(By Associated Press)
LUBBOCK, Tex., Jan. 20.—Charles A. Guy and his wife were found this afternoon, safe in their automobile, which had been stalled in a sand bank, after being missing, since Sunday. L. H. Quinn, third member of the party, is still being sought.

Quinn is publisher of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, and Guy is managing editor of the same paper. Guy said Quinn left the machine to seek help Sunday.

LUBBOCK, Tex., Jan. 20.—Airplanes and automobiles carried searchers throughout Hockley and Cochran counties today, these being supplemented by pedestrians endeavoring to find Charles A. Guy managing editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, J. J. his wife, and L. H. Quinn, publisher of the paper.

The trio have been missing since driving into the sand hills Sunday for antelope. Five airplanes are en route from Fort Sill, Oklahoma, to aid in the search.

The West Texas Press Association, of which Guy is first vice-president, has asked all members for all possible assistance in finding the missing persons.

Mrs. John F. Currie and Mrs. Lena Hagan returned Monday from Austin, where they had been for a week's visit. On their return trip they spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. Scott Mangum, of Temple, and visited Mrs. George Royalty, of Waco.

Rev. W. H. Doss, chaplain of the State Senate, writes the Ledger to come to his address as he cannot do without the news from the old home town. Rev. Doss expects to be away from Ballinger for three months or longer.

Bombs Kill Three In Railway Yards

(By Associated Press)
BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 20.—Three bombs killed three persons on railway lines here today, and injured a dozen others. Police have commenced a round-up of suspects.

A recent announcement by the railroads of drastic cuts in the personnel on March 1 is believed to be the cause of the outrages.

Desert Railroad Built to Hoover Dam

A railway over desert wastes (map) is being built to carry men and materials to the site of Hoover dam. Below a huge steam shovel is shown building up grade for the line, and above are workmen completing a new bridge at Boulder Junction, south of Las Vegas, Nev.

(By Associated Press)
LAS VEGAS, Nev., Jan. 20.—Through shifting sands of Nevada desert wastes a railroad to Hoover dam is being built.

Track-layers are following grading crews near here in rushing to completion 22.71 miles of railroad from Boulder Junction, a few miles south of Las Vegas, eastward to Boulder City.

This section of the line is to be ready for operation by January 31. It is a branch of the Union Pacific.

From Boulder City an additional 7.17 miles of government railroad is to extend to the dam site in the Black canyon of the Colorado. This will be built at an estimated cost of $1,600,000, while $900,000 will be spent on the 22-mile stretch.

Men, materials and supplies for the building of the huge Hoover dam in Boulder canyon will be carried over the new road, which will be formally opened within five months.

Although the railroad traverses a barren, desolate country, the line is to be protected by dykes against the sudden rush of early spring waters and sudden storms occasionally experienced on the desert.

Preparation of the roadbed involved the excavation of 375,000 cubic yards of dirt and rock, construction of 42 bridges and 66 culverts. A maximum grade of 1.35 per cent was maintained.

When work was first started on the rail project the contractor encountered an unforeseen obstacle in the freezing of radiators on trucks and tractors in early morning hours.

Work trains have followed the tracklayers to ballast the track.

An another preliminary to actual construction of Boulder City and the Hoover dam, the Southern Sierras Power Company has begun work on a power line to the dam site. It will represent an investment of $1,500,000 and more than 200 will be employed.

The line will extend from San Bernardino, Calif., over the San Bernardino mountains to Victorville and from there go in an almost direct line to the Colorado River's Black canyon. The power line probably will be completed before bids are opened for construction of the dam project March 4.

Majority of Enforcement Commission Favors a Departure from Prohibition

Gov. Sterling Takes Oath; Great Throng is Present

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Congress learned today that six of the eleven members of President Hoover's law enforcement commission had recommended a departure from the present national prohibition.

The commission's long awaited report, received from Chairman George W. Wickersham by the president yesterday, reached congress today.

While a majority of the commissioners opposed outright repeal of the dry act, two of them, Newton D. Baker and Monte M. Lemann, advocating that course; and four, Miss Ada L. Comstock, Henry W. Anderson, Frank J. Loesch, and Roscoe Pound, urged revision of the constitutional clause.

Of the remaining five, Wickersham, William I. Grubb, William S. Kenyon, Kenneth MacIntosh, and Paul J. McCormick urged further trial and strict enforcement. All except Lemann, however, signed the majority report proposing the strengthening of enforcement agencies.

Winters Banquet Tonight at 7:30

Tuesday evening the citizens of Winters with a large number of guests will gather for their annual chamber of commerce banquet. The menu will be served at the Winters high school by the Parent-Teacher Association.

John W. Norman is chairman of the program committee and he and A. H. Smith, another member, have announced that an excellent program has been arranged.

Dr. J. W. Hunt of Abilene, president of McMurry College, will deliver the principal address of the evening. Other features on the program will introduce the McMurry Male Quartet who will accompany Dr. Hunt to Winters for the occasion. Music will be furnished by the Little Theatre Orchestra under the direction of H. N. Lyle and a short playlet under the direction of Miss Jessie D. Boykin.

A report of the past year's work and election of new directors for the coming year will be the only matters of business to come before the meeting.

A number of Ballinger people have been invited and expect to be present.

The survey just completed in the drouth stricken area of Runnels county shows that a total of $47,500 aid is needed. This was announced Tuesday morning by C. R. Stephens, chairman of the American Red Cross chapter of this county and a member of the committee to handle the farm loans through the federal government.

The survey shows 370 families needing help and is divided with $32,800 being needed for feed and seed and $13,700 needed for food. The canvass was made the latter part of last week by school districts and those working on the committees making the canvass were selected for their knowledge of the conditions in the district and were asked to limit requests to the lowest figure. This was done by all committees and yet the amount ran higher than was expected.

O. B. Martin, head of the Extension Service work in Texas, has called a meeting Thursday at Abilene of the county committees and ex-officio members to discuss the plans for securing federal farm loans. Mr. Martin will have all application blanks with him at the meeting in Abilene and will be able to explain every detail of the work necessary for the members to know. The county committee here is composed of C. R. Stephens, R. G. Erwin, T. J. McCaughan and C. W. Lehmburg. All four men from this county will attend the session at Abilene. In a letter to Mr. Stephens, Martin stated that he believed that application could be made at once and loans secured by Feb. 1 as the organization was already in good shape and ready to function.

The loans from this federal appropriation can be secured by anyone who can secure the loan with their prospective crop. The loans will be made at 5 per cent interest and will be for the purpose of securing feed and seed for farmers. None of these loans will be for the purchase of food. Some of the farmers who need these loans have already mortgaged for the coming year but it is believed that in some cases a part can be released so that the loans may be properly secured.

The allotment to Texas out of the recent appropriation of $45,000,000 relief is more than three million dollars and it is thought that all applications for loans will be granted in full.

Speaking of the need of food for family consumption, Mr. Stephens stated that this would have to come through the Red Cross. This organization has already signified their intention of taking over this part of the work throughout the nation. Headquarters has been notified of the amount of aid that will be needed in this county. Mr. Stephens stated that he had filed a complete report with the Red Cross and expected a letter of instructions from them early next week, setting out their plans for immediate relief to such families as are now in destitute circumstances.

The 370 families in this county asking aid do not all need feed, seed and food. Some only need one of these items, some two, and a few are badly in need of all three. The $32,800 asked for feed and seed will take care of all crops yet to be planted and insure a harvest on every acre of land now in cultivation. It will provide feed for teams and in case of tractors being in use on the farms, will furnish fuel.

As soon as the Abilene meeting is over the committee expects to be in possession of all particulars of the plans and the Kidnappings are getting too common in Texas. The workings of the gangs are not limited to children as has been the common practice for years, but adults are being held by gangsters and ransom demanded of relatives. Some legislators are offering bills at the present session of the legislature that would make the crime punishable by death and many peace officers believe that with this penalty, the crime would become less.

People forget dates easily and become confused. For the last several days we have heard a number of arguments about the cold weather of January one year ago. The record shows that the coldest night was on January 17 when the government thermometer here registered two degrees below zero. This record was preceded, however, by a number of days when the mercury ranged from nine to twelve above zero for every night. Ice and cold weather started early in the month and reached a peak on January 17.

Terracing and soil conservation work are going on so fast in Runnels county that the county agent is kept on the go all the time. A book of dates for assisting in this work shows him more than a month behind at present and all his time is being given to assisting farmers in running lines on their farms. Better production of terraced farms is convincing Runnels county farmers of the big advantages of this type of farming and they are anxious to move forward with their neighbors. This county leads all counties in the state in terraced acreage at present and many acres will be added to the total before planting time.

Proof that the winter has been extremely mild so far can be seen in a number of rose gardens in town that are still growing with a heavy foliage and attempting to bloom. Some plants are full of buds which break open into a bloom that is injured by frost and ice and never develop into a full rose. At this same time last year such plants were bare and many shrubs of the evergreen type were frozen and did not get growing again until late in the spring and early summer. These same type shrubs this year are pretty and green and are not injured by weather.

With the wonderful season in the ground it is a fine time to start plans for the yard and lawn for the coming year. A number of local people are already beginning to have fertilizer placed on their lawns so that the spring rains will soak it into the ground. Trees are being trimmed and a number have had their yards completely landscaped and new trees and shrubs set. All trees and shrubs should do well this year and people who need dirt can get it hauled now and serve

AN ENCOURAGING RECORD

Nineteen-thirty was a year of pronounced progress for the electric industry in the matter of improving and extending service to the public.

During the year the number of new customers increased 550,000; about $250,000,000 was spent on new construction, and vast sums were likewise spent in maintaining existing property; electric service to farms increased 18 per cent—the largest gain of any one year on record; domestic consumption of power gained 14 per cent, and total consumption was about the same as in 1929, generating capacity increased 7 per cent, and thousands of miles of new transmission and distribution lines were placed in service.

It is of equal public interest that the average rate for household service went down 3 per cent, while gross earnings of the industry increased about 3 per cent over 1929. Yearly consumption of power increased from 502 to 550 kilowatt-hours.

Approximately 70 per cent of all homes are now wired, a large part of unwired homes being on farms. Electric progress during present and future years, it is widely believed, will be outstanding on farms. In addition, improvement in the standards of living of urban homes and increased industrial efficiency will continue to produce a growing demand for power.

The record of the electric industry should be encouraging to the public. If use of power is an index of prosperity, good times will not be long in returning.

TOO MUCH MILK

That there can be too much of a good thing is common knowledge. But that this can be true of milk is not as commonly known.

Recently, however, it has been substantially demonstrated that in certain cases, not too rare, the common quantity of three glasses of milk for every child, every day, is too much and may do more harm than good.

Many of these children to whom milk is distasteful suffer also anorexia, or absence of appetite. Their revulsion for milk is transferred and extended to food in general. Such children easily become nibblers and sparse eaters.

Precisely what the cause for this condition may be must be determined in each instance, since there is no single and ever-present factor responsible.

It may be due to constitutional peculiarity, such as a small stomach, which is too soon filled with the liquid food. It may also be due to an intolerance for milk, a condition in which milk makes the child feel ill.

More commonly, however, the condition is psychologic rather than physical in nature. The parents' insistence upon milk drinking and the oft-repeated urging, "drink it; it's good for you," evoking in the child a negative attitude.

On this score there has been a wholesome reaction on the part of pediatricians against too great an insistence on foods that are "good for you," be they milk or spinach.

In feeding milk to children it need not be always a "glass of milk." It can be served in the more preferred forms of ice-cream, creamed soups, custard, or chocolate beverages.

SHOOTING PRESERVES SAVES TEXAS GAME

(By Associated Press) DEL RIO, Tex., Jan. 20.—"Uncle shooting preserve system has aided in preserving wild game in Texas, according to J. G. Burr, director of natural research of the game, fish and oyster commission. Burr said the system had shown remarkable results and eventually would replenish the stocks of wild game which was seriously depleted the past 30 years.

Burr said the number of shooting preserves in Texas had doubled in the past two years. Within the last year the number of acres increased 1,000,000, the acreage at the end of 1930 totaling 509,000.

The system is one that permits land owners to charge a fee for hunting. Game commission officials said such a system caused land owners to take precautions against illegal loss of game because they would thereby lose a source of revenue.

AGED NEGRO DIES

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Jan. 20.—Use of the George Pryor, believed to have been more than a century old, ex-slave and negro adventurer, died here recently.

"Uncle George," said to have been the oldest resident of Del Rio, claimed to have fought in the Confederate army with his owners. He came into this section before the town of Del Rio was built and served the Seminole Indians, who at one time had a camp near where Bracketville now stands. For the past two or three years he had lived in a tent in the Chihuahua section of Del Rio.

SUNDOWN STORIES

SKY LESSONS

By Mary Graham Bonner "Hurry!" shouted the Little Black Clock.

"You've turned the time forward—I know!" John exclaimed. "We have to hurry when the time is turned forward," Peggy agreed.

"You're both right," the Little Black Clock smiled. "We're going to get into our plane right away. Ah, yes, I've turned the time forward all right. We're going to see the children at school."

The Clock let them see so much of the world, he took them all over, backward and forward in time. It would hardly be nice if they complained because he was going to take them now to see children in a school.

So they didn't say a word, but quickly got into the plane. In a very little time they were landing near an open-air school house. They could tell it was this by its flag pole, which had evidently been brought up from the earth.

There were seats and desks, and a teacher stood in the center, but there were no walls to the school house and no roof. In fact, it was just like being out in a yard after school where games could be played.

The Little Black Clock whispered to John and Peggy that they would stand at one side. They needed study with the others. How would they be asked to answer questions. They would simply be regarded as visitors.

"Well, they were thankful for this much, and then they noticed by each child's desk and seat a small plane. Probably, the children decided, the pupils came to school this way instead of walking or riding to school.

"Attention! Class!" said the teacher. "We will begin this morning by seeing how many remember the words we learned to spell yesterday. Will Billy please step up to the sky?"

Immediately the boy whose name was Billy got into his plane and started to fly off.

What in the world, or in the sky, did this mean?

There are many times when Bayer Aspirin will "save the day." It will always ease a throbbing head. Quiet a grumbling tooth. Relieve nagging pains of neuralgia or neuritis. Check a sudden cold. Even rheumatism has lost its terrors for those who have learned to depend on these tablets. Gargle with Bayer Aspirin at the first suspicion of sore throat, and reduce the infection. SOUR STOMACH
Gas Formed, Head Hurt, and Woman Had To Hold To Things When She Walked.

Kaufman, Texas.—"Two years ago, I began suffering with spells of indigestion," says Mrs. Marshall Smith, of this place. "It seemed like everything I ate disagreed with me. I had gas on the stomach, and often my head would hurt so bad I had to lie down.

"Everything would get black before my eyes, and I would be so dizzy when I would get upon my feet that I had to hold on to things, to walk around the room.

"My food soured on my stomach, and I was constipated. "I had often read about Black-Draught, and my mother told me it was a good medicine to take, and so I began a course of it.

"It was not long until I was feeling better. I took a pinch after meals, and I soon found I was suffering much less. It relieved constipation, and I was not any longer troubled with indigestion.

"We try to keep it in the house, and I use Black-Draught now, whenever I feel a sick headache coming on. It is a fine medicine."

HOOSIER RESERVE FLIERS FORM PERMANENT CLUB

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 20.—Officers of the 399th observation squadron, a reserve unit, are telling the aviation world that theirs is not a "paper" organization.

They organized an officers' club, elected as their president Major Weir Cook, war-time flier and established a club house at Schoen field.

Now, instead of being dependent upon the courtesy of regular army fliers, they are able to trade hospitality for hospitality.

New Air Tie-Up May Lead To Far East Mail Route

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—An air route near the top of the world to the Orient is envisioned by W. Irving Glover, assistant postmaster general in charge of air mail.

He termed his idea "nebulous" and lying far in the future but sees the first step undertaken in the proposed tie-up of American and Canadian lines by air mail service between Winnipeg and St. Paul and Minneapolis.

This line would join America's network of mail routes with existing Canadian services which run from Winnipeg to Regina, Calgary and Edmonton. There is a gap between Edmonton and Fort McMurray, which is to be closed and a line continues due north to Aklavik, beyond the Arctic circle.

Somewhere along the northern line, Mr. Glover said, a route could be branched across Alaska and Bering Strait into Soviet Russia and down to China and Japan.

"This is not an improbable route by any means," he said. "Careful study has been given the proposition by the postoffice departments of Canada and the United States and they do not intend to stand idly by and permit this opportunity for a direct hookup with the Far East to be supplied by any other countries."

With inauguration of proposed transatlantic service connecting through United States mail lines with a route crossing into Asia, he said, mail from Great Britain to China and Japan could be speeded up two weeks.

HERE'S LATEST TAX—IT'S ON WATERFLEAS

(By Associated Press)
BERNBURG, Germany, Jan. 20.—Now that cats, dogs, horses and other animals have become regular tax-payers, why shouldn't waterfleas also contribute to the empty town treasury?

A large pond belonging to the village Gross Poley, near here, is infested with waterfleas. So the aldermen decided to place a tax on the catching of these "community fleas."

When an inhabitant acquired the sole right to catch fleas in the pond he had to sign a lease which provides that the annual tax of $25 on waterfleas must be prepaid.

Laughs Galore in "Those Three French Girls"

You will be pardoned for poking your neighbor in the ribs, slapping the back of the lady in front of you, or rolling in the aisle when you see "Those Three French Girls," now at the Palace Theatre where it closes a three-day run tonight.

This hilarious farce-comedy is one of the funniest pictures to reach the talking screen. Riotous situations are piled up as fast as they develop into one prolonged round of guffaws.

Harry Beaumont, who directed the feature with P. G. Wodehouse's dialogue in the script, did an admirable job for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, guiding Reginald Denny and Fifi Dorsay through the leading romantic roles and obtaining an abundance of love interest without sacrificing a single giggle.

The cast is rounded out by Cliff (Ukulele Ike) Edwards, Yola d'Avril, Sandra Ravel, Edward Brophy, George Grossmith and Peter Gawthorne, all splendidly cast and offering fine performances.

The plot concerns the adventures of the wayward nephew of a blithering English lord in France. He meets up with three French girls and is joined in his escapades by two former Yankee doughboys. The plot reaches a screeching climax in a fashionable Parisian style salon and is finished by a wedding scene as unique as ever imagined. There is one song hit in the production, "You're Simply Delish," which one is bound to like. It's different and tuneful.

26 NATIONS REPRESENTED IN MEXICO CITY SCHOOL

(By Associated Press)
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20.—The playground of the American School here probably is one of the most cosmopolitan in the world.

Among the 750 students of all ages from kindergarten through high school are counted 26 nationalities.

All the major languages of the world are heard from the children at play, with English and Spanish as the common languages understood by all.

The American School, founded in 1922, has increased its enrollment steadily, and now Mexican children outnumber the Americans, with British third and Spanish fourth.

ARE YOU READY FOR PROSPERITY?

ABILENE, Texas, Jan. 13, 1931. Press dispatches during the last few days show that hundreds of thousands of men and women are being put to work, these reports coming from widely different sections of the country. These immense payrolls will be spent with merchants, thus increasing their clerical and office forces, and the merchants in turn will have to order more goods, thus increasing the output of the factories, which in turn will have to employ more help, thus rapidly accelerating the return of prosperity.

With the best crop prospects in the history of the Southwest, business leaders predict that within the next few months business will be humming again and making up for lost time. And as nearly all lines of business have been running with reduced forces of all kinds, including office help, there is going to be an enormous demand for young men and women ready to step in and shoulder responsibilities when the rush comes. Those who prepare now will get in on the ground floor and will have the finest opportunities for getting a running start toward success that have existed since the war.

In anticipation of these countless opportunities that are sure to come, the Employment Bureau of Draughon's Colleges is sending during 1931 24,000 messages to business firms likely to need office help to make sure that there will be good positions for those alert enough to be ready, and calls are already coming in. And to help ambitious young people to be ready for the hundreds of places at the beginning of the rush, liberal terms will be arranged through our Student Finance Fund for those who want to begin preparation now, either at College or by Mail. There will be no question about the opportunities, but those who wait until prosperity comes to begin preparation will not get in on the grand rush.

If you would like to know more about these opportunities, and our Students Finance Fund, mail the coupon today to Draughon's Business College, Dept. B, Dallas, Wichita Falls, Abilene or Lubbock, Texas, and arrange to get started at once, either at College or by Mail, and be sure of a good position early next fall when the opportunities will be the best. Mail the coupon today.

MOVIE FANS OF RUSSIA PAY WAY WITH GALOSHES

(By Associated Press)
LENINGRAD, Jan. 20.—Movie fans in Russia, who are short on currency, now obtain admission to some cinemas by tendering old clothing, potatoes, eggs, flowers, and whatnot at the box office.

Particularly welcome in this land of heavy snows and long winters is the prospective patron who brings a pair of old galoshes. The Krasnaya Gazeta says it is for the box office cashier to judge whether the articles presented are sufficiently valuable to justify admission.

CAPITOL News

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Jan. 20.—Tribute to a passing governor was paid by one who has had all the favors he expects from the executive.
Claude Tveer, chairman of the state board of control, who served eight years in the legislature prior to his appointment by Governor Dan Moody, declared Moody's messages to the legislature contained more of the science of government than those of any other governor.

Blindness is only a partial handicap to Rep. Olen R. Van Zandt, Grayson county. He demonstrated his ability to remember voices, as other men remember faces, during the "reunions" which marked the gathering of the 42nd legislature.

A voice, shouting to him across the rotunda of the capitol, was recognized and answered, and Van Zandt invariably called the names of those who advanced to shake hand.
Mrs. Van Zandt, his constant companion, is his "eyes."

Gordon M. Burns of Huntsville, elected to the legislature on a "squirrel bill," plans to do his utmost to put that bill through the legislature.

Burns, son of the district attorney at Huntsville, wants to give sportsmen of his district an additional three months in which to snipe the nut nibblers in May, June and July, and October, November and December.

Recalling with pride his authorship of the measure creating the state auditor's department, Rep. Coke Stevenson will resist to the utmost an attempt to stringhalt the department.

Stevenson offered the bill as a substitute for the proposed civil service act, declaring it had all the merits of civil service without the defects.

Only three amendments were placed on the bill in its travel through legislative channels—one giving the governor power to make the appointment; two, requiring the auditor to be a certified public accountant; and third, adding the words "efficient expert" to the auditor's title. Stevenson has never been fully won over to the merits of any one of the amendments—especially the last one.

There would be a nice "young-old" fight in the legislature if the youngsters wanted to take advantage of their numerical strength. There were 79 new members elected, according to the last count. Some of these, however, served in previous sessions, as for instance, Lee Statterwhite of Odessa.

Three of the five ladies elected are serving their first terms. Miss Margie Neal, the only woman senator, was the logical choice for chairman of the educational committee, due her long interest in affairs. Mrs. Helen B. Moore of Texas City won a name for herself in her interest in charitable institutions.

Mrs. N. E. Strong, one time postmistress and school teacher, but who now prefers to list herself as a farm woman, succeeded her late husband in the house. Mrs. Sarah Hughes of Dallas, a practicing attorney, comes to the legislature with the recommendation of her husband and law partner. Mrs. Lee J. Roundtree of Bryan adds to her distinction as a member of the legislature the distinction of being a member of The Associated Press. The latter three are the new members.

Rotarians Expect Large Attendance

Ballinger Rotarians are trying again this week to have 100 per cent attendance at their meeting Wednesday. Last week all members with the exception of two were present, giving them the best attendance record in several months and a special effort will be made during the entire month to move far up the ladder in the attendance record of the 41st district. The record last month showed Ballinger a few points above the San Angelo club. These two towns have had a close place for the last position in the percentage column and December showed San Angelo holding the bottom round with Ballinger a few points in the lead.

Rotarians are not satisfied with the poor attendance and with about two perfect meetings would rank right at the top in the January figures.

The program for Wednesday is in the hands of E. E. King, vocational leader, and M. C. Atkins, who will talk on the proper use of a telephone and demonstrate it as he talks. Rotarians will be shown how good service and poor service can happen by improper use of the instrument and by pronunciation of words.

Other numbers will be presented to entertain the members present Wednesday. The program has been arranged for the next six months and offers a wide range of subjects with a good percentage of the programs strictly entertainment. The arrangement of these programs makes attendance easier on account of the interest local people have in the subjects assigned.

WINTER CAMPING FOR GIRLS IS URGED AS HEALTH TONIC

(By Associated Press)
BRIARCLIFF, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Snow, ice and the cold winds of winter aren't to halt the outdoor camp life of Girl Scouts.

Members of the Girl Scout organization from coast to coast are being urged more than ever this year to enjoy the outdoors through every season. National headquarters this winter is setting an example which the rest of the nation is urged to follow. It is keeping Camp Andree, national Girl Scout camp here, open all during the cold months for week-end outings.

Chopping wood, tobogganing, skiing, hiking and skating are the forms of exercise Girl Scouts are urged to take part in to keep healthy.

Many Invited to Legion Gathering

Post Adjutant Joe Simmons has completed mailing invitation cards to more than 100 out-of-American Legion members and their families, inviting them here to a meeting of the Pat Williams Post Wednesday night. Plans are being made to entertain one of the largest crowds ever to attend a business session of this organization.

The meeting will open with an entertainment number. A cast of players from the Ballinger high school will be presented in the one-act play, "The Valliant," the curtain rising in the auditorium of Legion Hall at 7.30 p. m. This is the play that will be used by the school this year in the district interscholastic meet at San Angelo. The production is under the direction of A. F. Ligon, principal of the high school, and its premiere is to be offered the Legion audience. Mr. Ligon plans other local presentations of the play before final offering at San Angelo in April.

Following the stage attraction the men and women will convene in separate sessions for business, the auxiliary meeting in the women's room and the men in the large downstairs room. After several bits of pressing local business the Legionnaires will be addressed by V. Earl Earp, of Sweetwater, district committeeman. Mr. Earp is visiting as many posts as possible in the 17th district before the convention at Abilene on February 21-22. He is endeavoring to make that convention the largest in point of attendance ever held in this district. Abilene Legionnaires are meeting this by offering entertainment that will attract numerous visitors.

At the conclusion of the business sessions here Wednesday night the local Auxiliary members will serve refreshments, the steaming hot coffee to be issued by Legion K. P.'s.

A blanket invitation is extended every friend of the Legion to be present. Especially does this apply to the performance on the stage by the high school players. Anyone desiring to attend that part of the program only may do so and leave when the curtain is dropped. The play, a highly diverting skit, will last for about thirty minutes.

Georgia's minerals and water power are valued at $35,108,788, with minerals set at $17,584,055 and the water power at $17,524,733.

WINTERS LITTLE THEATRE TO PRODUCE "CAPPY RICKS"

"Cappy Ricks," one of the best known comedies of the stage, is the attraction to be offered by the Winters Little Theatre Friday night of this week. The play will be presented in the Winters high school auditorium by a talented cast chosen from Little Theatre members.

Carl Henslee, favored comedian, has assumed the title role, this in itself assuring the audience of an evening's entertainment. Roy Mack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott H. Mack of this city, is featured in the male lead. The cast is practically identical with that seen in Ballinger last year in "New Brooms," sponsored here by the local American Legion post.

The Winters Little Theatre orchestra will furnish a musical program before the curtain rises and between acts.
