Bearcats Win from Bangs Eleven 6-0

The Ballinger Bearcats came out victorious in the hardest conference game of the season Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Bangs Dragons here by the small score of 6 to 0. Outweighed and outplayed for the first part of the game the Bearcats came back in the last half to show plenty of fight and outpoint their opponents and finally when within reach of the opponents goal Flynn shot a short pass to McIntire who sidestepped one tackler and found his way over the last white line for the counter. Brown failed to kick goal and the scoring was over for the day for both teams and the Bearcats remain in the conference race with their goal line uncrossed in district competition.

Bangs threw a surprise into football fans here when their team entered the park. The squad had plenty of reserve material and it was the biggest team to play here this year. Two men weighed over 190 pounds and the team could do everything known to football. They hit the line, circled ends, passed and had a punter that was kicking the ball for plenty of yardage.

The teams fought pretty even in the first half with Bangs holding the better of first down four to three. In the second quarter a pass, Flynn to Nelson, was good and Little Nelson worked his way into an open field and raced 50 yards before he was finally brought down. He was loose with a lead at one time but fleet footed Andrews of the Dragons caught him and save a score. Two other times Ballinger had men loose for touchdowns and the same man caught the runner and saved a score. Evans gathered up a fumble and raced 30 yards in the third quarter only to be brought down from behind. In the last few minutes of play McIntire slid off tackle, whirled a few times and raced up the field for 50 yards and was caught by Andrews when a touchdown looked like it was certain.

McIntire was the feature of Saturday's game, however, all the Bearcats were playing excellent football. The scoring time started late in the third quarter when Ballinger recovered a fumble on the Bangs 30 yard line. Williams attempted right end for no gain. McIntire hit right tackle for two yards, a pass Flynn to Nelson was incomplete, Flynn heaved another of the same sort to McIntire which the big fellow grabbed and whirled a few yards for a first down. McIntire hit the line twice for one yard each time and then came the score when Flynn heaved another pass to McIntire and it was completed and McIntire carried it across for the touchdown.

Bangs came back hard in the last quarter and several times threatened the Ballinger goal. The last few plays of the game was inside the Ballinger ten yard line and here the Dragons lost the ball and with Flynn back in kicking formation, McIntire took the ball and went up the left side line for 50 yards and there the game ended.

Every Ballinger player deserves special mention. Straley and McWilliams played great games at guards both on offense and defense. Williams played a fine game at quarterback and guided his team in the plays in a fine way. Flynn at center played his best game and once saved his team mates a score when he pulled down a Bangs runner who was off for the goal line. Nelson did a good job of ball carrying at times and also made two beautiful runs after catching passes. Flynn was the old reliable and played a great defensive game, stopping the big power plays of the Dragons on many occasions. His kicking and passing was good and he never failed his team mates. McIntire played his best game and his work encourages fans to believe that with him stepping along with the ball that the team will develop a much stronger offense.

Evans and Hutchinson were two good wings in Saturday's game and Brown, Morgan and Middleton looked after the tackle jobs without any fault to be found.

Ballinger will go to Coleman next Saturday afternoon for another hard conference game. This will be their last game away from home this season.

Chapter 26 UNOPENED TELEGRAMS

THE main highway was broad and black; city bred and arrogant. It swept smoothly to the top of a long hill and offered a momentary glimpse of blue sea.

The Taylor place was two miles beyond, far out on the point; just as far out, in fact, as a house could be and still remain on dry land. It was reached, if anyone cared to bother, by a little road that consisted merely of two deep sandy ruts which overcame casual obstructions by the simple method of circling them.

Wally Rogers, a tall, incredibly thin fourteen-year-old in the olive drab of a telegraph company messenger, found nothing impressive in the sight of the Taylor place. He pursed his lips and whistled three or four times but there was no answer. Finally he shrugged as though he had expected no better reception, and walked into the house.

He entered a long, low celling room that was in considerable confusion. An astonishing pile of furniture shut off his vision almost completely. He moved cautiously into a more advantageous position.

Beyond the pile of furniture the floor was entirely bare except for its exact center, where knelt a girl in a faded green smock. There was a can of paint beside her and she held a large brush in one hand. A spot of bright yellow decorated the tip of her nose.

Wally pulled off his cap. "Miss Sherrill?"

"Oh, it's you." Sam Sherrill sank back on her heels, sighed, and shook her head. "You can't really be telling me that you've brought another?"

"Yes, ma'am." Wally nodded with more than a hint of reproach and tendered a yellow envelope. "That makes nine in the last fortnight."

"Nine?" Sam stared at the telegram incuriously and shook her head again. "Have you really walked out here nine times in two weeks? It's a shame!"

"Yes, ma'am." Wally shrugged. "Nine times out and nine times back. I don't know as I ever knew anybody to get so many telegrams."

"It's a shame." Sam struggled to her feet with a groan. "Something really ought to be done to stop it. Here," she said, smiling, and holding out a dollar bill, "maybe this will help."

"Thank you." He seized the note and grinned broadly.

"That's all right, Wally. You're perfectly welcome." Sam nodded absently and walked over to the mantel where she placed the yellow envelope carefully on the top of a neat pile of similar envelopes.

Wally regarded her with considerable astonishment. Wasn't she going to open it? "Ain't there—?" he stammered—"I mean, isn't there any answer, Miss Sherrill?"

"No, there's no answer." She shook her head and turned away. "I only hope you won't have to trudge all the way out here again."

Wally stared. Then an overpowering curiosity achieved the upper hand. "But, Miss Sherrill," he stammered. "Ain't you going to read it? Ain't you going to open it at all?"

In the doorway, Sam turned. "No," she said with a little smile. "I'm not going to read it. You see, Wally, I haven't read any of the nine. Not at all. Funny, isn't it?"

He gasped. "Yes, ma'am!"

She continued to smile. "It is funny, I suppose, when you stop to think of it. Do you find it funny, Wally?"

He struggled for speech. Then he said weakly: "It don't seem, somehow, as if it made much sense."

"That's right. It doesn't make much sense. It's ally." She nodded thoughtfully and came to a sudden decision. "Perhaps we'd better put a stop to it. Have you a blank form with you?"

He gave her a form and a pencil and stood by while she wrote a brief message which she handed him in company with another dol-

Winters Wins Easily From Santa Anna

The Winters Blizzards romped through an easy game here Friday afternoon at the Rannels County Fair, defeating the big husky team from Santa Anna 45 to 6. Santa Anna was playing without the services of their Captain and also their fullback which weakened them to some extent.

The Blizzards scored their first touchdown of the game in less than two minutes of play when Coley, fast quarterback, for the Blizzards broke through on a cut back and scampered the remaining distance of the field, about 40 yards, for the counter. After that touchdown came in every period for the Winters team.

Pratt and Coley were the outstanding stars for the Blizzards scoring their touchdowns on long broken field runs. Pratt made two runs of half the field after taking passes from Baldwin. He also added one extra point with a kick from placement. Baldwin, fullback, did his share of the scoring and plowed through the line for one extra point.

Fletcher, Harrod and Ward were the outstanding stars for the Santa Anna team and in the last quarter these three with a series of passes carried the ball up the field and at the Winters one yard line hit the line three times unsuccessfully and then Ward heaved a pass to Fletcher across the goal line for their only score of the day.

Officials for the game were: Pratt, Texas University; Fulkerson, McMurry and Smith, McMurry.

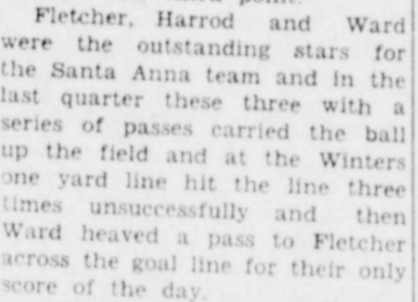

Mrs. A. M. Miller, of Amarillo, and Mrs. J. P. Nutter, of Louisville, Ky., are here visiting in the home of their brother, Judge J. W. Powell. They are returning from a three months' tour of California and other Pacific Coast states.

Restless, could not sleep

"THERE were days when I felt like I could not get my work done. I would get so nervous and 'trembly' I would have to lie down. I was very restless, and could not sleep at night.

My mother advised me to take Cardui, and I certainly am glad she did. It is the first thing that seemed to give me any strength. I felt better after the first bottle. I kept it up and am now feeling fine."—Mrs. T. R. Gibson, Fort Payne, Ala.

THE "HIDDEN QUART"

That Stays up in the Motor and Never Drains Away

PROVES ANY OIL WOULD BE BETTER OIL IF GERM PROCESSED

Other good oils lubricate working parts after the motor starts and oil is pumped from the crankcase through the motor, which takes several minutes. But GERM Processed Oil stays up in your motor at all times and lubricates working parts safely during the starting period... when almost half of all motor wear takes place! A "hidden quart" stays up in your motor and never drains away. Only GERM Processed Oil can give you this sure protection at all times, because only GERM Processed Oil can penetrate and combine with metal surfaces... an exclusive characteristic called "penetrative lubricity." So you can see... any oil would be better oil if GERM Processed!

But only Conoco makes GERM Processed Oil... for Conoco owns exclusive patent rights for North America. Don't be contented with oil that lacks the germ process. Stop at any station displaying the Conoco Red Triangle and fill with Conoco GERM Processed Motor Oil. Save your motor from wear... keep it young and powerful!
