BALLINGER, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1934

NUMBER 38

Trips to Rural Sections Will Begin June 12th

Headed by the Ballinger Band and a group of local entertainers Ballinger citizens will begin a schedule of rural visits June 12, making three trips a week until the week of July 5. The dates for the visits to the various communities will be decided Saturday when 4-H club adult leaders and sponsors of home demonstration clubs meet here with the county agents and directors of the chamber of commerce.

The purpose of the trips is to encourage and support delegates to the farm short course at College Station the latter part of July and the first part of August. The Ballinger delegation will assist the community leader in each place visited in presenting a program. Drinks, ice cream and other articles will be sold also to raise money for expenses of the short course delegates.

The trips to rural neighborhoods have the enthusiastic support of Secretary J. D. Motley and County Agent Elmo Cook. It was pointed out that much good can be accomplished by sending a large group from Runnels county to the summer school at College Station. The dates and plans for the 1934 Runnels County Fair will be announced at each place visited and later in the year other places not included in the first series of excursions will be visited in special booster trips for the fair.

Eleven nights will be required to finish the itinerary which commences June 12, and the committee has named Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights of each week for the jaunts.

Pageant Presented On Anniversary of Woman's Auxiliary

The Woman's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church met at the church Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock and a program under the direction of Mrs. E. W. Stasney was rendered in commemoration of the 27th birthday of the organization.

A pageant in three scenes was presented, the first two scenes depicting the home life of a home mission pastor and the problems confronting him. The last scene was a meeting of the local auxiliary and its response to the need of the home missionary and the retired minister and his family. In the concluding scene Mrs. J. C. Sturges, Jr., and Harry Lynn, president and secretary, respectively, of the local organization, portrayed principal parts. Nancy Pyburn in appropriate costumes represented the two causes to be aided.

Following the program refreshments were served to thirty-five members and visitors.

The offering which was taken for the aid of home mission pastors and retired ministers and their families amounted to $23 and this sum will be divided equally between the two groups.

Nine New State Laws Effective Monday, May 29

Nine new state laws enacted by the 43rd legislature became effective May 29, end of the 90-day period following adjournment. Below is a summary of the new laws:

The Texas Centennial act became effective Monday and the centennial commission of 33 members will hold its first meeting at Austin June 6.

Walkathons, danceathons and kissathons are prohibited. The new law bars personal, physical or mental endurance contests longer than 24 hours. Even if rest periods are allowed, no such contest shall continue longer than 168 hours in one place. College athletics are exempt. Violators are subject to a maximum fine of $1,000 or 90 days in jail or both.

Boxing and wrestling legislation has been amended. The new amendment extends state licensing power to referees, matchmakers, timekeepers and seconds, exempts amateur athletic events, and permits the state labor commission to forfeit the purse, not exceeding $500, of any boxer or wrestler who violates the rules of the sport.

Three of the new acts are appropriations. One adds $140,000, provided the sum is matched by the federal government, to the fund for the state livestock sanitary commission for eradicating domestic animal diseases.

Another provides $3,000 to supplement cost of paving streets around the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

The third permits expenditures up to $10,000 by the state board of water engineers for preliminary surveys necessary to the application of the Brazos River conservation and reclamation district for a federal loan.

A maximum period of two years is established for bringing suits on account of closing and abandonment of public streets, alleys, and thoroughfares, excepting state highways.

Texas beer dealers may secure a refund every 30 days on taxes paid on beer stored on the Texas side of the city and later shipped to the Arkansas side for sale, under provisions of another law.

Adoption papers signed prior to January 1, 1923, are made valid, by the shortest law passed at the session.

ANDREWS RETURNS FROM CONVENTION

I. S. Andrews, agent for the Southland Life Insurance Company, returned the past week-end from the 25th annual convention of his company, held at Dallas.

Mrs. Tom Grace, of Dallas, came in Monday to attend the funeral of Dr. S. B. Raby.

Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker Are Dead

These photographs show Barrow and Parker, long-sought Texas outlaws, shortly after a rain of machine-gun and rifle bullets ended their careers of crime in Louisiana. Peace officers ambushed them as they sped along a highway, killing both instantly. The bodies were brought to Dallas to be buried. (Texas News Photos)

2 Demonstrators' Projects Explained

Mrs. E. L. Bryan, wardrobe demonstrator of the North Norton home demonstration club, by using materials of scrap lumber and a little manual labor made for herself a sleeve board and tailor's cushion at no expense whatsoever.

Mrs. Bryan took two pieces of lumber about one inch thick, one piece for the top and one for the base, then fastened the two pieces together with a small block of wood four inches tall, 3 1/2 inches wide and 1 1/2 inches thick, which was set 4 1/2 inches from the wide end of the base.

For the top of the sleeve board Mrs. Bryan sawed a piece of lumber 20 inches long, 4 1/2 inches wide at the widest end and tapered it to 1 3/4 inches at the narrow end. Both ends were then rounded. The base was made the same shape but a little larger, 22 inches long, 5 1/2 inches wide at the wide end and tapered to 2 inches at the narrow end. The top of the board was then padded and fastened on securely. This finished the board which makes ironing sleeves a very simple process as the sleeve board can be set up on the ironing board whenever needed.

Mrs. Dee Oliver, a pantry cooperater in the Hagan home demonstration club, planted 360 feet of an early Alaska variety of English peas in February and since they have matured she has had all the peas for fresh eating purposes desired and has already canned twelve No. 2 cans for winter use.

Mrs. Oliver gathered the peas in the morning and selected the tender, uniform ones for canning. These were pre-cooked for a period of 15 minutes, placed in lacquered cans, covered with the liquid in which the pre-cooking had been done and to each No. 2 can was added half a teaspoon each of salt and sugar. The cans were then sealed and processed for 30 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. The No. 2 cans may also be processed 50 minutes at a pressure of 10 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Giesecke have gone to South Texas to visit relatives and friends.

Three Oil Tests Below 2,000 Feet; Others Are Idle

Three oil wells in Runnels county are being drilled below the 2,200-foot mark and two will be ready to drill in within the next few days.

Watt Brothers on the D. L. Brevard farm were operating their large rotary drill at 2,375 feet Thursday morning. A new drill line was installed last week and no further trouble is anticipated until pay depth is reached.

The Prairie Oil & Gas Company on the T. B. Wade land is also drilling below 2,375 feet and expects to bring in the well next week. The sand in that area is found at about 2,540 feet.

The Art Tucker well on the McMillan farm was down to 2,200 feet Thursday morning and will be completed soon.

Other operators in the field have suspended drilling until the three above named tests are completed. Production is holding up good in the seven producing wells.

The earliest record of a practical clock is dated 996 A. D.

200 Rural Students Receive Diplomas At Exercises Here

Graduates of the seventh grade in rural schools of Runnels county received diplomas Sunday afternoon in a special commencement program held at the Ballinger Baptist Church.

Thirty-four rural schools and three independent schools took part in the exercises. More than 200 pupils received diplomas which will admit them to high school next fall.

Hon. James P. Stinson, of Abilene, was the principal speaker, delivering an excellent address. He urged the class to go forward and make their graduation from the first seven grades only the beginning of their education.

County Superintendent R. E. White quoted figures on the bus routes in this county which transported 287 students to standard high schools from rural districts the past year. He urged that the facilities be used by the grammar school graduates to complete their public school education.

Vocal selections were presented by a group of Ballinger singers. Miss Carmen Demmer played a violin solo and Mrs. J. H. McClain was organ accompanist.

As the classes filed past the desk each pupil was handed his diploma by James Parrish, of the county superintendent's office.

The lower floor of the auditorium was filled and a large number were seated in the balcony. The graduates occupied the entire center section.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sluggish and the world seems to be moving slowly, it's your liver. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two ounces of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. You have a headache, bad breath and your breath is foul, and often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes three good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two ounces of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, genuine, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

Don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the old label. Beware of imitations. Street druggists. ©1934 C. M. C.

"Mystery Joe"

No one knows who this is. Suffice to say it is "Joe" who is running for Congress from the 19th district of Texas. Wearing his "masked marvel," but a candidate who calls himself Joe and uses a picture of himself taken in the '90s is something new in politics. "Joe" gives a box address at Lubbock, Texas and nothing more, except that he says he keeps his name a secret to call more forceful attention to his platform. (Texas News Photos.)

Boyd's Canning Plant Gives Large Number Employment

Mike C. Boyd's canning plant made its third and biggest run Monday, approximately 2,000 gallons of berries being put through the mill during the day. The finished product is in half-gallon cans bearing a beautifully lithographed label with the trade mark "Mike's Pride."

During the day 125 local people were given employment in the field, on the trucks and in the plant. A number of local citizens also visited the plant Monday, following the fruit from the time it was checked in at the front door until the label was affixed to the can.

Mr. Boyd has been installing machinery for some time and when berries were ready to pick a test run was made. Brady Martin, of Bangs, who has been in the canning business for years, will supervise the canning of juices and pulps, and also attend to the jelly making and manufacture of other products.

The berries are received at the entrance to the building where they are weighed and examined and the picker given credit on a card for the weight. From this point the hand-picked fruit goes into a large washing vat where it is tumbled until perfectly clean and free of grit.

The washed berries are taken to the crushing machines where the pure juice is extracted. The seeds, cores and other worthless materials are separated from the pulp, dumped and hauled away. The juice and pulp are then carried through the plant separately until finally finished. The two products are taken from the pulp to copper vats where they are heated to a temperature of 180 degrees F. They are then poured into cans, sealed, and the cans placed in a large vat and boiled for twenty minutes before they are removed, labelled and cased.

For the present Mr. Boyd will retail the products at the plant in South Ballinger and also sell wholesale everywhere. In addition to canning his own fruit, he will can any kind of fruit on the shares for anyone in this section.

He is receiving berries from several farms in the county and later will can other varieties of fruit.

The plant's production is expected to be 2,500 gallons of berries per day when running at full capacity.

Clyde Patterson is in charge of the washing machines; R. J. Bryant in charge of the crushers; L. L. Williams in charge of checking berries, scale man and book-keeper; and E. E. Woodson in charge of receiving berries from the field and pickers. Mrs. Cal Adair is supervising the sealing and doing general work in the office.

Twelve hundred grape vines have been set out on the Boyd truck farm and 600 of the vines will bear this year. In season grape and grape products will be sold. Mr. Boyd will harvest later from 100 pear and 100 persimmon trees.

HATCHEL HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

"Why buy commercial patterns when you can make any type of pattern desired by using your foundation pattern, a yard-stick, scissors and paper?" asked Mrs. Lura Hollingsworth, county home demonstration agent, at the Hatchel home demonstration club meeting, held in the home of Mrs. Key Williams Thursday, May 24.

The club had as guests Mrs. W. A. Francis, Mrs. Jesse Carroll and Mrs. S. D. Williams. Although Mrs. Williams is 73 years of age she entertained the group with two songs, "I'm a Peddler," and "Good-bye, Susan Jane."

Roll call was answered with "My Most Embarrassing Moment." Four school girls, Carrie Ruth Walker, Cyrene and Marga Deone Andrews and Dorothy McWilliams, sang "School Days."

Mrs. Key Williams served refreshments to the twelve members and three guests present.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Bob Bailey, and members are to spend the day, bringing paper, pins, scissors and unbleached domestic to cut foundation patterns. Each member shall also bring sandwiches for lunch.

The Hatchel home demonstration club women served luncheon to the Winters Lions Club May 22. The Lions invited as their guests 20 of the Hatchel men.

Lunch was served in the school auditorium. As the men entered and found their places, all stood and sang "America."

After the meal, Mr. Copeland, president of the Lions Club, turned the meeting over to John Q. McAdams, chairman of the program committee, who introduced the people appearing on the program. These were Jannette and Annette Tucker, Mrs. Charles Dameron, Jewel Hinkle, Mozelle Roach, E. Shepperd and Jim Hinkle.

The Hatchel club women realized slightly over $20 from the luncheon. The money is to be used for sending representatives to the short course.

Mrs. L. P. Scarborough, of Houston, left today (Thursday) for her home after attending the funeral of her brother, Dr. S. B. Raby.

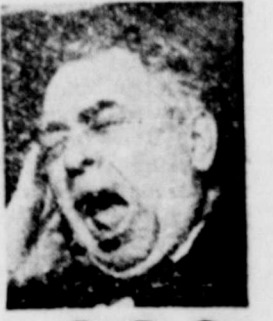

Mrs. Wynn Nichols, of Waco, niece of the late Dr. S. B. Raby, and her daughter, Mrs. Dean Holman, of Waco, returned home Tuesday after visiting relatives in Ballinger.

Halley & Love Sanitarium suffering from injuries to his head received Sunday in a fall from a horse at the farm home south of Ballinger. BAND CONCERTS CALLED MILITARISTIC PROPAGANDA

DUBLIN, May 30.—Free band concerts for school children, promoted by the minister for education of the Irish Free State, have been condemned in Dublin as being propaganda for militarism and Hitlerism, and a war of words has resulted.

Thousands of young people attend the concerts in the Mansion House, official home of Dublin's lord mayor, and have become enthusiastic over them. The Irish group contend, however, that the changing of so many old airs into marching tunes is inciting militarism. Others declare that a certain Irish fantasia is nothing but the Valkyrie. Many demand that the music be confined to the simple Irish folk songs that have nothing but fairy and other peacetime themes.

Dr. S. B. Raby, Pioneer Citizen, Taken by Death

Dr. S. B. Raby

Dr. S. B. Raby, 59, pioneer citizen of Ballinger, who died suddenly at San Angelo Saturday evening following a heart attack, was buried in Evergreen Cemetery Monday evening. Rev. E. W. McLaurin, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated at the rites at the home and graveside. Rev. W. H. Doss assisting.

Immediate survivors include the widow; two daughters, Mrs. Laurent Webb, Brownsville, and Mrs. A. B. Lankford, Abilene; granddaughter, Patsy Lankford; sister, Mrs. L. P. Scarborough, Houston; and several nieces and nephews.

Arriving in Ballinger from Gatesville shortly after he finished the course in a dental college, Dr. Raby had resided in this city ever since. When he came to Ballinger to make home on June 18, 1898, West Texas was very thinly settled, the population consisting mainly of ranchmen and cowboys. The new dentist soon established a reputation among the frontier citizens, however, and he held their friendship and esteem by his square dealing.

Appointed to finish the unexpired term of Mayor C. S. Guin on May 2, 1922, Dr. Raby served as mayor until April 15, 1929. He was elected to this office in 1923, and reelected in 1925 and 1927. He was not a candidate for mayor in 1929. During his tenure of office numerous progressive and far-reaching movements were sponsored and successfully concluded. The downtown district, Broadway and Eighth Street were paved, bonds were voted for a large city water reservoir and a city hall during his administration. Expansion was made to the municipal water system, including extending the mains to several suburbs. A number of new traffic ordinances were passed by the commission he headed, and these were firmly enforced under his direction.

In a special called session of the city commission Monday morning the city hall was ordered closed all day out of respect for the former executive.

Active pallbearers at the funeral were: J. F. McMillan, J. M. Joiner of San Angelo, Paul Trimmier, Noel Penn, Edwin Schuchard, Asa Cordill, A. J. Thorp and James Skinner. Miss Katharine Penn was in charge of the floral tribute.

Higginbotham Funeral Home undertakers were in charge of arrangements.

PIGEON BEATS RADIO FOR LIGHTHOUSE SERVICE

GLASGOW, Scotland, May 30.—Scotland's wonder birds, Girvan pigeons, are superior to the radio for transmitting messages from the lighthouse-keeper at Ailsa Craig to the mainland, according to Archibald S. Girvan, boatman of the Northern Lighthouse Commissioners, who takes the birds every Tuesday to Ailsa Craig. When the keeper wishes to get in touch with Girvan he releases one of the birds. It immediately makes for home carrying a message in an aluminum container. Under favorable conditions it flies the ten miles in fifteen minutes, but it is sure to arrive no matter how severe the weather. "I believe there is no service quite like this one in the world," says Girvan.

MEMORIAL FOUND IN DUMP

SHEFFIELD, England, May 30.—Bearing the names of sixteen men who were killed, a war memorial has been found in a scrap heap in Sheffield by an unemployed ex-soldier. It is of copper plate, and bears the following inscription: "Of your charity pray for the souls of members of the congregation of this church who gave their lives during the Great War—1914-1918—and to whose memory this tablet is erected." Where it came from is a mystery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jay and children, of Sweetwater, were here Monday to attend the funeral of Dr. S. B. Raby.

Eleven Graduate At Talpa School; Faculty Elected

The graduation of eleven seniors and fourteen seventh graders Thursday night closed a very successful year for the Talpa school. Dr. Guy Davis, president of Daniel Baker College, Brownwood, delivered the commencement address.

The class motto, "Only the Darkness Brings Out the Stars," was written across the center of the stage and the entire auditorium was decorated with flowers and the class colors, blue and white. Mildred Courtney was valedictorian and Tyrus Cox salutatorian.

Supt. J. L. Beard, of Coleman, delivered a short talk, complimenting the faculty and the classes, and the progress of the school. He explained the plans to erect a new high school building. The increase in enrollment at Talpa makes it necessary for the present building to be used for the grammar grades only. The new building will include a gymnasium and auditorium on the first floor, and the superintendent's office, library, and class rooms, including home economics and manual training rooms, on the second floor.

The school has completed affiliations for a fully accredited high school, having now sixteen units.

Two new buses were added during the past term and another teacher was employed.

Supt. Glen Mitchell, head of the Talpa school for the past three years, was recently reelected and the faculty for the ensuing year is composed of Messrs. Mitchell and Cole, Mrs. Baum, Misses Maxwell, Coombes, Harrison, Stobaugh, Parker and Fowler.

The basketball and volleyball teams won many honors during the past season and the coach is planning a big football schedule next term.

NONAGENARIAN PROUD OF 79 YEARS AT BARBER CHAIR

HUTCHINSON, Kan., May 30.—Bill Reinhardt claims the right to serve the first chair among the nation's barbers. He's been barbering seventy-nine years, and now when the fish are not biting in the Ninnescah can take his turn with the razor and prove that the technique of long ago isn't sadly out of line. Reinhardt is 90 years old and expects to reach the hundred mark.

At 11 Reinhardt began his apprenticeship lathering the elaborate beards which adorned the phizzes of the great and near-great in Atchison. After the shave the boy combed the customer's hair. He says the lathering business was a heavy-duty task in those days because Atchison pride centered in thick whiskers.

SLIDING FRENCH ORCHARD BRINGS ROW OVER TITLE

BUIS-LES-BARONNIER, France, May 30.—Farmers on the side of a hill are arguing with the men of the valley who live near Buis-les-Baronnies. The men on the hill feel that they are the more aggrieved, for a fruit and olive orchard which they owned has been carried bodily 150 feet downhill in a landslide and has come to rest unharmed over the crops planted by the men of the valley.

The men of the valley are claiming this orchard, saying it has been given them by Nature and anyhow, its fruits will compensate them for the loss of their crops. Their neighbors, however, still claim the orchard. Lawyers are to decide the question.

Instinct for Proper Food Lost to Man Thru Brain

LONDON, May 30.—The mystery of how and why mankind has lost the natural instinct for proper foods which still seems strong in many kinds of lower animals was brought out by Professor J. C. Drummond, of University College, London, at a recent meeting of the Physiological Society here.

In experiments which he once carried out three pigs were fed on different diets—one of which was adequate, one was deficient in lime compound and the third was deficient in Vitamin A, supplied by green plants. According to Prof. Drummond, the pigs which had a satisfactory diet spent most of their time lying lazily in the sun. The pigs whose diet lacked lime were observed to spend much time licking lime whitewash and mortar off the walls. Those whose diet lacked Vitamin A rooted up and ate every blade of green grass that they could find. Evidently nature supplied to these animals instinctive impulses tending to correct faults in their diets.

Rats were described by Prof. Drummond as being similarly able to select from a choice of foods those which their bodies really need. Only man seems to lack this instinct altogether, perhaps because he has more brains than the animals which still possess it. Men of the African tribe of the Kikuyu refuse to eat green vegetables and, accordingly, suffer in health. The women of the same tribe are not subject to this taboo and do eat green foods. They are much healthier.

This African instance of a bad food habit, dictated by ritual and custom, may be a clue to the whole mystery. During man's centuries of mental evolution he has accumulated an enormous mass of beliefs, prejudices, likes, dislikes and so on, which perhaps, have smothered his animal instincts for necessary foods. Being spared these mental prejudices, pigs and rats still have the safer guide of instinct.

UNARMED PEACE PARTY VISITING ABORIGINES

MELBOURNE, Australia, May 30.—Rev. H. E. Warren and his "peace mission" organized by the Church Missionary Society to the wild Caledon Bay aborigines, have sailed from Thursday Island to the scene of the killing of several Japanese fishermen last summer.

"Our mission marks a new departure in the manner of dealing with the few remaining aborigines in Australia," said Mr. Warren just before sailing. "We propose to go among them unarmed, relying on the power of God to bring peace between them and their white brethren in North Queensland. The Caledon Bay natives are the fiercest in the North, but the Japanese who were killed recently were not murdered. They were killed in straight warfare by those who were defending their homes, families and honor."

MONSTER OF LOCH NESS TO BE TREATED KINDLY

GLASGOW, May 30.—Scotland's "monster" is not to be shot or trapped, and if seen must be treated kindly. Sir Godfrey Collins, secretary for Scotland, has ordered all constables patrolling the banks of Loch Ness, home of the alleged beast, to advise all people not to molest it.

Sir Murdoch Macdonald, who represents the district in parliament, has also appealed to the public not to disturb the creature, and has been considering asking parliament to pass a bill protecting the stranger to the lake. The trouble with all these precautions is that no one can officially report that he has seen the monster, if any, and what it really looks like, so that it cannot be described in orders or in laws.

SAVES LIFE WITH TOY WHEN AMONG SAVAGES

CANBERRA, May 30.—If you want to save your life from savages, just make them laugh. That is the advice of Rev. A. J. Dyer, one of a party of missionaries now visiting some of Australia's fiercest aborigines, voiced before starting from Canberra for Arnhemland, in the northern part of the country.

Troubles arose recently between the authorities and the natives, and the missionaries hope to pacify the warriors. Mr. Dyer puts his faith in the persuasive powers of a tin toy squaker. More than once, he said, he has saved himself from savages by playing the squeaker, with appropriate comic gestures and facial contortions, until he made them laugh.

Texas is such a big state and it's a real trip from part of it to another. A man from Brownsville, on the southern edge, was quite a time away from home and when he got back a neighbor inquired where he had been.

He replied: "I been on a trip North."

"Where'd you go?" the friend asked.

"I went to Dallas."

"Have a good time?"

"Naw, I never did like them Yankees."

West Texas News Notes

George New, of Menard, tells a real fish story. While irrigating his field from a ditch about midnight last Friday he heard a big splash near the point where the water was coming out of the ditch and when he rushed over to find out what caused the noise he found and picked up a 30-pound catfish. To prove his story he has the head stretched over a post so everyone can see it.

Five sacks of Menard county wool were shipped to Boston last week for sampling. The representative of the eastern company who lives at Menard a few years ago bought over three quarters of a million pounds of Menard county wool for his firm.

The livestock judging team from Eden won third place in the state judging contest held a few weeks ago at College Station. One of the members, F. T. Stansberry, was high man of the entire contest, making a total of 1,078 points out of a possible 1,200. The Eden team had a higher average than any team in the state for the three leading contests of the year which were held at A. & M. Texas Technological and John Tarleton colleges.

Work will begin June 1, on the improvements to be made at the ball park and grammar school campus at Rising Star. Nearly all of this work will be done by CWA labor and most of the summer will be required to complete the projects.

The Knappe-Coleman Glass Co. started operations last week in the glass factory at Santa Anna formerly owned by the Texas Glass Co. Many improvements have been made at the plant and the operators expect to run full time, thus employing many Coleman county citizens.

Conservative figures representing estimates by leading wool producers of Concho county show 450,000 pounds of wool are now stored in or near Paint Rock. Many buyers have been trying to secure the clips but producers are holding for the market to open. The largest clip, belonging to Hartgrove & Becton, totals about 130,000 pounds.

E. R. Lawrence, Coke county farm agent, announced last week that the state board of review had accepted the cotton reduction contracts of Coke county and that the papers have been sent to Washington. It will be some time however, before the producers receive their checks from the government.

Labor representatives of Breckenridge gave a big free barbecue to the unemployed of that city Monday of this week. All persons who were unable to attend the barbecue that really needed aid were sent large baskets of food.

Recent construction at Sonora and in Sutton county shows that that area is steadily going forward. The total amount spent on public work recently is $99,000. This includes a $30,000 flood control project and a $56,000 bridge.

Three hundred and sixty-five checks, totalling $36,000, were distributed to McCulloch county cotton farmers last week. This is the first acreage rental payment and represents only about one-third of the cotton checks to be received by McCulloch county cotton growers.

A berry canning plant opened at Comanche this week and its owners expect to operate every day throughout the season. Since the plants at Mineola and Lirdale will not attempt to operate this season, a heavy run is expected at the Comanche plant.

The state convention of the Isaac Walton League of America was held in Brownwood Saturday and Sunday. Delegates from all over the state were present, Jack Lamb, well known fisherman of Fort Worth, gave an exhibition of fly and bait casting that was the chief feature of the convention. The next meeting of the league will be held at San Antonio.

Double capacity and a day and night schedule were proposed for the Coleman relief canning plant last week. Major Karl E. Wallace, county administrator, said the chief problem now was the lack of funds, but believed that the state relief headquarters would provide enough money to continue the project.

The first person ever convicted in Comanche county on a charge of kidnaping was a 21-year-old youth who was sentenced to a term of five years in the penitentiary last week. The youth was already under a two-year suspended sentence on a theft charge and that sentence will automatically be enforced pending an appeal of the kidnaping case.

Two new businesses opened at Melvin last week. The Melvin Bakery opened for business Wednesday and a picture show opened Saturday. The opening of these two houses after both of them had been closed for several months indicates better times in that section.

No money is yet in sight for the completion of the federal fish hatchery on the South Concho River near San Angelo. The fate of the hatchery depends largely on whether congress grants the request for $500,000 additional PWA funds, according to the superintendent, Charles B. Grater. Fish for rearing probably will be sent to San Angelo from San Marcos or some other federal hatchery.

WOODROOF & SON BUYS
PAYNE DRY GOODS CO.
G. O. Woodroof & Son have purchased the stock of the Payne Dry Goods Company, of Winters. The merchandise was sold to the highest bidder Saturday afternoon. Woodroofs offered the successful bid on the stock and become the owner of the store.

The Payne store, which is well stocked, has only been closed a short time. Mr. Woodroof stated Monday that he was not sure just how they would dispose of the Payne merchandise but said they would make an announcement within a few days.

At this time the Woodroofs are operating two stores in Ballinger, having purchased the D. Reeder Dry Goods Company store two months ago.

Salesman (beginning to unroll his samples): "I'd like to show you—"

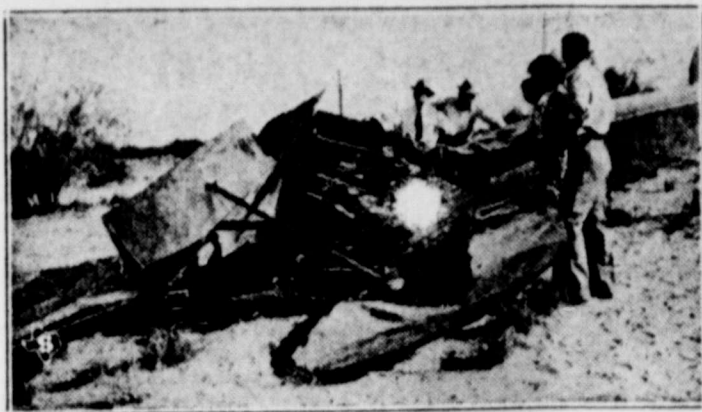

Merchant (emphatically): "No, no, I'm not interested."
Salesman (eagerly): "But couldn't I just show you?"
Merchant (firmly): "No, a chance, I'm not interested."

Salesman (wistfully): "Well, would you mind if I look at them myself? I haven't had a chance to see them for three weeks."

Lawyer: "What did you say when you saw the automobile approach the railroad track?"
Watchman: "I said, 'That's a fine car, wasn't it?'"

Name of Ballinger Oil Mill Changed; Policies the Same

The Ballinger Cotton Oil Mill received notice this week that hereafter it will be known as the West Texas Cottonoil Company. All mills of the Anderson-Clayton Company in the West Texas division of which Abilene is headquarters, will operate under this name hereafter according to information received by H. W. Lynn, manager of the Ballinger plant.

In commenting on the change Mr. Lynn stated that there would be no other changes in the operation of the plants or the management. The change is to make the Anderson-Clayton plants more uniform in name only.

The local mill has completed its 1933-34 run and during the past fall and winter sold much feed to ranchmen west and south of Ballinger. Recently improvements have been made in the local plant to keep it strictly modern. A sprinkler system was installed several months ago to prevent fire.

Mr. Lynn, local manager, is one of the most active civic workers of this section and is popular among West Texas feed men. His many years' residence in this part of Texas coupled with his experience in the manufacture of cottonseed products make him one of the most capable managers in the system.

SCULPTOR OF LOCAL STATUE TO DESIGN NEW HALF DOLLAR
Pompeo Coppini, formerly of San Antonio, recently of Chicago and New York, has been chosen to design the new half dollar commemorating the Texas Centennial. This is of especial interest to citizens of Ballinger because one of Coppini's statues stands on the court house lawn here and because he came here when the statue was dedicated and delivered an address.

The statue in the court house park is that of Charles Noyes, which Coppini contracted to make while residing at San Antonio. The sculpture was completed in Chicago and shipped here when finished.

The new half dollars will be in circulation soon and Texas will be one of the first states to receive the new coins. The committee who selected Coppini for the work was appointed by the Texas American Legion department and is composed of Senator Tom Connally and Representatives Patman and McFarlane. The design has been submitted and approved by the committee and will now be submitted to the United States treasurer for final approval.

Country Club Will Vote on Officers At Annual Meeting

Officers and directors of the Ballinger Country Club have issued a call for the annual stockholders' meeting to be held on the second Tuesday in June at the club house. At this meeting all business necessary to come before the shareholders will be discussed and the places of outgoing directors filled. This year five of the board of seven are to be elected. One will be elected for a one-year term and four for a two-year term. The new directors and committees will begin soon to make plans for the Fourth of July celebration which is an annual event for members only. The all-day picnic and frolic and the golf tournament to decide the club champion will be held on the club grounds.

The club has recently employed a new keeper who will begin work June 1. E. L. Looney, who has been keeper at the Winters Country Club for the past six or eight years, has been employed and will move his family here. He is an experienced caretaker, considered one of the best in this section of the country. He will make improvements on the golf course as soon as he takes over the duties. Fred Kiechle is president of the club this year, R. E. Bruce is secretary, and Arthur Giesecke is chairman of the golf and grounds committee.

"CHEVROLET IS RIGHT!"
After driving the New Chevrolet five miles, I'd never buy any other low-priced car!"
In the low-price motor car field there's nothing that even compares with Chevrolet's famous 5-mile ride. The reason is: No other car at Chevrolet's price has any of the vital features pictured below. And without these features, it's impossible to equal Chevrolet's ride! You can't get Knee-Action results with anything less than a genuine Knee-Action car. You can't get six-cylinder economy with more than six—nor can you get valve-in-head performance with anything inferior to valve-in-head design. And the same thing applies to the Fisher body, the brakes, the steering. Chevrolet offers one feature after another that makes a tremendous difference—in the way the car feels, performs and saves. One feature after another that puts Chevrolet far ahead in value... farther ahead every day in sales!

WHY Washington University Is Not to Change Name.

Washington university cannot change its name without endangering its tax-free status under its state charter, Joseph Zumbalen, treasurer of the university, said in an interview printed in Student Life, campus publication.

For this reason, the treasurer said, no step is likely to be taken toward changing the university's name. The present name, because of similarity to those of other institutions, is a recognized handicap. Suggestions have been made, since the recent death of Robert S. Brookings, chief builder of the university's present plant, that the institution be renamed in his honor.

Two steps would be necessary, Zumbalen said, to change the university's name. First, the members of the university corporation would have to approve the proposal, and second, the charter of the university would have to be taken to the legislature for amendment. This was done in 1857, when the name was changed from Elliot Seminary to Washington university.

Under its present charter, the university has tax-exemption, not only on its property actually used for school purposes, but on its real estate held for endowment income. An attempt was once made to collect taxes on the property not used for school purposes, but the Supreme court held that the charter was a contract, in which no change could be made without the university's consent.

Why Silver Is Good to Purify Drinking Water

Did you know that silver sterilizes water? Bacteriologists claim that as little as one gram of silver has the potential capacity of sterilizing 250,000 gallons of drinking water. The Commerce department reports that the sterilization of drinking water by a process utilizing silver has been attracting considerable attention in Germany. Last year a well-known German electrical firm placed on the market several types of household and travel sterilizing vessels for which an almost unlimited period of activity was claimed. No chemicals or parts have to be renewed even when used continuously, because they hold a sufficient charge of silver to last longer than the average life span. Apparatus was also developed for applying the process to the purification of city water supplies. The famous Swiss bacteriologist Nageli was the first to notice that water kept in silver or copper vessels acquired germ-killing properties. That was in the '50s, but it was not until 1928 that a thorough study was made and a process for sterilizing water by means of silver was developed by Dr. Georg Krause, German engineer. However, don't think you can sterilize your drinking water by simply placing it in a silver pitcher. It takes months that way, while the new German process does it almost instantly.—Pathfinder.

Why Salt Makes Egg Beat Better

The effect produced by beating the white of an egg consists in beating air into it, producing small bubbles, which, on account of a high surface tension, gather and accumulate and do not break, thus forming the stiff froth of beaten egg. This is more or less characteristic of several known protein mixtures when they are beaten up in a similar way. The protein as it occurs in the white of an egg and as it occurs in most so-called protein solutions is in a colloidal form. Most proteins are soluble in rather dilute salt solutions. This solubility depends upon the fact that salt is an electrolyte. Sugar, on the other hand, is not an electrolyte. Consequently, adding a little salt to a protein system tends to increase its solubility, which would have the effect of increasing its surface tension, making the film more tough and elastic, while sugar, on the other hand, instead of increasing the solubility of a protein, would have a tendency to retard its solubility, although not actually causing the protein to precipitate, but would have the effect of rendering the film less cohesive and elastic.

Why "Seven Bells" Are Omitted

There are some interesting British traditions that are not applicable to our service and consequently have not been adopted by the United States navy. For example, many years ago there was a plot on foot in the British navy to mutiny and seize the ships from the officers. The signal for this mutiny was to be the striking of seven bells on the flagship. Through some means or other the authorities got wind of the threatened disturbance and seven bells were not struck. The mutiny failed because that signal was not given and since then seven bells in the dog watch have never been struck in the British navy. This custom is also followed by many vessels of the British merchant marine.

Why Turkey's Capital Was Changed

The capital of Turkey was moved from Istanbul (Constantinople) to Ankara (Angora) when the Ottoman empire became a republic after the World war. Istanbul was considered too open for attack and too closely associated with foreign governments to remain the capital of the new Turkish republic. The Turkish Nationalist party, under the leadership of President Mustafa Kemal Pasha, wished to establish the capital in a location capable of strong defense and in the center of the Turkish nation.

Receives As Many As 10,000 Letters Weekly

Harry Richman

HARRY RICHMAN, star of stage, screen and radio, who broadcasts every Wednesday night over a nation-wide hook-up of 26 stations extending from New York in the East to Salt Lake City in the West and Houston in the Southwest, is best known for his amazing facility for putting over a song and yet he has never taken a singing lesson in his life.

When asked what was his idea of the most useless pastime, he replied: "Playing contract bridge. It's a game for people who want to remain indoors and get fat."

Tennis, thinks Richman, is a good game for this people with good hearts.

His idea of nothing to do is to lie in bed after you have had 12 hours sleep.

Every day's mail brings Richman hundreds of letters from admirers and a curious assortment of gifts. He has received boxes of nuts, packages of raisins, collections of clippings about himself, garters, handkerchiefs, back of trees, nails for luck, embroidered towels, baby turtles. He has received as high as 10,000 fan letters in a single week.

When asked what annoys him most he said: "To loan money and not get it back."

Richman's great voice has won for him a tremendous national audience.

Sandstone Combs, Made Periods Ago, Found in Arizona

NEW YORK, May 30.—Strange stone combs made ages ago by the so-called Hohokam or prehistoric Indians of the Southwest and which seem to be a kind of primitive tool entirely new to science, have been found in ancient camp sites near the present town of Bisbee, Arizona, and are reported to the Scientific Monthly by Carl Trischka, geologist of the Phelps Dodge Corporation.

The combs are narrow strips of sandstone or of the harder rock called quartzite, apparently split or flaked as thin as possible and with many small teeth like miniature sawteeth then filed into one edge of the flat stone strip by some cutting tool of harder rock, much as a modern mechanic files teeth into a metal saw. That the Bisbee tools are actual saws or are sickles for reaping grain, like the stone or bone saws or sickles found among remains of prehistoric races in Europe, seems unlikely, since their teeth are described as mere notches filed into the edge of the tool instead of each tooth being sharpened individually.

Trischka thinks it is conceivable that the newly found tools really were combs intended for human hair, which, if true, is the first sign of this particular aid to feminine or masculine beauty ever found among prehistoric races. It is believed to be more probable, however, that the mysterious combs were used to straighten the fibers of native American cotton before spinning them into thread, an art in which the vanished Hohokam are known to have been skillful.

MAN WHO SAW FUNERAL OF WELLINGTON LIVING

DUNWICH, Australia, May 30.—George Harding, who saw the funeral of the Duke of Wellington in 1852, and lived through the time of the anti-slavery campaign in the United States, has just celebrated his one hundredth birthday anniversary here. He is hale and hearty, despite that in his lifetime four sovereigns have occupied the English throne, William IV, Victoria, Edward VII and the present king.

Harding was born in the year when slavery was abolished in the British empire and he remembers many details of the continued campaign which led to the abolition of slavery in the United States in 1865. His memory is keen and vivid. The funeral of the Duke of Wellington, he says, started in the morning and finished in the evening.

Carsey to Start New Band Class Here This Week

Bandmaster H. H. Carsey will organize a new class on wind and reed instruments June 1. For several years Mr. Carsey has started a large class at the close of school, giving instruction during the summer and preparing the members for playing in the band by autumn.

This year Mr. Carsey is making a special effort to interest a number of young girls in learning band technique and to get a good class has cut the tuition for all girls who enter. The fee for boys is $3 a month but girls will be admitted to the class for $1. He hopes to obtain complete instrumentation for the new class, providing for a full band.

Several have already made arrangements to begin with the first lesson of the summer class and officials of the organization believe the class will number more than 25 beginners. Those interested are requested to interview Mr. Carsey this week-end if possible and make arrangements for instruments.

The regular Ballinger Band is one of the best musical organizations that ever represented this city. Most of the members began receiving instruction last summer and at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in San Angelo the local band was one of the best at the regional gathering. The band will serve the city this summer on trade trips and during the Rannels County Fair next fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Rhoden have returned from San Antonio where they spent their vacation.

Miss Ruth Forgy spent the week-end with friends at Abilene. Miss Evelyn Shepherd spent the week-end in Colorado City, the guest of friends.

Mrs. Chas. Tibbs, of Dallas, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Gregory.

EUROPEAN VILLAGES HAVE ROADS OF MARBLE

BUDAPEST, May 30.—It has been discovered that the villages of Nagyvisnyo, Uraj and Sura bear the unusual distinction of being approached by marble roads.

In the chalk mine of Nagyvisnyo, near Miskolc, rich layers of black marble were recently found, which, according to expert reports, are equal in quality to the famous black marble of Belgium. The mountain ranges surrounding the mine also contain quantities of black marble streaked with white, and this stone has, until now, been employed by the villagers for paving the highways.

ISLAND MECHANIZES ARMY

CHERBOURG, France, May 30.—The Royal Militia, the standing army of the Island of Jersey, is to be mechanized. The government has decided to add two armored cars, and reduce the number of officers and men from 165 to 195. The men will be kept thoroughly trained and ready for immediate duty, however.

Rural School Honor Pupils Are Announced

Honor students among seventh grade graduates of the county's rural schools were announced Sunday afternoon at the exercises at the Ballinger Baptist Church. Practically all those on the honor rolls were present and stood when their names were called.

Near the end of school a standard achievement test of 500 questions on 12 subjects was given the seventh grade classes of the county. The test was difficult in every respect and at the program Sunday the nine scoring more than 400 correct answers out of the 500 questions were announced.

W. R. Murphy, of the Hagan school, scored the highest average on the examination with 459 correct answers. Lucille Turner, also of the Hagan school, was second with 453 answered right. Others scoring above 400 correct answers were: Zelma Lee Evans, Barnett, 446; LeRoy Mathieson, Olfen, 446; Maggie Mae Watkins, Barnett, 442; Jessie Wright, Sweet Home, 440; Delbert Richardson, Hagan, 435; Ruthie Lee Riddle, Dale, 417; Ruth England, Harmony, 412.

Of the 200 who were given the achievement test 23.1 per cent rated above average, 37 per cent average, 34.2 per cent below average but above passing, and 5.5 per cent failing, according to the scale of rating.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Miller, of Beaumont, California, are visiting friends and relatives in Ballinger and San Angelo. They report a nice trip except for an accident between Yuma and Tucson, Arizona, when their automobile turned over. No one was seriously injured but since Mrs. Miller has been out of the hospital only a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Lee Howell, and her father, L. R. Minshew, Mr. Miller will return to California within a few days.

FIRE TEST INITIATES ABORIGINE WARRIORS

SYDNEY, Australia, May 30.—How boys were given a fire test before taken into an aborigine tribe has been related by a white man who recently returned from the bush but refused to divulge his name for fear of revenge from the natives.

The "Grand Corroboree," or ceremony of test, was attended by many tribes. Sixty fires were built in a circle, the "Ghinginghi" taking his stand in the center. He whirled the ghinginghi, a piece of wood a foot long attached to a thong, around his head as the boys in single file stepped through each fire in turn. When the Ghingi bearer became exhausted and stopped all the boys who had withstood the fire ordeal were made warriors. Any who had dropped out before the Ghingit quit were killed on the spot. An elaborate installation ceremony for the new warriors followed.

PARIS PERFUME MAKERS RUNNING OUT OF NAMES

PARIS, May 30.—The Paris perfume industry is looking for new and attractive names. It has been remarked that the great dress houses will soon be asking poets to provide titles for their new creations, but the scent makers are almost in the same category in this respect.

There are altogether 40,000 registered brands for perfumes in France already, many of them borrowed from poems, popular films and musical compositions, yet each maker aims at adding at least another half dozen to the list annually.

OIL IN THE AUTO MOTOR LUBRICATES THE PARTS.—The little molecules in the oil do the work. The difference between the heads and tails of chemical molecules in such lubricants is being used to make better oils. As explained by W. E. Campbell of the Bell Telephone laboratories, in a recent issue of that institution's monthly Review, the molecules of oily substances frequently consist of long chain-like groups of atoms linked together almost like the segments of a worm. These molecules often have more active groups of atoms at one end than at the other, like the suckers at the worm's head. When one of these chain-molecule oils is put between the metal surfaces of a bearing, it is pointed out, the chemically more active atoms at the head of the molecule are attracted to the metal surface and stick tightly to it, so that there is formed a thick mat of the worm-like molecules, while its less active tail waves loosely in space. Since these thick mats of clustered molecular worms form instantly on both metal surfaces, the bearing really rides on the loose tail ends of the two sets of molecules. In this way the oil acts to reduce friction. And by using oils containing more of these head and tail molecules better lubricants are being produced.

One Way That Horse Racing Helps Farmers

Race horses do not pull plows or other farm machinery, but J. E. McDonald (shown above) State Secretary of Agriculture, is using part of the State's income from race tracks to place thoroughbred jacks on Texas farms to produce more and better mules for farm power. National officials have estimated that 5,000 jacks are needed to overcome the 150,000 mule colt shortage (Texas News Photos).

How to Compute Size of Hat Without Size Ring

The number used to designate the size of a hat represents the average of the length and width of the crown in inches. One can roughly compute the size of any hat without recourse to a regular size ring by measuring the length and width of the crown, adding these two figures and dividing the result by two. The numbers do not always correspond exactly to the sizes because hat blocks vary considerably and hats often stretch with wear. Theoretically, however, the number denoting the size of a hat may be regarded as the diameter of a circle equal to the oval of the crown. Hat sizes have not been standardized throughout the countries of the world and the American, British, French and Spanish systems of numbering hats differ considerably. British head sizes differ from American by only one size. For instance, an English hat numbered 7 is actually as large as an American hat numbered 7 1/2. This is due to the fact that the British cover their hats with a felt cover which makes a difference of one size.

Universe Viewed as Isle In Unimaginable Mystery

LONDON, May 30.—A theory that the whole of the present universe exists not only inside a separate bubble of space but in what might be called a bubble or island of time, with something quite different from time both before and behind it, was suggested by Professor P. M. S. Blackett, of Birkbeck College, in a recent address on the cosmic rays.

Vast quantities of these rays seem to be interlacing the present universe in every direction. What produces them never has been discovered. Prof. Blackett inclines to the theory that nothing is producing them any longer, but that they are left over from the birth of the present universe, an event which he thinks probably marked the beginning of what we call time and space and the end of something else when neither time nor space existed and all the laws of physics were entirely different from now.

These laws of gravitation and of motion, the principles of heat and light, the conservation of change of energy, the nature of matter and electricity and all the other laws and ideas of physics which science has discovered probably apply only to the present universe, not necessarily to anything which preceded it or to anything which will follow. Since the present time-space island began, these laws have been working inside it and the cosmic rays left over from its creation have been pulsing back and forth through it, perhaps losing a tiny part of their intensity at each back and forth pulse of a few hundred millions of years.

Sometime almost all this intensity of the cosmic rays will be gone. Perhaps then the present time island which is the universe will cease, time, space and matter will vanish and something totally unimaginable will begin.

How Frog Aided Science

The scientific study of animal electricity, according to the commonly accepted story, began accidentally. Luigi Galvani, professor of anatomy in the University of Bologna, on September 20, 1786, was having his supper of frogs' legs on the roof of his house. The hind legs of a frog had been hung up by a copper hook on the iron railing which surrounded the roof. Galvani noticed that each time the breeze blew the toes against one of the rails, the legs twitched. He at once concluded that this was an exhibition of animal electricity; but his colleague, Alessandro Volta, professor of natural philosophy at Pavia, proved conclusively that in this case electricity was produced at the junction of the two dissimilar metals, copper and iron. When the frog's toes touched the railings a circuit was closed through hook railings and legs, with the result that, as the muscles of the legs still were alive, they were stimulated to twitch each time the circuit was completed.

French Island Still Famous for Many Beautiful Women

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique, May 30.—The march of progress in styles promised for a time to rob the beautiful women of Martinique of their national mode of dress, but the world depression made it easy for many of them to get back to the old way, and as a consequence the Americans who come here on the cruising steamers are very apt to find the conditions much the same as they were when the women of Martinique were famous throughout Europe for their exquisite beauty.

Not far from here the black King of Dahomey was a prisoner early in this century. Because of his murderous propensities in his home country, the French exiled him to Martinique. Instead of being placed in a prison, he was allowed every privilege and luxury the island afforded. With him was his retinue of servants, his court of fellow-Africans and his harem.

How Far Smoke Travels

The forest service says that the distance to which the smoke of a forest fire will travel depends of course on the size and duration of the fire. In 1880 there was a great fire in the Rocky mountain region of Idaho, which covered over two and one-half million acres and which burned for several weeks. Smoke from this fire was seen over the North Central states as far east as Ohio, a distance of more than 2,000 miles, and in some portions of the Middle West actually necessitated the use of artificial light during the daytime.

No less a person than Napoleon married a Martinique. She was the beautiful Josephine de Beauharnais, born on a plantation near Trois Ilets, visible from this city. A white marble statue of her in the savannah in Fort de France is considered the loveliest creation of its kind in the West Indies. It is an object of great interest to all travelers.

WOMEN'S WORLD GAMES TO BE HELD IN LONDON

LONDON, May 30.—Women athletes of twenty-six nations will compete at the Women's World Games, which will be held in London August 9 and 11 under auspices of the Women's Amateur Athletic Association. At the last meet in Prague, Czechoslovakia, four years ago, only seventeen countries were represented.

Among the newcomers at the games this year are Canada, Australia, Denmark, Africa and Palestine. England intends to have a powerful team, but expects to find the United States its most formidable rival, because Miss Stella Walsh, "the fastest girl in the world," has become an American citizen. Japan is expected to spring a surprise, for it has chosen twenty-two girls, all peerless athletes, from whom will be made the final choice of ten.

How Seals Are Protected

The fur seals of the North Pacific ocean are protected by the North Pacific Seal convention of July 7, 1911, among the United States, Great Britain, Japan and Russia. This applies specifically to the killing of fur seals in their breeding grounds, since they are not customarily taken or hunted on the high seas.

It was from this port that De Grasse sailed in May 1782, to be defeated by Rodney and to lose for France the prestige it had acquired in centuries on the sea.

Fort de France is delightfully and typically French. The buildings are French in architecture and gay in colors. French signs adorn the shops and streets corners. Gendarmes strut through the streets twirling their fierce mustaches and imperials. Everywhere are seen the lovely native women in their quaint dress. The visitor may ride for miles

How Boundary is Marked

The boundary is 5,500 miles in length, of which 3,100 miles are land boundary and 2,400 miles are water boundary. The land boundary is marked by 5,483 monuments and a vista cut through the woods in all forest-covered areas; the water boundary is identified by 2,530 reference marks.

How Furs Are Dyed

This is a highly technical process, but the general procedure is as follows: The coloring matter is applied with a brush to the tips of the furs and distributed by shaking the fur. It is then dried and brushed. The processes of dyeing, drying and brushing are often repeated as many as 12 times.

Park Equipment Is Overhauled For Vacation

Considerable improvement has been done at city park this week. Weeds have been cut, grass mowed, light globes placed on standards, playground equipment repainted and oiled and made ready for the vacation period. Those in charge stated that by the latter part of the week all this work would be completed and the park would be in the best condition since it was laid out.

Chief of Police Lee Moreland has been making regular rounds through the park each evening and while there is still some abuse of property, general observance of regulations is noticeably better. Adults have given up the use of the merry-go-round and swings to the children. It was necessary to dismantle these devices for repairs recently.

No work has been done the past week on the drainage system here as the relief administration has not furnished labor and teams to carry on the project. The main line leading from the Santa Fe right-of-way to Strong Avenue is about half finished and it will require several weeks to complete the remainder of the project.

Water collections for the month of May to date amounted to $1,249.07, sanitary collections $172.25, and tax collections were $1,126.22. Water consumption averaged 271,500 gallons daily the past week.

ENDS FIFTY-FIVE YEARS AS OFFICIAL CARVER

LONDON, May 30.—Charles Brown has just completed fifty-five years of carving in a leading London restaurant. During that time, he estimates, he has carved at least 220,000 saddles of mutton. Famous people, whose names are a legend to the present generation, were his friends. He talks casually of Sir Henry Irving, Jem Mace and Bill Terriss—the last on the night before he was murdered ate from a joint carved by Charlie—but Charles Dickens, in Charlie's words, "used to come here before my time."

During his fifty-five years Charlie has collected an armory of carving knives. Charlie feels a pitying contempt for the man who hacks a joint—it is so unnecessary, he says.

MAN EXPERT IN LAUGHTER

YEOUVIL, England, May 30.—After years of study, G. F. Altoft, postmaster of Yeouvil, has become a laughter expert. Laughter has been his hobby for years, and he believes he knows all there is to know about it. "Laugh your way to health," he says. "Laughter is a safe, sure and pleasant stimulant. The brain, stimulated by the increased flow of blood, reacts on the mental machinery; lively ideas pass rapidly through the mind, the affections are aroused and warmed."

Gas Company Starts Contest for Patrons; Rules in This Issue

Customers of the local gas company are given an opportunity to win some handsome gas kitchen appliances in an essay contest launched throughout the territory served by companies in the Lone Star Gas system. Announcement of the contest was made today in advertisements appearing in many newspapers.

The subject of the letter writing contest is, "Why I Like a Modern Gas Kitchen." There will be 50 valuable prizes in all, totaling in value more than $1,500. The prizes have been donated for advertising purposes by the manufacturers of the appliances.

Leading the list is the grand prize consisting of the three essentials of the modern kitchen—an Electrolux gas refrigerator, an automatic gas range, and an automatic gas water heater. The other prizes include automatic ranges of the latest design, automatic gas water heaters, another gas refrigerator, and many room heaters.

The purpose of the contest is to acquaint the public with the convenience, economy, and all-around advantages of modern gas appliances.

All the contestants has to do is to write a letter giving his or her ideas of the advantages of the gas kitchen. The letter is to be mailed to Gas Contest Judges, 301 South Harwood Street, Dallas, Texas, or left at the local office of the gas company. Literature on the contest may be obtained at the gas company office or by writing the contest judges.

The contest opens June 1 and closes June 30 and is open to all customers of companies in the Lone Star Gas system, except employees and members of their families. There is no restriction on the length of the letters. They will be judged on the ideas submitted. Three representatives of three leading Texas colleges will act as judges.

DUBLIN SUFFERS PLETHORA OF UNSKILLED LABORERS

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, May 30.—While contractors are having difficulty in finding certain grades of skilled workers for the many building projects, city officials declare that poor relief costs are as large as ever. This is said to be due to the great influx from the country of many men and their families. Most of these are agricultural workers and unskilled in any craft.

The lord mayor is striving to prevent this crowding the city with unfortunate people who think they may secure a job of some kind, but find neither work nor a shelter fit to live in. The city is encouraging the establishment of many new works in the rural districts to prevent emigration to the city.

Stronger Ballinger Team To Meet Texon Sluggers

The Ballinger baseball team will contain an array of new players when it meets the league leading Texon Oilers in a double-header at Fair Park Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Manager Cal Adair has travelled far and wide this week to bring in recruits who are expected to hold their own with the Texon sluggers. On the list are a number of men who have seen much service in this league as well as in faster company.

Adair is still looking for players and before Sunday probably will have additional pitchers to hold the invaders to few hits. One new hurler, Baskett, of Coleman, will be here and ready to work in one of the games. Ray, of Miles; and Rube Virdin also are in good shape for service, and a strong south-paw is being sought to pitch against the string of left-handed hitters on the opposition team.

One man on the visiting club of interest to Runnels county fans is the hard-hitting Eddie McMillan. Eddie has caused Ballinger baseball enthusiasts many a headache and the short right field fence may be a temptation to him for some home-run hitting here Sunday.

Damon Faught, well known infielder, will be at third base for the Ballinger team Sunday. In addition to being one of the fastest fielders in this section he can hit the ball and will add power to the run getting of the locals. Clyde Pratt, of Winters, another well known athlete, will pastime in center field for the Ballingerites. Pratt is a port-sided hitter that has also demonstrated to local fans how far he can slam them. Coley, of Winters, well known as a football star here, and for the past two years playing baseball on a fast college team, will take charge of right field. He is speedy and has a good batting eye. Ledbetter, a fast outfielder and good hitter from Bradshaw, will be in left garden. "Speck" Rosser has returned to Miles from a tour in fast baseball and will play second base here Sunday. Crockett, speedy local infielder, but who has not played with the home team before, will be at short for both contests. Moore will be at first station for Ballinger and George McMillan will catch both games.

The starting pitchers have not been announced and will not be known until shortly before time for the first game. The management stated that plenty of reserve strength would occupy the bench, ready for action if needed.

Miss Jaeggli Becomes Bride of Billy Cordill in Church Service

The marriage of Miss Marian Jaeggli and Billy Cordill was solemnized at eight o'clock Friday evening at the First Methodist Church with the Rev. W. H. Doss, lifelong friend of the Cordill family, officiating in the presence of relatives and friends.

A lovely altar decoration had been given by arranging pink roses and larkspur with asparagus fern in floor and pedestal baskets of graduated heights. Electric torches cast a soft light over the scene.

A program of pre-nuptial music was given on the organ by Miss Helen Brewer, after which she played the accompaniment for Mrs. Levy Lee, who sang "I Love You, Truly" by Carrie Jacobs-Bond. Both Miss Brewer and Mrs. Lee are cousins of Mr. Cordill.

At the first strains of the Wedding March from Lohengrin, little Miss Betty Jean Parrish, niece of the groom, entered carrying the rings on a white satin pillow. She wore a befrilled frock of pink organdie. The bridal couple were unattended and entered together. They were met at the altar by Rev. Doss and the impressive double ring service was used. While the vows were being spoken, Miss Brewer softly played "Andantino" by LeMare. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was used as the recessional.

The bride wore a floor-length dress of blue organdie with pink sash and carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds and maiden-hair fern.

They left immediately for a short week-end wedding trip. They are now at home on Ninth Street in their own home, which is completely furnished.

Mrs. Cordill is the younger daughter of Mrs. Clara Jaeggli. She is a graduate of the Fort Worth high school and of the North Texas Teachers' College at Denton. For the past three years she has taught at Brookshire. She has been elected as one of the supernumerary teachers for the Ballinger schools for next year.

The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Aza Cordill and has lived his whole life here. For several years he traveled throughout the United States as a musician with the Christie Bros. band. He is now an employee of the state highway department.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mrs. J. H. Kipp of Mineral Wells, Mrs. W. A. Harrell of Denton, Mrs. W. A. Perry, Miss Moody Perry, and Mrs. Archie Mitts, all of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Nite Broyles, of Paint Rock.

A yellow and green color combination was emphasized in the breakfast menu served in two courses and in the floral adornment of tables. These were small crystal baskets filled with lantana and fern. The handles were tied with green malina. The bride's table, which was the dining room table, was laid in Normandy lace and centered with a larger basket of these same blooms. Tallies were brides in bouffant frocks. A beautiful bowl of crystal with prism pendants and matching candleholders was the hostesses' favor to Miss Shepherd.

Immense Crowds View Bodies of Criminals

Dallas newspapers estimated that 30,000 persons crowded around the funeral homes where the bodies of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker awaited burial. The streets and sidewalks were blocked for several blocks in every direction and much damage was done by the crowd to flowers, shrubbery and movable objects inside and outside the undertaking establishments. Cook Gives Poison Formula; Advises Raisers of Poultry

Elmo V. Cook, Runnels county agent, has had a number of reports this week from farmers in various communities that grasshoppers are infesting the cotton crops.

Mr. Cook gives the following formula for mixing a grasshopper poison that has proved very successful in the extermination of these pests:

"Mix thoroughly 25 pounds of wheat bran with one pound of white arsenic. Add six finely ground oranges or lemons to the mixture and then add 2 quarts of molasses. This will not make a mixture moist enough to handle so add just enough water to moisten well and be certain that no lumps are in the mixture. Take the preparation and throw it in the infested sections by the handful. The poison should not be so wet that it will stick together but just moist enough that it will separate into fine parts."

Mr. Cook stated that the cause of the great number of grasshoppers in the cotton fields was that the insects are leaving them for the cotton fields.

Cotton farmers who are being troubled with grasshoppers are urged to use the formula given above in the extermination of the insects, so that further damage will not be done to the crops of the county.

Turkey raisers of this county are being troubled a bit just now with a disease which is a form of cholera, known as hemorrhagic septicemia. This disease is not the ordinary kind of cholera usually found in turkeys. The ordinary type affects the intestines in the form of an irritation which cannot be detected until the bird is killed.

Elmo V. Cook, county agent, advises all turkey raisers to vaccinate their turkeys and keep them away from foul or stagnant water. Most of the trouble is being found near the Colorado River, but there may be other cases in other communities.

There is said to be much roup among young chickens in this county and Mr. Cook advises all poultry raisers to avoid a crowded condition in the pens. Either enlarge the pens or make others so that the young chicks can have plenty of room, he said. Another cause of this malady is lack of green stuff. If possible feed the chickens plenty of alfalfa leaf meal or turn them into an alfalfa field, the county agent advised.

20 Local Scouts To Leave Sunday For Annual Camp

Twenty Ballinger Boy Scouts will leave here Sunday morning at 7 o'clock for Camp Louis Farr and will remain there the entire week, returning home the following Saturday afternoon. Most of the transportation will be furnished by Ballinger service clubs but still more cars are needed to take the lads and their equipment. The distance from Ballinger to the camp is 65 miles over excellent roads.

A. H. Wiesepape will be in charge of the boys the entire week. The boys will do intensive work and play until early in evening in a program arranged by the camp directors. The Scouts will prepare part of their meals and will bunk together in the cabins built for this purpose. Mr. Wiesepape is one of the most enthusiastic Scout leaders here and is a member of the executive board. E. E. King, manager of King-Holt Company, gave Mr. Wiesepape a week's leave of absence so he could be with the Ballinger boys at the camp.

On Monday evening of next week a number of Ballinger men will visit the camp to take part in an executive meeting of leaders of the Concho Valley area. The meeting will be held soon after the supper hour and local officials will return home that evening. O. L. Parish, chairman of the Ballinger board, H. W. Lynn, Frank Holliday, Walter Atwell, K. V. Northington, E. H. Forgey and several others plan to attend the meeting.

Camp Louis Farr is one of the beauty spots in West Texas. Several years ago the plot of ground was donated for a permanent Boy Scout camp and since then buildings and playgrounds have been constructed. For several weeks each summer Scouts meet at Camp Farr for a week's special training and supervised play.

The two Ballinger troops are sponsored by the Lions and Rotary clubs and these organizations are making it possible for a number of the boys to attend the camp this year. Bob Billington, area executive, is in charge of the camp.

Frank Rubin, formerly of Shiner, came in this week and will make home in Ballinger. He will be joined here in about two weeks by Mrs. Rubin, who at present is visiting her mother. This week Mr. Rubin is busy getting his household goods arranged in the Earl Morley place in Wilke Terrace where the couple will reside.

Mr. Rubin will open a dry goods store in Ballinger in August to be known as Rubin's. He will leave about June 15 for St. Louis and New York to purchase merchandise and expects to return here early in July to arrange the stock and get ready for the opening. For the past eleven years he has operated a store at Shiner.

The building on Hutchings Avenue formerly occupied by Bettis & Sturges has been leased and carpenters and painters will begin putting the building in shape in a few days. New shelving will be built and as soon as this and other necessary work are completed other fixtures will be installed and merchandise arranged.

Mr. Rubin will be busy from now until August preparing for the formal opening, the exact date of which will be announced later.

•• A DOLLAR AND A HALF WORTH OF OIL PROTECTED THIS MOTOR FOR OVER FOUR THOUSAND MILES!

Low Consumption and Motor Protection proved in the most daring and convincing Motor Oil Test ever made

WHEN New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil was perfected, it had lubrication values so great that a mere statement of them would seem absurd. Could you believe that any strictly stock motor could run 4,729 miles on just five quarts of oil before wrecking itself? It did—and Conoco proved it in competition with five widely known, nationally advertised, quality brands of motor oil!

The competition was held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, under the supervision of the Contest Board, American Automobile Association. Six new, strictly stock cars, were used—a different oil of the same S. A. E. grade in each.

After the cars were broken in for 2,500 miles, they were drained, examined and a fresh fill of five quarts put in each crankcase. No more oil was added. Then the cranks were sealed by an AAA official. The real test began. It was ordered that they be driven at an average of 500 miles a day at 50 miles an hour until their motors failed to operate. Oil No. 4 was first to fail at 1,713.2 miles. Oil No. 6 failed at 1,764.4 miles. Oil No. 5 ruined its motor at 1,815.9 miles; three of them were out of the running. The next day Oil No. 1 failed to lubricate and, its motor wrecked, stopped at 2,266.8 miles.

Two cars—two oils—still left in the test. Oil No. 3, after a remarkable run of 3,318.8 miles, came to a shuddering stop, and the last competitor of New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Oil, was out. The lone car, with this tremendously vital oil, labeled No. 2, went on and on. On the tenth day, at an almost unbelievable total of 4,729 miles, it failed—an all-time record mileage on a total of five quarts!

The "Hidden Quart" of new oil penetrativeness won—the greater film strength and higher resistance to the effects of dilution—the absence of carbon and sludge—all aided in this great achievement. It firmly supported Conoco's patented principle of added oiliness—it proved every claim. Conoco alone can make oil this way. It is covered by recent United States patents.

You can have this oil in your car, for it costs no more than other quality oils. Drive into a Conoco Station or dealer, marked by the Red Triangle. Fill and know the satisfaction, the freedom from repairs, the economy of low consumption that only Conoco gives.

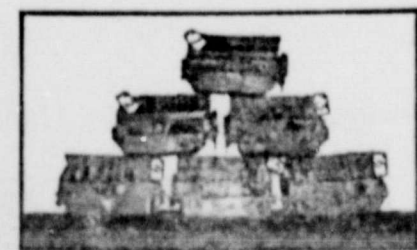

Five quarts of each brand of oil were carefully put in the cars by AAA officials.

Here are the Representatives of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association who supervised every detail of the test and attested to the records made.

The official sealing of crankcases after fill of five quarts was put in. No addition of oil was permitted in this "destruction" test.

These were new motors before the test. They were wrecked to prove to you how to protect yours.

Warning to new car owners...

Some car manufacturers are using new types of bearings which will stand greater pressure and temperatures, resulting from increased power and speed. New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil has been scientifically tested on these new bearings. The results show that it gives them greater protection against damage than any other oil on the market. Protect your new car by using the motor oil you can be sure of.

ONE-ROOM APARTMENTS PREVALENT IN SCOTLAND

GLASGOW, Scotland, May 30.—While a substantial improvement in housing conditions in Scotland is shown in the revised figures of the last census, the problem of the one-roomed house, in which an entire family lives, is still great. In some of the large industrial cities the proportion of one-room houses remains comparatively high, and in some of the small mining and manufacturing centers it is markedly so.

The reduction in the number of these houses in the city of Glasgow and Lanark and Renfrew counties has been great. On the other hand, there are in five counties actual but small increases in the number of one-roomed houses. The total Gaelic-speaking population over three years of age is 138,135. Those who speak Gaelic number only 6,716, compared with 9,829 in 1924 and 13,409 in 1911.

COLLEGE OF HUMOR PLAN IS ADVANCED IN LONDON

LONDON, May 30.—London is to have a college of humor. The main object will be to produce comedians ready to take their place as master funsters in the entertainment world. They will be taught all the tricks of comedy, including how to originate and to put over "gags," as well as to make the most of the materials provided comedians by playwrights. Eccentric dancing and knockabout tomfoolery will be taught by experts.

Part of the college will be devoted to teaching aspiring young authors the meaning of the word comedy. There also will be a course for men and women who wish to shine in public life as witty speakers.

Three Important Farmer's Meetings Called This Week

The Runnels county cotton production control board had its first measuring demonstration at the court house here at 9 o'clock this (Thursday) morning. This meeting was attended by committeemen who are to do part of the measuring in the various communities.

The next demonstration will be held Friday morning, June 1, in the chamber of commerce office at Winters. All of those who failed to attend the meeting held here today are urged to be present at the Winters meeting Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

This was agreed by the production control board as being the best method of giving the demonstrations and these will probably be the only demonstrations given.

Another important meeting for farmers of Runnels county will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday, June 2, in the court house. At this meeting the government farm record book will be thoroughly explained. Every community chairman is urged to either attend this meeting or designate a man or woman in his community who will attend in his stead.

After the meeting the representative of each community will carry the community's allotted farm record books back with him and schedule a similar meeting in the community, at which time each contract signer will be given a book.

Every community is urged to appoint a representative as the contract signers will be at a great disadvantage if their community is not represented at the meeting here Saturday afternoon.

HYBRID "CATELANDS" DEVELOPED IN AFRICA

PRETORIA, South Africa, May 30.—"Cattellands" is the name just given to two animals of a new special now on show in the Pretoria zoo.

They are hybrids between an eland bull and Friesland cows, and it is hoped they will possess something of the immunity of the eland, a heavy type of antelope, to certain cattle diseases.

The experiment was carried out on the farm of Capt. R. E. Helme, of Westminster, Orange Free State. The hybrid is red, instead of black, the color always previously perpetuated in cattle crosses.

Rev. and Mrs. E. W. McLaurin attended to business at Abilene Tuesday.
