Foard County Is Member of Industrial Foundation Formed Thursday Night

A multi-county industrial foundation involving Foard, Harde- man, Childress and Cottle Counties was formally organized at a meeting in Childress last Thursday night, in an effort to secure industries unsuited for location in populated areas.

Plans call for the establishment of an industrial park in a generally unpopulated area close to the junction of the four counties where highway and rail service and water from Pease River are available.

The four counties plan to work together co-operatively for industry to locate in the remote industrial park, and spokesmen for the foundation said that interest has already been shown by some major industries and the prospects look extremely favorable.

Although the foundation is not the first multi-county effort, it is totally new in some of the aspects that are not presently being publicized.

The four counties have been aided by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and others in putting together what participants feel will be a highly effective organization.

Officers elected are Bill Neal of Quanah, president, Ross Smith of Childress, vice president; Cecil Davis of Crowell, secretary, and Jack Powell of Paducah, treasurer.

Foard County directors are Mr. Davis, Henry Black and Robert Kincaid.

Explanation meetings in which all-out community support will be sought are being scheduled in the various counties. The next meeting will be at 8 p. m. Thursday at Paducah.

Foard County residents attending the Childress meeting included Don Malone, Don Wilkins, Robert Kincaid, M. M. Welch, Cecil Davis, Frank Cooper and Henry Black. The Crowell group was accompanied by Oscar Dickerson, Small Business Administration official of Aspermont.

A total of 50 persons registered during the receiving hours. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served by members of the W. S. L.

WILDCATS DROP THRILLER TO INDIANS; HOST KNOX CITY FRIDAY

Crowell's Wildcats, undefeated in their first two outings, lost a 21-6 thriller to Quanah's Class AA Indian footballers last Friday night in the Indians' home stadium.

This was an especially satisfying game for the locals for, even in losing, they looked more impressive than in winning either of their first two games against weaker opposition.

The Wildcats, with Bob Bird, Charles Dodd and Ronnie Eavenson playing brilliant defense, and with Mike Eubanks, Terry Bird, Billy Hord and Rockne Wisdom not far behind, managed to do what Class AA Stamford and Class AAA Vernon had failed to do: shut out the Indians for the first half. Crowell's defense was terrific, and even its lone touchdown was scored by the defense, Superior manpower and an explosive offense proved to be the difference as Quanah managed for three touchdowns in the third quarter and the first play of the fourth.

More details of the game are as follows:
First quarter: Quanah's deepest penetration was the Crowell 43. The Indians threw one pass. Ronnie Eavenson intercepted it. The Indians punted one time. Bob Bird blocked it. Allen Lee fell on the ball. Quanah made three first downs. Crowell made two. Bob Bird jarred fullback Gholson loose from the ball on his own 35-yard line. Joe Ray Burkett recovered. Quanah completed no passes. Joe Ray Burkett threw a perfect completion to Barry Branch, but an unfortunate fumble gave Quanah the ball on her own 25-yard line.

Second quarter: Quanah failed to reach midfield. Due to the terrific punt returns by Ronnie Eavenson, Crowell maintained excellent field position all the quarter and was never behind its own 40-yard line. Billy Hord dropped quarterback James Page once on the Quanah 10-yard line as he attempted to pass. Quanah, harassed constantly over center by Bob Bird, fumbled twice, but recovered each time. Ronnie Eavenson intercepted another Indian pass.

Third quarter: The constant flow of fresh men finally took its toll. Quanah quarterback James Page caught the Wildcat secondary shifting over to meet the flow of the play to his right. He broke through a hole up the middle on a quarterback keeper, cut to his left and went all the way for a

Clarendon Newspaper Publisher Writes History of Greenbelt Project

The following is a history of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority as prepared by G. W. Estlack, editor of the Donley County Leader, and Clarendon Chamber of Commerce committee. It was compiled from the files of the late C. B. "Cap" Morris and the files of the Donley County Leader. It is authentic in every respect. Incidentally, Mr. Morris was a former resident of Foard County and the father of Mrs. Duane Naylor of Thalia.

The Greenbelt Dam five miles north of Clarendon is now complete and is awaiting rain to fall on its watershed to expand its shore line.

The scenery at the dam site has changed considerably from the time some nineteen years ago when several Clarendon and Donley County residents heard that Oklahoma wanted the water rights of Salt Fork of Red River as they had already tied up the North Fork of Red River.

These men, headed at that time by C. B. "Cap" Morris, J. R. Porter, Ray J. Noblitt, W. Carroll Knorpp, presently vice president of Greenbelt, and W. S. Whaley, Chamber of Commerce secretary, thought it wise to do something toward nailing down prior water rights on Salt Fork.

Through their efforts, a Water Compact was formed March 4, 1950, between Donley, Armstrong, and Collingsworth Counties. A second meeting was held April 25, 1950, at which time officers were elected and the organization was named "Donley County Upper Red River Development Ass'n." Joe Jones, mayor of Clarendon, was named president, and Mike McCully, secretary.

A tri-county meeting was held May 10, 1950, at which time the group formed the "Upper Basins of Salt Fork, Elm Creek and Buck Creek of Red River Ass'n." with Ray J. Noblitt as chairman and W. S. Whaley as secretary. It was at this time that another present director of Greenbelt, Clifford Johnson of Hedley, joined in the quest to keep the water rights.

Armstrong County dropped out of the Compact and a meeting of Donley, Collingsworth, and Hall Counties was held August 30, 1950, and it was voted at this time to file an application for prior rights with the State Board of Water Engineers at Austin on Salt Fork of Red River only. The application cost was $250.

The Clarendon Chamber of Commerce, merchants, and individuals paid the annual fee and extended the effort to convince the Water Board that the claim to water rights should be extended throughout the years until an act was passed by the Texas Legislature in 1954 creating the Green Belt Authority. It took considerable maneuvering to keep the rights renewed as Oklahoma was putting pressure on politicians to make a swap deal so they could get the Red River rights.

Clarendon merchants and individuals helped make up $1,500 to pay A. H. Woolverton to make a survey to determine feasibility of a dam to impound the water from Salt Fork of Red River.

During this time another meeting was held at the name of the association was changed to "Upper River five miles north of Clarendon. Water from the lake is now going into the water mains at Childress and Quanah.

Basin of the Salt Fork of Red River Water Ass'n." and C. B. "Cap" Morris was named president; Rayburn Smith, secretary. He resigned and Clifford Johnson took his place.

At a meeting in Childress in 1953, by a suggestion of R. A. Underwood Sr., financial advisor of Fort Worth, the name was changed to "Green Belt Municipal and Industrial Water Ass'n." as the word "Salt Fork" was undesirable in connection with "good water" which was found on the upper tributaries of the river. Cap Morris remained as president and Clifford Johnson as secretary.

State Representative Elbert Reeves of Matador was contacted by the group to start legislation in behalf of the Green Belt.

In 1954 he was assisted by Representative Grainger Melihany of Wheeler and Jack Hightower of Vernon, also Senators George Moffett of Chillicothe and Andy Rogers of Childress and a bill was introduced before the 53rd Legislature. An act was passed creating the Green Belt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority.

After the act was passed by the Legislature, Cap Morris, Clifford Johnson, Carroll Knorpp and others had the job of getting other towns interested in the project. According to R. A. Underwood Sr., Wellington had cooled to the project and Shamrock was definitely not interested. On Sept. 30, 1955, in a letter to Morris, Underwood stated that Childress and Quanah both had become interested and he thought they would go along with holding the confirmation election.

Cap Morris continued to serve as president of the Authority, along with Clifford Johnson, secretary, until 1956 following the confirmation election.

A confirmation election was held May 8, 1956, at which time Clarendon, Hedley, Childress, Memphis, Quanah, Paducah and Wellington approved the Authority. An election authorizing the city councils of the respective cities to enter into a water contract with the Green Belt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority was held in all towns except Wellington, who withdrew from the Authority. Paducah turned down the issue a week later. On October 15, 1963, following other elections, Crowell voted to join the Authority and approved the water contract.

Following the confirmation elections in 1956 at a meeting in Childress, Cap Morris resigned as president. Dr. S. H. Townsend, who was appointed as Childress representative in 1955, was elected president; Sam Breedlove of Quanah, vice president; and Clifford Johnson of Hedley, secretary-treasurer. The remaining members of the board were W. Carroll Knorpp of Clarendon, Wendell Harrison of Memphis, Kenneth Tooley of Paducah, and George Shadid of Wellington. Breedlove resigned in 1957 and Knorpp was elected vice president. Roland Walden was named the new director from Quanah. In 1959 secretary-treasurer, Clifford Johnson of Hedley, was replaced by Kenneth Tooley of Paducah. When Tooley moved out of the water district, Wm. J. Lowe, present secretary-treasurer, was appointed to fill his place.

Clifford Johnson became mayor of Hedley and Ross Springer was named a director. Springer was followed by A. W. Anderson. In 1962, Johnson resigned as mayor and became Hedley's director again. Howard Stanley succeeded Roland Walden as the Quanah director and Merl Kincaid has been the Crowell director since his city joined the Authority.

An amendment to the Act creating the Green Belt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority, was made by the Texas Legislature in 1965 changing the name Green Belt to one word "Greenbelt" and the Memphis director became a non-voting director although Memphis is still a member of the Authority.

After much planning and seeking ways and means to locate and finance the Greenbelt project, the dam site was located 5 miles north of Clarendon on Highway 76. The financing was done through the Texas Water Development Board without any federal assistance.

The contracts for the construction of the dam, filtration plant, and pipeline were let March 29, 1966, at a total construction price of $3,685,635.96. R. N. Adams Construction Co., Kaufman, Texas, was awarded the contract to build the dam at a cost of $1,795,514.06. Brown-McKee Inc. of Lubbock received the contract to build the filtration plant at a cost of $624,941, and J. T. Brodie of Amarillo received the contract for the pipeline at a cost of $1,230,180.90.

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held at the dam site April 30, 1966, with state dignitaries present for the ceremony. Cap Morris, one of the first and foremost promoters of the Authority was to be honored at this occasion, the actual beginning of the work on the project for which he had spent many years in promoting, but the occasion was both joyful and sad as "Cap" died suddenly at home the previous day.

Morris had never doubted that the dam would be built some day and on many occasions when confronted with the proposition of naming the body of water "Lake Morris" remarked that "Lake Clarendon" was the best name since so many local people had worked on this project through the year; too, the body of water would cover the "Old Clarendon" site and this name and this body of water would serve as a historical marker for the pioneers who settled this area. The bodies of pioneer residents of Old Clarendon which were buried in the Old Clarendon Cemetery were removed as the dam was constructed in this area and are to be reinterred in a cemetery on Lookout Point above the Old Clarendon site. The Old Clarendon court house is to be reconstructed from Old Clarendon Foundation Stone on Lookout Point, also. This stone has already been moved to the top of the hill by Clarendon Boy Scouts and interested adults.

The Greenbelt dam is now complete with a good turf of grass to prevent washing. The filtration plant is now in operation dispersing a "sweet" and dependable water supply to Childress and Quanah.

Greenbelt dam is exceeded in size in the Panhandle only by Lake Meredith. It is 110 feet deep, 6,000 feet long, 700 feet wide at the base and contains 3.6 million cubic yards of dirt fill and 3,400 yards of concrete. When full the dam will impound 60,000 acre feet of water, and eighteen miles of fence have been purchased to fence in the lake area.

The lake has been stocked with Northern Pike which are already 18 inches in length, and bass that are over seven inches in length.

The next big event will be the dedication of the dam and the entire project sometime within the near future.

John Greening Writes of Life in Alaska

John Greening, who is teaching school in Alaska, in a recent letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greening of Crowell, said he had been on a successful moose hunt up the Yukon River. The moose dressed out at about 600 pounds, he said.

He said that the Eskimos prize the head and hooves as the best eating of the moose. He gave the head to an old Eskimo who spoke no English, but had a lot of children to feed. Greening added, "He was the happiest man I've seen in a long time. It takes so little to make them happy. I believe if a person could see the hardships many live under here, they would never complain again."

He added that the family now has enough fresh meat for over a year, including the fish. They have also put a good number of wild berries.

Mr. and Mrs. Greening and two daughters are living in Nunapituk, Alaska, and the parents are teaching school there.

will face fines up to $200.00 and convictions will be recorded on their driving records, which could affect insurance premiums. Four convictions for moving traffic violations within 12 months or seven within 24 months will result in loss of drivers license and driving privileges. The major also explained that no warning tickets will be issued to speeders since the Texas Public Safety Commission has ordered that charges will be filed in every case where there is a clear cut and substantial violation of the speed law.

Two Minutes With the Bible

Forgiven
"We have . . . the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace" (Eph. 1:7).
The climax of Paul's first recorded sermon is reached in verses 38 and 39 of Acts 13, where he declares:
"Be it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this Man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins: And by Him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses."
Thus God, through Christ, first forgives and thereupon justifies those who believe. Nor is this all that was accomplished for us by the death of Christ at Calvary. There is also reconciliation, baptism by the Spirit into Christ and His Body, a position at God's right hand in the heavens and all spiritual blessings there.
"The forgiveness of sins" must come first, however, and the above passage assures us that in Christ we have this—not barely, but "according to the riches of His grace." Indeed, the next verse continues: "wherein He hath abounded toward us . . ."
Thus Eph. 2:2-7 declares that though we were "the children of disobedience," and therefore "by nature the children of wrath," "God, who is rich in mercy, for His great love wherewith He loved us" has given us life and raised us from the dead, exalting us to "heavenly places in Christ . . ." The reason for all this? "That in the ages to come He might show the exceeding riches of His grace in His kindness toward us in Christ Jesus" (verse 7).

When God forgives us He no longer sees us in our poor selves, but in Christ, who took our place, dying for our sins on Calvary's cross.
There will be 15 million vehicles registered in Texas by 1985, estimates the Texas Highway Department, now in its 50th year.

SPEED KILLS

(Note: This is the third and final article dealing with an all-out drive by the Texas Department of Public Safety encouraging motorists to drive within the speed limits on Texas highways to reduce the state's ever-mounting traffic toll.)
Texas motorists will be watching their speedometers more in coming months, as the Texas Highway Patrol fields more patrolmen and more radar speed checking units in a battle against motorcade.
Purpose of the all-out drive against speeders is simple. The Highway Patrol knows that speed kills—and they hope that by sprinkling the state's heavily traveled arteries with radar speed checking units, the ever mounting Texas highway death toll will be reduced.
Previous articles in this series have shown that excessive speed is a contributing factor in a large percentage of the accidents on Texas highways, that the chances of a driver becoming involved in an accident increase many fold when he drives faster than the speed limit, and that one motorist in eight was driving faster than the speed limit on Texas highways last year.
"Now just what is the Highway Patrol going to do about all this speeding?" asks Mr. Average Motorist, and the answer is supplied by Major Luther C. Moore, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety.
Major Moore has announced that the DPS has ordered enough radar speed measuring units to equip almost every patrol car in the field. He added "use of the radar sets will enable us to patrol the highways more effectively, to encourage all drivers to stay within the speed limit."
The major continues: "We hope everyone will drive within the speed limit but some will fail to comply, so our efforts will be directed toward apprehending the speeders in order to protect motorists who do comply with the law."

Wildcats Lose to Quannah Indians

Quannah score from the Crowell 43-yard line. Extra point kick was no good. Later, Quannah's fine full-back (and hardest runner) Gholson, rambled 17 yards for another touchdown. Page ran the two-pointer across.

Fourth quarter: (first play) Quarterback Francis passed to last year's quarterback Monte Ford for another 17-yard touchdown. Kick was good.

Crowell's offense was rendered completely impotent by Quannah's quick-and-fast defensive team. The Wildcats made only three first downs in the contest. But, with 45 seconds remaining in the game, Crowell's defense again rose to the occasion. Terry Bird blocked an Indian punt, picked up the ball near the sideline. Bob Bird blocked for him, and Terry scampered 35 yards for a Wildcat touchdown. Try for extra points failed.

Coch L. H. Wall said Monday that Charles Dodd suffered a broken finger in the Quannah game and will be out of the lineup for two weeks.

District Play Starts Friday

The Wildcats entertain the Knox City Greyhounds here Friday night in the first district game. Starting time is 8 o'clock.

B Game Next Thursday

The CHS B team will go to Chillicothe for a game Thursday night, October 5.

New Sign Advertises Home Games

The local F. F. A. boys, under the supervision of Marvin Myers, have erected a sign advertising all Crowell home games and installed it in the center of the intersection of Highway 70 and 283 for the convenience of local fans who are interested in when any of the local football teams are playing games at Crowell.

Small Grain Disease Problems Discussed by County Agent

Small grain disease problems can be largely solved by planting seed of resistant varieties or seed which have been treated with a chemical fungicide for disease control.

The treatment process is simple and cheap and excellent insurance against crop losses from seed-borne diseases, County Agent Joe Burkett says.

Application of seed treatment fungicides may be made in home-made treaters or by commercial seed treatment plants.

Because all seed treatment chemicals are poison, they should be handled with care.

Detailed information can be obtained at Burkett's office.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 702 Colorado St., Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—We have a farm, most of which is planted in wheat. Should there be a shortage of wheat this year, would this be a factor for receiving an agricultural deferment?

A—Under the new law, surpluses and shortages of agricultural commodities may now be considered by a draft board in reaching its decisions on agricultural deferments.

Q—How do I apply for deferment as an undergraduate college student?

A—You can get a convenient form called "Request for Undergraduate Student Deferment" (SSS Form 104) from your draft board. Some college registrars also have it. A letter to your draft board requesting student deferment will also be accepted.

Q—My father, an Army sergeant, is being transferred outside the U. S. I won't be 18 until after we've departed the country. What do I do about registering with Selective Service?

A—On your 18th birthday, or within five days thereafter, present yourself to the nearest diplomatic or consular officer of the United States and he will register you.

Q—Are 19-year-olds inducted first under this new law?

A—No, not now; but they could be later.

Do We Need the One-Eyed Israeli General?

"More than once we have heard the wry remark that 'we ought to try to get that one-eyed general that conducted the Israel campaign to take hold of our forces in South Viet Nam,' but we wonder if that would help, were we to keep all the restrictions on him that have been imposed on our generals in that theatre of operations. The chief difference as we see it, is that Israel simply went all out to get the job done, while we have been fighting a limited war, restricted by various 'don'ts' from the Pentagon brains in Washington. You just can't win that way."—East Dubuque, Ill., Register.

Boll Weevils Still Present in Cotton

Boll weevil populations remain heavy in many fields in Foard County. County Agent Joe Burkett advises that early harvest, stalk destruction and plowing under plant debris will reduce the number of boll weevils entering diapause.

By cutting off the food supply of the boll weevil, this insect is not able to build up sufficient fat reserves to enter diapause or will enter diapause in a condition where it will be unable to survive the winter.

In areas of the county where arsenic acid or phosphate type defoliants will be used because of early maturity of the cotton, Burkett says the addition of .5 lb. methyl parathion or .25 lb. of Guthion per acre to the defoliants will be helpful in reducing boll weevil populations. Stalk destruction as soon as possible after harvest will destroy the source of food for the boll weevil, he says.

Additional information on boll weevil control and early stalk destruction may be obtained at Burkett's office.

Gigantic Business

"Juvenile shoplifting is a gigantic business, which all of us are paying for. Between seventy and eighty per cent of all shoplifters caught in the United States are under 18. This year over a billion dollars in merchandise will be taken. Strangely enough, only about ten per cent of the juveniles caught shoplifting are from low income families. . . . Shoplifting has become such a big 'business' that stores who previously did not prosecute juveniles now simply can't afford not to prosecute."—Cushing, Okla., Citizen.

Candy Barr to Perform at Prison Rodeo

From the night club circuit, to prison and back to the night club circuit is the story of Candy Barr, entertainer and singer, who returns this season as one of the featured attractions at the 36th annual Texas Prison Rodeo at Huntsville each Sunday in October.

A prison rodeo favorite for two years while serving her prison term, Candy Barr was a highlight during the 1966 series while on parole.

This year, the former "Goree Girl" is back on the night club circuit in Hollywood where she is belting out her own brand of songs before record crowds.

Now that Candy Barr has received her full pardon, she still wants to do her part to help her former inmates by appearing at the prison rodeo all five Sunday performances of the 1967 series.

Candy Barr is the first former inmate of the Texas Department of Corrections to return as a rodeo performer.

"I am looking forward to my return engagement at the prison rodeo," she commented. "To me it is doing something to help others on the road back to a better life."

Larry H. Jones Attends Meeting on Instructional TV

The Educational Service Center of Region IX presented an introduction to Instructional Television on Sept. 18. Representatives from twenty-nine school districts, Texas Education Agency, and several governmental agencies were present, including Larry H. Jones of the Crowell School District. Mr. Jones is CHS Principal.

The purpose of the meeting was to investigate the interest in initiating closed circuit instructional television in Region IX, probably financed by a Title III, ESEA grant.

The presentation revealed the following considerations:

1. Closed circuit instructional television is technologically feasible and is in use in a number of schools and hospitals across the United States;
2. Exact cost of the system cannot be determined except by an engineering study; however, experience in school districts with ITV indicates that cost is not prohibitive;
3. Closed circuit TV would probably be most advantageous to this region, especially in view of its flexibility and facility for simultaneous transmission of many programs;
4. Local control of curriculum will not be sacrificed;
5. Maximum use of master teachers, taped programs, and motion picture films can be made through ITV;
6. The system has 24-hour capabilities for adult education.

October Plentifuls Offer Wide Selection to Consumers

A wide selection of plentiful foods will be available for the homemaker during October.

October plentifuls reported by the Consumer and Marketing Service include apples, orange juice, rice, broiler-fryers, potatoes and shrimp.

This wide variety of foods make selection a real treat for the wise shopper, says the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The apple harvest goes into full swing in October. This year's apple production is expected to total 125 1/2 million bushels, one percent less than last year, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Orange juice continues in especially big supply. Packs of concentrate, single strength, and chilled juice continue to outstrip last year's production figures.

Look for more potato specials in October. A delayed late summer potato harvest coupled with an estimated 229 million hundred-weight fall crop is sending large shipments of this popular vegetable into local markets now, according to market news offices of the Consumer and Marketing Service.

Rice and broiler-fryers should be attractively priced this month. Rice production is expected to top last year's record crop and broiler-fryers are also in good supply.

Shrimp production figures for the first 6 months of 1967 were expected to be nearly half-again as much as last year's catch. Cold storage holdings on August 1 totaled 47.9 million pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Manning visited their daughter, Mrs. Adon Burns, and family of Floydada over the week end.

Christian Church Youth Have Special Program Sept. 21

The "All Youth" of the First Christian Church opened the fall program and youth work with "The Launching of the Light," lakeside service, Thursday, Sept. 21.

A procession of twelve cars left the church at 7 p. m. and drove to the Country Club where preparations had already been made for a weiner roast. After having enjoyed all the food and cold drinks related to such an outing, all the youth, along with the adult helpers, gathered around a camp fire and sang a number of songs; then they sang some choruses of deeper significance. ## Columbian Club

On September 20, Mrs. Fred Webba entertained members of the Columbian Club for their first study lesson of the 1967-68 course of study, "Looking into Tomorrow." The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. John S. Ray, at which time Mrs. Robert Hammonds of Thalia was welcomed into the club.

"Education for the Future" was the lesson for the day and members answered roll call with the name of a school of higher learning.

As a prelude to the main feature, a brief review of an adult reading class sponsored by an East Texas club was given by Mrs. Grady Halbert, leader for the program. She then introduced Mrs. W. F. Statser, Title I teacher, who spoke on her work in remedial reading. Following are some excerpts from her discourse:

"Can you imagine the frustration a child must feel upon realizing his classmates are outdistancing him in every course of study? This failure to 'keep up' is invariably evidenced in personality problems and is as invariably resultant from poor reading comprehension. He often attempts to substitute other capabilities for his disabilities. This may take the form of daydreams, developing into an introvert, or he may content himself with television or movies or other methods of vicarious living which require no reading ability. Again, he may build upon his physical prowess as an athlete or even as the lowly bully. In class this type often becomes a discipline problem, which could mean that in his own way he actually is calling out for help, without even realizing it himself. When you work with such youngsters and see the doors of their young minds open, however gradually, and see enlightenment flood into their comprehension, then is when you feel tremendously rewarded."

Mrs. Statser explained some of the ways and means used in remedial reading. The most modern books, teaching aids and methods are available.

A refreshment plate was served by the hostess following the program.

Adelphian Club

The Adelphian Club met Sept. 20 at the club house, Mrs. Elton Carroll, president, presided.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Jack Turner, as leader, read the club collect. She then introduced Mrs. Gordon Erwin who gave the program on "The Challenge of Outer Space."

Mrs. Erwin gave a very interesting discourse on the book, "The White Sands Incident," by Dr. Daniel Fry. In the book, Dr. Fry told of his encounters with a man from outer space. This man, Alan, explained to Dr. Fry that the earth had reached a high peak in materialistic science, but until earth reached as high a plane in its spiritual and social sciences, it couldn't continue to progress.

Mrs. Curtis Barker and Mrs. Leslie Thomas served a delicious dessert plate to 17 members.

Scholarship Is Awarded to Marta Navarrette at TWU

It has been almost a year since Marta Navarrette came to Texas on a tourist visa. Mr. and Mrs. John Wyss, daughter and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Moody Bursey of Crowell, met Marta when they were in the Peace Corps in Ecuador, and were so impressed with her intelligence and ability that they brought her to Texas on their return last October. Marta stayed with the Burseys and visited classes at Crowell High School through the first semester. The Burseys sent her to Texas Woman's University in Denton for the spring semester after she was granted a student visa.

She did so well that the Pan American Round Tables of Texas have awarded her the Florence Terry Griswold Scholarship Award for 1967-68, which pays her tuition, board and room, and books for continuing study at TWU. She will receive the scholarship for two years.

The Pan American Round Table is a movement for women founded by Florence Terry Griswold on October 16, 1916, in San Antonio, and is designed to interpret itself in acts tending to draw more closely the social and cultural bonds of the Americas. Its purpose is to acquaint its members with the language, geography, history, literature, arts, culture and customs of the republics of the Western Hemisphere; for through knowledge, understanding is gained, and understanding leads to friendship. There are now 67 Pan American Round Tables in South and Central America; and 35 in the United States, 26 of them in Texas.

The principal objective of Dallas Pan American Round Table One is to provide scholarships for deserving students of Latin American background. Dallas Table I has two scholarships of its own and contributes to the Florence Terry Griswold Scholarship, which is sponsored by all Pan American Round Tables of Texas. The Dallas group recommended Marta for the scholarship and she was selected by the state board of directors.

Marta is studying business at TWU, and plans to return to Ecuador when she finishes, to work with her people. She will be able to teach or work in the business field. In time, though, she says she dreams of returning to the U. S. The clothing stores, shoe shops, and particularly the super markets, are fascinating to her as there are no comparable stores or ready-made merchandise in Ecuador.

W. S. L. Meeting

Extrasensory perception, or ESP, was interestingly discussed in a talk given by Paul Stapp, a Crowell High School student, at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Women's Service League held at the community center Thursday, Sept. 21.

Paul said ESP defies description. Known by other names, it has been in the world since the beginning of the human race. It has been known in earlier times as "clairvoyance, mind reading" and more recently as "telepathy," which is the experience of seeming to know what another person was thinking, even across many miles. The subject is still under controversy in the realm of scientific research. Experiments have been conducted by scientists studying ESP to determine if certain persons have it or not, or if it is the result of chance. No satisfactory answers have been found or seemingly ever will be found to explain such phenomena. Only in personal experiences can be found any individual answers. May psychologists do not believe extrasensory perception exists. However, as Paul related his intense research in the subject, he kindled extraordinary interest and thought on ESP.

Texas Highway Department reports 6.5 million vehicles were registered in the state last year, compared to less than 200 thousand and 50 years ago in the department's first year.

Columbian Club

On September 20, Mrs. Fred Wehba entertained members of the Columbian Club for their first study lesson of the 1967-68 course of study, "Looking into Tomorrow." The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. John S. Ray, at which time Mrs. Robert Hammonds of Thalia was welcomed into the club.

"Education for the Future" was the lesson for the day and members answered roll call with the name of a school of higher learning.

As a prelude to the main feature, a brief review of an adult reading class sponsored by an East Texas club was given by Mrs. Grady Halbert, leader for the program. She then introduced Mrs. W. F. Statser, Title I teacher, who spoke on her work in remedial reading. Following are some excerpts from her discourse:

"Can you imagine the frustration a child must feel upon realizing his classmates are outdistancing him in every course of study? This failure to 'keep up' is invariably evidenced in personality problems and is as invariably resultant from poor reading comprehension. He often attempts to substitute other capabilities for his inabilities. This may take the form of daydreams, developing into an introvert, or he may content himself with television or movies or other methods of vicarious living which require no reading ability. Again, he may build upon his physical prowess as an athlete or even as the lowly bully. In class this type often becomes a discipline problem, which could mean that in his own way he actually is calling out for help, without even realizing it himself. When you work with such youngsters and see the doors of their young minds open, however gradually, and see enlightenment flood into their comprehension, then is when you feel tremendously rewarded."

Mrs. Statser explained some of the ways and means used in remedial reading. The most modern books, teaching aids and methods are available.

A refreshment plate was served by the hostess following the program.

Adelphian Club

The Adelphian Club met Sept. 20 at the club house. Mrs. Elton Carroll, president, presided.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Jack Turner, as leader, read the club collect. She then introduced Mrs. Gordon Erwin who gave the program on "The Challenge of Outer Space."

Mrs. Erwin gave a very interesting discourse on the book, "The White Sands Incident," by Dr. Daniel Fry. In the book, Dr. Fry told of his encounters with a man from outer space. This man, Alan, explained to Dr. Fry that the earth had reached a high peak in materialistic science, but until earth reached as high a plane in its spiritual and social sciences, it couldn't continue to progress.

Mrs. Curtis Barker and Mrs. Leslie Thomas served a delicious dessert plate to 17 members.

Scholarship Is Awarded to Marta Navarrette at TWU

It has been almost a year since Marta Navarrette came to Texas on a tourist visa. Mr. and Mrs. John Wyss, daughter and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Moody Bursley of Crowell, met Marta when they were in the Peace Corps in Ecuador, and were so impressed with her intelligence and ability that they brought her to Texas on their return last October. Marta stayed with the Bursleys and visited classes at Crowell High School through the first semester. The Bursleys sent her to Texas Woman's University in Denton for the spring semester after she was granted a student visa.

She did so well that the Pan American Round Tables of Texas have awarded her the Florence Terry Griswold Scholarship Award for 1967-68, which pays her tuition, board and room, and books for continuing study at TWU. She will receive the scholarship for two years.

The Pan American Round Table is a movement for women founded by Florence Terry Griswold on October 16, 1916, in San Antonio, and is designed to interpret itself in acts tending to draw more closely the social and cultural bonds of the Americas. Its purpose is to acquaint its members with the language, geography, history, literature, arts, culture and customs of the republics of the Western Hemisphere; through knowledge, understanding is gained, and understanding leads to friendship. There are now 67 Pan American Round Tables in South and Central America; and 35 in the United States, 26 of them in Texas.

The principal objective of Dallas Pan American Round Table One is to provide scholarships for deserving students of Latin American background. Dallas Table I has two scholarships of its own and contributes to the Florence Terry Griswold Scholarship, which is sponsored by all Pan American Round Tables of Texas. The Dallas group recommended Marta for the scholarship and she was selected by the state board of directors.

Marta is studying business at TWU, and plans to return to Ecuador when she finishes, to work with her people. She will be able to teach or work in the business field. In time, though, she says she dreams of returning to the U. S. The clothing stores, shoe shops, and particularly the super markets, are fascinating to her as there are no comparable stores or ready-made merchandise in Ecuador.

W. S. L. Meeting

Extrasensory perception, or ESP, was interestingly discussed in a talk given by Paul Stapp, a Crowell High School student, at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Women's Service League held at the community center Thursday, Sept. 21.

Paul said ESP defies description. Known by other names, it has been in the world since the beginning of the human race. It has been known in earlier times as "clairvoyance, mind reading" and more recently as "telepathy," which is the experience of seeming to know what another person was thinking, even across many miles. The subject is still under controversy in the realm of scientific research. Experiments have been conducted by scientists studying ESP to determine if certain persons have it or not, or if it is the result of chance. No satisfactory answers have been found or seemingly ever will be found to explain such phenomena. Only in personal experiences can be found any individual answers. May psychologists do not believe extrasensory perception exists. However, as Paul related his intense research in the subject, he kindled extraordinary interest and thought on ESP.

Texas Highway Department reports 6.5 million vehicles were registered in the state last year, compared to less than 200 thousand and 50 years ago in the department's first year.

Barbed Wire Is 100 Years Old

By Mrs. Virgil Johnson

Colt pistols and Winchesters are usually credited with having won the west, but the invention of barbed wire a hundred years ago succeeded in doing what the rifle or the Colt never did. Even though wire ushered in an reign of lawlessness and terror, it finally domesticated the west, while barbed wire brought profit to the west, it first brought loss, agony and death. The man who built the first wire fence to keep his cattle from straying too far from camp during winter storms little realized what he was starting.

It was on April 2, 1867, that the first United States wire patent was granted to Alphonzo Dabb. The years following the Civil War were marked by a tremendous increase in the meat packing industry. Ranchers could never meet the demand with scrub cattle. Fencing the range meant improved herds, also meant opportunity for rustlers and brand changers.

The sheep-cattle controversy added to the need for fencing. Sheep herders wanted fences to protect their flocks from the open range, and cattlemen wanted the sheep out of their way. "Homesteaders" or "nesters" wanted only to protect their farms. Cowmen regarded the settlers with hostility and watched with unconcealed scorn his efforts to stretch wire for miles in substitution for wood as fencing material. Wire fences opened up the possibility of homesteaders to claim prairies where there was barely enough timber for firewood. Hedge growing, as practiced by European farmers, was too slow, but from the prickly hedge came the idea for barbed wire.

Following closely behind the Dabb invention came that of Lucien B. Smith with his design which consisted essentially of small wooden blocks enclosing a stout wire. Through each block were driven two sharp brads, each in opposing direction. This was an unpopular design. The spur rowel, an invention of the smithy, William D. Hunt, preceded the famous Glidden inventions. His were not first, but by far, the best.

By 1890, there were more than 400 patents. Inventors were intent upon claiming a share of the booming cattle trade. While cowmen and homesteaders fought, inventors became entangled in lawsuits.

Barbed wire was looked upon with horror and termed it ferocious, while others doubted that it was capable of holding cattle. Meanwhile, a new industry, barbed wire salesmen, was born.

Barbed wire was introduced in Texas by the ambitious salesman, John W. Gates, who later became a millionaire. Determined to do what lectures and literature could not do, he purposed to show cowmen how much their future depended on barbed wire. In San Antonio, Gates fenced the plaza in front of the Alamo and filled it with wild steers. He headed them, then stampeded them. After having charged them a couple of times, the bewildered steers huddled in the center of the plaza and refused to move. This demonstration did prove to be worth more than lecture or literature. It started wagons groaning with great loads of wire out to the cattle ranches.

To the already long list of duties which the cowboy was asked to perform, another was added, that of riding and fixing the fence.

One of his hardest assignments was riding along the lines for fence cutters. A man was within his rights to carry a pistol, but if he was caught with wire nippers, he was sure to land in jail. Barbed wire has caused death both to men and cattle, especially in severe blizzards when cattle piled up for miles against the drift fence. Nevertheless, it has never ceased to be big industry. Barbed wire continues its popularity. Collectors have identified 922 different varieties. Rare designs sell for as much as $2.00 per foot.

By 1890, practically all cattle country was under fence. This was a result of the courage of the nesters, who in many cases were cowpunchers of the larger ranches. The free range was gone when barbed wire came to stay.

Colt pistols and Winchesters are usually credited with having won the west, but the invention of barbed wire a hundred years ago succeeded in doing what the rifle or the Colt never did. Even though wire ushered in an reign of lawlessness and terror, it finally domesticated the west, while barbed wire brought profit to the west, it first brought loss, agony and death. The man who built the first wire fence to keep his cattle from straying too far from camp during winter storms little realized what he was starting.

It was on April 2, 1867, that the first United States wire patent was granted to Alphonzo Dabb. The years following the Civil War were marked by a tremendous increase in the meat packing industry. Ranchers could never meet the demand with scrub cattle. Fencing the range meant improved herds, also meant opportunity for rustlers and brand changers.

The sheep-cattle controversy added to the need for fencing. Sheep herders wanted fences to protect their flocks from the open range, and cattlemen wanted the sheep out of their way. "Homesteaders" or "nesters" wanted only to protect their farms. Cowmen regarded the settlers with hostility and watched with unconcealed scorn his efforts to stretch wire for miles in substitution for wood as fencing material. Wire fences opened up the possibility of homesteaders to claim prairies where there was barely enough timber for firewood. Hedge growing, as practiced by European farmers, was too slow, but from the prickly hedge came the idea for barbed wire.
