Big Ed Norton was on the hill for the Cats and turned in one of his best exhibitions of the year. He held the invaders to six base blows, one very scratchy, and another an automatic when a batted ball struck a base runner. He whiffed seven men and was in o peril only twice during the eve-

Charlie D. English Issues Statement To Ballinger Fans

Charlie English, former manager of the Ballinger baseball club, left Saturday for his home at Fort Worth and has requested The Ledger to make the following statement for him:

"I would appreciate you letting the public know the true feeling I have regarding the change of management in the Ballinger baseball club.

"The directors of the club have all been with me and we part on the best of terms. My only regret is that I could not have a winner for the fine baseball fans of this city.

"The club has lived up to my contract to the letter and no ill feeling exists between myself and any member of the board.

"When a club is losing, it's only natural that some changes be made and I want to wish my successor the best of luck. I have enjoyed living in your fine city and trust that I have made more friends than enemies."

"I have decided that it is best for me to take a rest before going on another job. My health has not been too good the past two months and a vacation will no doubt provide me with some recreation other than baseball.

"I want to thank you for your cooperation and I leave the city of Ballinger with the best wishes for your baseball team and your fine fans.

"Very truly yours,
"Charlie D. English."

The new owners took over on

Compare This Record With Any Plant

Test runs in my plant prove that if clothing (such as being received at this time for cleaning) were dry cleaned in dry cleaning solvent without any type of cleaning aid added, 50% of them would have to be wet cleaned to make presentable.

With the process I am using less than 6% of the garments have to be wet cleaned. We are forced to wet clean this small per cent because of being too saturated with food and drink stains or ground-in soil caused by excessive wear before cleaning.

I am sorry that I have been unable to find any process that will cut wet cleaning in men's every-day work slacks and sport shirts to a percentage this small because of their condition when received. No garment is wet cleaned unless condition of same forces us to do so.

Our process is ODORLESS and there is nothing about it to cause change of color.

As a result it was the most successful clean-up ever staged in the city. Cooperation was given by nearly everybody and when some 7,000 people join in a single effort it goes far to accomplish the results desired. Congratulations to the health committee of the chamber of commerce, the city commission, the firemen and all citizens of Ballinger on a job well done and one that should reap benefits in better health.

The sidewalk population in Ballinger was a little thin the past week but where traffic fell off here it increased in small grain fields of the county. Every available combine has been operated full hours and many acres of oats have been cut for feed bins and storage. There is still much work to be done but with weather conditions favorable the job will be accomplished in short order. Implement house crews have been forced to night hours and Sundays in order to service combines and reapers. Automobile houses have kept trucks going and everybody is working together to make hay while the sun shines. The oats yield has been all that was expected but wheat in some fields has been a disapppointment. Oats have ranged from 40 to 100

Just how high is "HIGH BUICK FIREBAL COMPRESSION" THE LABOR TO SERVICE

WHEN the talk turns to cars and car engines these days, that's a topic you hear much about.

So it's fairly interesting to note that, even back before the war, Buick engines like this one were touring the testing grounds with compressions as high as 10 to 1.

Even later than that this same big Buick power plant has been filling our engineers' notebooks with data on 8 to 1 compression ratios. What has come out of this? Two or three interesting points.

First of all, that this big Buick Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight already has a compression ratio that gets as much out of present fuels as any engine on the market.

> Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR ABC Network, every Monday evening

Next, that these ratios can readily be stepped up to fit higher octane gasolines as they become available.

And probably most important of all, that high compression is only one measurement of a good engine.

There's the fundamental matter of engine efficiency-power output per cubic inch of displacement, engineers call it. On that score, Buick stands where it always has-just about tops

Which means, in very simple words-better go see for yourself.

TENTH AND HUTCHINGS - BALLINGER, TEXAS

Excerpt of Address to NINTH COTTON RESEARCH CONGRESS

at Dallas, Texas, 1948 By DR. H. G. JOHNSON, Department of Entomology, A. & M. College of Texas

Quote

"It should be borne in mind, however, that these new insecticides should not be considered as miraculous "cure-alls." Although they are superior in many respects to the older insecticides, they must still be used at the right time and at regular intervals if profitable control is to be obtained. All applications for boll weevil and boll worm should be made at 5-day intervals as long as the infestation persists. Control of the boll worm is particularly dependent upon the proper timing of insecticide applications because the small worms feed on the small squares in the terminal buds and are comparatively easy to kill. When the worms are larger and enter the bolls to feed they are much more difficult to kill.

"It has been evident for a number of years that our cotton insect control recommendations were too complicated for most cotton farmers to follow successfully. This was due to the extremely variable nature of the insect pests attacking cotton and the fact that several different insecticides and combinations must be used for their control. As a result our recommendations have read something like this-If this happens, do that; if that happens, do this; and if both happen, do something else. The average cotton farmer was never too certain about what was happening and as a result was always guessing whether he should do anything; and if so, what? Consequently, he usually did nothing, or if he did anything he usually did it too late. Results obtained were very erratic and often disappointing. In spite of twenty-five years of intensive educational programs, conditions have improved but little so far as a majority of the cotton farmers are concerned."

Contrast the above confusion and expensive uncertainty with Mechanized Insect Control as follows:

Mount your Bug Catcher with your cultivator when the cotton has a half dozen leaves regardless of how much or what kind of infestation. "It Puts Them in the Bag." As the bags are filled, kill the insects with tractor fuel. Keep this up every time you cultivate. Produce more cotton and save your money.
