Convicts Suicide After Desperate Escape Fails

(By Associated Press)
MARQUETTE, Mich., Aug. 27.—Dr. A. W. Hornbogen, acting prison physician, was slain, a guard and a trusty wounded in an attempted break by four convicts today who committed suicide when the attempt was frustrated.

The convicts were Tony Germano, who was serving a 35 to 50 year sentence for wounding a Birmingham machine policeman; Leo Duver, Charles Rosbury and Frank Hohfer. The first three named felons had entered the prison hospital for treatment. They killed Dr. Hornbogen and probably fatally wounded Frank Oligschlager, trusty. Guards drove them into a building nearby and then used tear gas. The trio shot themselves.

Hohfer, who was in another building, apparently planning to join the trio, shot at a guard, missed, then killed himself.

Rosbury and Duver were serving life sentences while Hohfer's term was for 30 to 50 years.

This branch state prison houses the worst criminals convicted in Michigan including Fred Burke, bank robber and killer, and the three men who recently killed and burned two young couples in an automobile near Ann Arbor.

Big Crowd Expected To Visit Two Towns

Committees in charge of the good-will trips being made over this section by Ballinger people in the interest of Runnels County Fair, stated Thursday morning that indications pointed to the largest crowd of the year Thursday evening at 6 to Bronte and Robert Lee.

The double visit, a chance to make a trip through one of the best farming regions of the county and the promise of a new and larger program is partly responsible for the increased crowds.

The delegation will leave Ballinger not later than 6 o'clock and will begin the first program at Bronte at 7. From Bronte the trippers will go to Robert Lee in time to start the program there by 8:30 and will return home early as usual.

The program committee has made a special effort to get a program ready for the two towns that will be entirely new and will present some of the best local entertainers available in specially rehearsed stunts and skits.

Both towns have sent word that the meetings have been well advertised and that a large crowd will be on hand when the visitors arrive. They will be officially welcomed at each place and the usual Ballinger speakers will be used to respond to the welcome and also to explain the purpose of the visit and extend an invitation to cooperate and attend the Runnels County Fair.

Every person who can is urged to get a car full and join the caravan of cars for this trip to these two towns.

NURMI OLYMPIC ENTRY LIKELY IN MARATHON

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—Paavo Nurmi, Finland's great distance runner, and champion of the last three Olympic meets in all events from 1,500 meters up to 10,000 meters, may try the marathon in the international classic here next summer.

This information comes from Runar Ohis, Finnish Olympic attaché here to make plans for athletes from his country.

Nurmi, besides his six Olympic championships, holds all of the world's records from 3,000 meters to 15,000 meters.

ROTARIANS TO HEAR R. A. HALL IN ADDRESS

R. A. Hall, of San Angelo, and former resident of this city, will be here next Wednesday to meet with the Ballinger Rotary Club and speak to them giving a report on the International Convention recently held in Vienna, Australia. Mr. Hall attended the convention, representing the San Angelo and also the Ballinger clubs, and will make his report of the convention to the local membership Wednesday.

In addition to reporting on the business transacted at this International gathering, Mr. Hall will relate much of interest regarding the place of the convention and his trip abroad to attend it. Local officers are urging a full attendance of the membership here and request that those who have guests notify the secretary in advance so that plenty of plates will be already on the table and no time lost from the meeting waiting for additional service on account of a larger crowd than expected.

Says 250,000 Barrels Oil is Not Sufficient

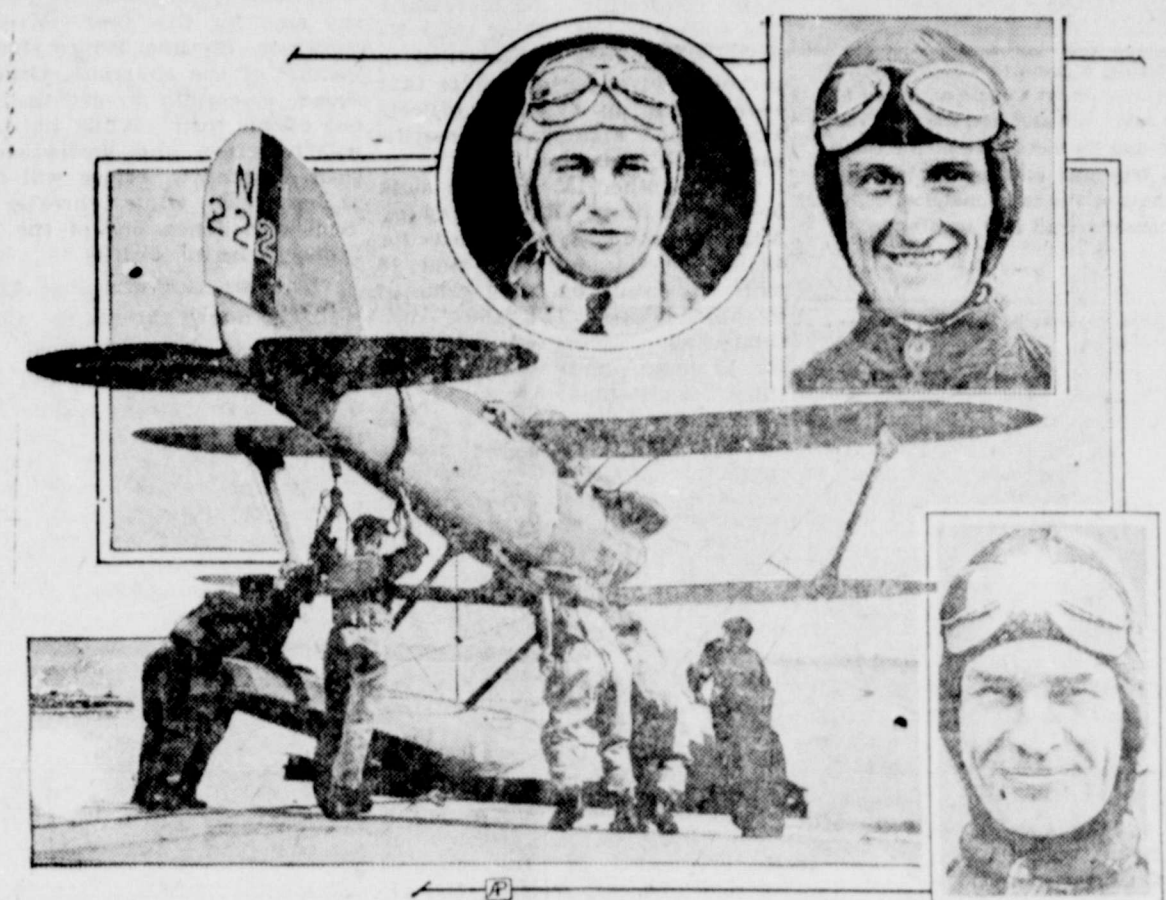

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Aug. 27.—Ben C. Belt, chief geologist for the Gulf Production Company, today told the state railroad commission that 250,000 barrels a day was insufficient allowable for the East Texas oil field.

The Gulf company opposes the setting of an allowable limit for the field. This company set the commission's contemplated order yesterday by reading into the record a long list of the company's wells with testimony that they had not caused the waste.

Chairman C. V. Terrell of the commission said he would try to end the hearing today.

Various producing companies are contending that it is illegal to set a field allowable, demanding that the commission determine the waste in operations of individual wells.

British Schneider Win Might End Air Races

Flying Officer L. S. Snaith (upper left), Squadron Leader A. H. Orlebar (upper right) and Flight Lieut. F. W. Long (lower right) will have stiff competition in the approaching Schneider cup races, if England is to win. Below is the Gloster Napier IA, one of Britain's entries.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Aug. 27.—(AP)—If a British seaplane wins the Schneider cup in the speed races to be held in the Solent September 12 the races may never be held again.

The rules governing award of trophy, the world's premier speed prize, provide that a nation winning three out of five successive contests may retain the cup permanently.

So great is the cost of preparation for the race in construction of new planes, survey of the course, and the like that if Britain gains the cup permanently it may not be offered again for competition.

This year's races, which will be fought out by Great Britain, Italy and France, it is estimated will cost in the neighborhood of $2,500,000—the trophy is worth only about $1,000.

The tremendous cost, and the extreme hazard to human life are believed to be the principal reasons for the decision of the United States against participation in the 1927, and 1929 contests as well as the one this year.

This year's races are expected to develop the greatest speed at which a human being has ever traveled, perhaps seven miles a minute, 420 miles an hour.

The present record established at the 1929 Schneider cup race by Flying Officer H. R. D. Waghorn, is 328.63 miles per hour.

Present interest is centered chiefly about the new British mystery plane, the Supermarine S-6B, built especially for the race, which is expected to reach a speed between 400 and 420 miles per hour.

It probably will be piloted by Squadron Leader Orlebar, skipper of the British high speed flight.

An S-6A plane, one of the type breaking the record in 1929, cracked up recently in an accident fatal to Lieut. G. L. Britton.

Large British, French and Italian high speed flying squads will be trimmed prior to the races to three pilots and three planes for each nation.

These nine planes must pass preliminary tests of take-off, short flight, alighting and a two minute "taxi" ride to prove their seaworthiness.

The races are over a triangular course lying east of Southampton Harbor. The three sides of the course total about 31 land miles. It will be flown seven times around, the total course length being about 217 miles.

The preliminary contests will be held immediately before the speed trials. Seaworthiness once demonstrated, the racing plane will rise and cross the starting line at high speed.

This is the first year that the races will be flown over a triangular course, the change having been made from a quadrilateral course in view of the increasing speed of the trim little seaplanes.

The Schneider Cup has been raced for ten times, the contests beginning in 1913 at Monaco, when a Frenchman, M. Prevost, won with a speed of 45.75 miles per hour. In subsequent contests, Britain won four times, Italy three times, and the United States twice.

Old Timers Here From Many Places

The meeting held near here of the Ex-Open Range Cowpunchers Association which closed Wednesday afternoon was in some respects one of the most successful ever staged. Many of the pioneers who worked cattle on the open range here 41 years and more ago were in attendance and entertainment was equal to any other meeting.

The old cowmen heartily endorsed the decision to place restrictions on attendance at the meetings, prohibiting the curious and giving the members full sway in conducting the program in their own manner. The restrictions next year will be strictly in accordance with the constitution of the organization. Guards will be placed at gates leading to the encampment grounds and those who enter must show a membership card countersigned by the president and secretary of the association. In addition to certifying the membership card will show the member to be in good standing for that year. The invitation privilege allows each member to bring one guest and this part of the regulations will be closely watched and no member allowed to invite all his friends as has been the case. One officer in speaking of this infraction stated he had been informed one woman had invited approximately fifty guests. The woman also was declared not even a member of the organization at the time of the meeting. Every protection will be given the meeting next year and the old settlers and their families afforded opportunity to mingle in a social way, renewing old friendships.

Wingate Farmers in Favor Of No Cotton Crop in 1932

At a meeting held at Wingate Tuesday night farmers of that section numbering about 125 unanimously signed resolutions calling upon Governor Ross S. Sterling to convene the Texas legislature in special session to pass laws regulating cotton production in the state.

Wingate farmers expressed their approval of the plan advanced by Gov. Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, at the New Orleans cotton conference, which would prohibit the growing of any cotton in 1932.

R. J. ("Bob") Murray, president of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, and his assistants attended the meeting and took a poll of the citizens present. Following are the resolutions passed which have been sent to the governor, state senator and representative:

"Wingate, Texas, August 25, 1931.

"Hon R. S. Sterling, Governor, Austin, Texas.

Greetings:

"In obedience to your request for an expression of approval in calling an extra session of the legislature for the purpose of enacting an emergency law for the year 1932 to prohibit the planting of cotton, in harmony with Gov. Long's plan to be 100 per cent prohibitive, we, the landowners and tenants, most respectfully and heartily request, beseech and implore you, as governor of the state of Texas, to assemble the legislature at once to enact a law or laws in accord with the above and furthermore request our state senator, Hon. Walter Woodward, and representative, Hon. G. Y. Lee, to render such assistance necessary to the passage of said bill.

"We furthermore ask each community and county to take like action and that the Dallas News

McCarver Named Committee Head At Gas Meeting

(By Associated Press)
SAN ANGELO, Aug. 27.—City and county officials of more than a dozen West Texas points met here today to discuss regulation of public utilities and other problems.

Mayor W. C. McCarver, of Ballinger, was named chairman of the resolutions committee, which is to report this afternoon.

The meeting was called by Mayor Brown E. Lee, of San Angelo, district chairman of the League of Texas Municipalities.

Ballinger is represented at the San Angelo meeting by Mayor W. C. McCarver, City Attorney C. P. Shepherd and City Secretary K. V. Northington. Most of the discussion centered around gas rates charged in this part of Texas and the Ballinger delegation took comparative figures on gas rates here for the winters of 1929 and 1930 from individuals and local business houses.

The Ballinger officials will return home following adjournment of the afternoon session. The report of the resolutions committee will express the voice of the municipal officials on present rates charged by various utilities.

Wagon Runs Over Youth Near Guion

R. Q. West, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. West, of Guion, is in the Winters hospital in a serious condition following injuries received Wednesday afternoon when his team became frightened and ran away, throwing him from his wagon. He was picked up by a passing motorist and carried to Bradshaw and later taken to Winters in a Spill Brothers ambulance.

Mr. and Mrs. West were moving from Guion in Taylor county to Drasco in this county. The youth had a wagon load of household furnishings and had started for Drasco when his team became frightened and ran. In jumping from the wagon West's clothing became entangled on the brake, throwing him under the wagon and a rear wheel passed across his chest.

Physicians at the Winters hospital said West had a crushed chest and that hemorrhages were occurring which indicated internal injuries that might prove fatal.

The accident occurred on highway 4-30, one mile north of Bradshaw. The young man was unconscious Wednesday afternoon and a complete examination could not be made on account of his condition.

WRASSING AROUND

By Mary Graham Bonner

Now the man running the boat had John and Peggy and the Little Black Clock get up at one end of the boat and, together with some very heavy weights he used, try to push the boat under water.

They would not sooner succeed in pushing it down so that it seemed they would be right under the water when they bobbed again, and the holes they had noticed were letting the water pour out through them.

At first the children were afraid that this boat would not prove to be so unsinkable as the captain and the Little Black Clock said it was.

They were not nervous, for they had not gone out very far from the land, and they could all swim, and then, too, they knew that the Little Black Clock would not let any harm come to them.

But this boat actually would not sink. And it seemed so strange to John and Peggy that holes in a boat could be made so that the water would not come in through them, though it was in fact, but instead would pour out all the water!

"They've been trying these boats for some time," said the Little Black Clock, "but this is among one of the first that has been perfected, so I thought it would be a good idea if we were among the first to take a ride in it."

Peggy had spoken of it as the waterproof boat because it was like her waterproof which kept her dry on the rainiest of days.

"You certainly kept us ahead of the times, Little Black Clock," John said as they were on their way home, and the Little Black Clock merely grinned and said, "I enjoyed it too!"

SUNDOWN STORIES

FOREIGN BODIES

The wrong things are sometimes liable to go the wrong way and thus get into the air and food passages.

In a study made by Dr. Chevalier Jackson of 1899 cases of foreign bodies lodged in the food and air passages, it was found that carelessness was the chief responsible factor, carelessness in cooking, eating, playing, nursing and in putting inedible substances in the mouth.

Dr. Thomas McCrae cites a number of cases to illustrate how carelessness may be responsible for such accidents.

A mother, for example, was holding her child three months of age in her lap when a small open safety pin insecurely fastened in the mother's dress fell into the infant's mouth and passed into the larynx.

The pin was removed 36 hours later, the child being none the worse.

Another case cited is that of a man who standing on a ladder and holding a staple an inch long in his mouth was asked a question. In answering it the staple disappeared.

If one put into one's mouth nothing but food, foreign body accidents would be rare.

The habit of holding pins, tacks and other small objects in the mouth is to be condemned.

Children should be warned against this habit. No small objects such as safety pins, buttons and coins should be left where baby might reach for them.

Dr. Jackson recommends that no child under three years of age should be allowed to eat nuts unless ground finely as in peanut butter.

If a child or grown-up person has chance to swallow or to "breathe in" a foreign object, one should not try to remove the object with one's fingers.

Most such attempts only force the object downward. If left alone, the foreign body may be coughed up. Unless removed, foreign bodies which are lodged in the windpipe, bronchi or esophagus will usually prove fatal.

Records show that there is a carry-over of approximately 8,000,000 bales of cotton in this country. Many local people are asking what kind of cotton is in this carry-over; how much of it is of good grade that would be good sale.

Some declare that much of this surplus is poor grade, some not even worth anything and should this low grade stuff be eliminated the carry-over would be cut enormously. Along this same line the plan of holding cotton and not having it ginned is growing in favor with those who have studied various proposals. Some suggest that not a bale be ginned until the market reaches ten cents or better. The plan is all right but there is no method of enforcement and it seems impossible for all growers to unite and of their own free will and accord observe any plan to help conditions.

In newspaper stories from all sections of West Texas are many indications that farmers in this state will heartily favor the Long cotton plan that would cause no cotton to be planted in 1932. Recent meetings held in this section by farmers show that they are willing to ask for legislation against any acreage next year in the hope that the surplus now on hand and the present crop to be gathered will bring a better price. If farmers want such a move surely others will line up on the matter but it would be worthless for Texas alone to endorse such a move and other cotton growing states not to participate. The law, if passed, should be a federal law and should be rigidly enforced for the benefit of those states willing to abide by it. Foreign countries should also be enlisted in the move if possible and not made free to increase acreage there and benefit from the sacrifice of the cotton growers of this country. Everyone agrees that something should be done but any plan should be thoroughly studied and the advantages now and in the future carefully inspected.

"TOASTING" expels
SHEEP-DIP BASE naturally
(Black, biting, harsh irritant chemicals)
present in every tobacco leaf They're out-so they can't be in!
Every LUCKY STRIKE is made of the finest tobacco leaves the world can offer—the finest from Turkey—the finest from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas
—the Cream of many Crops throughout the world. But all tobacco leaves, regardless of price and kind, as nature produces them, contain harsh irritants. LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOAST-ING" Process—a process that mellows, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds, who use them as a base in making sheep-dip*, as well as a powerful spraying solution for trees, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees.
Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!"
No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.
