

Patrolmen Check 1,410 Autos in Safety Drive

The safety lane which was maintained here Tuesday and Wednesday by members of the state highway patrol and local police was very successful.

A total of 874 motor vehicles were checked Tuesday and 163 found defective. On Wednesday 536 cars were run through the lane and of that number 109 were found to be in need of repairs or adjustments.

During the two days 277 automobiles out of the 1,410 which were put through the lane were found to be defective and 241 of the number which were defective went to garages and had the faults corrected and were rechecked by the officers. This is a large percentage of repairs, according to the patrolmen.

It was stated by Chief of Police Lee Moreland that any cars that should have been checked during the two-day campaign, but were not, if caught on a highway by the patrolmen charges would be filed against the owners in the precinct in which the offense is committed.

During the safety drive passenger cars, commercial cars and trucks were checked and autos from 18 different states passed through the line.

A total of all defects shows that bad brakes led the list, with faulty lights in second position. A brief summary of the defects follows:

Brakes	172
Lights	133
Horns	55
Mufflers	13
Steering	4
Windshield wipers	78

Patrolmen who helped in the inspection were John D. Reed, D. F. Finkie and Fred Mathis, of San Angelo; Sam Guynes, Morgan Myers and Ernest Daniels, of Abilene; and Captain G. P. Nulty, of San Angelo. Chief of Police Lee Moreland also assisted in the tests.

All of the checking done this week was absolutely as a courtesy to motorists, but as stated above, hereafter any person caught driving an auto with any of the above mentioned defects will be prosecuted.

Soil Conservation Program Questions Answered by Agent

There are still a number of people who apparently do not fully understand the 1936 agricultural conservation program. Many heard the program fully explained at the beginning of the year but later changes were made which were favorable to the farmer and these have caused some to gain a false impression of the facts which have to do with the requirements for financial settlement.

Right at this season some of the crops in the conservation program are maturing and compliance must be made within a short time.

Those who intend to terrace as an aid to payment will have until October 31, 1936, to complete their terraces. In general terraces should be properly spaced 4 inches or less fall in 100 feet along the terrace, from 10 to 14 inches in height when settled, and from 15 to 21 inches high when freshly put up. Complete details can be obtained at the county agent's office.

No minimum acreage of any soil depleting crop is required.

When sudan grass is cut for hay or grazed it will not get the extra dollar per acre, but when it is left on the land or turned under will receive $1 per acre extra.

If a crop of grain (oats, barley, or wheat) off land, cowpeas or soybeans must be grown to a reasonable growth, if this land is to be used for soil building.

Pinto beans to date have not been set aside as one of the legumes to plant.

The odd row in feed plantings can be used, if planted to cowpeas or soybeans for the acres the farmer intends to take out of cotton, but to date no allowance has been made whereby the farmer can plant the odd cotton row for either taking out cotton or feed acreage.

Blanks have been printed and sent to the county committee, allowing it in certain cases to permit farmers to eradicate perennial noxious weeds, by clean cultivation or the use of weed killers, and substitute this as a soil building practice, provided no soil depleting crop has been harvested from these acres in 1935.

Any sorghum can either be left on the land or turned under and receive the dollar per acre and other payments.

When manure crops should be planted 60 days or more of Manske, of a form must be filled out when green.

Battle Lines Drawn in Steel Industry-Labor Clash

Possibly the greatest capital-labor controversy in history loomed as John L. Lewis, left, president of the United Mine Workers of America, declared for a "relentless but peaceful" campaign to unionize America's vast steel, textile, rubber, and automobile industries. Eugene Grass, center, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute. As the zero hour of labor's battle against the open shop neared, William Green, right, president of the American Federation of Labor, sought to conciliate warring industrial and craft unionists within the labor camp. Top photo shows one of the nation's great steel mills.

Railroads Theme Of Address Heard By Club Members

"Western Railroads" was the subject of an address by Judge Paul Trimmer at the Ballinger Rotary Club meeting Tuesday noon, when part of the program was in observance of Railroad Week. The speaker furnished interesting information about the railroads which have played so great a part in the development of the West and urged patronage that would keep them operating.

The speaker pointed to the comforts for travelers made possible by the roads in this section such as air-conditioned coaches, excellent diners and sleepers, fast schedules to all points, and quick connections at terminals. Referring to the safety of this mode of travel it was revealed that not a single passenger was killed on the western roads last year.

Pioneering of the railroads was also brought out, it being recalled that the founding of the city of Ballinger was the result of the extension of the Santa Fe lines. In conclusion Judge Trimmer declared heavy support is given by railroads in taxes to our local governments and schools. In Runnels county the railroads pay approximately $12,000 a year in taxes, it was stated.

The general theme of the first part of the program Tuesday was "Religion," with Rev. Homer Vanderpool as the speaker. He showed the part the church plays in the life of every community and the influence that is felt in every way possible.

Gov. Allred Speaks Here To Crowd of About 500

In a short address here Monday afternoon before a crowd of approximately 500 Governor James V. Allred defended his record and gave a brief accounting of the accomplishments since he has been the chief state executive.

J. D. Motley called to meeting to order and presented Rev. Wallace Jones, a personal friend of the governor, who introduced the speaker.

Gov. James V. Allred

After greeting the people gathered to meet and hear him, the speaker assailed some of his opponents for regarding his "ribbon cutting and quick opening" Governor Allred said he wanted to plead guilty—that he had cut a ribbon on one occasion when an American Legion post had invited him to open a new bridge. He also stated that during the year he had attended a number of celebrations at which he had crowned queens. "In fact, I came here from Coleman where I attended a celebration and crowned the queen this afternoon," he confessed. He defended visits he made to other states, saying that he spent four days in California at the invitation of Southern Methodist University and with all expenses paid by the state Centennial board. He also told of his trip through the East for the Texas Press Association to advertise the Centennial exposition. "I believe we did a good job of this, people are coming to Texas and the gasoline tax collected from these tourists will amount to more than the entire Centennial appropriation." The speaker pointed out that he was not the first governor to leave the state and recited a number of others including Governors Hogg, Neff, Moody and Ferguson, who made long trips to other parts of the nation to advertise the state.

Gov. Allred dwelled considerably on his record on the old age assistance bill and claimed he fought for the measure for several years.

$30,000 in Checks Awaiting Farmers At Agent's Office

The county agent's office has received 700 subsidy checks for farmers of this county and will begin distribution of them Saturday morning. A card has been mailed to each farmer who has a check in the shipment and growers are requested not to call unless they receive cards advising them that checks are being held for them. The total of the checks to be distributed is $30,000.

No checks will be handed out before Saturday morning as the receipts must be prepared and other clerical work done before the office staff is ready to issue them. John A. Barton, county agent, will leave Sunday for the short course at College Station, but stated that the office here would be open and ready to serve the farmers all next week.

There are 300 more of the subsidy payment checks yet to be received for cotton raisers of this county and they probably will arrive soon. When they are received here those who have payments coming will be notified.

Twenty-four Runnels countians will leave Saturday and Sunday for College Station to spend a week with approximately 5,000 others from all over Texas at the 1936 farm short course. Twelve women and four girls will leave Saturday evening on the Santa Fe, and County Agent John A. Barton and four club boys will leave Sunday morning by car. Miss Myra Tankersley, county home demonstration agent, will leave Saturday by car. The agents are taking their automobiles as they will have to stay at Bryan and go back and forth to the college each day.

The boys who will attend the short course are those selected for the livestock judging team. Ten boys entered this competition and J. M. Williams, vocational agriculture teacher at Winters, and Mr. Barton selected four last week. The four chosen for the team are Park Kemp, Ballinger; Ross Campbell, Hatchel; Noel Fagan, Norton; and Douglas Cole, Winters. Others trying out for the team were: Sam Routh, Ballinger; Clarence Smith, and LeRoy Coats, Content; Garland Hoffman, Benoit; Winston Ayley, Miles; and Dick Halstead, Ballinger.

Miss Tankersley received word last week that two more women and one more girl would be allowed in the reservations from this county. These will be designated and the full quota filled.

The Runnels county home demonstration council will meet at the city hall here Saturday afternoon and besides the council members every delegate is expected to attend this meeting as it will be the only opportunity Miss Tankersley will have to instruct the delegation before departing for College Station.

Members of the county council will discuss plans for the women's encampment August 12 and 13 at the Ballinger city park and perfect the program.

The short course delegation will return here Saturday, July 25.

Thorp is Winner Over H. G. Agnew For Golf Trophy
Charles Thorp won the Ballinger Country Club golf championship Sunday when he defeated H. G. Agnew one up in an 18-hole match. This contest, postponed on July 4 to a later date, commenced Sunday, July 5, was rained out on the eleventh hole, and was finally played Sunday.
Thorp had Agnew three down on the first nine holes and at No. 5 on the second round was four up. Agnew staged a come-back to win Nos. 6, 7 and 8, but Thorp's drive was on the green on No. 9 and he clinched the match and took the 1936 championship from last year's leader.
Thorp will be awarded a trophy offered by the Farmers & Merchants State Bank which he must defend until it is won three times in succession. Agnew will receive the runner-up prize in the championship flight.
All other matches scheduled were decided July 4, the full 36 holes being played in one day.
A large gallery followed the match Sunday afternoon and saw a fine demonstration as the two local stars put everything they had into the game. Shots from the tee boxes were extra good, a number of 300-yard drives being made.
HENRIETTA—Everyone should have her garden laid with tile. Mrs. A. H. Witte, home food supply demonstrator in Clay county, recently stated.
Mrs. Witte has laid 115 foot of tile in her garden. The tile was made from local sand and one sack of cement which cost 90 cents.
Over the tile there are growing pepper and tomato plants. The tomato plants were only set out four weeks before they had green tomatoes on them.

Photos of White Corpuscles Show Distinct Functions
WASHINGTON, July 15.—Motion pictures of creeping white blood corpuscles which prove that these lowly but indispensable germ catchers of the human body have distinct heads and tails like higher animals are reported by Dr. W. H. Lewis, of the Carnegie Institution.
Although they are much scarcer than red corpuscles in the blood, the average human body contains something like 50,000,000,000 white corpuscles, swept along continually with the blood or creeping along the walls of tiny arteries and veins. The duty of these white corpuscles is to capture and digest harmful germs which get into the body. The white corpuscles creep along slowly hunting this prey much as do the lowly one-celled amoebas which live in water in ponds and ditches.
Some biologists believe that the white corpuscles themselves once were separate animals like the amoebas, but have learned by millions of years in evolution how to live inside human beings or other animals and earn their keep by hunting germs. Using white corpuscles kept alive in culture solutions, Dr. Lewis made motion pictures of their creeping movements, which show that each creep always begins at one side of the corpuscle, which may be called its head. The opposite or tail portion always follows.
Although no eyes or ears and almost no internal organs or other visible structures can be seen in a white corpuscle, Dr. Lewis' motion pictures indicate that these useful creatures may be both more complicated and more competent than most biologists have believed.

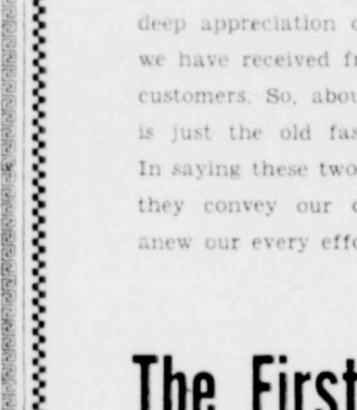

JAPANESE TO HONOR WIDOWS OF PATRIOTS
TOKYO, July 15.—Japan and its people are expected to honor the widows of the late Viscount Makoto Saito and General Jotaro Watanabe who threw themselves before the guns of rebel troops on February 26 in vain attempts to save the lives of their husbands.
Viscountess Haruko Saito was awakened by the sound of heavy footsteps, and she rushed to inform the viscount just as the soldiers burst in. She stood before them. "Saito's life belongs to the state," she cried, "he still has many things to do for his country. If you have to shoot, shoot me." The soldiers brushed her to one side and shot.
Mrs. Watanabe placed herself between her husband and the soldiers and placed her hand on the muzzle of a gun about to be fired, and defied the invaders, but she, too, was pushed aside, and Watanabe killed.
A. O. Strother, of Winters, was here on business Monday and remained to hear Gov. Allred speak in the afternoon.

TEXAS AUTOMOBILE SALES SHOW GAIN DURING JUNE
AUSTIN, July 15.—An increase of sales of new automobiles in Texas during June over the preceding month and the like month last year is reported by the University of Texas bureau of business research. Reports from fifteen representative Texas counties show a total of 8,225 sales, an increase of 33 per cent over May and 64 per cent over June, 1935. Aggregate sales in these counties during the first half year were 38,751, an increase of 23 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The percentage increase in sales of the lowest price group during June over the two comparable periods was greater than the percentage increase of all groups combined. For many months past, the lowest price group had been making relatively the poorest showing.

Fort Worth Ready for Gala Opening

The Last Frontier—Pioneer Palace—Jumbo—Casa Manana—Nude Ranch! Marvels of entertainment will go on parade in Fort Worth Saturday, July 18, when the Texas Frontier Centennial opens its gates to the world. But mere gates, closed during rehearsals, have not kept out the crowds. Bess Harris, for instance, boldly travels the "Sunset Trail" in a modern covered wagon, mustering into service Mr. Star, an Indian youth whose Hopi reservation is on the Centennial grounds, and pausing for refreshment at an old pump presided over graciously by Miss Yellow Snider. And below is Nikki Allen, who takes time out from rehearsals at Sally Rand's Nude Ranch to furnish a good reason for the crowds in the bottom photo.

No Admission

A candidate addressing his constituency was surprised by a voice which, calling from the back of the hall, said:

"Well, I don't care what you say, I wouldn't vote for you if you were the angel Gabriel."

Came the reply: "If I were the angel Gabriel, you wouldn't be in my constituency."

Indignant Caller: "Look here, I've come about this paragraph announcing my resignation from the local chamber of commerce."

Editor: "But it's quite correct, surely?"

Caller: "Quite correct, but will you kindly explain why you print it under 'Public Improvements'?"

Student Transfers In County Will be Stopped on July 31

Many scholastic transfers are being made at the office of County Superintendent E. C. Grindstaff. The final date for making transfers for the next school year is July 31 and all children within the age limit who intend to attend a school outside their home districts must be officially transferred. High school students who are in grades higher than that taught in their own districts must be transferred according to the law. Failure to do this before July 31 will cause the loss of the state per capita apportionment and the pupil must pay tuition to the district where he attends.

Where the proper transfer is made the state will pay the high school tuition for the child and the district will collect the per capita apportionment.

Numerous transfers already made indicate that many children in rural districts will attend high schools next fall. The buses operated by the larger high schools make it possible for all pupils to continue their education after completing courses in their home districts.

Practically all school boards in the county have elected facilities for the 1936-37 term and necessary repairs are being made on buildings and equipment.

ROBERT LEE MAN WILL OPEN MEAT MARKET IN THEATRE BUILDING

Mr. Carley invites everyone in this trade territory to pay him a visit and inspect his shop, which is called the New Deal Market.

MODEL IRISH PRISONER WAILS

DUBLIN, July 15.—Dublin police claim to have found the world's model prisoner. While he was being taken in a police car to the station the car crashed another vehicle and the four policemen in it were injured. Although he had a chance to escape in the crowds which gathered, the prisoner patiently waited until another policeman arrived, then gave himself up.

"Did you say the man was shot in the woods, doctor?"

"No, I said he was shot in lumbar region."

New Blast Furnace Yields Iron, Cement

STALINO, U. S. S. R., July 15.—A new blast furnace which burns oxygen instead of air and turns out simultaneous streams of molten iron and molten rock that can be powdered to make Portland cement was described by Dr. A. A. Chekin, of the Academy of Science, and G. A. Galinker, engineer in the Moscow Nitrogen Institute, before a recent fuel conference at Stalino.

The new furnace was a by-product of scientific researches on getting nitrogen from the air for use in fertilizers. This use of nitrogen provides a considerable by-product of oxygen, markets for which are not yet available in Soviet industry.

Scientists of the nitrogen institute accordingly began looking for some way to use this oxygen. Use of oxygen instead of air in a high-temperature blast furnace suggested itself and was investigated. It now is reported that this not only makes better and cheaper cast iron but the by-product of Portland cement.

Cement ordinarily is made by heating powdered rock of suitable chemical composition until the powder partly fuses together into clinker which then are ground to powder for the cement.

These usual cement rocks cannot be used to purify iron ore in an ordinary blast furnace because the furnace temperature is not high enough to melt them. The melted slag that runs out of an ordinary furnace is no good except for railway ballast or some similar use.

In the new furnace the use of oxygen instead of air makes the furnace so much hotter that the rocks which yield cement can be used. The slag of this furnace then is fused cement just like the clinkers made in an ordinary cement plant.

Soil Conservation—

Farmers who intend to comply for a grant should have their crops planted by July 31, except where one intends to plant after grain is harvested, then it is necessary for the farmer to produce a crop.

No longer are new contracts being signed but corrections are allowed. By Friday of this week all work sheets will be in the mails to state headquarters where they will be checked and analyzed.

A question has been asked, that where soybeans have been planted, came to a stand and were destroyed by rabbits, would it be necessary to replant. This question will be decided by the county committee as to whether the crop was handled in a workmanship manner.

In most cases rabbits will destroy soybeans unless poisoning is done, however, little damage will be done to cowpeas by rabbits it was said.

CRICKET PLAYER IS WED BY RITUAL OF FIRE GOD

BOMBAY, July 13.—When "Duleep," a popular cricket player, was married recently, the fire-god ritual was followed. K. S. Duleep-singhi, his full name, became the husband of Jayaraj Kamari, the Maharajah of Raipolia's niece. "Duleep" and his bride sat before a fire, with priests and the bridegroom chanting the sacred verses of the Mantras. The bride, heavily veiled, remained quiet while the groom propitiated the fire god by throwing rice and other semi-liquid matters into the flames. Then he took an oath to be true to his bride.

Both then took seven steps around the fire. "Duleep" then placed his bride's foot on the Masala grinding stone, symbolizing acceptance of her and home, and lifted the veil from her face.

Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Theiford's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Theiford's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

Are you one of these nervous people who lie awake half the night and get up feeling "all in"? Why don't you do as other light sleepers have been doing for more than two generations—take Dr. Miles Nervine? One or two pleasant effervescent Nervine Tablets or two or three teaspoonfuls of liquid Nervine will generally assure a night of restful sleep. Perhaps you will have to take Nervine two or three times a day just at first.

Hatchel Youth Describes Journey to Warm Springs

W. S. Caudle, Jr., of Hatchel, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Caudle, is now a patient in the Warm Springs Foundation at Warm Springs, Georgia. He left here July 2 to enter the institution and writes an interesting letter of his trip and his first days in the health resort. The letter follows:

My Trip

I had a very enjoyable trip to Warm Springs, Georgia. I left at night July 2 and when daybreak came the next morning we were nearing Houston. We crossed several swollen rivers, caused by the recent rains. It was still raining down in that part of the country. Water was standing everywhere. I particularly noticed one large tomato field of perhaps fifty acres or more with almost every foot of the ground covered in water. Several wagon loads of hands were just getting out to pick the tomatoes, many of which were rotting from so much rain. However, the vines were growing on poles about three feet high and were still heavily loaded with green tomatoes.

We left Houston at 8:25. Not many miles out of the city we came to the real piney woods of Texas. Scattered all along in these were numerous stocks of freshly cut pine poles and cross-ties. All of which afforded a very beautiful scenery in the early morning sunlight.

We left Beaumont at noon and soon began to pass the big rice fields. Then by the middle of the afternoon we were traveling through still larger and more numerous rice fields, along with sugar cane fields in Louisiana. About 4:30 we came to the Mississippi River, with Baton Rouge on the east bank. This was sooner than I was expecting since I thought we would cross at New Orleans. Instead of crossing on a fine bridge they ran the train onto a ferry-boat to cross. Even the cars on the highway have to wait to be ferried across—which would be very discouraging to some convict who was trying to get out of the clutches of the law. I am sure. The river lacks only about 200 feet being a mile wide at this point. We kept in sight of the river levee all along to New Orleans, arriving there at 7 p. m.

What I noticed most in Louisiana was the large pecan orchards, not considering the Mississippi River. We passed several that extended just as far as one could see in one direction, with as magnificent trees as I ever saw.

When we arrived in New Orleans I was transferred from one depot to another, and in this the transfer bus carried us right through the center of the city. It is a very beautiful and picturesque city, especially where the Mississippi winds its way in and out, making a very pretty picture when the moon began to shine upon its great waters.

The next morning, after leaving New Orleans, found me in Alabama, still among the great tall pines and other great trees. I got to Warm Springs at noon, July 4, to find the little town of several hundred people nestling peacefully in the edge of Pine Mountain. Here I began to see taller, larger more magnificent pines than I had seen before, but still more beautiful and wonderful did I find those in and around the Warm Springs Foundation just a mile away, and resting right in the heart of Pine Mountain. There are 75 to 100 Poliomyelitis patients at the Foundation at all times, 100 being the full capacity. They come from all over the world to take treatment here. There is now one girl from Cuba here. I have heard northern people talk before but had never been with them so much before as I am at the Foundation. It is right amusing to talk with them and hear them talk since their speech is so different from ours in Texas and the South; even their ways of expressing themselves, their little mannerisms, and their customs differ greatly to ours—they think we talk very peculiar too. Just the other night a girl from up North laughed at me for pronouncing some word so different to what she did. Everyone is very jolly and seems to enjoy being here very much. We are all just like one big family.

James: "I suppose you carry your wife's picture with you on all your travels?"
Tom: "Sure. I've found nothing that will cure a spell of homesickness quicker."

They Lead New Union Party

Adding a new element to what already promised to be one of the most torrid presidential campaigns in many years was announcement of a Union Party, backed by the forces of Father Coughlin, Dr. Townsend, and followers of the late Huey Long. Nominees of this new party are Representative William Lemke of North Dakota, at top, for president; and Thomas C. O'Brien of Boston, below, for vice president.

Big Stakes

"Speaking of poker parties, I sat in on an eight-handed game one night. My luck was passing fair, and about two in the morning our host and I were the only survivors."

"Yes, yes!"

"We played for small stakes for about an hour, and finally bet all we had on a heavy draw."

"Well?"

"My straight flush beat his fours, and—"

"Then—"

"I took the thirty-five cents."

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arnold, of Vernon, who were visitors here last week, returned home Monday.

ON TEXAS FARMS
By Minnie Fisher Cunningham

Bandera county farmers are starting in to bud or graft ten or twelve native pecan trees a year. In this way they will be able to take care of the trees and get them to bearing earlier than if they grafted a greater number.

Harry Tieken, Pleasanton, Atascosa county, has a very good demonstration in legume inoculation for both black-eyed peas and peanuts. The peas showed a marked difference in vine growth and nodules on the root system. Peanuts are not far enough along to notice any difference. Tieken is keeping a record of the harvest of both inoculated and uninoculated peas, and plans on doing likewise on his peanuts.

Emil Weida of the Guadalupe community in Victoria county put barnyard manure on an acre of land and planted cane. The cane will more than double the yield of that planted alongside on the same kind of land. Size and color of the feed tell exactly where he began and ended fertilizing. In a strip planted on what had been a turrow, the color and size of the feed was also noticeable and no doubt this will also yield considerably more than his other land. Asked if it had been fertilized he replied that it had not, the growth and color was due to the fact that he hadn't planted anything on it for several years and just hadn't worn it out.

Tom Wilson, of Luling, owns a farm which had been taken out of cultivation several years ago and put back into pasture. This was done for only one reason and that was to hold the soil and keep it from washing off until he could have his farm terraced. Lines were run on this farm and the terraces constructed this month. The cost of terracing was $1.25 per acre, this including the cost of fills. Mr. Wilson's farm consists of 80 acres of cultivated land, which is now all terraced. This farm will be a valuable demonstration of terracing in this particular neighborhood.

TEXAS MAN'S YEARS-OF-MISERY ARE QUICKLY STOPPED BY GREAT GAS-TON TABLETS

Mr. E. S. Nelson, of Shallowtown, Texas, says that he spent eight long years a sufferer of stomach disorders. He states that during this eight years of suffering he went to any number of doctors and that three of them told him he had gastric ulcers. A short time ago Gas-Tons Tablets were recommended to him and after taking them for two months he gained 15 pounds and for the first time in eight years is able to do his regular farm work and is back to normal weight again and for the good of humanity wants to unconditionally recommend these tablets to any one suffering with severe stomach pains, gas or colitis, indigestion and other stomach disorders. Gas-Tons tablets are on sale in Ballinger by Weeks Drug Store, 25 tablets $1.00, 100 tablets $3.00. Quebec Province Will Build 2,000 Miles More Roads

QUEBEC, Canada, July 15.—Continuing the intensive highway development program inaugurated in 1929, the province of Quebec this summer is adding 2,000 miles of roadways to its system, thus providing a network of more than 18,000 miles of improved roads. Announcement of the new construction and of improvements to already existing arteries of travel is made in the official report of the roads department to E. L. Patenaude, lieutenant-governor.

The new highways in the near future will facilitate motoring in the Laurentian Mountain and Saguenay River resort areas and in the Abitibi and Gatineau districts in the northern and western sections of Quebec. Among the new highways is one leading from Temiscaming to Rouyn, in the rich gold mining area of the province, which will be opened this summer, making the little-known but picturesque town of Temiscaming on the Ottawa River easily accessible to summer visitors.

Additional improvements also have been made on the highway from Quebec to Herberville, through the Laurentides national park area, a favorite trip with American motorists because of its scenic beauty.

Work is progressing rapidly on the 170-mile highway which ultimately will connect the Gatineau, Labelle and Montreal regions with the Abitibi and Temiscaming sections. Notable for its many lakes and running streams, the Gatineau-Pontiac-Lievre section is a popular retreat for American anglers and campers.

Existing highways which have undergone extensive improvements in anticipation of a record-breaking summer motor travel include that penetrating the great paper pulp empire of Quebec northward through the St. Maurice Valley from Trois Rivières to La Tuque; the road from Montreal to St. Michael des Saints and highway No. 13 at Baie St. Catherine, which gives access to the St. Lawrence North Shore region.

Meanwhile, the department of highways, the report said, has underway an expanded program of dust elimination planned to add to the comfort of motorists in Quebec. Bituminous carpets are being laid on many additional miles of highways as a measure of dust control.

The Quebec highway system now includes fifty-eight main arteries for motor travel, in addition to many lateral roads which place all points of interest in the province within easy reach of the more than 3,000,000 United States motorists who tour the French province, itself three-fourths the size of Europe, each spring and summer.

5,000-YEAR-OLD CUP FOUND IN HUNGARY

BUDAPEST, July 15.—A cup that is believed to date from 3,000 B. C. is the archaeological sensation provided by the demolition of the Buda quarter of Taban. It is nineteen inches wide and twenty-seven high and fell into small fragments when brought to light. It has been completely reconstructed, however.

Taban, in its destruction, yielded many relics not only of Turkish times but also of the chiseled stone age. Professor Nagy believes the first chiseled stone age settlement was in Buda, or Taban. He says the prehistoric settlers crossed the Danube to exchange their goods, living in varena on the banks during spring and summer and in winter withdrawing to the Buda mountains, after burying their tools and implements in the ground, to be dug out when the frost was over.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Batts have as guests this week Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Needham and children, of Shawnee, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Riggs, of Oklahoma City; Mrs. William Riggs and son, of Wilcox, Arizona; and Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Riggs, of San Angelo. Mrs. William Riggs returned home Wednesday and the others will leave the latter part of the week.

James McClain will visit the Centennial exposition at Dallas while his mother is in Waco.

Miss Mary Lou Hopper, of Lubbock, visited Miss Rosa Crockett over the week-end.

Mrs. R. T. Powell, of Tuscola, and Miss Ruby Powers, of Abilene, spent the week-end here with Miss Cordelia Batta.

Miss Mayola Jacob has gone to Abilene to attend the second term at Abilene Christian College.

Miss Nada Doherty left Wednesday for Waco to visit friends several days.

County's Schools Due to Receive $107,801 in Aid

The state board of education Wednesday fixed the per capita apportionment for public schools at $19, the highest in the state's history. The regular set rate has been $17.90 but for last year it was raised to $18.90. School representatives were before the state board seeking a hike to $20 per capita while some business men's representatives opposed, and the board is declared to have compromised on $19.

Based on the estimated 1,560,000 scholars, the state per capita aid would total $29,840,000 for next year.

The final census report for Runnels county gave a total of 5,679 scholars, which means a total of $107,801 from the state will go to the schools of this county.

County Superintendent E. C. Grindstaff received notice this week that NYA projects would be available to high school students again this year and those who need help may be given jobs on the campus or in the building and receive pay from this source.

TAYLOR SHOOTING VICTIM CONVICTED HERE IN 1932

Wayne W. Martin was killed in Taylor last Friday night by a policeman, according to recent newspaper despatches. Martin was sent to the state penitentiary from Ballinger in 1932 on a theft charge and had served the sentence.

The former convict was slain along with a Mexican companion after they had started a fight with Policeman Ned Falls. The fight commenced when the officer attempted to question the pair. A cocked revolver was found at the dead man's side after the shooting.

Zigzagging Radio Beams Furnish Police New Aid

NEW YORK, July 15.—How the radio waves that serve the newest receivers on police cars reach a distant car from the radio station, not like ordinary radio waves but by a series of reflections from buildings, is described by reflections from building to building along the streets, is described by C. N. Thayer, of the Bell Telephone Company laboratories, in that organization's monthly "Record."

The extremely short waves which the newest police cars use will not bend around corners, but are reflected from each building front or other obstacle much like light rays. By many successive reflections the waves zigzag down each open street and in some degree turn corners by similar reflections as the rays of a searchlight do.

Since there usually are a number of open streets arranged in city blocks, there may be several different paths by which the waves reach a moving police car at the same time; one set by a series of reflections down one street and others down other streets. Often these different sets of waves interfere with each other so that the receiver in the speeding car shows an extreme form of what the home radio listener calls fading.

To correct this the Bell laboratories have devised a quick-acting device that changes the amount of amplification in the car's radio receiver instant by instant so that the voice coming from the car's loudspeaker always has about the same loudness regardless of which street the radio waves may be using to reach the car.

DOG STICKS TO BENEFACTOR

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, July 15.—Kicked and beaten until aged Frank Hill adopted him, a small brown mongrel has performed his last service to his benefactor. For two days, barking and snarling when he thought there was danger, the animal guarded Hill's body in a ditch near Johannesburg. A native found the body, but the dog attacked him so fiercely that he could not get near the body for forty-eight hours.

Court Must Decide Case of Astrology Versus Marriage

VIENNA, July 15.—Which is more important, astrology or marriage, must be decided by a court in a pending divorce case. The wife who is applying for the divorce claims that her husband lied about his birthday, thus inducing her to marry him against the warning of the stars.

A firm believer in astrology, this woman had decided to marry only the lion, a sign believed by astrologers to match especially well with that of Aquarius or the water man, under which the woman had been born. Knowing this, the would-be bridegroom is said to have claimed that he was born on August 18, bringing him within the desired ascendency of Leo. This was untrue, but seems a man born under the sign of Leo, to have worked all right.

Recently, however, the wife discovered that her husband really was born on August 28, thus placing him under the sign of Virgo or the Virgin, imagined antagonistic to the wife's Aquarius. The ten years of wedded bliss seems to have counted for nothing against the reading of the stars, since the wife promptly applied for divorce. The case was discussed at a recent conference of English astrologers at Harrogate, but without recommendation of what the Vienna court should do. Other discussions at the Harrogate conference resulted in the not improbable prediction that during the reign of King Edward VIII some of his subjects will be prosperous and others will have hard times.

Screw Worm Fight Begun in District By Federal Agent

Viets Kelly, district supervisor for the bureau of entomology, plant quarantine division, with headquarters at Coleman, has opened the government's campaign for control of screw worms in Coleman, Brown and Runnels counties.

With the screw worm fly again active in the Gulf Coast states the bureau urges farmers and stockmen to make a careful examination of their livestock. The situation is not alarming at present, but it is one that requires attention and consideration of all in order to prevent the pest from developing in large numbers.

The adult screw worm fly breeds only in living animals and lays its eggs on any wound, scratch, cut, dog bite or abrasion on livestock. At the present the greatest source of trouble is the infestation of the navel in new born calves. All calves should be watched carefully and examination made often for any signs of screw worms. Cattle should not be deborned at this season, all animals with wounds should be watched closely and it is well to take precautionary measures to prevent infestation, it was stated.

In treating for worms the supervisor gives the following instructions: Carefully swab the wound with cotton to remove blood and serum as these substances act as a protective covering for the worms. Introduce a small amount of 90 per cent commercial benzol with a rubber bulb syringe or pour it from a bottle or can and place a dry cotton plug in the wound. The cotton absorbs the benzol and permits the immediate forming of gas which the worms breath and causes their death. The cotton plug should fit close enough to remain in the wound but loose enough to fall out in a few hours. The wound and the adjoining area should be coated with pine tar oil. This dressing hastens the healing of the wound and helps to prevent other attacks by flies.

Stockmen are urged to prevent cases of screw worms by delaying surgical operations and by using pine tar on fresh wounds. All cases should be reported to the supervisor through the county agent's office. Those who have screw worm infestation on their ranches or farms are asked to leave their names and addresses with the county agent so the supervisor can call when visiting this county.

RANGER MAN FACES THEFT CHARGE IN LOCAL COURT

Bill Knight, of Ranger, was charged here Wednesday with theft of oil well casing. He waived examining trial and his bond was set at $1,000 by Justice of Peace B. W. Pilcher, but at noon today (Thursday) the defendant had not posted bond for his freedom.

Knight is accused of having stolen 102 feet of 15-inch pipe belonging to Clark Cunningham after it was pulled from a test near Norton. Officers stated the pipe was sold in Ranger.

Sky Nets Proposed To Defend Cities From Air Raiders

LONDON, July 15.—Results of a request to the public for ideas on how to repel air raids on England during another war have been made public by an official committee set up last year under the chairmanship of H. T. Tizard, of the Imperial College of Science and Technology.

Citizens of all European countries now are firmly convinced that another war will mean death in air raids for hundreds of thousands of the civilian population. Scientists are trying to devise ways to keep enemy aircraft out of their countries. Experts in aerial warfare believe that modern aircraft could approach an enemy city so high in the air, so well concealed by clouds and so noiselessly that ordinary anti-aircraft guns or defending airplanes would be almost worthless.

One novel idea which the British committee approves as worth investigating is suspension from balloons or dirigible airships of vast nets or chains like aerial fish-nets. A second idea is to suspend along the country's threatened frontiers a gigantic aerial field of explosive mines, like those used in naval warfare.

Still a third idea involves unmanned airplanes filled with explosives, controlled from the ground by radio and provided with automatic sound detectors so that these robot defenders would fly straight at enemy aircraft and collide with them. A fourth hope is to discover some explosive so powerful that large shells set off high in the air might wreck the enemy craft or kill their pilots by mere concussion, without requiring a direct hit.

STRATOSPHERE LINE PLANNED FOR FAMIRS

MOSCOW, July 15.—Climbing to from 13,000 to 18,000 feet altitude planes will fly over the Pamirs and passengers will be supplied with oxygen apparatus and specially warm clothing to protect them from the cold and rarefied air, when a proposed air line is inaugurated in Russia next year.

According to information given out the line will extend nearly 260 miles between Khorog and Murghab, and the journey, which now requires two days, will be made in two hours. Tajikistan air lines now cover more than 1,200 miles, not including the Stalinabad-Taskent line of nearly 400 miles.

ENJOY KITCHEN COMFORT

Despite Summer Heat

The insulated oven on a modern gas range with its automatic heat control makes possible a cooler kitchen. Heat is kept inside the oven—where it belongs—to do more cooking on the same amount of gas. Automatic heat control does away with peeking into a hot oven to check progress of baking or roasting. Just set the dial, and without watching, your food will be cooked to a queen's taste. For kitchen comfort go modern with a new insulated gas range. Terms are low enough for any family to afford.

This seal on the gas appliance you buy signifies that it has been tested in the laboratories of the American Gas Association and found to meet definite standards of safety, quality and efficiency.

FIRST YEAR'S WORK OF RESETTLEMENT BRINGS INCREASE IN LIVESTOCK

An increase in the amount of livestock owned by low-income farmers is one result of the first year's work of the resettlement administration, which ended with the month of June.

These livestock purchases account for $12,480 of the $28,890 loaned in this county. The loans were made to 135 families, of which 99 were white.

What About That Trench Silo for 1936?

George Kemp and George Kilam, of Ballinger; C. W. Colburn, J. D. Smith, Jr. and R. I. Collinsworth, of Winters; Ben Eggenmeyer, of Rowena; John Box and Albert Schwertner, of Miles; all have trench silos that have been constructed from one to three years and these men are high in praise of this method of putting away green pasture for either a dry spell, winter feeding, or both.

A trench silo is just a method of canning green pasture for cows by putting green pasture in a trench, adding water, and covering with from 12 to 24 inches of dirt, which seals the green forage and makes it keep from five to ten years or more.

R. I. Collinsworth, of Winters, has this to say about trench silos: "In 1935 I constructed a silo 110 feet long, 11 feet wide at the top, 7 feet deep, and put away around a 100 tons of red top cane, at a cost of 30 cents per ton."

We all read about the drought in the middle western and northwestern states also in the extreme southwestern states, but who knows when we also will be confronted with a dry year it may be in 1937, but there is one certain thing, the farmer who builds a trench silo and fills it will be hedged against such dry years as 1917-18 and 1934, for silage in a

"The Country Doctor" Presents Dionne Quints as Drama Stars

In the picture that is the entertainment scoop of the year, Darryl F. Zanuck makes movie stars of the first rank of the world's front page darlings, as he presents the Dionne Quintuplets in their first full length feature, "The Country Doctor," which comes to the Texas Theatre in midnight preview Saturday night and in regular showings Sunday and Monday, July 18-19-20.

Thrilling Film Next at Palace

Herbert Marshall is the star of Paramount's "Forgotten Faces," to be shown at the Palace Theatre next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. In support are Gertrude Michael, James Burke, Robert Cummings and Jane Rhodes. The film is a story of an all-consuming love.

The story revolves around a gambling house operator, and the woman he marries. When he finds she is faithless, he commits a murder and is sent to prison. Through a friendly police sergeant, his daughter is given to a well-to-do family for adoption, and never knows who her real parents are.

Years later, the prisoner learns that his daughter, now grown, is to be married and that his wife intends to blackmail her. Securing a parole through the efforts of the policeman, he arranges to change places with the butler in his daughter's home. Development of the scheme whereby he frustrates his wife's efforts brings the film to a breath-taking climax.

Charles Farrell and Charlotte Henry Are Co-Featured in "Forbidden Heaven"

"Forbidden Heaven," first production from the new Republic Pictures, will be shown at the Palace Wednesday and Thursday of next week, and if the reports emanating from some of the personalities associated with its making are criterions of the qualities of the picture, it is something worth seeing.

First, it brings to Republic a new personality and one of the best names in pictures—Charles Farrell. Co-featured with Farrell is Charlotte Henry—not the Charlotte of "Alice in Wonderland," nor the Charlotte that appeared with Arliss in "The Last Gentleman," or "Hoosier Schoolmaster," but almost a new personality—more matured, more experienced, and in a role that makes demands upon her ability, which thus far has measured up to all that has been expected of her.

Farrell, too, is delivering by way of performance—but that is to be expected, for he has never given a bad performance.

Beryl Mercer and Fred Walton have been cast in important roles. Others in support are Eric Wilton, Phyllis Barry (Moonstone), Barry Winton, and Eric Snowden.

Meerschm Trade Revived by Fashion

BUDAPEST, July 15.—The new fashion of using meerschm for cosmetics has revived a dying industry. Women are now using pieces of polished meerschm for smoothing lines from the face and absorbing grease. The beauties of a century ago used ground meerschm as face powder, of course.

The meerschm cutting industry started in Hungary some 200 years ago and flourished when gentlemen and peasants alike smoked meerschm pipes; simple ones for the peasants cost five florins; carved ones, real works of art, showing portraits of famous men or stag hunts—some so large that one filling lasted a day—cost up to 250 florins.

The economic crisis almost killed the meerschm pipe, for the cheapest cost about $6.25. Nine meerschm shops remain in Budapest, with principal customers in England and America. The oldest, which has turned out pipes for 140 years, sells on an average one pipe a week to England, as compared with the fifty or sixty ordered weekly a century ago. Old meerschm pipes are highly treasured in some parts of Hungary.

"Small Town Girl" Features Janet Gaynor, Robert Taylor

Janet Gaynor and Robert Taylor form the striking new screen team coming to the Ritz Theatre next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in "Small Town Girl," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's picturization of the popular novel by Ben Ames Williams.

Produced for the screen by Hunt Stromberg, who has given the world "Ah Wilderness!" and "Rose Marie" in recent months, the photoplay was directed by William Wellman, whose screen biography includes "Wings," "The Conqueror," "So Big" and "Call of the Wild" among many other hits.

The notable cast includes Binnie Barnes, Lewis Stone, Andy Devine, Elizabeth Patterson, Frank Craven, James Stewart and a score of others.

The story of "Small Town Girl" revolves about Kay Brannan, who lives with her family in Carvel, Massachusetts, and detests the humdrum of small-town life. Everybody expects her to marry Elmer, the telephone man; but one night she meets Bob Dakin, from Boston, who is going home from a football game. They go to a night club where students are celebrating, and before morning they are married at a local Grana Green. Ten minutes later Bob wrecks their car and goes to sleep.

next morning he has no recollection of the marriage, in fact he barely remembers meeting Kay.

Bob is a gentleman and decides to make the best of it. He takes Kay to his aristocratic parents, but turns against her when she confesses she knew what was going on but didn't stop the wedding.

So Kay finds herself in an unhappy plight; her husband has nothing to do with her and keeps up his romance with Priscilla, a society beauty to whom he has been engaged. To keep up appearances Kay and Bob have a kissless honeymoon aboard the Dakin yacht, but Bob and Priscilla agree they'll be married when Bob gets a divorce after a decent interval.

Kay moves through a series of trying experiences, but through her gentle influence Bob quits drinking and devotes himself more to his really brilliant career as a surgeon. One night Kay finds Bob in Priscilla's apartment, forces him to go to the hospital for an important operation, and that same night decides she can bear no more; she goes back to her family in Carvel and resigns herself to forgetting Bob.

Through losing her, Bob learns

Jack Holt Returns to Screen in "Dangerous Waters," Tale of the Sea

Jack Holt, popular star of adventure films will be seen, starting Wednesday of next week, on the Ritz screen in "Dangerous Waters." Lambert Hillyer directed the film for Universal. The story presents the red-blooded triumphs of a brawny man of the sea. In many ways it parallels the recent burning of the Morro Castle, but with a far happier fate for the passengers, and a very different performance by the crew.

The opening scenes show a steamer afire on the roaring Pacific. Billowing smoke and searing flame accentuate fast tempo and heart lifting action. Excitement is heightened by breath catching happenings. The cameraman, Harry Forbes, worked with Hillyer to make these scenes grippingly realistic. They developed a method of photography to cause every person in the audience to feel as if he were on board ship, striving to save his own life.

Jack Holt will be remembered for his excellent performance in "Storm Over the Andes." Grace Bradley, an attractive Hollywood siren, who scored in "Rose of the Rancho" and "Anything Goes," gives an entrancing portrayal in

Miracle Operation Saves Youth After Stabbed in Heart

NEW YORK, July 15.—A young man who was stabbed through the heart without feeling it or even knowing that anything had happened, is described by Dr. Charles M. Watson and Dr. James R. Watson, of Pittsburgh, in a report to the American Medical Association.

The victim was a helper in his father's butcher shop, where he one day got into an argument with another youngster employed as errand boy. This other boy took up a small butcher knife, pressed it against his opponent's chest and asked him how he would like to be stabbed. He actually was stabbed, although neither boy realized it at the time.

The argument stopped and the boy who had been stabbed walked a few steps to another counter. A moment later he felt faint and collapsed.

Examination showed a small stab wound just over his heart, he was rushed to the hospital and placed as quickly as possible on the operating table. Operation showed a stab wound of the heart, cutting several branches of one of the main arteries supplying the heart muscle with blood. A large amount of blood already had run out into the chest.

Following the medical dictum that a physician never should despair, the doctors sewed up the cut heart, mopped some of the blood out of the chest cavity, filtered this blood and returned it to the young man's body by injection into a vein. The result was almost magical. The boy recovered consciousness and ultimately was completely cured.

Medically the Pittsburgh doctors report the case as an example of how useful it may be to pump back into the circulation blood which has been lost in this way into a body cavity. Psychologically the case is an example of how seriously a person may be wounded without feeling pain or knowing of the wound, provided the victim is excited or mentally intent.

Hospitality Said To Have Begun In Selfishness

LONDON, July 15.—An explanation of the virtue of hospitality less flattering to the human species than the traditional theories has been developed by Miss P. Kemp, of the University of London, from studies of the customs and folk lore of peasants in the southern Balkans, especially in Macedonia.

Among these people there prevail the same customs of hospitality as in most other primitive communities. A stranger visiting the village not only is provided with food and lodging, but is entertained in every way with the best that the host possesses. To accept payment for such hospitality is considered a disgrace. To let a stranger go uncares for is still more disgraceful.

Miss Kemp finds, however, that this has nothing to do with generosity or mutual helpfulness. The custom has grown up from different roots, chiefly in connection with primitive theories of medicine and disease. These same theories Miss Kemp finds to account for many other customs and ceremonies of Balkan peasants and probably of other primitive peoples.

The original idea behind the hospitality theory was that the stranger might take away with him the disease demons and other evil spirits which had been plaguing the host's family or village. Perhaps by some dim appreciation of what now is known to be the spread of disease germs by travelers, primitive men formed the idea that disease demons like to travel, but cannot do so except in human company.

If they observe an honored stranger leaving the village they may take a fancy to go along. So lasting are such beliefs that even modern ideas of the duty of hospitality may well go back to similar ideas.

ENGLISH VILLAGE BANS BOMBPROOF SHELTER

LONDON, July 15.—With all the war talk in Europe a bombproof house built underground may be a far sighted idea, but it may be too much so to suit Barnet rural council.

Alan Daly, of Elstree, recently announced that he had been commissioned by a wealthy client to construct the house. But an official of the council says: "I am certain our surveyor would not pass the plans, such a house would offend certain building ordinances."

When told of this, Daly said: "Perhaps we shall have to abandon the project. But I shall submit my drawings to the British ministry of health. The building cost will be about $150,000."

Big Political Rally Scheduled Here Friday Night July 24

A county-wide political rally will be held on the court house lawn in Ballinger Friday night, July 24, to which all candidates are invited and will be given opportunity to talk.

The Ballinger Cherry Band will play a concert beginning at 8 p. m., and the speaking will start at 8:30. A master of ceremonies will introduce the candidates and give them a limited time to present their platforms. As much time as possible will be allowed office seekers who have opposition. Several district candidates are expected to be present and deliver talks that will be worth hearing. A public address system will be installed in the speaker's stand so everyone on the lawn may hear the candidates make their appeals for votes the following day.

All voters in Runnels county are invited to attend this rally and enjoy the evening in the cool park. The entire program will be short enough not to be tiresome. J. D. Motley, secretary of the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce, is perfecting arrangements for the rally and will have everything necessary provided for a successful political "pot boiling."

Operation Fatal For Mrs. Walker; Well Known Here

Mrs. J. A. Walker, 73, prominent Texas club woman and philanthropist, and long time resident of Brownwood, died in Jamestown, New York, Saturday morning following a serious operation Friday morning. Only meager details of her illness have reached here to date. Mr. and Mrs. Walker had been at their summer home in Chautauque, New York, for several weeks.

A brief funeral service was held at Jamestown Tuesday afternoon, the body placed in a vault there, and will be held until early next fall when it will be shipped to Brownwood for interment. The First National Bank and the Walker-Smith Company here were closed after 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in respect to Mrs. Walker, whose husband is a stockholder in the two local institutions.

Mrs. Walker was known throughout the state for the philanthropic activities of herself and husband and for her associations with the Daughters of the American Revolution. She was a native Texan and had resided at Brownwood since 1899, when she and her husband moved there from Colorado, Texas. Besides the husband, a daughter, Mrs. T. E. Edwards, of Bronxville, New York, survives.

Decedent was a member of the Baptist church and made large financial contributions to worthy organizations and schools. She and her husband had a great interest in Howard Payne College, and recently established a student loan fund which has helped many young people to attend college.

Mr. Walker visits here often on business and has many personal friends in Ballinger and surrounding territory.

Commission Passes Anti-Noise Law To Curb 'Speakers'

In its meeting July 7 the city commission passed an ordinance which makes it unlawful to operate loud speakers on Ballinger streets when such noise creates a nuisance and fixes a fine not to exceed $100. Each day of such operation constitutes a separate offense.

The complete ordinance is published elsewhere in this issue of The Ledger and citizens are invited to read it carefully and be advised of the provisions.

The operation of loud speakers on the streets in other cities is said to have created disturbances which caused the passing of similar ordinances. In many of the cities the ordinance applies to disturbances in the residential sections where radios are operated so loud neighbors cannot sleep.

The ordinance here refers to apparatus or instruments which amplify sound or the human voice within the city limits of Ballinger for the purpose of advertising or attracting attention to travelers on the streets or highways, thereby causing annoyance, inconvenience and discomfort. Offenders will be guilty of maintaining a common and public nuisance and may be fined as stated above.

The new ordinance is passed as an emergency measure and becomes a law as soon as published.

4,844 Poll Tax Holders May Vote in '36 Election

There were 349 more poll taxes issued in Runnels county this year than in 1934 when a record vote was cast in the first primary. This year there will be 4,844 eligible voters by the poll tax route while in 1934 there were 4,495. Poll tax payers this year plus the "overs" and "unders," will make the possible total more than 6,500.

The usual rules will prevail in the primary July 25, voters showing their poll tax receipts or signing affidavits that they have been lost. "Unders" must present their exemption certificates and "overs" may vote by proving their age.

Tickets prepared for the boxes allow one and a half the number of poll taxes shown in each precinct. Ample other supplies are provided for the use of the election managers and clerks.

A new provision of the law that has been in force for the past two years specifies that tabulations of each box must be made and reported to the county chairman or his representative, as quickly as possible, incomplete returns being reported if asked for by the county chairman or a newspaper reporter. In this county The Ledger has been delegated to compile the returns and all election managers advised by the county chairman to report by telephone as soon as the complete tabulations are ready.

Teacher Elected By Local Board; Work Progressing

At a meeting of the Ballinger school board Monday night Miss Clara Guinn, of Abilene, was elected a member of the faculty of the local schools. Miss Guinn will take the position made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Lola B. Richie, of Brownwood, who was elected at the close of the past school year, but resigned two weeks ago to take another position.

Miss Guinn has a degree, has taught for several years, and was re-elected at the place where she taught last year.

The board discussed a number of other business matters but left the details in the hands of the committees handling them. Good progress is being made on the improvements at the negro school which include an additional room.

The athletic committee reported that steel had been contracted for the bleacher seats at the football field and that a contract would be let this week for the foundation and other construction. Bids have been received from four concerns for lighting the field and this contract will be let within a few days. The lighting equipment will be shipped here and installed by the West Texas Utilities Company and will be ready for the first game of the season.

The only other work being done this summer is improving the campus and watering lawns and shrubs. The sod on the athletic field is being cared for and will be even better than last year, the first year the grass field was used.

It was 2 a. m. when the club telephone rang, and a bachelor member answered it.

Angry Feminine Voice: "Is my husband there?" Bachelor: "No, he's gone home."

Voice (snapping): "How do you know? I didn't even tell you his name!" Bachelor: "You didn't need to. When this phone rang every married man in the place grabbed his hat and ducked out."

A Busted Monopoly

A little girl, eight years old, had been the pet of the family. Everyone made much of her, but when there was a new little baby brother she felt rather neglected.

"How are you, Mary?" a visitor asked of her one afternoon. "Oh, I'm all right," she said, "except that I think there is too much competition in this world."

Handshake Symbolizes Coalition

Here are Dr. Francis E. Townsend, left, and the Rev. Gerald K. Smith, pictured shaking hands on the speakers' platform at a meeting of Townsendsites in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. Smith, who is carrying on with the late H. Key Long's Share-the-Wealth campaign, and Dr. Townsend also have joined hands in the political wars.

Olfen Club Boys Stage Successful Supper, Dance

Olfen 4-H club boys sponsored an ice cream supper and dance Sunday night to raise money to carry on their program for the remainder of the summer and early fall. Many from the surrounding county were present until a late hour and the boys did a nice business with their ice cream, pop and other refreshments and entertainment. Candidates were introduced but not given time for talks.

The Olfen club is the largest in the county with a membership of 42. The members will begin a pig feeding project within a short time, ten of the boys engaging in this work. They expect to make entries in the Centennial exposition at Dallas next fall and also enter the best animals in other livestock shows in this section.

County Agent John A. Barton was introduced at the affair Sunday night and made a short talk on club work and what other boys in the county were doing at this time.

W. J. Halfmann is adult club leader at Olfen and is doing splendid work for the organization.

Two dance halls were operated Sunday evening, one for the older people and another for the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lynn and daughters returned Sunday evening from Dallas, where they visited relatives and attended the Centennial exposition.

Managers and Clerks Appointed for First Democratic Primary

Election managers and assistants have been appointed for the Democratic primaries and have received instructions for conducting the election on July 25. All voting boxes will be marked with rope where electioneering must cease. Managers will receive the ballot boxes and other materials within the next few days.

The polls will open at 8 a. m. and will close promptly at 7 p. m. after which tabulations will be made quickly. Most of the boxes have sufficient assistants employed and counting will commence Saturday morning, July 25, as soon as a considerable number of votes have been cast and will be continued through the day so that it will not take long after the polls close to get the results. The complete tabulations for Runnels county are expected to be in not later than midnight.

YOUNG MCGREGOR WINS IN AMATEUR CONTEST

A letter received here from Chief Chester Cherry, who is attending the state firemen's school at College Station, stated that Alexander McGregor "hit a home run" in the amateur contest held at the annual banquet and won first place in a field of 25 performers.

The contest was similar to the Major Bowes amateur hour with departments from all over the state each furnishing a number. The Ballinger department selected young McGregor to represent it and he played a cornet solo. The lad took first honors and will receive a nice cash award for his performance.

Alexander is a member of the Ballinger Cherry Band and plays cornet in the orchestra during the school year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McGregor.

Mrs. C. W. Cheatham and children are at home after a two weeks' stay in Christoval.

Mrs. Wood was one of the last six charter members of the Old Settlers and Ex-Open Range Cowpunchers' Association which has held annual meetings on her ranch until this year when the gathering was cancelled on account of her physical condition.

Mrs. Edna Lillian Wood was born in Colorado county, Texas, on September 7, 1868. She was married to L. P. Wood on December 23, 1896, at Runnels, then the county site of Runnels county, and the couple resided near there the remainder of their lives. Mr. Wood died several years ago.
Decedent was very active in religious and social activities of the county site in the early days and was a faithful member of the Presbyterian church. Her membership was in the Eighth Street Presbyterian Church of Ballinger at the time of her death.

Ten children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Wood, nine of whom are living and were present at the funeral. A son died in infancy. Surviving children are: Mrs. Blanche Routh, Ballinger; Mrs. Willie McFarland, Mineral Wells; Mrs. Gertrude Vandevanter, San Angelo; Mrs. Francis Allen, Mrs. Kathleen Windham and Mrs. Corine Stokes, Ballinger; Kimble Wood, Van Horn; Pat and Wesley Wood, Ballinger. An adopted son, Horace Murphy, of Ballinger, also survives. Other survivors include 21 grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. M. J. Burks, Abilene.

He was a member of the C. R. J. K. T. Lodge No. 76 and of St. Joseph's Church. His wife preceded him in death in 1927.

Survivors include two daughters, Misses Annie and Frances Fejfar, of Rowena; a son, Joe Fejfar, of Rowena; two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Smith, of Eric, Oklahoma, three sons, Perry Graves, of Hedrick, Oklahoma; Jeff Graves, of Elmer, Oklahoma; and Will Graves, of Crystal Springs, Texas; two half-brothers, Will and Arch Moore, of Quitman; two half-sisters, Mrs. Ike Browning and Mrs. Maude Bellamy, both of Stout, Wise county; and one sister, Mrs. Allen, with whom she had made home for the past two years.
