilities Company crew has strung many hundreds of colored lights in the building, adding greatly to the appearance. Tables will be grouped in a way that everyone can see and hear, and by Friday night at 8 everything will be ready for the guests.

A kitchen in the rear of the building is cut off from the main banquet hall. The building will be heated by the Community Natural Gas Company and will be warm and comfortable regardless of the kind of weather. Several large boxes of caps and plate favors have arrived and will be placed at each plate Friday night.

The ticket committees have a little more work to do Thursday before all the territory is covered. Secretary Motley said the invitation list would run about 50 and that all those invited had accepted.

Dr. Paul Horn, of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, the principal speaker, will arrive here early Friday afternoon for his address to the gathering of business and professional men and rural citizens. Mayor W. C. McCarver is all set for his role of toastmaster and will introduce out-of-town guests and speakers as well as announcing numbers on the program.

Rural club women have been busy this week in preparing to serve the all-home-produced menu and soon after noon Friday will begin arriving here with delicacies. Drinks and other items will be served piping hot from the kitchen. A table committee will begin its duties Friday morning. A service committee will wait on the diners and will be ready at 6 p. m. with plenty of help for each table.

Plenty of music has been arranged for the banquet and so far as the chamber officials know nothing will be lacking to make the evening an enjoyable one.

FOOD SHELTER SUNDRIES CLOTHING FUEL ELECTRICITY

The Electric Man Diagnoses Your Household Budget

"The economy of additional electric service under the schedule of the new Home Comfort rate should influence you to take a far greater advantage of the many uses of electrical energy—especially as it applies to the comfort and happiness of your home life.

"The above chart shows how your average expenditure for electric service compares with expenditures for other commodities and services. In it you will notice that everything takes rank above electricity—and yet there are few things more important than electric service.

"In the face of ever-mounting overhead, increased taxes, increased cost of manufacturing commodities, and increased expense of distribution—the cost to the consumer of electric service has consistently decreased. At the present time it shows a national average 28 per cent below the 1914 level, and a considerably greater reduction below that level for the West Texas territory.

"And with this effort to place the benefits of electric service within reach of all, comparatively few are taking the fullest advantage of this invaluable service. According to a report from the statistical department of the N. E. L. A.—less than 5 per cent of the electrically equipped homes are using more than 26 per cent of the total service used! And even then—electric service remains the smallest item of expense in their household budget.

"When such a little of your income goes for improving the comfort and convenience of your home through the application of electric service to your domestic problems—don't you think it would be wise to investigate more thoroughly the many advantages of additional electric service made possible so inexpensively under this new Home Comfort rate schedule?"

IT'S PULL, BABY, PULL ON NEW STYLE OF BIB
(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Pull, baby, pull, is the modern slogan—instead of sleep, baby, sleep.
A new bib designed by the division of clothing and textiles of the home economics bureau has a long cord attached. Baby is taught to give it a yank just as an aviator pulls the rip cord to open his parachute.
The jerk on the cord merely fastens the bib securely round the baby's neck without aid. All parents have to do is to toss the bib over his head.
