Concho, Coleman Contracts are Let

The state highway department Thursday let three contracts for work in this section that will be of interest to local citizens. Two of the lettings were for construction in Concho county; the other for grading and drainage structures in Coleman county.

One of the Concho projects, let to Crouch & Nolan of Strawn, is for grading and drainage structures on highway No. 4 beginning at the Runnels county line and extending six miles south of Paint Rock. This project will be begun very soon. The right-of-way has already been secured. The contract price is $29,825.

Another contract let for Concho county was for a bridge over Hog Creek. McClung Construction Co. was the successful bidder, at $15,146.

The largest contract for road improvement in this section was awarded J. S. Wade, of Oklahoma City, for grading and drainage structures on 11.4 miles in Coleman county. This work is on highway No. 7 from Coleman to Novice.

The commission will be in session for another day and a large number of bids are to be opened. Construction calling for expenditure of approximately $6,000,000 will be let at the July-August session.

The contract in Concho county will further extend highway 4 south from Ballinger. Contractors Brown & Root are now surfacing the south portion of this highway in Runnels county, and will complete the job some time in the early fall. The right-of-way from the Runnels-Concho line to Paint Rock has been changed considerably and will go east of the present route. When the road is finally completed it will include a new bridge across the Concho River.

Surveys and plans for the work in Concho county have been prepared here in the office of G. M. Garrett, resident engineer for the state highway department.

SCHOOLS MAY CLOSE TO HELP PICK COTTON CROP

TAHOKA, Tex., July 31.—Several of the rural schools of Lynn county are planning to open late in July or early August, H. P. Caviness, county superintendent, said.

They will run for six or eight weeks and then close for cotton picking," Caviness said. "About the first of November the schools will open again and complete their work."

House Moves to Impeach Judge

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, July 31.—Articles of impeachment were read in the House today against Judge J. B. Price, of the 21st judicial district. The articles, containing thirteen charges, were presented by Representatives H. N. Graves, of Georgetown; J. Turney Terrell, of Del Rio; and Phil Sanders of Nacogdoches.

Judge Price was charged with approving the accounts of sheriffs for fees when the services cited were not performed.

AUSTIN, July 31.—The special Senate investigation committee, in a written report, today charged "official misconduct, incompetency, neglect of duty and carelessness" to Judge J. B. Price, of the 21st judicial district, at Giddings. It was recommended that the legislature act as it sees fit.

The committee, appointed to investigate the abuses or excesses under the fee system, charged Judge Price with failing to carefully examine the sheriff's accounts and misconduct in approving witness fee charges and other accounts.

One of the new honorary colonels on the staff of Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma is R. M. McClintock, a newspaper correspondent.

Goodwill Trippers Enjoy Talpa Visit

The goodwill trip to Talpa Thursday evening was well attended and the same spirit of pep and enthusiasm maintained on this excursion that has marked all others. The delegation arrived at Talpa on time and were greeted by a large and interested crowd there. Talpa and its community has always been boosters of the Runnels county fair and offers the same cooperation this year in the staging of this event in October on the profit sharing plan. Many of the entries of sheep and other livestock come from this section.

The Ballinger band furnished a good part of the entertainment Thursday evening and displayed plenty of pep in their numbers. The appreciation of the large audience was evident from the honking of auto horns and applause from those seated in the audience.

Chas. Coombes presided at the meeting and other speakers were presented who extended greetings and explained the plan for the fall fair this year. Paul Trimmer was the principal speaker of the evening and brought the people at Talpa a stirring message on the community spirit and the value of the fair.

C. R. Stone, president of the local chamber of commerce and J. D. Motley, secretary, were also presented and added to the invitation of the other speakers for Talpa to take their full share of the responsibility of staging the fair. Dates for Tuesday and Thursday nights of next week will be announced Saturday and large crowds are urged to stay on the job and attend all visits to the rural communities of this county. New programs are being rehearsed for next week that promise to be good and present new features and stunts.

World Fliers Behind Good Progress is Made On Building For Camp Fire Girls

(By Associated Press) MOSCOW, July 31.—Hugh Herndon Jr., and Clyde Pangborn, who are seeking to lower the 'round-the-world flight record, started from Moscow to Irkutsk at 5:20 p. m. this time, or 8:20 a. m. Central standard time, today. The Americans were still behind the time of their fellow countrymen, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, but are expecting to make up the difference, making fewer stops for sleep and taking turns at the dual controls of their ship.

A tornado, seen by many residents, passed over a long section of Kansas this spring without dipping to earth.

Ft. Worth Grain Elevator Burns

(By Associated Press) FT. WORTH, July 31.—Fire Marshal Ligon today is investigating the possible incendiary origin of the fire which destroyed the Dazey Moore grain elevator here last night. Damage is estimated at $20,000.

A group of small boys said they saw two men leaving the elevator shortly before the fire was discovered.

Marriages Show Decline in Texas

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 31.—The bureau of the census announced that, according to the returns received, there were 45,158 marriages in Texas during 1930, as compared with 63,173 in 1929, a decrease of 18,015 or 28.5 per cent. This decrease was due in part to a change in the marriage laws, effective June 12, 1929, requiring three days' notice to be given before the issuance of a marriage license. In 1922, there were 61,730 marriages performed.

During the year 1930, there were 16,682 divorces granted in the state, as compared with 18,383 in 1929, a decrease of 1,701 or 9.3 per cent. In 1922, there were 12,527 divorces granted. There were 110 marriages annulled in 1930, as compared with 167 in 1929.

The estimated population of the state of Texas on July 1, 1930, was 5,853,000, and on July 1, 1929, 5,739,728. On the basis of these estimates, the number of marriages per 1,000 of the population was 7.7 in 1930, as against 11.0 in 1929; and the number of divorces per 1,000 of the population was 2.85 in 1930 as against 3.20 in 1929.

Fliers Invited to Visit President

(By Associated Press) ISTANBUL, July 31.—President Mustapha Kemal today invited Russell Boardman and John Polando, American long distance fliers, to visit him at Yalova, the summer capital of Turkey.

The fliers slept in the United States embassy last night in borrowed pajamas, Lindbergh style.

Woman Sought on Murder Charge

(By Associated Press) FT. WORTH, July 31.—A woman, described by witnesses as an invited guest at a men's poker party here Tuesday night, is being sought today on a charge of murder for the slaying of Thomas L. Cayson, 38, of Chicago. The complaint gives the woman's name as Thelma Treadway, but is uncertain on this point. Cayson died in a hospital yesterday of a slight knife wound in an arm which became infected.

W. G. Poik, who had been living with Cayson said the woman came to his home over Cayson's protest, called him into another room and quarreled with him.

Work is progressing fast now on the home for the Camp Fire Girls that is being constructed on the Elm Creek bluff just above the city park. The building will be one of the finest homes for the organization to be found in West Texas, the location harmonizing with the building to produce an artistic effect.

The building program was launched about three months ago with N. Bruce Cressy accepting the chairmanship of the building committee. Realizing conditions and the scarcity of money Mr. Cressy set to work on plans for a field stone building that will be a credit to what the municipal park is expected to resemble some day. He first consulted with mechanics and builders here and received their hearty cooperation in donating time on the construction.

Next he set about getting material and again received excellent cooperation in this. Some money was necessary and funds were solicited and when a small amount was in the treasury the work began. More funds are needed to complete the building and the conveniences planned, and anyone interested in seeing the girls finish their home are requested to leave a small cash donation with Camp Fire Girls' officials or at The Ledger office.

The main room of the building is 16 by 24 feet. It has a front and back door, double windows on each side and two in front. The architecture is modified Spanish design. The interior will have a concrete floor, plaster walls natural sand color, and in the north end will be a large fireplace. A large veranda built of flagstone will have rounded steps leading to the front door. From the steps a winding flagstone walk leads to the road some twenty-five yards down the embankment.

At the rear of the large room will be a small kitchen where the girls can prepare meals. This room, while small, will be large enough for the purpose. Furnaces and other equipment will be placed in the yard.

The location for the building was chosen after considerable thought and must be seen to be fully appreciated. Large rustic boulders stand on either side of the walk leading to the building. A background of pecan trees, vines and more of the large boulders stand out as a natural curtain to the scene.

Frost Newspaper Plant Destroyed

(By Associated Press) CORSICANA, Tex., July 31.—The plant of the Enterprise, a weekly newspaper at Frost, near here, burned early today. The loss was placed at $13,000.

The building was new, replacing one destroyed by tornado in 1930.

There are 24 state parks in Ohio.

Capone Allowed to Withdraw His Plea

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, July 31.—Federal Judge James S. Wilkerson today allowed Alphonse Capone to withdraw a previously entered plea of guilty to income tax violations. The case was set for trial on September 8. Judge Wilkerson announced that at that time he would act on Capone's motion to withdraw his plea of guilty to prohibition law indictments.

The decision was given at a special morning session of the court, the judge apparently wishing to avoid the crowds expected at the regular time.

Attorney Michael Ahern represented "Scarface Al," who was not in the court room at the time.

Federal District Attorney George E. O. Johnson said he expected the trial date to be set September 8 for later in the month.

Judge Wilkerson ordered the prohibition violation cases submitted to another grand jury, declaring a conspiracy indictment against Capone was too lenient if the various offenses named in the indictment were provable.

NEW FRECHER INSATTLIED IN MILES CHURCH

MILES, July 31.—Rev. Erich Peterson of Chicago, Ill., will be installed as pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church here next Sunday morning, the Rev. R. Schuetze of Vernon, Texas, being in charge of the ceremony. Rev. Schuetze will also preach here at the morning and evening hours. Rev. Peterson came here over a month ago from Chicago, having been called by the local congregation following the resignation of Rev. F. W. Henkel. Rev. Peterson was formally ordained at Shiner, Texas, last Sunday.

Resolution Asking Rail Body Resign Held Up by Senate

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, July 31.—The Senate voted 15 to 9 today to postpone the resolution asking the state railroad commissioners to resign if unable to settle their quarrel.

Pat M. Neff, member of the commission, recently charged before the House that the mental inertia of the other members prevented the enforcement of the proration regulation for the oil fields. Chairman C. V. Terrell subsequently appeared before the House to deny Neff's charges.

FOUR COUNTIES TO PAY FOR BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION (By Associated Press) CHILDRESS, Tex., July 31.—A section of the Northfield highway bridge, located at the corners of Hall, Motley, Cottle and Childress counties, will be rebuilt at the expense of the interested counties, it was decided at a meeting here.

Since the cloudburst in Hall and Briscoe counties early in June, travelers have had to ford the stream. Work on the bridge is expected to begin soon.

We have been absent from your columns for some time, but shall endeavor to be with you more regularly from now on.

Crops are looking fine, though rain would be much appreciated now. Threshers hope to 'close out' this week.

The Methodist meeting began Sunday. The pastor is doing the preaching and his son, Warren, is leading the music. Bro. Morphis and his family will be with us all this week. They expect to close the meeting Sunday morning.

Mrs. Morphis has charge of the little folk in a contest similar to that carried on by the older ones. All are working to increase the attendance and to help in every way in the meeting. Congregations are as large as could be expected owing to the very busy time.

W. J. Landers, of Abilene, is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Rosson.

Loester Pierce is in an Abilene sanitarium, having undergone an operation there last week. He is getting along nicely and hopes to be home soon.

C. Emery, of Dallas, who had been with his sister, Mrs. Jim Bright, for the past four weeks, returned to his home last Saturday.

Mrs. Oscar Smith is attending the short course at College Station. She was sent as a delegate by the home demonstration club. The club members gave an evening's entertainment at the school house to help raise funds to pay the delegate's way. Every member had some part in the work. Three short plays were presented. The audience, especially the husbands of the women taking part, was very enthusiastic in praise of the entertainment. Time and space will not allow us to mention even the 'high lights' of the different offerings. The club sang 'Fros Went a Courtin'' at the opening of the program and at the close gave a stunt representing a worn-out flivver, which created much fun for the onlookers. Mrs. H. S. Bright and Mrs. C. E. Coats had a little skit between acts. Several records were played on the victrola during the evening; the ones creating the most laughter being 'Farm Relief,' and the 'Crows Song.'

Mr. and Mrs. Bert McKnight, who suffered the loss by fire of their nice little house and most of the contents, are living temporarily in a tent and under an arbor. They hope to build again soon. Friends and neighbors very kindly assisted the family in various ways after they heard of the great misfortune. The McKnights are very appreciative of all that has been done for them.

Dannie Mae Smith is visiting in Abilene this week.

Charlie Simmons has gone to Stamford to visit his father.

ALASKAN NATIVES AWAITING LINDREYS LIKE GRAPEFRUIT

(By Associated Press)

SEATTLE, Wash., July 31.—Pioneering an air route along the arctic rim of Alaska, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh will encounter eskimos with a taste for grapefruit and other trimmings of modern civilization.

The eskimos, practically all of whom talk English, would insist on grapefruit for breakfast if the traders could supply the demand, says Ralph Lomen of the Lomen Reindeer Company.

Even now the first trading ships of the season are threading their way along the Arctic coast toward Point Barrow, Alaska. For many years ships have managed to get by Barrow late in July or early in August. Large power boats, whole buildings, knocked down, radios, food—almost everything conceivable form the cargoes of the trading ships, which return to the States and British Columbia with loads laden with furs.

The natives live in frame houses brought in by boat from the outside or in semi-dugouts covered with driftwood and skins. Many of them achieve comparative wealth from their fur trading.

MOON of DELIGHT by Margaret Bell Houston

SYNOPSIS: Neither Jason Divitt nor Molly, his wife, knows the past of Juanita Barrow, veiled cigarette girl in their gambling house. But he sends her to return a necklace he had stolen from a patron, Mrs. Dolores Flores, who tells Mrs. Dolores she had found it in the street, retaining a reward. However, the woman's grandson, Kirk Starnard, surrenders her to accept a ring that had been his mother's. Divitt, realizing this trick has brought Juanita acceptance by the best people, enlists a famous, shrewdly associate, Marquessa Cabrera as her champion. Unknown to Juanita, the marquessa's job is to locate those homes where jewel robbers would be profitable in the resort's dim courtards. Kirk Starnard forces his kisses on the angry girl.

The marquessa had planned his orchids at her waist and sat now on the divan, protruding her braided slippers with their jeweled heels, moving her red feather fan and chatting in voluble blurred English about America, about So-ville, which she had just left, about the Senorita Flores, her beloved charge.

Kirk was glad to meet this member of the senorita's entourage. He listened to the marquessa until the door opened and Juanita appeared, lovely in yellow tulle, carrying his roses.

The Mystic Krewe of Comus is masked and in costume," Kirk explained, as they rode toward the theater where the ball was to be held. The master of ceremonies calls out your name and you step upon the floor. At supper we unmask. . . . You never went to a ball like that, Senorita Flores?"

"The senorita never had," "Oh, but Ysabel!" exclaimed the marquessa. "Then you will put on a mask, Mr. Starnard! How we go, know you?"

"You'll know me," said Kirk, "because I shall wear my hand." At the theater Kirk took them to their seats in what was the paragon circle. The paragon had been cleared for the dancers.

"The high-spirited, Marquessa," he said as he left them. "Like this." But there were so many high-spirited. The Krewe of Comus, appearing an army of Pierrots and Harlequins, basses, pirates and devils, followed their queen with the court ladies, masked about the ballroom, then broke ranks in the dance. The huge murmured excitedly as the queen, white and splendid, sat upon the throne.

The lights grew dim, and a silver knight blew a blast on his trumpet. "The Marquessa de Cabrera!" he called.

The marquessa rose and moved across the floor, bright heels flashing. A masked black devil bowed low, received the marquessa in his arms. They moved out upon the floor.

"Miss Dolores Flores!" A slip of a girl in blue met a grinning Chesire cat. "Mrs. Dick Preston!" Sleepy eyes and a red wind-blown bob. A tall Pierrot bowed. "Senorita Ysabel Flores!"

A whisper went through the house. "Who is she?" "Come with Kirk Starnard. Visiting here with the Marquessa de Cabrera—that first one, dancer, with Adrian Fouché."

Juanita was dancing with a black and orange Harlequin. "I know your voice," said Juanita. "I know your dancing."

Kirk wondered why the confession should make him so happy. "You could not disguise yourself from me, either," he answered in a low voice.

"How is Mrs. Be'aise?" Juanita asked. "Bored with Biloxi. She never goes there till the carnival is over. She wants you and the marquessa to visit her in Biloxi. Will you do it?" "I'd love to."

"It will help us to keep her there, and it's a part of the coast you wouldn't be otherwise," offering every reason for her going except the one closest his heart. What would prevent his visiting in Biloxi? "I'll take you to Ship Island while we're there and to the Isle of Caprice, the Marquessa Carlo of these parts. The marquessa will let you."

"I know," "I'll speak to her tonight." The devil, dancing with the marquessa, passed close to them, his eyes meeting Juanita's under his mask. Kirk, observing him, said, "He's got the third son— with you, and he can't get it off his mind. And I've got the supper dance and the next. I can't get that off my mind either."

"Does it burden you?" He nodded. "Like balloons that won't let me stay on my feet. . . . The marquessa was a waif, the lights dropping low. Strangely enough, Kirk guided Juanita through the dancers almost in silence, returning with her to her seat just as the marquessa and Mephisto arrived there. Mephisto kissed the marquessa's hand, bowed to Juanita.

Juanita danced with the Chesire cat this time. The marquessa danced with Kirk. "He is charming," she confided to Juanita. "We are going to their place in— in Biloxi!"

"When?" Juanita asked. "I cannot tell. I must see Mister Divitt first."

(Copyright, Dodd, Mead & Co.) Juanita danced on tomorrow, and there's the Devil to pay—with a sup of chocolate.

Kirk called for Juanita at the Tlion night of the Comus ball, waiting in the Marquessa de Cabrera's suite.

Kirk had telephoned, had been connected with the marquessa. They would go—Juanita and the marquessa. Kirk carefully selected the flowers. White roses for Juanita. Orchids for the marquessa.

Orchids did not suit her Kirk decided when she appeared in a red satin dress and huge earrings. "Cautious," thought Kirk, "or red and yellow flowers."

Bank Deposits in 11th District Drop

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, July 31.—Cautiousness of policy among business men and improvement of buying in some areas of the Eleventh Federal Reserve District were noted in the monthly business review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas announced today.

"The recession in most reporting lines of wholesale trade was greater than the seasonal average," the report says, "and sales continued considerably lower than in the corresponding month a year ago; yet the comparison was slightly more favorable than was shown in May. Reports indicate that merchants are adhering to the cautious policy of making replacements as consumer demand arises, with the result that new orders are in small quantities and represent mostly fill-in merchandise. Collections were seasonably slow but an improvement was noticeable in some areas."

The combined daily average of net demand and time deposits of member banks was shown to have declined to $775,035,000 during June, which was $21,840,000 less than the May average and $72,001,000 below the average for June, 1930.

Federal reserve bank loans to member banks reflected a net increase of approximately $500,000 between June 15 and July 15.

"While some liquidation was obtained from banks in the wheat growing territory," says the report, "it was more than offset by the demand from banks in other agricultural sections. The commercial loans of reserve city banks, for the first time since last fall, showed a slight increase between June 10 and July 8 and these banks added materially to their investments during the same period. In some centers, there was an easing of rates on commercial and commodity loans."

The report pointed out as a significant feature of the Department of Agriculture's July 1 report the large prospective production of food and feed crops in the states attached to the Eleventh Federal Reserve District due both to larger and heavy per acre yields.

"While the prevailing low prices for agricultural products mean low returns for the surplus, above home requirements, the large supplies will be a material aid in holding down the cost of production during the coming

Businesses Which Help Build City

Lane Insurance Co.

R. F. Lane purchased the insurance business of Miss Maggie Sharp in August, 1922, and established the R. F. Lane Insurance Company. Miss Sharp had conducted the business in Ballinger at that time for 16 years and had a large number of policy holders when the transfer was made. The business was conducted without change until in 1928 when R. E. Lane entered the business and the name was changed to the Lane Insurance Company and the father and son are still at the head of this company.

The business was recently moved from an upstairs location to a first floor next door to The Ledger office where a modern and well equipped office is maintained with a staff of employees sufficient to attend to any amount of business.

In 1924 R. F. Lane organized the Mutual Protective Association and operated this until in 1929 when it was sold to Clyde Harville and the firm after that devoted all its time to standard old line companies.

All kinds of insurance is handled by the firm, including property, both for fire and wind, farm crops, plate glass, automobile, life, accident and health. The members of the firm have studied the business very closely and are good solicitors. With energy behind their efforts they write their share of the insurance in this territory.

Both men have lived in Ballinger for many years and were associated with the business and civic life of the town prior to engaging in the insurance business.

They devote much effort to their patrons and their settlements are made promptly and satisfactorily.

They fill a place in the civic, social and religious life of the city and are widely known in this section.

year. "The area of cotton in cultivation on July 1, according to the Department of Agriculture, is considerably less than a year ago, the reduction ranging from 8 per cent in Texas to 17 per cent in Oklahoma and Arizona. Late reports indicate that the crop, although still somewhat late, is in fair to good condition in most sections of the district."

The report points out "a noticeable recession in construction activity during the past month. The valuation of building permits issued at principal cities during June was 26 per cent lower than in either the previous month or the corresponding month last year. The production and shipping of cement from Texas mills was somewhat larger than in May and production was considerably larger than in June, 1930. Shipments, however, showed a slight decline from a year ago."

Insolvencies recorded in the Eleventh district during June were reported as more favorable than in either the previous month or the same month last year, there being 61 commercial failures during the month, as against 70 in May and 62 in June a year ago. The indebtedness of firms defaulting during June totaled $1,522,700, while in June, 1930, the corresponding figure was $8,454,806.

The total output of crude oil in the district increased to 31,621,800 barrels during June, as compared to 31,112,800 barrels in the preceding month and 28,069,420 barrels in June, 1930. While East Central Texas was accountable for a gain of 1,400,850 barrels, all other major areas in the district showed perceptible reductions.

Coleman Lake Full

COLEMAN, July 31.—(AP)—Coleman enters the hottest month of summer with its big new Lake Scarborough running over the spillway. From four to seven inches of rain fell on the watershed July 19, when the entire country received ample precipitation to mature feed crops and insure an average cotton yield. The lake, before the rain, lacked about 4½ feet of being up to the spillway.

The new bridge across the Mississippi River at New Orleans will require 60,000 tons of steel.

CAPITOL News

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 31.—Any hope that the special session of the legislature to remedy the oil situation would not last the constitutional maximum of 30 days appears to have been dispelled by the turn events have taken since the lawmakers met July 14.

The house had not been in session four days when it determined to go into an exhaustive study of the petroleum industry. A few days later, the senate followed suit, and its inquiry was expected to extend at least until the 30 days were half gone. Actual consideration of a proposed new law or laws was shelved until the investigations had been concluded.

Governor Ross S. Sterling had at least one other subject which he was anxious to submit and it was highly controversial. That was congressional redistricting. To take care of the three new representatives Texas will be entitled to elect next year. It would take at least several days to dispose of that question. The regular session lasted 131 days and the problem was unsolved at the end of that time. The house approved a compromise bill but the senate rejected it by one vote on the ground it was unfair to East Texas.

The governor has been flooded with requests that he submit an automobile drivers' license bill. Advocates of licensing all drivers say conservation of lives is more important than conservation of oil. They point to the appalling number of deaths in automobile accidents the past few years.

Such a bill has been passed by the senate during the last few sessions and killed in the house. The governor said he would decide whether or not he would submit it after progress had been made on oil legislation.

The same replies were given to others desiring the submission of various subjects. The board of education wanted to amend a law so high school students over 18 years of age would not have to pay tuition. Representatives of the Austin district and James V. Alfred, attorney general, desired a new court to take care of the state's many cases which must be tried here. It was considered likely that creation of a court would not be necessary but that the Williamson county district could be extended to include Travis county.

Senator Tom DeBerry of Bogata wanted some changes in the peddlers' tax law passed during the regular session.

The governor deviated but once from his plan of submitting only conservation of natural resources until some progress had been made on that subject. That was when he opened the gates to a bill which he hoped would result in the opening of the Red River free bridge north of Demison, closed by a federal court injunction.

"I beg to submit herewith what I deem a real emergency," the governor said as he cleared the way for the Red River bill.

Pays for Coat After 50 Years
LEXINGTON, Ky., July 31.—(AP)—Heirs of J. C. Curtis, a tailor who has been dead 47 years, have received $30 from a friend of a man who owed Curtis for a coat made 50 years ago. The man sent the money to two granddaughters of the tailor, but did not reveal his identity.

TWO CASH PRIZES ARE OFFERED FOR 1931 BALE

(By Associated Press)

BEAUMONT, Tex., July 31.—Perhaps farmers of Southeast Texas and Southwest Louisiana are not actually sitting up at night nursing their cotton, but many of them are doing everything possible in the way of preparation for a dash to Beaumont with the first bale of the 1931 crop.

Two prizes $150 and $100 in cash, have been offered by the Beaumont chamber of commerce for the first Texas bale and the first Louisiana bale of this year's cotton to be delivered. The bales must weigh between 500 and 600 pounds and must be accompanied by a ginners' certificate showing that it is a first bale.

The first bale, whether from Texas or Louisiana, will bring its grower the $150 prize, and the second prize will go to the first from the other state.

First prize last season went to R. E. Mettenauer of Chireno, Nacogdoches county, who drove all night in order to come in ahead of competitors. The first bale is expected within the next week.

J. W. Francis Dies Friday Morning

W. A. Francis died at his home, 406 Broadway, Friday morning at 2 o'clock after lingering at the point of death for more than three weeks. His death brought sorrow to many hearts in West Texas as they realized that a good man and a good friend was no more.

For the past several years Mr. Francis had been in ill health, and he, his family and his friends knew that his condition was serious. He stayed on the job, however, and with a determined will took charge of his work and kept on the go looking after his business as well as being active in the affairs of the town and his church.

William Anny Francis was born on March 2, 1882, in Coryell county. He was married to Miss Annie Towers on December 1, 1904 at Ballinger and to this union three children were born, all of whom survive the father and are here for the funeral. They are Stephen Francis of Ballinger, Mrs. Carl Nance of Brady and Mrs. S. O. Cooper of Midland. There are also three grand children.

Mr. Francis came to Ballinger when he was five years old and has lived here ever since. He became the active manager of the Walker-Smith wholesale grocery house 21 years ago and held the position until a few weeks ago when he was stricken with his last illness. In the long service with this company Mr. Francis became well known in this section of the country and was beloved by his entire list of acquaintances. He was a successful business man, a good salesman, honest in his dealings and always considered his patron equally with his firm. There was no fairer man than he and because of his long business career here many close friends are today mourning his death.

Thursday a specialist was called here from Dallas to consult with local physicians in regard to his lingering condition but the examination proved that nothing was possible to prolong his life and death relieved him of his pains and suffering early Friday morning.

Mr. Francis was converted here at the Lockett Adair revival in 1905. Since that time he devoted a large part of his time to the service of his Master and his church. During the recent building of the Methodist Church here he was made chairman of the finance committee and did more in supervising construction of the building than any one else in the city. He was still chairman of the finance committee when he died and until his last illness was planning for the financing of the debt on the church. Not only was he used in this work but many other departments of the church have been helped by this man. He served for many years as superintendent of the Sunday school and for a number of years as a steward of the church. He was always in his place at the services of the church and his loss to the Methodist congregation will be felt keenly.

His outside efforts did not stop when his church duty was performed but he was also a willing helper on civic matters. He has done his full share in chamber of commerce work, was a booster for the Runnels County Fair and for years served as president of the Ballinger Band, placing that organization on a sound business basis with an income to take care of its expenses.

Besides the children and widow he is survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Francis of Midland; two brothers, A. C. and J. Y. Francis, of Midland; two sisters, Mrs. L. Shields of Wichita Falls and Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith of Midland.

Funeral services will be held here from the Methodist church Saturday morning at 10 o'clock with Rev. T. E. Bowman in charge. After the service there in the church he loved so well and worked so hard to see built the body will be laid to rest in Evergreen Cemetery.

Many people from adjoining towns will be here to attend the funeral of their friend.

BALLINGER WINS THIRD GAME OF SERIES THURSDAY

The Ballinger Bearcats won their third and deciding game from the Winters Blizzards here Thursday afternoon at 4:30 at Fair Park. The score for the contest was 7 to 4 in favor of the locals and airtight ball was played by both teams.

Frank Coker, former football star here, was sent to the mound at the last minute for the locals and held the Blizzards well in hand for the entire game. The game was free from errors and played in good time.

S. U. M. to Open Sept 15

GEORGETOWN, Tex., July 31.—(AP)—Southwestern University, the ancient Methodist institution at Georgetown, will open its long session September 15 and expects a "substantial enrollment."

Southwestern dates back to 1840, when the first college ever operated in Texas, according to claims, was opened at Rutgersville.

The standard of the degree of bachelor of music has been elevated to equal that of all other bachelor degrees.

Three shoe plants at Hannibal, Mo., one rated the largest in the world, have been put on capacity schedules.

Water Department Makes Good Gain

The water department of the city of Ballinger for the month of July showed a total gain in cash of $904.61. The month has been hot and dry and the daily consumption of water was higher than for any 30-day period this year. Included in this credit balance was $210.58 for improvements and cash in the bank of $694.03.

The municipal water supply has been good this summer and during the hours of heaviest use when many yards are irrigated the pressure is strong. New pumping machinery and extra storage tank of 250,000 gallon capacity are responsible for part of the increased flow. The distributing system, which has been expanded and enlarged, also aids in giving better pressure in sections that formerly were short on water.

The financial report for the city government at the close of July business showed a total in bank and on hand of $41,193.76 in all funds. Sinking funds have been kept up to their proper balance and all special funds are in good shape.

The balance in the general fund at the end of this month was $8,798.44. Receipts coming in to this fund at this time of the year are light and much of the expense comes from it. Water and sanitary departments showed good gains, the increase in the sanitary fund being practically $100.

The city secretary made the report early for this month as he will be away from his office for the next two weeks attending the national guard camp at Palacios.

WORK DONE BY LOCAL PRINTERS PRAISED BY DALLAS PUBLISHER

A new design was recently made for the stationery of the Weeks Drug Stores of Ballinger, Abilene and San Angelo. Art engravings were received last week and the first large run of stationery made by the Ballinger Printing Company.

John A. Weeks was in receipt of a letter Friday from W. H. Cousins, publisher of the Southern Pharmaceutical Journal, Dallas, and referring to the new letterhead Mr. Cousins said: "John I like your new stationery. This is a good job of art work and a good job of printing."

Gifts totaling more than $2-300,000 have been given to Purdue university in the 62 years of its existence.

CEMETERY MOVED FOR LLANO POWER PROJECT

(By Associated Press)
LLANO, July 31.—The moving of the Bluffton cemetery in Llano county, which is considered one of the most difficult steps in connection with the Hamilton power dam project on the Colorado river, has started. Charles Cook of Austin was awarded the contract by the Emery, Peck and Rockwood Development Company, owners of the power project, which is bearing all expenses connected with the moving of the cemetery. The old site will be a part of the reservoir of the dam. The new burial park is located 12 miles from Llano and was purchased and improved by the development company. The cemetery is more than 60 years old and contains around 500 graves.
