Rain and Snow Fall In Portions of State

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, Feb. 13.—Rain and snow were reported from scattered portions of Texas today and yesterday.

Intermittent rains and low hanging clouds have overcast the skies here for two days.

Two and half inches of snow which fell in Borger during the night was said to be melting today.

A dispatch from Amarillo reported a temperature of 29 degrees, and a thin covering of ice spread over many portions of the Panhandle.

Sweetwater received a quarter inch rain.

Lubbock and vicinity reported good precipitation with more apparently coming.

A cold drizzle was falling at Wichita Falls while some portions of the city were still under water as a result of a three-inch rain Sunday. The filing from Wichita Falls also said snows were reported north of there in Oklahoma by railroad men.

Dates for Short Course Given Out

(By Associated Press)
COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Feb. 13.—Dates of the 1931 Farmers' Short Course at Texas A. & M. College have been announced as July 27-Aug. 1, inclusive, by H. H. Williamson, state agent of the extension service. Cutting the cost of production to meet the low farm price levels, and short cuts to living at home will feature the programs of this twenty-second annual event which will follow as a guide the Texas farm policy of the college as re-stated last fall by President T. O. Walton.

Women and girls will be offered programs designed to help in living at home and in improving rural standards of living, according to plans of Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent. The subjects covered will include meal planning, canning budgets, organization of pantries to save food, health steps, principles of clothing design and selection of materials, living room, kitchen and bedroom improvement, farm landscaping, and increasing the family income by the preparation and sale of home products.

Men and boys from the farms and ranches will be given intensive work in livestock and crop production, dairying, poultry raising, pecan and fruit culture, insect and disease control, and grading and marketing of farm products. Special attention will be paid the broad subject of land utilization, Williamson said, and how to adapt the farm business to meet the changing economic conditions.

A four-year course in physical education leading to a bachelor's degree has been instituted at St. Louis university.

Unemployed Here Get Food; Charity Board to Serve Many

C. R. Stephens, chairman of the local charity board, made one of the most interesting announcements authorized by the board this year when he stated Friday morning that food would be furnished to all deserving unemployed persons beginning at once. Mr. Stephens said he had been supplied with sufficient funds to take care of all who are in need of food at the present and for the next few days would interview white people from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m., and negroes from 3 p. m. until dark.

Mr. Stephens said that for the last several weeks calls had become greater daily and that it was fortunate that arrangements had been made to care for the deserving needy. After helping a family a check will be made to see that the food is used wisely and that those able keep trying to find work. Anyone refusing to work will be taken off the list and no further aid extended him.

Mr. Stephens itemized a list of groceries, consisting of seventeen articles and asked local firms to bid on furnishing these boxes.

Marines to Leave Nicaragua by June

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The United States government plans to withdraw the marines from Nicaragua, reducing the force there to 500 by June as compared with 5,000 January 1, 1929.

The withdrawal plan covers a provision for pay for the necessary resulting increase in the national guard of Nicaragua, and looks toward the eventual suppression of insurgent forces in that nation.

Lehmborg Lauded By Poultry Man

C. W. Lehmborg, county agent of Rannels county, this week received more praise for his work in this county. The last complimentary report came from E. N. Holmgren, extension service poultry husbandman. Mr. Holmgren in a letter to O. B. Martin, head of the extension service, has the following to say regarding the work in this county:

"I have just been sketching through annual narrative reports in district 3, and I want to call your attention to the report from Rannels county. For a fine detailed record of successful demonstrations this is very good indeed, and as I believe in handing flowers to the living I wanted to mention this matter to you."

The annual report made by Mr. Lehmborg this year has attracted much attention among agricultural leaders of the state. This report was conclusive proof of the efficient work done here by Mr. Lehmborg and actual accomplishments perhaps were better than in any county in West Texas.

The demonstrations held in this county last year were excellent. Most of these have been reported through the columns of The Ledger. The demonstrations have done much to help interest in better poultry in this county, many having built up large flocks on a systematic plan during the past two years, for which they have received good returns.

Special attention is being directed to poultry again this year and before the close of 1931 the industry is expected to increase and prosper still further.

Derailment Effort Near Corsicana Fails

(By Associated Press)
CORSIANA, Tex., Feb. 13.—County and railway officials are investigating an attempt to derail a southbound Texas & New Orleans train a few miles north of here early today at a trestle over Old Chambers Creek channel.

A semaphore warned the engineer, who stopped the train. A porter was sent ahead to investigate and found two rails removed and thrown off the trestle.

As the train backed up to notify the dispatcher's office, Conductor A. Klepper reports he saw a man run from the right-of-way.

They returned home Thursday night and left Friday morning for Abilene to appear before the Rotary Club of that city Friday at noon as the main feature on the program.

Scotland Yard Sleuths Under Fire; Critics Ask Lord Byng to Resign

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 13.—Scotland Yard and London's metropolitan police may be on the spot for a shake-up.

So far the attack is taking two angles. One is a demand for the resignation of Lord Byng of Vimy, as commissioner of police. The other insists that the detective force is "not as bright as it should be."

Lord Byng is 69, and in recent months has been in poor health. He is spending the winter on the Riviera and intends to remain there until April.

The usual age for retirement is 60 or above, and it is on the score of his age that Lord Byng's resignation is being urged. In addition it is maintained that he cannot keep the proper control of the force from a distance.

Lord Byng, however, says he has no intention of resigning and he is supported by Home Secretary Clynes.

The hero of Vimy Ridge, and former governor-general of Canada, was made commissioner of police two and a half years ago to "clean up" Scotland Yard.

There had been several Hyde Park cases involving women and prominent men, in which the integrity of the police had been questioned. Further, police were said to be winking at bookies and night clubs.

Byng, a strict disciplinarian with a long army record, tightened up the force at once. Penalties were increased for constables and detectives who were lax in their duties.

This naturally proved irksome for the department and some dissatisfaction within the force has appeared.

CONSTABLE FOR 20 YEARS

(By Associated Press)
WELLINGTON, Texas, Feb. 13.—Wellington voters didn't realize it, but M. L. Boss was getting too old for his job as constable. He did realize it, however, and resigned soon after he had been sworn in for the eleventh time. "I will be 39 years old June 7," he said, "and I am not as active as I used to be. To carry out the duties of the office, I must be outside a great deal, and I am arriving at the age when I must take care of my health."

His resignation was accepted, but he is still on the payroll of the county. He was made janitor at the courthouse. Boss was constable for 20 years and was elected last year.

Fire outside of national forests destroyed timber and property valued at $281,250 in Washington last year. This was a decrease of $67,550 since 1929.

Proration Law is Upheld by Court

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Feb. 13.—District Judge C. A. Wheeler today upheld the legality of the Texas oil proration law, finding for the state in the case brought by the Danziger Oil & Refining Company, of Amarillo. The Danziger company's attorneys contended that the proration order was unconstitutional because it deprived the operator of property rights without due process of law.

An appeal was announced by counsel for the company.

Baptist Revival Dates are Named

Rev. J. H. McClain, pastor of the Ballinger Baptist Church, announced Friday morning that definite dates had been set for their revival and help secured for bringing the messages.

Rev. R. E. Day of Big Spring will be here for two weeks to assist in the meeting. Rev. Day for years has been in evangelistic work but is now pastor of the church at Big Spring. He is considered one of the strongest soul winners in this section and members of the local church are delighted that his services have been secured.

The revival meeting will start on June 14 and will continue for two weeks including three Sundays. This date was selected so that it would not conflict with the Methodist revival which has been set for the latter part of May and closes on the date for the beginning of the Baptist evangelistic campaign.

Rev. McClain stated that it was not the plan at present to employ any out of town help to carry on the music. Local singers will be used and special music will be rendered by choir members.

This is the second revival announced for Ballinger during the spring and summer, however other denominations are expecting to announce their dates as soon as their leaders are secured at a time when there will be no conflict.

Six Gangs Work On Grading Job

Six gangs of workmen are busy at the present time on Highway 23 doing the dirt work on the grading job. Thursday approximately 140 head of horses and mules were being used on the work with about 45 men busy.

Five miles of roadway has been plowed up to date and most of the gangs are breaking a half-mile of ground at a time. These short stretches are completed before another is started and the work is being rushed as fast as possible. Many interferences have occurred since the work order was received here most of them being due to rain and wet ground making it impossible to use plows and scrapers.

The total distance of the new roadway is slightly over 14 miles and goes to the city limits of Talpa. With the entire crew working in good weather much dirt is turned each day but since work was started it has averaged raining at least once each week and working days are only about 50 per cent of the time.

(By Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 13.—The federal grand jury here today indicted Congressman Harry E. Rowbottom, Republican, of the first district of Indiana, on charges of accepting bribes for using his influence to obtain postoffice appointments for persons in his district. Several counts were listed.

Rowbottom was arrested several weeks ago on an affidavit specifically charging him with accepting $750 for recommending the appointment of a rural letter carrier.

Postoffice department inspectors' investigations in Rowbottom's district resulted in the dismissals of four postmasters and one rural carrier. The representative's arraignment is set for February 27.

Control Method Stirs Argument In Oil Squabble

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The oil world is boiling in its own barrels, and the trouble is too much oil.

Where the supply originates provides the controversial factor of a long simmering problem of importance to about 20,000,000 persons.

Cheap foreign oil is responsible for the ills of the petroleum producers, the independent operators cry. Stop that flow, they say, and the industry will get back on its feet quickly. That's why they want a tariff.

American production, the independents say, is less than American consumption, but by a comparatively few million barrels yearly. They estimate crude production within 150,000,000 barrels of the demand.

Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum Association, says one barrel of refined oil imported equals four times that amount of crude petroleum.

For this reason he laid before the recent governors' oil relief conference, of which he was chairman, the proposal it is urging on congress—that imports of crude oil be placed under a partial embargo and that refined products be excluded.

Finished oil imported in 1929, records of the oil conservation board show, totaled about 50,000,000 barrels, largely from Venezuela. In addition there were 20,000,000 barrels of crude oil imported. Against this, American exports were 115,000,000 barrels of which 60 per cent was crude petroleum.

The expressed goal of the independent operators, who control about 300,000 wells with an average daily production of 500,000 barrels, is a tariff. The believe relief will be provided through duty schedules.

Members of congress from the oil states have rallied to aid the producers. Their triple appeal for the partial embargo, the ban upon refined petroleum and the tariff has been answered with bills introduced in the House and the Senate.

Meanwhile, the federal conservation board, whose chairman Secretary Wilbur was criticized with Secretary Mellon by the oil men at their conference, presents data to offset that of the independents.

Wilbur believes conservation of American petroleum resources, which he considers irreplaceable, should be the keynote of the oil world. The potential overproduction, he maintains, will be felt even more by the industry within the near future unless the outpouring is controlled.

Production, in his opinion, far exceeds consumption, and "bad engineering, bad business and bad practice, among other things," have put the industry where it is.

DIFFERENT COLORS

By Mary Graham Bönner

The Little Black Clock had turned the time back to a warm summer day.

The children were painting with boxes of paint and paint brushes, sometimes painting pictures on paper and sometimes adding a new color to the many on the porch.

"You can do just as you like here," said the Little Black Clock. "This is a special place to which I have brought you and no one is going to stop you from painting anything you wish."

It seemed unusual and jolly to be able to paint anything around you. And then all the children began talking about their favorite colors.

"I like blue best," Peggy said. "I like red best," John said. "I like yellow best," another said.

"I like orange best," said another. "I like green best," another announced.

The Little Black Clock had left them here and after he had come back he asked them, on their way home, what color had been voted the favorite.

"We couldn't decide on any color after we all talked for a while," Peggy said. "For instance, when I said I liked blue best some of the others said we wouldn't like to have blue trees or blue bushes or blue grass."

"And when John said he liked red best I thought that it was lovely to have flaming trees in the fall, but that it was nice to have green trees in the spring. At last we decided it was all right to have all the colors we have."

"Well," the Little Black Clock said, "I'm glad to hear you all decided that, but you know I was very proud of some of the pictures you painted."

And the children were proud of the praise of the Little Black Clock. They had to hurry home now. They all had plans for the next day.

Ernst Lubitsch's "Monte Carlo" Attraction at the Palace

The name Ziegfeld is one whose mere connection with a stage production seems to assure that production of an amazingly successful run. Similarly, in the realm of talking movies the name Ernst Lubitsch is a talisman for highly successful productions in celluloid.

The Palace Theatre today began a two-day showing of Ernst Lubitsch's most recent talking picture for Paramount—"Monte Carlo," a comedy of courtship without hardship in Europe's leading place for misleading ladies.

Jack Buchanan and Jeanette MacDonald are co-featured in the leading roles of this glittering modern farce with music. Buchanan is known as the idol of the London musical comedy stage. Miss MacDonald made her film debut in Ernst Lubitsch's first production for Paramount—"The Love Parade." She was in "The Vagabond King," and "Let's Go Native."

Claud Allister, who played nut character roles with great success in "Bulldog Drummond," "Ladies Love Brutes," and "Three Live Ghosts," heads the support. Also in the cast is the beloved ZaSu Pitts of the dolorous voice and the artesian orbs, who was such a tremendous hit in "Honey" and in "The Devil's Holiday."

The story of "Monte Carlo" concerns the fortunes of a charming countess without money who sets her decoys for a wealthy prince only to be counted out at the finale by a count with countless millions.

VISUALIZING THE KIDNEYS

When the X-ray was first discovered it was viewed as a curiosity of science. Later, it was applied to medical diagnosis where it was found of service in the production of pictures or shadowgraphs of such portions of the human anatomy as had a natural variation in density.

This method of application limited the sphere of usefulness of the X-ray, and physicians soon set themselves to devising means of X-raying the hollow, non-contrasting portions of the body. By giving the patient bismuth, in a suspension of buttermilk, it has become possible to X-ray the inner outline of the gastro-intestinal tract.

The latest application of this principle has been in the diagnosis of kidney and urinary system conditions. The intricate chemical substance used is known as uroselectan. It is given to the patient by injection.

Within a few minutes the substance injected appears in the secretions of the kidney, and after 15 minutes it is sufficiently concentrated to cast a clear X-ray shadow.

This new method of diagnosis does away with a good deal of the need to insert diagnostic instruments into the urinary system, a process which is always unpleasant, and not without some slight danger. The picture of the entire system, kidneys, ureters, and bladder may be secured at once, and with good clarity. Also, it provides some idea of the "workings" of the kidneys, function as well as structure being demonstrated by the rate of excretion of uroselectan.

NEW AUTO TUNNEL WILL OPEN WIDER YOSEMITE VISTAS

YOSEMITE PARK, Calif., Feb. 13.—Motorists soon will enter Yosemite Valley through a tunnel driven through the granite heart of a mountainous cliff.

The 4,320-foot bore will be the largest vehicular tunnel in the West, forming part of a 30-mile all-weather highway linking the Yosemite Valley with the Mariposa grove of giant redwoods.

Inspiration Point, where in the past autoists have caught their first glimpse of the valley's grandeur, will be replaced by a broad parapet at the tunnel's portal on Turtle Back dome, providing a panorama of Bridal Veil Falls and other scenic beauties.

The tunnel also will have a path for hikers who can tramp through the mass of granite instead of climbing over its rough top.

Construction of the bore is to be completed by 1932 at an estimated cost of more than $625,000. Work on the highway is already under way.

Texas Girl is Rewarded

WHEN children are weak and run-down, they are easy prey to colds or children's diseases. So it is never wise to neglect those weakening and depressing symptoms, such as bad breath, coated tongue, fretfulness, feverishness, listlessness, lack of energy and appetite, etc.

Nine times out of ten these things point to one trouble—constipation. Mothers all around you are coming right out in public to tell how their children are being relieved of this trouble by California Fig Syrup.

Mrs. W. E. Wagner, 5414 Santa Fe Ave., Dallas, says: "My mother always used California Fig Syrup, so I knew what to give my baby when I saw by her bad breath and coated tongue that she was constipated."

"She has been more than rewarded for taking Fig Syrup. It made her a well, happy girl promptly. She never complains of any symptoms of constipation now."

CAPITOL News

By Harrell E. Lee
(Associated Press Staff writer)
AUSTIN, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The number "13" evidently holds no terror for Tom DeBerry of Bogata, the fighting senator from Red River county.
DeBerry had 13 signers on his proposal for a vote on a constitutional amendment to abolish the state ad valorem tax, and it was the thirteenth proposed constitutional amendment offered in the Senate.
DeBerry prides himself on being a representative of "Splivins & Co.," meaning the common people.
"They (the legislators) talk about wanting to do something to help the farmer, the home owner, the business man, and all like that," DeBerry said in offering his resolution. "Let's see if they mean it."
The "sage of Red River" said he would get "double barreled" action on his proposal if it is to be admitted. If a vote the first Tuesday in August is unfavorable, the proposition would be voted on again in the general election of 1932. No state ad valorem taxes would be collected after January 1, 1933.
A proposed constitutional amendment must get a two-thirds vote of both houses in order to be submitted to the people.

A resolution offered in the House by Representative Donnell of Hillsboro would not go as far as DeBerry's proposal. It would exempt homesteads from the ad valorem tax to the extent of $2,000.

The talk of abolishing the ad valorem tax recalls the fight that was waged on that issue in the state Democratic convention at Galveston in September.

The platform originally included a plank to abolish the state ad valorem tax. Some large property holders who were "in the saddle" politically at that time concluded that such action might be misinterpreted as a desire on their part to escape taxation and the plank was eliminated.

Then the convention witnessed the unusual spectacle of former Senators Tom Love of Dallas and Paul Page of Bastrop lining up on the same side of a question. They sought to override the committee and have the plank inserted, but their efforts were unavailing.

Sen. Carl Hardin of Stephenville has a steel trap which he can use if necessary in driving home his argument that trapping should be abolished in Bell county. The trap was presented him by a group of sheep and goat raisers from that county.

The sheep and goat raisers said trapping was no longer needed in that county because the predator animals had been stamped out. Nevertheless, these traps are set and some lamb or goat shows up with a broken leg as a result of a misstep, they said Hardin promised to ask the legislature to remove Bell county from the trapping area.

Gov. Ross S. Sterling is doubtful that a constitutional amendment to increase the membership of the supreme court from three to nine is necessary. A proposal of that nature has been introduced in the legislature.

Governor Sterling said he was informed by C. M. Cureton, chief justice of the supreme court, that the court expected to be "caught up" with its work by vacation time. The new plan of each judge working with a section of the commission of appeals seems to be working.

Some doubt exists in the House as to whether a bill may be passed out of a committee before the second 30 days of a session, notwithstanding the House's decision to do anything it desires at any time by a two-thirds vote.

Rep. J. G. Albritton, chairman of the agricultural committee, requested that the bill to reduce cotton acreage be held in committee until the second 30 days had started to eliminate any danger of the measure being declared void should it be enacted into law.

All of which concerns the new constitutional amendment adopted in November. A majority of the House members held that the constitutional amendment suggested that committee hearings be limited to the second 30 days but that the amendment gave the House the right to change that order of procedure.

No Hollywood Glamor in Germany; Movie Fans Don't Idolize Players

By Wade Werner
BERLIN, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Germany has no Hollywood—at least not in the American sense.

There is no city consecrated to the screen, no movie Mecca luring throngs, no Hollywood boulevard paved with shattered dreams of film fortune forgotten amid towering evidences of film dreams fantastically come true.

Germans do not travel from all parts of their country to tread the sacred ground on which their film stars walk. Nor do German youngsters flock to the studios dreaming of an overnight lift to film fame.

Nevertheless, pictures are made in Germany, and thousands of experienced stage players are glad to act in them. These players naturally are most numerous in Berlin, and the studios, with few exceptions, cluster in and around Berlin.

Some pictures are made in Tempelhof, near the famous airport; some are filmed in Grunewald, a few in Staaken (also an airport), but probably most of them in Neubabelsberg.

So for those who insist on seeing a "German Hollywood" the place to go is Neubabelsberg.

Pictures were produced there as early as 1911, and Neubabelsberg, by the way, got its name long before the talkie era made the "babel" part look intentional. The one-time summer residence of Emperor William I, Schloss Babelsberg, is nearby, so "Neubabelsberg" is a natural name for the town.

Here the Ufa company, owned by the nationalist leader Herr Hugenberg, has its principal studios, and the town, near the Potsdam of the Hohenzollerns, might be made into a striking likeness of Hollywood.

There are beautiful trees there, and a big, shady beer-garden just across from the studios where more than 2,000 tourists could clink steins with the stars—if the tourists came and the stars stayed. But tourists do not flock to Neubabelsberg, and when the players finish their work they walk right past the beer-garden and go by train or motor to Berlin. Their homes are here and there and anywhere about the city.

Inside a German film studio, however, one can almost imagine Hollywood is close at hand. The exterior of the big sound stage may look foreign, but inside it looks like Hollywood, and smells like Hollywood.

Sometimes even the players are people one has seen before on some Hollywood lot.

German picture companies are known to fans by such abbreviated names as Ufa, Efa, Aafa, Terra and Tobis. Some are contractions of longer corporate titles, but reeling off the "big names" of the industry at a banquet sounds like a college yell.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—A net of 8,500 miles of automatic telegraph typewriter circuits will be spread by the federal government by July 1 for collecting and disseminating weather information for aviators.

OKLAHOMA FARMERS FORM SILAGE CUTTING "OUTFIT"

(By Associated Press)
CHICKASHA, Okla., Feb. 13.—Like the threshing outfits that harvest wheat in other communities, farmers of this neighborhood are using an ensilage cutter to fill their silos.

Trading work, members of the crew travel from farm to farm storing the winter feed. The system evolved as a result of the success of W. E. Daniels and his two sons with trench silos on the three farms they manage.

Pocasset farmers build their silos eight feet deep, eight feet wide at the bottom, and 12 feet wide at the top.

CHIANG'S CHRISTIANITY CRITICISED IN SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, Feb. 13.—A slap at the conversion to Christianity of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek has been made by the local Kuomintang in a resolution denouncing all Chinese who accept the Christian faith.

The Shanghai branch of the nationalists' political party argued that Chinese who adopt the religion of westerners are unpatriotic and not likely to make good citizens of the republic.

How to Escape FLU

- 1 Avoid as far as possible the places where flu germs are most likely to be spread; over crowded cars and public meeting places; overheated, stuffy rooms.
- 2 Be careful of close contact with others and beware of all coughers and sneezers; breathe through the nose, get fresh air, but avoid drafts or chilling.
- 3 Get lots of rest. Eat plenty of citrus fruit. Keep the bowels open. Take extra precaution to keep in good physical condition, so your system will have high resistance against germs.
- 4 Above all, avoid catching colds. They lower your resistance to the flu germ. Ward them off. At the first sign of any cold, take Bayer Aspirin and remain indoors if possible until your cold is gone. If you have a sore throat, dissolve some Bayer Aspirin tablets in water and gargle; this will relieve the soreness and reduce the inflammation.
- 5 If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call your doctor at once.

RUPTURE EXPERT HERE

C. F. Redlich, Minneapolis, Minn., will demonstrate without charge his unequalled method in San Angelo on Thursday Feb. 19, at the Roberts Hotel and in Abilene on Saturday Feb. 21 at the Hilton Hotel from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Mr. C. F. Redlich says: The "Perfect Retention Shields" hold the rupture perfectly, no matter what position the body assumes or how heavy a weight you lift. They give instant relief and contract the opening in a remarkably short time.

The secret of their success is in their simplicity. An expertly adjusted device seals the opening without discomfort or detection from work. It is practically everlasting, sanitary, comfortable and actually holds ruptures which heretofore were considered uncontrollable.

Stomach troubles, backache and constipation, nearly always a consequence of rupture promptly disappear.

Bring your children. According to statistics 95% recover by our method.

MADE RICH BY OIL PAYS ALL OLD DEBTS

(By Associated Press) MARSHALL, Tex., Feb. 13—The first thought of Ed Bateman, long-time newspaperman, after the Krimm oil well near Kilgore had made him a rich man, was of his debts.

Bateman and his associates sold their holdings recently for $2,000,000. Returning here, he called his creditors. They came to his hotel one by one, and to each he would say, as he wrote the check: "How much do I owe you?" One or two said "nothing" but he replied: "Oh, yes I do," and paid them anyway.

"It's the happiest moment of my life," he exclaimed. "I'm even with the world."

Methodist Officials Are Honored
Mmes. T. E. Bowman, J. C. Richards, Sam Behringer and Miss Fay Clark were hostesses at a most enjoyable affair on Thursday evening in the church basement. Supper was served in two courses at three prettily laid tables. Games supervised by Miss Allene Cochran and George Garrett provided much merriment.

The personnel of guests included the church trustees, the stewards, the members of the finance board and their wives.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Weeks Entertain Friends
A group of close friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Weeks were their guests on last Tuesday evening in their home on Eighth street.

Lovely red carnations centered foursome table where a delectable supper menu was served preceding games of forty-two. Tallies, score pads and heart-shaped candles in Valentine cups stressed the chosen theme.

At the conclusion of the games an attractive favor went to each guest. On this occasion Mr. and Mrs. Weeks included Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Douglass, Messrs. and Mmes. R. W. Bruce, C. P. Shepherd, H. C. Lyon, and Elmer Shepperd.

Balless are Hosts at Valentine Dinner

Twenty-four friends of Dr. and Mrs. Charles F. Bailey were their guests at an elaborate Valentine dinner on Thursday evening, the affair taking place in the handsomely furnished home of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Bailey on Fifth street.

Dr. and Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. J. L. Bailey of Temple assisted Dr. and Mrs. Bailey in dispensing all hospitalities.

Clever Valentines denoted places at the long table. Tapers of deep red, tied with red malle fluffs, shed a soft light over the table glistening with silver. Vivid red poppies and fern in graceful arrangement in a low silver bowl formed a centerpiece of unusual beauty. In the six course menu the heart motif was reflected in every conceivable way.

A clever heart comparison contest resulted in awards going to Mrs. Robert Bruce and R. W. Earnshaw. In the bridge games which followed, high scores were won by Mrs. Leonard Stallings and W. B. Woody. Low scores went to Miss Sue Gilliam of Brownwood and Jack Rudd.

All prizes were reserved until the close of the evening's diversion and letters were presented each winner by the hostess. These proved to be clever jingles, demanding a "stunt" from each and revealing hiding places of gifts.

Included were Messrs. and Mmes. Woody, Stallings, Earnshaw, Troy Simpson, Delbert Vancil, Bruce, C. R. Stone, Rudd, D. C. Middleton, A. R. Jones, K. V. Northington, Bailey Mack of Winters, Miss Gilliam and Lloyd Herring.

Miss Eleanor Hancock is Guest of Honor
The spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Williams on Broadway presented festive appearance on Thursday evening when Mrs. Williams complimented her sister, Miss Eleanor Hancock, with a Valentine Bridge party.

On arriving guests were welcomed into the beautifully decorated dining room where Miss Eleanor Williams served delicious fruit punch.

Partners and places were found at the tables appointed in hearts by means of comic Valentines.

Tables were laid in dainty linens and centered with ornate lace Valentines on huge red cardboard hearts with lighted red tapers providing the only lights for the serving of the delectable salad course stressing the Valentine theme.

Mrs. Williams was assisted by Mrs. M. S. Karmany in entertaining Misses Hancock, Katharine Penn, Marjorie McAdams, Nell Russell, Mammie Jean Hale, Frances Trail, Mabel Brewer, Adelle Lou Glas, Hortense Holt, Louella Sledge and Verda Nell Trail. Drs. E. H. Boelsche, E. W. Stacey, Messrs. Tom Penn, Roy Cochran, Nig McCarver, Dan Woodroof, Levy Lee, Howard Carr, Ernest Nance, Carl Carr, and Neil Smith.

REAPPORTIONMENT MAY LEAVE KVALE WITHOUT DISTRICT
(By Associated Press) MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 13—Paul J. Kvale, the only Farmer-Labor member of the lower house of congress, faces the possibility that his constituency may be abandoned.

In the pending re-apportionment occasioned by the 1930 census Minnesota's representation will be reduced from 10 to 9 in the lower house, and Kvale's district is now the smallest in population.

The fact that he is the only Farmer-Laborite in Minnesota's congressional delegation, all the other members being Republicans, and that the legislature which makes the reapportionment is also of strong Republican sympathies, may also count against the chances for his district.

Even though he may lose his district, however, Kvale is regarded as a strong candidate for re-election in 1932 because of strong Farmer-Labor sentiment in areas which may be absorbed, and in which he would continue as a resident.

He is expected to occupy a key position in the organization of the next congress because of the near balance of power between Democrats and Republicans.

France Wars On Plague
PARIS, Feb. 13—The French Ministry of Public Health has allotted $2,800,000 in its 1931 budget for a fight on tuberculosis, one of the country's scourges. It was stated in the chamber that 150 out of every 1,000 deaths in France were due to some form of tuberculosis.

Murchison Receives Promotion to Capt.

Ross Murchison, commander of the local national guard company, received his commission Thursday making him a captain in that organization. He has been first lieutenant of the company for several years and since March, 1930, has been in command of the organization.

Capt. Murchison is one of the original members of the local company, joining it in 1921 when it was first organized. He served in the grades of private and non-commissioned officer for three years and was made second lieutenant in 1925. After a few months service in that rank he was promoted to first lieutenant during the same year and has served in that rank for the past six years.

Last spring Capt. Charles H. Dobbs was transferred from the local company, made regimental adjutant, and accepted a position in a Fort Worth high school as R. O. T. C. instructor. Murchison was placed in command of the company here and was in command on the annual training camp last summer.

Three weeks ago he took an examination for promotion to the rank of captain and received the advancement Thursday which was dated in the adjutant general's office at Austin on Feb. 6. The promotion will have no effect on the company here as he has been
