Judge Leslie Thomas Speaks to Rotarians on Foard Co. Hospital

County Judge Leslie Thomas gave members of the Rotary Club some interesting figures on the Foard County Hospital at the meeting of the club last Wednesday.

Out of $109,660.83 collected by the hospital last year, total expenditures were $104,500. In addition, the hospital cared for all the charity cases in the county also.

Salaries and fees to operate the local hospital are about $5,500 per month. The hospital has two administrators, Mrs. Betty Gafford and Mrs. Mary Ford; three registered nurses, eleven Licensed Vocational Nurses and four student nurses.

In 1963, a total of 54 babies were born in the hospital, while 19 persons died in the hospital. The hospital has 23 beds, and last year had a total of 4,394 patient days. Judge Thomas stated that this was a 54.95 per cent occupancy figure. He further added that hospitals must have at least a 50 per cent occupancy to break even financially.

All local fans are urged to accompany the team to Knox City tonight.

First Certificate and Diversion Payment Is Made

Foard County's first certificate and diversion payment in the voluntary 1964 wheat program was made July 21 to Tom F. Russell of Crowell, one of the wheat producers cooperating in the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service program.

Ray Hysinger, Foard ASC chairman, revealed that Mr. Russell received a check for $1,459.23 under the 1964 legislation designed to help maintain wheat grower income while avoiding any increase in government costs in the program.

Besides diversion payments, domestic and export marketing certificates are also issued with a domestic certificate having a value of 70 cents a bushel, and export value of 25 cents.

The case value of certificates is in addition to the market price or local loan value. Market prices in Texas have been ranging from $1.50 to $1.37. Loan values vary because of premiums and discounts for quality with the basic loan value for Foard County being $1.29.

It is expected that payments totaling $477,172.00 will be made to wheat producers in Foard County.

Any grower who stays within his 1964 wheat allotment is eligible for price support loan or purchase of the wheat from his individual farm. All participants in the program signed up on a voluntary basis and diverted acres from wheat production. Diverted acres are used for a variety of conservation practices applicable to individual counties.

Teenage Driver Education Needs Parents' Help

Thanks to driver education classes, your teenage son or daughter can be taught the knowledge required to drive safely, and be made aware of the sense of responsibility which goes with the privilege of owning a driver's license. But getting the teenage driver to accept these responsibilities cannot be achieved without parents' help.

How good a driver your teenager eventually becomes will depend heavily on what you teach him — not only about the rules of highway safety, but also about sensible car care. As a parent, you should remember that the teenager who understands how an automobile is built and what makes it run is less likely to mistreat a car or drive it recklessly.

To help develop the sense of responsibility characteristic of good drivers, it is wise — early in your teenager's driving career — to give him responsibility for maintenance and servicing of the family car.

Introduce your youngsters to your regular mechanic or auto service man soon after they start driving, and arrange for them to spend some time with the mechanic when your car is being serviced. If your son is mechanically minded, this will quicken his interest in keeping the family car in top operating condition. Even if he isn't especially interested, he will inevitably learn much of value from a resourceful mechanic that he would not learn elsewhere.

One of the shortest routes to an understanding of what makes a car run is through a first-hand knowledge of lubrication. Lubrication determines the condition, performance and life of every moving part in a car's engine and chassis, and a knowledge of lubrication shows the way to prevention of most of the potential troubles that can cut operating efficiency, cause unexpected breakdowns, or even costly repairs.

Under the wing of a good mechanic your teenage driver can learn the need and reasons for proper motor oil change practice. He will find out how motor oil changes at regular intervals prevent buildup of harmful sludge and varnish, and prevent corrosion that can raise havoc inside the precision-built power plant under the hood. He will learn that to keep the car's engine running better, cleaner and longer it is best to change motor oil every 30 days in winter and every 60 days in summer, as recommended by the American Petroleum Institute.

When it comes to chassis lubrication, a competent mechanic will show the interested teenager just how important it is to check underparts, such as steering linkage, wheel bearings, universal joint, transmission and differential to see that they are properly lubricated, as prescribed by the car manufacturer. And while the car is on the service station lift, the teenage driver can watch the mechanic's thorough routine in safety-checking the steering, brakes, tires, muffler, shock absorbers and fluid lines for leaks.

Through this first-hand experience with automotive lubrication, your teenage driver will be on his way, with your continued encouragement, to the sense of prideful responsibility essential in a safe and proficient driver.

pay tribute to the history of the state. Men, women and children—about three times as many children as parents, it seems—literally crowd the Capitol's halls, their numbers reaching as many as 1,200 a day.

One of the most popular stops on the informal tour (there are no guides) of State buildings is the State Archives and Library, just across a walkway from the Capitol.

There, renowned artists Peter Hurd and his son-in-law, Peter Rogers, are executing a mural of Texas' history, featuring remarkable likenesses of Stephen F. Austin, Sam Houston and Anson Jones, as well as Davy Crockett and William B. Travis. The mural depicts the conquistador as well as the cowboy.

Visitors are invited to pull up a chair and watch the artists at work, and they do. They are also treated to a newly-arranged recreation of a room from Gov. Elisha Pease's (1853-57, 1867-69) mansion. Furniture was donated to the archives when former Gov. Allan Shivers bought the venerable mansion.

MAKING WAY FOR 1990—A large number of Texas cities with populations of less than 50,000 are planning now for the year 1990 by developing a blueprint for progress under a Federal-local program being administered by the State Health Department.

Under this program, a city can obtain studies of current facilities in every area from economic and sociological needs to budgeting for capital improvements. The Housing and Home Finance agency makes grants for the master plans and the city pays one-third the cost, while the Federal agency pays two-thirds.

A typical town under study is the West Texas city of Winters, which has a population of 3,200 and will spend $4,845 toward a $13,365 master plan.

So far, 109 cities have enrolled in the planning project to see where they can go and how they can get there over the next 25 years.

PUBLIC PIER — Parks and Wildlife Department will advertise a second time for bids for concession rights on the new state fishing pier at Port Lavaca. Only one person submitted a bid July 1 after 13 said they were interested.

The 3,200-foot-long pier, which replaced one destroyed by Hurricane Carla, is said to be the world's longest fishing pier. Access to it will be free to the public, but the department is trying to provide a source of bait, soft drinks and fishing gear via a concessionaire contract.

ANIMAL HEALTH HEAD CHANGE DUE — Texas Animal Health Commission will decide on July 27 on a new commission director to replace Dr. R. C. Garrett of Taylor who plans to resign.

Decision will be made at a meeting to be hosted by Chairman Ed Knolle of Sandia at his Knolle Jersey Farm in Jim Wells County. Knolle said there have been several "well-qualified" applicants for the post, but declined to list them. However, it has been rumored that a staff veterinarian with the commission, Dr. S. B. Walker, will be favored.

BRUCellosis PROGRAM BLOCKED — Animal Health Commission postponed to September a decision on whether to let a Type II brucellosis control program be set up in one part of Brooks County.

Commission has been informed that many Brooks County producers want to organize a program, but the King Ranch which has 3,991 of the 16,000 head of cattle on county tax rolls does not. Approval of the owners of 75 per cent of the cattle in a county is necessary so the proponents want to organize a program in just the soil conservation district which covers all of the county except King Ranch property.

Commission said it lacked sufficient information for a decision at this time.

WEST TEXAS SCHOOL—West Texas cities that want to be home to a new West Texas school for the mentally retarded will have to wait until at least September 14 to learn which will be chosen.

Chairman of the Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools' site selections committee, C. E. Bentley of Abilene, said his committee will report to the board on that date. However, Bentley did not say that the committee will make a definite recommendation on a single site at that time.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT—Texas Industrial Commission is boasting in the July issue of Texas Parade Magazine that 27 new plants were announced in Texas in May. Map used to illustrate the new industry points out quite prominently the fact that while the Dallas-Fort Worth area gained 12 of these new plants, seven were located in Panhandle towns and six others were in other small towns.

Commission announced that Patrick J. Ryan of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and Sylvan R. Lange of Greater Marshall Industries have been approved for the first year class at the Industrial Development Institute in Norman, Oklahoma.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULINGS—Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr ruled that a county election board must furnish voting booths for all polling places within each city of 10,000 or more inhabitants.

Carr also ruled that a county clerk does not have authority to charge the fee for releasing of a chattel mortgage or lien on personal property at the time such mortgage is filed.

VETERANS' COMMISSION — State Auditor C. H. Caynes reports that the Veterans' Affairs Commission helped Texas veterans and their dependents and survivors obtain $93,591,000 in benefits during the year which ended August 31, 1963.

Commissioners are John E. McKelvey of Electra; Justin M. Morrow, Rotan; J. Walter Janko, Somerville; Joe F. Ramsey Jr., Houston; and Charles C. Ford, Longview.

Vernon Scout Describes Scout Jamboree Trip

By Ross Serold of Vernon

Valley Forge, Pa. — The Boy Scouts to the 1964 Jamboree are having a wonderful time. Even though the first day was twelve hours of riding, everyone was wide awake and rearing to go. The tour director, Mr. Pete Spoons, has citizen band radio communication set up between the buses. We talked to the CB's in the areas we passed through. We talked to people in Marshall, Texas, Shreveport, La., Vicksburg, Miss., Bremen, Ga., and Atlanta, Ga.

In Vicksburg we toured the Vicksburg Battlegrounds. Every one thoroughly enjoyed the commentary given to us by the Park Ranger. He told the story of how the battle of Vicksburg was a turning point of the Civil War.

We arrived in Washington Thursday. We toured Arlington Cemetery and visited the grave of President Kennedy. From the Iwo Jima Memorial we had a wonderful view of the city of Washington. We arrived at the ship to be met by a "full white dress" Navy crew. We feel very lucky because we can stay on the destroyer U.S.S. Robert F. Keller. We are the only Scouts who get to stay with the Navy. The crew is giving us the run of the ship. We eat in the galley with members of the crew, sleep with them, and become eighty commanders of the ship.

We continue the tour of the Washington area by going to see the White House. Congressman Graham Purcell had a private tour arranged for us. Though he departed for Alaska, he left his top aid, Norman Duncan, former news chief of Chancel 3, to guide us around Washington.

We felt very lucky because the line to get into the White House was nearly 7 blocks long. Mr. Duncan then took us on a private tour of the Capitol. We had the privilege of occupying seats on the floor of the House of Representtatives. All of us got to sit in the Speaker of the House's chair.

Mr. Duncan then took us to the old Senate and Supreme Court chamber. This room was last used in 1859. The Senators had brought mattresses into this room during the filibuster on the Civil Rights Bill so that during the breaks, they could catch a nap. We then viewed the Senate Chamber. This concluded the tour of the Capitol.

We then visited the present Supreme Court building. It is said to be the most perfectly designed (building) from the standpoint of architecture and the best building in Washington. It houses one of the only self-supporting constructed staircases in the world. It contains no concrete or steel.

Mr. Duncan then took us to the Library of Congress. Two of everything that is printed and copyrighted is housed in this building. We viewed one of the four perfect copies of the Bible done in hand manuscript. The book, produced in 1300, was done in 13 months by one man. We saw the Gutenberg Bible and the original Magna Carta.

We also saw the original Declaration of Independence written by Thomas Jefferson. This was submitted on July 2, 1776, and after some changes, was accepted on July 4. The Declaration which John Hancock signed so that "King George III could see it without his specks" was completed some 15 days after the original declaration was approved.

After dinner in the House cafeteria, we went to the FBI Building. We observed a demonstration of the .38 caliber revolver and the Eliot Ness-Thompson sub machine gun.

After supper aboard the ship, we went back to Iwo Jima Memorial and witnessed a very impressive ceremony of the lowering of the colors by the Marines. The ceremony was the best part of the trip that we have so far experienced. Everything was done in precise order with a special exhibition given by one of the corps. The ceremony, viewed by nearly 1200 people, was done in full dress uniforms. This highlight, done every Tuesday night, should not be missed by anyone. The view of Washington from the Washington monument gave each of us a feeling of pride in being Americans.

When we returned to the ship, the crew was still up and had the lights still on even though "lights out" had already passed. They even let us sleep past reveille the following morning.

When we left the ship, we presented members of the crew with a cow's tail which they immediately hoisted onto the main staff high above the ship.

After saluting the crew, we left for our week at the Jamboree. Though we arrived two days early, the Jamboree encampment was nearly half full. It is a very impressive sight to see the colored tents grow into a city 50,000 strong. Our first meal at the Jamboree after setting up, was very good, considering the conditions—a first time for nearly everyone.

The first week of our wonderful trip left many impressions in the minds of the boys. They will be an experience that never will be forgotten by the Jamboree Boy Scouts.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—A costly plan for "catching up" with other states in the field of higher education has been outlined to Texans by the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School.

It will take considerable money to accomplish just one of the major tests of excellence in education—bringing Texas faculty salaries up to the national average. More is needed for libraries and research facilities.

To help achieve goals in those three fields, the committee recommended that further college construction be delayed. By using present classrooms and laboratories more hours a day and more days a year, this saving can be accomplished, the committee felt.

Gov. John Connally conceded that it will take new taxes to finance the program which he has termed his No. 1 interest. Neither he nor the committee recommended a financing plan. Committee did say the Legislature should double college tuition, so students and their parents would share more of the cost of education.

Plan calls for expansion of the junior college system, and wide use of vocational training to prepare students for skilled and semi-skilled technical jobs in industry.

Coordination, to eliminate duplication between state colleges, would be placed in the hands of an 18-member board appointed by the governor. Board would take over duties of the present junior college division of the Texas Education Agency and the Commission on Higher Education. This would put junior and senior college and university supervision in a single group.

Goal would be to make junior college training available to all, and to raise its level of excellence so all junior college credits would be immediately transferable to senior colleges.

Committee, headed by H. B. Zachry, San Antonio construction executive, is taking its case to the public in a series of meetings with business leaders in their communities.

CUT AGAIN—Another 28,602-barrel cut in daily oil allowables was ordered by the Texas Railroad Commission as it held August production to 26.5 per cent of the capability of the wells. Two large purchasers complained they are over-supplied with oil and unable to sell it.

"For by grace are ye saved, through faith, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God; not of works lest any man should boast. For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath ordained that we should walk in them" (Eph. 2:8-10).

Grape Arbor on Busy Road Shades Moonshiner's Still

Paris, Texas, (Spl.)—A little, old moonshiner who plied his trade within sight of the well-traveled Lake Gibbons Road has had Hopewell community folks scratching their heads in amazement.

The bootlegger set up operations on the old John Gambill homestead, right where the house once stood.

He cooked with butane gas under the grape arbor and used an abandoned storm cellar to store his mash.

That is, until lawmen swooped down on the weed-grown place. The moonshiner escaped, but his cooker was still warm.

Supervisor Sherman McBeath and Inspector Perry Hickerson joined Constable Scott Dollins in confiscating the still. The site was only seven miles from downtown Paris.

McBeath said the still's operation turned himself in Friday and paid a $200 fine after pleading guilty to charges of possessing the still.

Confiscated in the raid were some 200 gallons of mash, neatly stored in a concrete-floored storm cellar; a 55-gallon steel cooking pot; butane burner and tanks; thump keg, copper coil, fruit jars and a supply of grain used in the mash. The still was capable of turning out 12 gallons of moonshine whiskey per day, worth $35 at wholesale bootleg prices.

The lawmen were amazed that the still could operate without discovery so near a well-traveled road. It had been in operation some six months, judging from the condition of the area.

"White lightning" tipplers might be interested in the unique method the distiller utilized in straining the finished whiskey. He used a worn felt hat, saturated with hair oil, to take out the dregs.

Pardon vs. Justification

Did you read, recently, about the man, named Zimmerman, who spent nearly twenty-five years in prison for a murder which, it is now clear, he never committed? The mistake was discovered two years ago, and he was released, of course, but only after spending almost a quarter century in prison as an innocent man!

This was a grim mistake, but even at that, it must be wonderful in such a case, to be free—and to have people actually sympathize with you! Yet, after two years of liberty, Zimmerman says he still feels a bit numb. Waking up mornings he still imagines he hears the harsh sound of the prison bell, and looking about he still thinks he sees bars on the windows.

Things could be worse though: Suppose he were guilty of the crime, merely pardoned and released. Then every one would be saying: "There goes that murderer. They pardoned him. Don't get too friendly with him." The stigma would always remain—as long as he lived.

Let us thank God that believers in Christ are not merely pardoned. Rom. 3:24 declares that we are "justified freely by God's grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus."

Christ died for our sins and

"...and gentlemen, POWER is available"

This is a matter-of-fact statement when larger cities attempt to attract new industry. But what about in the rural areas. Yes . . . power is available there, too, largely because of Electric Cooperatives. And your Electric Cooperative is vitally interested in helping smaller communities develop industries in rural areas around them. Rural electrification will continue to help upgrade rural living standards and economy . . . resulting in more jobs, greater output, better schools . . . and all the things that modern power helps provide.

Game Status Termed Normal at Mid-Year

The Texas animal kingdom at mid-summer has an overall robust status, but some remedies will be in order before it can pass a complete fall physical.

Here's the way E. A. Walker, assistant director for wildlife for the Parks and Wildlife Department, sizes up the outlook:

Deer as numerous as ever, and apparently thriving despite hardship pockets caused by drought.

Wild turkey had a good hatch in most sections and seem adequate.

Quail are generally plentiful but continued extreme dryness during remaining hot months could be costly.

Mourning dove seemingly increase over last year. White-winged doves have rallied from low count last year.

Antelope numbers are down based on first West Texas census, but next count awaited to determine regulations.

Walker said the fall harvest, based on present indications will be average or better.

"It now looks like another good deer season," he said. "But as every hunter knows, this is a critical time and a great deal depends on weather conditions from now until fall. There is no question that our deer population (estimated at 2,225,000) is healthy. But some parts of Texas are still very dry. It's simply a matter of enough food and water to sustain the herds, particularly in the heaviest populated areas."

Walker said both the ground nesting game birds—wild turkey and quail—seem to have had a good hatch. "Quail are more sensitive to weather changes, however, and we just never know until the summer extremes are over," he said.

Walker said most sections report a higher mourning dove population than last year. "Again," he added, "it's up to the weather now."

He said there is a definite upturn along the Mexican border in the whitewing population which sagged last year, prompting a closed season.

Fish Baiting Does the Job

Making the fish come to you instead of the reverse is perfectly legitimate in Texas waters, according to Marion Toole, coordinator of inland fisheries for the Parks and Wildlife Department.

And here's one official suggestion to accomplish the conquest as made by Toole in acknowledging an inquiry from an Austin man:

"There are two or three different methods of attracting fish. One is to cut quite a large amount of fresh willows which are wired together to form some large mats. These are weighted with rocks and submerged, piling mat upon mat to create brush about four feet high. This will bring in minnows, sunfish and crappie.

"Some people buy bales of alfalfa hay which they sink by attaching large rocks to the bales. These of course will also produce basic fish food that will attract minnows and small fish which in turn will attract larger fish that can prey on the smaller fish.

"Cotton seed meal can be used, but its attraction is one of providing food. It is usually submerged in a burlap sack that is not too closely woven so that the fish by sucking on the sack can get some of the cotton seed bits, attracting minnows and also attracting some of the sucker type fish such as carp.

"Some people buy cotton seed cakes, which is the meal that is pressed into hard cakes. The cake is attached to rocks and submerged and fish will naturally nibble on the cake until they consume all of the cotton seed meal. For catching carp, people usually soak some dried corn and just as it starts to ferment it is poured into the water."

Will Be Cracking the Whip

"Your tranquilizer pills may cause you not to worry about the future of this nation, your businesses, your families and your schools, and they may even make the chains lighter—I don't really know. But the guys who don't take 'em will be cracking the whip."—Covington, La., Farmer.

"There is a strong suspicion

 . . . President Johnson was photographed sitting on the steps of the David Marlow home near Rocky Mount, N. C., chatting with the Marlows and surrounded by their seven fine-looking, neatly-dressed youngsters. The accompanying news story developed the sad tale of the family of nine eking out an existence on $1,500 a year. The story, as clarified by the Charlotte, N. C. Observer, is that $1,500 is the profit Mr. Mar-

 Better, our President should visit

Star-spangled way to help your baby's future

Suppose somebody had started off your future with a U. S. Savings Bond. And kept adding more Bonds as your birthdays added up.

Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. You don't have to wait for a birthday, either.

You would have had a nice send-off when you set out to conquer the world!

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- You get back $4 for every $3
 at maturity (7 1/4 years)
- You pay no state or local income tax and can defer the federal tax until the Bonds are cashed
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- You can get your money when you need it

Buy E Bonds for growth—
 H Bonds for current income

It's still a great idea. And if you have any new boys or girls in the family you can put it into action now.

The cost is small. Only $37.50 for each $50 Bond—or less than 11¢ a day to buy one every birthday.

U. S. Savings Bonds will save more than money for your baby's future, too. They'll help Uncle Sam safeguard his future freedom.

Too Old to Follow Line of Reasoning

"There is a Bureau of the Public Debt—a branch of the Treasury Department. It costs $18,000,000 a year to run the department and it has 2,645 employees which draw $15,600,000 of that amount. But as yet have never seen mention of a Bureau for Paying the Public Debt! Instead, we hear talk about how the larger our debt becomes the better off we are becoming because there are so many more people who are receiving more dollars per year than ever before. So, as long as we get to handle more money it doesn't matter what the debt becomes—or how little the dollar may be worth in terms of buying power. It's awful to be so old that we can't follow this line of reasoning!"—Salem, Ind., Leader.

THE INFORMATION EXPLOSION—J. A. Caldwell, research scientist at the Houston Research Center of Humble Oil & Refining Company, has a problem. He and others like him cannot possibly keep their heads above the mounting tide of technical literature. The seven complete 24-volume sets of Encyclopaedia Britannica that surround him here represent the amount of scientific information published around the world every 24 hours. Keeping up with this scientific "paper storm" is one of the great challenges facing government and industry today. Companies and industries in Houston are considering plans to establish a unique Technical Information Center to serve industrial scientists and engineers in the thriving Gulf Coast area. The clearing house would benefit individuals and both small and large businesses.

Q and A YOUR SAVINGS BOND QUIZ

Question: I own some Series E bonds bought in August, 1944. I required to turn them in for redemption in August of this year?

Answer: Absolutely not. Series E bonds bought between May, 1941, and May, 1949, have been given two 10-year extension periods which, in effect, make them 30-year bonds. You can continue to hold your bonds and earn interest at a straight 3 3/4 per cent, compounded semi-annually on the basis of their present value, for at least another 10 years.

Question: Is the Federal income tax on the accrued interest on Series E bonds deducted at the time they are cashed?

Answer: No. You are requested to list your taxpayer identification number (usually your social security number) when you redeem an E bond, but this is not mandatory. You would list the accrued interest on your regular income tax return for the year in which you cashed the bond. But, remember: this interest is not subject to state or local income taxes.

Question: I purchased two bonds for other people, only to discover that I had been victimized by a chain letter scheme. What can I do with the bonds now?

Answer: You are lucky you learned so quickly. The Treasury does not condone sale of Savings Bonds in connection with a chain letter scheme. Your recourse is

THIRTY YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the Thursday, July 26, 1934, issue of The Foard County News:

O. J. Weaver of Fort Worth, independent oil operator, has obtained a block of 4,320 acres on the J. W. Wishon and K. N. Hapgood ranch just west of Crowell.

While leaving a small theatre in Chicago Sunday night, John Dillinger, U. S. public enemy No. 1, met death in the same manner that he had meted it to numerous others, but this time it was the Indiana bad man who was a target for bullets fired from revolvers of Federal officers. A double-crossing "girl friend" of the desperado led him to his death.

Cooperation of the people of Crowell in using city water as conservatively as possible is requested by the City Council.

Rev. Hubert Thomson, pastor of the Methodist Church at Tolbert, will do the preaching for a revival at the Crowell Methodist Church beginning Sunday.

A notice signed by the mayor and city marshal appears elsewhere in this issue warning bicycle riders that the state law and city ordinance will be enforced which prohibits the riding of bicycles upon sidewalks in either the business or residential section.

A community meeting was held at the West Rayland school house Thursday night. Roy Ayers explained a few details of the Bankhead Bill and the remainder of the time was spent in singing.

Due to diminished water supplies at various points, it is considered advisable for all who have not had the typhoid serum to make arrangements for a vaccination as a precautionary measure.

Thelma Lois Moore entertained with a lawn party at her home last Thursday evening.

The annual scotch golf tournament of the local country club was won last Friday by the team of Bob Oswalt Jr. and Merl Kincaid who defeated Alton Bell and R. J. Roberts in the final match.

Gerald Knox's face was severely skinned and a few bruises suffered about his body as the result of his first attempt to drive a motorcycle Saturday night.

City water is now available at the Crowell Cemetery, having been turned into the line that was recently completed from Crowell to the cemetery.

Doris Gentry made a trip to Fort Worth this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bursey and Moody Bursey went to Memphis Friday afternoon to move Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bursey to Paducah.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ross and family of Willow, Okla., visited relatives and attended the rodeo at Margaret Friday and Saturday.

Beginning Sunday morning, a revival of two weeks will be conducted at the Margaret Baptist Church with Rev. Foster Russell doing the preaching. Rev. Russell is a resident of the Margaret community and in recent years has been attending the Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth. Miss Johnnie Mae Short will serve as pianist for the meeting.

Channel Cats Foil Drought

Six- to eight-pound female channel catfish, heavy with ripe eggs, have no room to spawn in the San Angelo Hatchery because of an acute water shortage, but they will not remain idle, according to Hatchery Supt. A. E. Pettit.

They are being transferred half way across Texas to Sheldon Hatchery near Houston where they will be paired and permitted to spawn. Other surplus catfish from San Angelo will be temporarily held in the Ingram hatchery near Kerrville.

When rainfall and sufficient run-off once again fills lakes and hatchery ponds in San Angelo, then Ingram, Sheldon and possibly other state hatcheries will return San Angelo's favor and operations will continue as usual.

It Was Really Our Own

"In suits for personal injuries against corporations, juries are prone to find for the plaintiff in most cases, and to award thousands of dollars for even minor mishaps. There are even compilations of the average amounts juries can be expected to award in the various states and these serve as a guide in deciding how much to sue for. . . It's easy to be generous with 'other people's money,' and it's a surprise to learn—after such awards—that it was really our own."—Selma, Ala., Times-Journal.

Factors Affecting 'Cutability' and Eating Quality of Beef

Cattle breeders and feeders should take a look at the possibilities of breeding some of the rind fat into meat, advises Frank A. Orts, Extension meats specialist at Texas A&M University. The specialist says there are several factors which affect the "cutability" or yield of edible meat from beef carcasses. However, main factors are fatness and muscling as indicated by ribeye area. Fatness or degree of finish has the most influence on per cent of steaks and roasts in a beef carcass. Animals with a thin rind of fat yield a much higher cutout than those with thicker fat coverings.

A good measure of fatness of a beef carcass is the fat covering the ribeye muscle. For each one-tenth inch increase in the fat covering, there is a reduction of one and one-half per cent in the amount of red meat in a beef carcass.

Though the amount of fat covering over the ribeye has a tremendous effect on cutout, extremely trim cattle will usually be deficient or devoid of marbling which, at the present time, is one of the best indicators of eating quality we have at our disposal.

Eating quality is a factor which one should not forget when assessing the carcass merit of a particular steer or carcass. It is felt that even though the correlation between marbling and tenderness is now, it is significant because as marbling increases, tenderness and overall satisfaction with a steak from that carcass also increases.

Although much attention has been given to "cutability" in the past few years, much more still needs to be done. Progeny testing of sires for rate of gain and carcass desirability of offspring is recommended by the Extension specialist.

Breeders and feeders should avail themselves of every opportunity to obtain carcass merit ratings on their cattle. However, they should be hesitant about drawing conclusions about a sire if carcass data are available on less than five progeny.

Data such as this can be obtained for a nominal fee by anyone for any cattle by contacting the USDA meat grading personnel in your locale and requesting the service. The extension meats specialist will also be happy to assist anyone who is planning to enter such an endeavor. Contact Frank A. Grass Fires Can Harm Agriculture and Recreation

Next time you start to toss a lighted cigarette or match out of your car window, why not light a $20 bill and toss it out instead? Of course, you wouldn't think of doing such a thing. However, each time a grass fire destroys the cattleman's pasture, it is costing you as well as him. For each acre of forage burned, $20-$50 worth of grass is lost, says G. O. Hoffman, Extension range specialist at Texas A&M University.

stockman. It helps supply beef for you as a consumer. Throughout the year he has worked hard to produce this grass, which is more than just "cow feed." In addition lamb chops, it provides food and to producing tasty steaks and cover for wildlife, holds soil moisture, prevents run-off into lakes and streams and certainly gives the countryside a better face than does a black cover of burned grass and trees.

This grass doesn't belong just to the rancher—you also have a stake in it. When hunting season rolls around, you will want a big fat buck to hunt and large coveys of quail for the dog to point. Without grass and cover these won't be around. Now, you want plenty of healthy fish, a good place to swim and water ski or just relax and picnic. If someone had burned the acreage around your favorite lake last year, you wouldn't have these now, or did some careless person ruin your summer recreation spot for this year?

After a look at just a few things grass does for you, won't you help the farmer and rancher keep the grass by helping control grass fires? He has done his part by providing fire lanes around his pastures. Now you take your share of the responsibility in conserving one of our most valuable natural resources—grass.

Seat Belts Can Reduce Injuries

For safety, install and buckle your seat belt each time you use your automobile, says Mrs. Elsie P. Short, home management specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University. Research has shown that a buckled seat belt means one is 35 to 60 per cent safer than someone without a seat belt. Findings at Cornell University's Automotive Crash Injury Research Center indicate that if everyone had seat belts—and used them—at least 5,000 lives could be saved each year, and serious injuries reduced by one-third.

Chances of survival are much higher if one is held inside the car by the seat belt rather than being thrown out.

Even though traffic isn't especially heavy on many rural roads, accident rates are high. There's a wide range of road types, vehicles and speeds, which combine to result in many accidents. Three of every four traffic fatalities and many of the injuries occur on rural highways.

The seat belt prevents a person being thrown forward—toward the dash. Even if the head hits the dash, with a seat belt the blow isn't nearly so hard. This could mean the difference between a minor injury and a major injury, Mrs. Short points out.

One is safest inside the car. The risk of death is five times greater for persons thrown out of the car. Many times, the person lands on the pavement or sharp objects, and there is danger of being run over by the automobile or other vehicles.

Belts should be fastened any time the car is moving. Two-thirds of the drivers in fatal accidents were less than 25 miles from home. Buckling up for safety can save lives and cut down on automobile, insurance, the specialist says.

Sound Decision

" . . . the American Meat Institute has decided to finance a program to stimulate the sale of American beef in both the United Kingdom and on the Continent. The decision is a sound one . . . If the program is carried out with the intensity and skill traditional in most American selling, there can be little doubt it will meet with great success . . . And also, the American beef-consuming public will continue to be able to enjoy the benefit of a comparatively free market."—Alameda, Calif., Times-Star.
