Card of Thanks

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to all my friends and relatives, near and far, for their many prayers, cards, lovely flowers, visits, telegrams and phone calls while I was in Wichita General Hospital. I also want to thank Dr. Stapp and the hospital staff at Crowell for their efficient duties during the emergency. To the Gambleville Club members for their desserts and all who have brought us food. It was really delicious. To the men and women who donated blood and to the men and boys who did my farming and others who helped my son, Junior, take care of the farm work for their thoughtfulness. To the Crowell Volunteer Fire Department who went to my farm and extinguished the farm implements. All who kept Junior and helped him while Opal and I were at Wichita, we love you. To anyone, who in any way helped while I was recuperating from the burns, your sincere kindness and extreme generosity will always be remembered by me and my family, Opal, Marcia and Junior. May God's blessings be with all of you.

Witnessing Moral Deterioration, FBI Chief Believes

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says: "We seem to be witnessing a moral deterioration in our population. It is seen in those who are willing to compromise the ideals if an easy dollar can be made, and it can be seen at work in everyday life where a city will obey the law himself, but will also passively tolerate immorality and disrespect for authority within his own community. People have got to realize that if they deal with illegal gambling, smut peddlers, and other scoundrels of the underworld, they are helping to support the organized crime complex."

Frozen Food Industry Is Expanding Rapidly

Frozen foods have developed from an uncertain infancy to a multi-million dollar industry, and have gone large scale more rapidly than many people realize.
Most of the growth of commercially prepared frozen foods has happened since World War II, says Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, Texas A&M University Extension consumer marketing specialist.
Today, from 35 to 40 per cent of all refrigerated display cases are allocated for frozen food cabinets. This compares with only 10 per cent of the space provided for this purpose 10 years ago.
Frozen foods are convenient, almost ready to serve and save time energy, Mrs. Clyatt explains. Most frozen foods are reasonably priced, and at some seasons of the year they may be as economical as the fresh or canned form of foods.
Buy quantities of frozen foods only when you are reasonably sure that the handling and storage have been carefully done—at 0 degrees Fahrenheit or below; when the frozen food chest is held at or below 0 degrees, and when the foods are stacked below the "nil" line. Select frozen food packages which have not been punctured, unsealed or stained.
Each year as the new pack of frozen foods come to market, food stores offer "specials" on frozen fruits and vegetables and other items. This is a good time to re-stock the home freezer, provided you have ample storage space at 0 degrees F.

Bunters Bid for Jackpot in Drawing

Maybe it's that time of the year. But the sporting instinct is rampant among Texas hunters nowadays.
This was reflected in the applications for the public hunts conducted by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department on wildlife management areas.
Instructions on the forms specified that one person should apply only once for the public drawing. However, one eager sport submitted five entries for one area shoot. Several others repeated their applications for various areas.
In the case of duplicate applications which are keyed by license numbers, all but one will be removed from consideration in the drawing to determine users of the 2,650 spots allocated for the free hunts.

Two Minutes With the Bible

When the Lord Asked Why
There are two occasions when the Lord asked "Why?" which stand out from all the rest.

Once it was to God He cried it and once to Saul of Tarsus. Once to the Holy One and once to the chief of sinners. Once He cried it from the shameful cross and once from His glory in heaven. In each case the name was repeated.

In Matt. 27:46 we find the first anguished "Why?" as He cried: "My God, My God, why has Thou forsaken me?" The other is found in Acts. 9:4, where He calls from His exile in heaven: "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?"

These two questions represent the greatest riddles of history and yet strangely, one of them is the simple solution to the other: Why did God forsake His Son? You will find the answer when you ask why mankind, represented by Saul, forsook and even persecuted God's Son. God's action, in giving Christ up to die, was the antidote to man's sin. It was because of the utter unreasonableness of man's sin that God, to save him, had to be more than reasonable.

Saul had led his nation and the world in rebellion against Christ, but this is just why, in infinite love God chose him to become the great apostle of grace, telling the world that "Christ died for us."

Hear him tell how he had been "a blasphemer, and a persecutor, and injurious" but how "the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant" (I Tim. 1:13,14). Hear him say:

"Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chief. Howbeit for this cause I obtained mercy, that in me first Jesus Christ might show forth all longsuffering, for a pattern to them which should hereafter believe on Him to life everlasting" (vers. 15,16).

Since the "chief of sinners" is now in heaven, there is hope for us all if we but trust in the Christ who died for us.

Card of Thanks

Goose Season Opens as North Zone Dove Shoot Ends Oct. 30
Major adjustments in the expanding fall wildlife harvest are upcoming in Texas, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The 75-day goose season opens Saturday, October 30, simultaneous with the closing of the mourning dove season in the north zone which includes almost three-fourths of the state.

Also opening October 30 is the sandhill crane season extending through November 28 in certain areas of West Texas, with a daily limit of two and possession limit of four.

Most counties with special archery seasons will close that phase of the deer season on October 31, although several continue into November.

Greatest interest naturally concerns the main deer and turkey season opening in most regulatory authority areas Saturday, November 13, and in counties governed by General Law on the statutory date of November 16.

The quail season involving another popular outdoor pastime does not move into the sportsmen's spotlight until November 13. Then the entire Panhandle opens as well as many east central and south Texas counties. The season on quail under General Law opens Dec. 1.

The south zone dove season continues through November 23 except in those counties having an earlier whitewing dove season where the season ends Nov. 19.

The second phase of the waterfowl season—that on ducks—does not open until November 24, extending through January 2.

The goose shoot, which continues through January 12, again has a daily bag and possession limit of five geese, and also still restricts both limits to only one white-fronted or speckled-bellied goose. As in the past, hunters may take two Canadas, or one Canada and one white-front.

There is no breakdown on the snows or blues, that is within the five-a-day or five-in-possession limit.

Waterfowl shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset with the restrictions against unplugged guns, against guns larger than ten gauge, using live decoys, and baited areas. The other standard regulations apply.

Bulls Out-Gain Steers in Beeville Feedlot Test

Huge Petroleum Use Caused by Viet Nam
The petroleum requirements of U. S. armed forces in Viet Nam have increased by 300 per cent since March, 1965, Oil Facts reports. Yet, says the commander of the Defense Fuel Supply Center, the forces are filling all their petroleum needs through commercial facilities. No action has been hampered by shortages. Illustrating the importance of oil products to military operations, one aircraft carrier of the Forrestal class, together with its planes, consumes more than 200,000 gallons of fuel a day. A B-52 making a bombing run from Guam to Viet Nam uses 2,500 gallons of jet fuel per hour.

In an experiment designed by Texas A&M University to compare feedlot performance and carcass characteristics of young bulls and young steers, the bulls out-gained the steers and required less feed per pound of gain. The study was conducted at Texas A&M University's Coastal Bend Experiment Station, Beeville.

Bulls have long been recognized as being more efficient than steers or heifers in converting feed to meat. But bull meat has received price discrimination, dating back to when cattle were sold at more mature ages. From this, bull meat has gained the reputation of being tough, stringy and dry.

Bill Conrad, in charge of the Beeville study, said 10 good quality Hereford steers and 8 Hereford bulls of similar breeding, age and weight were used. The calves were from the same herd and handled identically from birth to slaughter.

The calves were fed for 182 days on a ration using ground grain sorghum and cottonseed meal as concentrates. Cottonseed hulls provided the roughage.

Both groups were started on a ration of 16 per cent concentrates. The level of concentrates was gradually increased and was held at 80 per cent for the last 55 days of the test.

Result: the bulls gained approximately 100 pounds more per head than the steers. The bulls consumed an average of 1,033 pounds more feed per day per body hundredweight than the steers. However, they required 50 pounds less feed to produce 100 pounds of gain on a market weight basis.

Daily gain in the feedlot was 2.82 pounds for the bulls and 2.26 pounds for the steers. The extra gain made by the bulls more than compensated for the increased feed intake. Feed cost per 100 pounds gain in the feedlot for the bulls was $15.74, and that for the steers $16.33.

Conrad summarized the results as: "Bulls out-gained the steers and required less feed per pound of gain. Slaughter data revealed that rib-eye area, yield grade, percentage of boneless cuts, external fat and dressing per cent favored the bull carcasses while the USDA grade favored the steers."

Researchers have attributed the slower growth rate of steers to castration. When the testes are removed from an animal, an important source of endogenous androgens is lost. Androgen hormones are known to stimulate protein anabolism, or growth.

Economic pressures are forcing cattlemen to look for ways to produce beef more efficiently and many are taking a critical and unbiased look at young bulls versus steers for beef production.

Pre-School Boys Are More Accident Prone Than Girls
If there's a three- or four-year-old boy in your family, you can expect more skinned knees and bruised fingers than if you have a girl of that age.

This word comes from Mrs. Patsey Reynolds Yates, Texas A&M Extension family life education specialist.

It seems that accidents don't just happen—they're made to happen. And usually it's a boy who makes them and who gets the knocks.

Boys have nearly twice as many minor mishaps as girls, according to recent studies reviewed by Mrs. Yates. Boys probably engage in more hazardous activities and take more risks in their play than do girls.

Girls, on the other hand, are taught to be "ladylike" and play more quietly.

A pre-school teacher who knows the children in her group can generally pick out the ones most likely to have accidents. They are the adventuresome ones, those who are daring, active and apt to move quickly. They are often poorly coordinated, and try to do things they are not yet capable of, says Mrs. Yates.

Equipment is seldom dangerous—in itself—in a supervised situation. It's the way children use it that makes it hazardous.

For example, the child who uses a broom for a gun instead of to sweep with, the boy who prefers to stand on his chair rather than sit on it, or the child who jumps on a jumping board while others are using it—are the children most likely to have accidents.

Fake Worms Trick Bass

15,383 Deer Are Transplanted
The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department transplanted 14,383 white-tailed deer from 1938 through 1964 in cooperation with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Worm fishing, plastic variety, for largemouth and spotted bass is producing many good catches in the eastern part of the state.

Two anglers caught 14 black bass running to 6½ pounds on Lake Tyler, according to reports to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department spokesman.

Some fishermen trolled very slowly while others were casting plastic worms to the bottom with just an occasional twitch to the rod tip.

These deer were released on areas previously approved by the Department. Cooperating landowners agreed to permit no hunting of deer for a period of five years following release of broodstocks.

How to plug up the money drain

If the part of your pay you planned to save always seems to leak out of your pocket, you need a new stopper for your money drain.

The Payroll Savings Plan is one of the best plugs around—and it's guaranteed.

Here's the blueprint: just tell your employer to put aside a small amount from each pay check and apply it to the purchase of United States Savings Bonds.

Once you get it started, the Plan is fully automatic. Chances are you'll never miss the little cash you're setting aside. After all, it's just leaked away before, remember?

And here's the best part. Not only have you stopped the flow, but you're putting your dollars to work earning more dollars—$4 at maturity for every $3 you invested.

So stop in at your payroll department and set your Plan in action. And watch your savings grow instead of go.

Cancer Society Has Meeting Last Thursday Night

The Foard County chapter of the American Cancer Society met in the Methodist Men's Sunday school room on October 21. Mrs.

Henry Borchard, president, opened the meeting by introducing Don Lambert, director from Lubbock, and a new member, Mrs. Decker Magee, who will help Mrs. Gordon Cooper with the education program. Mrs. R. G. Gribble reported that $22.50 had been turned in for memorial donations, and memorial donations to the cancer society do not necessarily have to go for cancer victims. She added "This is a very worthy cause, and you may contribute a memorial to anyone." Mrs. Borchard and Mrs. Cooper attended the meeting in Lubbock which presented the necessary preparation for the 1966 crusade.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cooper represented Foard County at the twelfth annual meeting of the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society held in Dallas. They reported that every individual would be working in some way to help in the Cancer Crusade, if they were to attend one of these meetings.

Mr. Lambert presented two certificates from Mrs. John Connally: one to Mrs. Borchard as unit chairman, and one to the Foard County unit in recognition of its accomplishments in the 1965 crusade.

The members were then shown a film entitled, "Who, Me?" This film stressed the effect smoking has on the lungs. There are seven chemicals in cigarettes which cause cancer. The film showed the difference between a healthy lung and that of the smoker, and "if you are smoking and quit, your lungs begin to heal from that moment, if they are not affected by cancer."

Governor Connally Urges Approval of Amendment No. 3

Governor John Connally warned this week that 121 aged residents of Foard County will have their medical benefits jeopardized if Constitutional Amendment No. 3 fails to win passage in the November 2 election.

During the past year, $10,150 was expended on behalf of these needy aged in this county. Gov. Connally urged all Texans to support and vote for this crucial amendment.

Governor Connally also endorsed Amendment No. 4 which extends the two-year terms of state-wide officials to four years. "Texas is one of the few remaining states which has not enacted this far-sighted and efficient legislation," Gov. Connally said.

The governor warned against voter apathy. He pointed out that only 104 voters in this county went to the polls last month in another constitutional amendment election.

Governor Connally emphasized that absentee voting had already started and would continue through October 29. He asked all voters who will be away from their homes on election day to vote absentee.

A total of 10 proposed amendments to the Constitution will be on the November 2 ballot.

Hunt Scrapped to Rescue Calf

At least one cow and one landowner would have been without a calf if Doug Blunck, a Tyler Junior College veterinarian student, had not been given permission to hunt squirrel near Tyler.

As reported to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Blunck found a motherless calf, thought more of it than he did his aunt, and gathered it up for delivery to the rancher almost a half-mile away.

Pace Brisk in Hunting Trade Zone

The panning has not begun yet but the nimrods are beginning to breath pretty hard, judging by that never failing barometer—want ads as monitored by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The gunners can compete with the hoi polli in the modest day-hunting areas or as depicted in a Houston paper, they may play it posh and respond to: "First time offered; Executive's private deer and fishing preserve, loaded with deer, 50-acre stocked lake."

A different sort of pitch was made with: "Hunters; 5-acre plot, midst 160,000-acre forest, plenty game."

Or if the sports just decide to move in for keeps, a Corpus Christi ad offers a "926-acre cow ranch and hunting ranch" where "hunting is the best."

A more modest approach in a Fort Worth paper: "20 acres . . . deer, quail, dove, turkey, jave-lina . . . $2,500 all cash."

One San Antonio bid was more discriminating, seeking only "sober hunters."

An Austin paper worked on the back-to-nature weaknesses with: "Old shack, and 40 acres. Lots of deer and other game."

The same newspaper featured a "Hunters' special with two portable buildings with all the comforts." And a Houston ad stressed "New portable camphouse, sleeps 4, stove, icebox, sink, butane or elec. lights."

And they described feed pens, oat patches, new blinds, plus a plaintive bid via a Dallas ad: "Business man wishes to partici-
