Mr. I. O. Wilkinson, of Emporia, who is agent for the National Mutual Accident Association, of Bloomington, Ill., gave us a pleasant call, last Monday. Mr. Wilkinson will soon be canvassing the county, and, as he is well known to many of our citizens, we think he will secure applications for a good many policies, as the costs are very small, and to be insured against an accident, and to receive benefits therefor during sickness, as well as for the beneficiary to receive a certain amount in case of death, is a good thing.

At the post mortem examination of the body of Mr. O. C. Pratt, held last Thursday, it was discovered that his right lung had entirely disappeared, and the walls of the left plural cavity were lined with viscous pus. The right lung was full of tubercles, abscesses and cicatrices. The intestine were also affected by tubercles, one having sloughed and broken, so that the contents escaped into the abdominal cavity. The right kidney was atrophied to half the normal size. The other organs were apparently healthy. Cause of death, tubercular consumption.

To us for ten anxious months his infant smiles were given; And then he bade farewell to earth, And went to live in heaven. There in the Shepherd's bosom, White as the drifted snow, Is the little lamb we missed one morn From our little family here below.

We saw not the angels who met him there, They stole of the city we could not see; Over the river, over the river, Little Charlie stands waiting to welcome me.

The great fair at New Orleans opened December 16th. It continues until the end of May. A world's fair in winter, and at New Orleans, was a bright idea, for the city itself and its surroundings are the most enjoyable in the world at that season. But a winter journey thither has never been so cheap until now. In view of the fair, and the desire of many people to see it if the circumstances are favorable, the Santa Fe road has supplied its agents with round-trip tickets which carry the purchaser to Kansas City, Saint Louis, Memphis, New Orleans and back, and give him a month or more to enjoy himself in, at nearly half fare. Persons who are thinking of making this journey, either for business or pleasure, can obtain all details by talking with Mr. J. C. Lythe agent at Strong City.

The very best music that can be found in the State will be engaged, and nothing will be left undone to make it a grand success. It is intended to have it as near as possible a strictly stockmen's dance, consequently the invitations will not be as general as usual. The price of "all-round" tickets will be $3.00 per couple.

OUR CARRYING TRADE.

Excerpts from a Report of the Secretary of State Concerning Our Trade With Mexico, Central and South America and the West Indies.

Table with columns for Articles, United States, France, and Great Britain. Rows include Cotton manufactures, Iron and steel, and various other goods.

It appears from the communication that foreign vessels bring to the United States from these countries double the imports brought in American vessels.

Imports into the United States from South America in freight vessels $49,724,000. In American vessels, $25,950,000.

Exports from the United States to South America: In American vessels, $19,933,000. In foreign vessels, $11,282,000.

Our total imports from South America, foreign steam vessels brought products to the value of $32,063,000, against $9,893,000 brought in American steam vessels.

The principal reason assigned for the great difference is that round trips of the great European lines of steam vessels are expedited on the following programme: From Europe, laden with European manufactures for South America; from South America, laden with South American products for the United States; from the United States, laden with our products for Europe.

A CONFLICT OF WILLS. A Pair of Wills of Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines Offered for Probate—More Litigation in Prospect.

NEW ORLEANS, La., January 21. The succession of Myra Clark Gaines bids fair to be as fruitful of litigation as that of her father.

I, Myra Clark Gaines, being of sound mind, memory and understanding, do hereby declare that I am of legal age and sound mind, and do hereby make this my last will and testament.

The other will is filed by William H. Wilder, an old friend of the deceased, and James T. Christmas, who are therein named testamentary executors without bond.

TACT.

A Gift Which May be Consciously Exercised and Brought by Use to a Higher Perfection.

May we not describe tact fairly well as the antithesis of clumsiness? Etymologically, as we know, tact is touch, and it may be called, therefore, the deft way of handling people.

Tact ought not to be confounded with savoir-faire it is not merely the English equivalent for that term; one may have a long acquaintance with the world and its conventions and be perfected in the practice of social duties, great and small, and yet be lacking in this fine sixth sense, so invaluable to its possessors and to all with whom they come in contact.
