Special Education Class Gaining Experience in Business World

The special education class of Mrs. James Welch is gaining some practical experience in the business world. The students have made many gift items in their handcraft classes last year and this, which they have placed in attractive arrangements in a small gift shop located in the front part of their classroom, which is in the southwest corner of the new gym building.

Each student has an opportunity to have responsibility for operating the shop during each school day. He greets customers, shows items for sale, and makes change when purchases are made.

The shop opened last Thursday morning and sales have been surprisingly successful, Mrs. Welch said this week. Many items have already been sold.

Types of items made by the students and offered for sale include:

- Leathercraft: belts, billfolds and small purses.
- Tile craft: jewelry boxes and ash trays.
- Beautiful grape and berry clusters in several colors. Fantasy flower arrangements in all colors.
- Wall plaques. Christmas table arrangements with scented candles.

The money derived from the sale of these articles will be used for other handcraft projects, Mrs. Welch said.

Members of the class invite everyone to visit their shop, which is open during school hours.

This beautiful Christmas manger scene (shown above) was put up last Thursday on the northwest corner of the court house lawn.

The raising of money to buy the Nativity scene was sponsored by the Women's Service League, which had various money-raising projects during the year, in addition to donations made by interested persons.

The W. S. L. has donated the scene in honor of all servicemen and women of all wars from Foard County.

As a remembrance to all of Foard County's men now in the service — whose addresses they could obtain—the WSL had the above scene reproduced as a Christmas card and greeting from their home town.

Junior Class

Only two more weeks of school until Christmas. Thank goodness for holidays!

The speech department's presentation of plays Monday night was a success. The between-curtain acts were really great, thanks to the Dramatics Club. Thanks go to Jean Halbert for all the time and effort she has spent to make the plays possible. We all appreciate it, Mrs. Halbert.

The Christmas play—"Christmas in Oz"—is basically a children's play; it will be presented for several programs: Lions Club, hospital party, Adelphian Club, and a school assembly. Juniors in the east are Santa Claus, Pat Cates; Dorothy, Rita Coffey; Cat, Kristi McLain; Witch, Micke Owens; Lion, Peggy Rasberry; and Tinman, Jerry Martin.

The basketball teams are really looking g-r-e-a-t this year. Turn out and support our teams. There is a home game here Friday night. Let's "whip" Chillicothe! By the way, how does Chilli look? Oh, pretty good in blue china.

Senior News

It seems that all seniors are looking forward to the Christmas holidays, and to begin the last semester of high school. Let's all hope that the second one will go as fast as the first one.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the one-act plays Monday night. Thanks to everyone who had a part in the plays and a very special thanks to Mrs. Halbert for taking the time to practice with us and giving up her time. We really appreciate it!

"Oh come all ye faithful" to the basketball game Friday night when the mighty Crowell Wildcats host the Chillicothe Eagles. Teams—you're really looking good this year.

To all of you silly seniors: "Do you know what they call Santa Claus' helpers?" Answer: Subordinate Clauses.

Sophomore News

In a class meeting Thursday morning, the sophomore class planned a Christmas party. The date was set for Dec. 13 at 7 p. m. at the Thalia gym. Each sophomore is asked to bring 50¢ and if you bring a guest, an extra 50¢ is added. President Bette Sue Barry assigned some sophomores to two different committees: recreation, Nancy Looney, Beth Welch and Betty Linda Whitfield; decoration, Pat Matus, Rea Gina Eavenson, Debbie Johnson, Rhonda Swan, Cliff Booker, Ronny Naylor and Bette Sue.

In English II, the sophomores are catching up on their reading. We are reading the novel, Silas Marner, out of class, and in class Mrs. Manard is reading, "The Tragedy of Julius Caesar," to us.

Freshmen News

Freshmen girls in home ec learned to make different kinds and sizes of burlap flowers for Christmas decorating last week. The home ec cottage was filled with flowers.

In typing, freshmen are getting along with their lessons, and have learned how to grade their speed tests.

If you were born a Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 22), here is your horoscope: Avoid being trampled by a herd of wild elephants. Stay away from those other high school students!

Know Your Departments

The CHS Library is being spotlighted this week. Crowell High librarian is Mrs. Jean Halbert. Mrs. Halbert is assisted in her duties by eleven student librarians and Mrs. Ocie Pearl Bolibruch. The library is the center of much of the research work by students: a total of 27 periodical magazines is available to students and five newspapers are put out for use by the student body. In total, the high school library has almost 3,000 books. Student librarians are available every period to assist anyone in checking out a book, locating research materials, finding a book, or other duties handled from the library. Student dictionaries, college catalogs, Readers Guide, Texas almanacs and six sets of encyclopedias are also available for reference. In order to keep up with changing events and times, the library purchases a new set of encyclopedias every three years. The CHS Library Club stems from the student librarians: Gail Wheeler, Carolyn Nichols, Jerry Martin, Jerry McLain, Linda Gray, Teri Garrett, Rea Gina Eavenson, Sara Collins, Rita Coffey, Terri Cates and Pat Cates. Each librarian has specific duties every week in order to give students the best possible service from an efficient library department. Sometimes, CHS student librarians use their experience in library work as a reference for college or when obtaining a job.

Christmas Traditions

Once again we are confronted with the problems and-or joys of Christmas. Santa Claus rules the yuletide only in the USA and the British Isles. Throughout the rest of the Christian world, Santa is unknown. His place is taken by other colorful Christmas figures. And they do not all come on Dec. 25, either.

La Befana, the sweeper, is the good fairy of Italian children. On Jan. 6, the eve of Epiphany, she knocks at each door with her broom, enters, and holds a candle close to each child's face as she slips a toy under the pillow.

In Swedish homes on Christmas eve, Yulbock or "Christmas Goat" butts open the door. While the children scatter and hide, he throws presents through the door.

The youngsters of Syria receive their gifts from the "Gentle Camel." According to an old legend, this little camel fell ill and the end of the exhausting trip to Bethlehem, and the Wise Men left him behind as a pet for the infant Jesus.

Other children in other lands receive presents and blessings from the Wise Men and the Blessed Angels. Even the Christ Child is said to appear.

Santa Claus is not just a symbol of Christmas to the children. He is universally accepted as a symbol of the joy and gladness that prevails during the Christmas season.

One-Act Plays

CHS students entertained the public with three one-act plays Monday night. They were Submerged, Along Came Harriett and Feudin' Mountain Boys. Mrs. Jean Halbert, speech and drama director, had worked hard and diligently to get ready to present these plays. The students in the one-act plays really appreciate all the time and effort that she has put in working with them. The casts would also like to express their appreciation to all the other people who helped: those working backstage, with make-up, posters, advertising, and of course, those people who attended.

Community Improvement

Graduate to a flameless electric dryer. It's America's favorite. Perfect for permanent press clothes.

Why go on lifting, lugging and hanging three tons of wet clothes a year? Why not graduate to a modern flameless electric clothes dryer? It's America's favorite dryer, preferred by women two to one over flame-type dryers. Why?
Gentle electric heat is perfect for permanent-press garments. It "relaxes" synthetic fabrics for proper wrinkle-resistance, so clothes come out soft, fresh-looking and ready to wear. What's more, a flameless electric dryer costs less to buy and has fewer parts to service. It needs no pilot, no flue.
So see your appliance dealer about a flameless electric dryer now. Make a clean break with the past... and graduate to another appliance that adds to the joy of Total Electric Living.

Tex.—January's draft of Texas is 573. That is up from December's 456. State Service director, said all of the call will be delayed until he receives instructions on procedure for random selection.

Order in which capsules are drawn thus determines the order in which men with matching birth dates will be drafted next year. Same sequence applies to those now deferred, or exempt in the future, when they return to "1-A" classification.

Texas' quota for pre-induction physical and mental examination next month is 5,800.

In addition to available men 19-26, all those 18 years and six to 11 months old in January of 1970, may be ordered for examination to fill the call. Oldest will be ordered first.

High Court was asked to reconsider its finding that a young Army Sgt., Albert Buckman Wharton II, is sole heir to Electra Waggoner's $45 million estate located in six North Texas counties. A foster sister challenged the will.

Supreme Court ordered a new trial of a suit resulting from a three-car collision in Collin County.

Court of Criminal Appeals reversed itself and upheld the life sentence of a man convicted of having narcotics paraphernalia.

DISASTER TAG URGED — Governor Smith has asked that 27 counties in East Texas be declared as disaster areas due to the prolonged drought this summer and fall.

Clifford M. Hardin, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, promptly announced the counties are eligible for emergency assistance under the livestock feed program.

SMALL TOWN SAFETY VALVES — Interest in developing the small town as a safety valve of galloping urbanization is gaining momentum.

Governor Smith started the new interest in small town development when he announced his "Texas Communities Tomorrow" plan, which offers a program of self-help for the state's decaying rural communities.

Texas Municipal League devoted an entire issue of its magazine, Texas Town and City, to the problems—and the solutions.

Governor Smith has said "if we continue to worry about urban problems in a relatively exclusive way, without attending to the plight of small towns, we will have only rural wastelands and urban slums."

EX-LEGISLATORS WORK FOR STATE — At least eight former lawmakers have been given state jobs to help them complete their eligibility for state retirement pay. Three are registered as lobbyists.

Added to the payrolls recently were these former Senators: James E. Taylor of Austin, Weaver Moore of Houston, Jimmy Phillips of Angleton, William Fly of Victoria and Vernon Lemens of Waxahachie.

Three former House members also were added: Jack Bryan of Buffalo, Henry Lehman of Giddings and Fred Niemann of Austin (elected from Yoakum).

WEATHER CONTROL — A "hail suppression" program proposed for six West Texas counties around Lubbock is feasible, a report to the Texas Water Development Board shows.

Tom Henderson of Atmospherics, Inc. of Fresno, Calif., made the study for the state board, as part of its job of developing interest in weather modification projects.

But John Carr, assistant chief engineer for the board, said the agency has no money to go further into the program. Technique employed is a modification of "seeding" practices.

A "bomb" made with silver iodide is dropped into clouds with hail potential. The nuclei of the chemical "compete" with other nuclei in the cloud for what water is available.

Goal is to prevent hailstones from forming, or at least reduce them in size. Cost of the program is estimated at $100,000 a year.

Junior Leaders — The Foard County Junior Leaders 4-H Club met last Thursday at the community center with Peggy Welch presiding.

Remelle Marlow and Martha Martin gave a program on cancer. They told kinds, dangers and the seven warning signs of cancer.

Pat Cates gave a committee report on the petitions and passed one around for everyone to sign. When the individual petitions are completed, they are to be sent to NASA.

Kay Shirley led several songs and was accompanied on the piano by Pat Cates. Jerry Martin said the prayer and Steve Graves led the 4-H pledge. Hostesses were Trudy Bird and Cindy Wisdom who used a Christmas theme in the decorations and refreshments.

At the next meeting, which will be January 15, Daria Bell and Karen Gray will be hostesses and Rhonda Vecera will give the program.

A 17-member Youth Advisory Committee has been formed to evaluate the draft law and its administration and offer advice.

COURTS SPEAK — Texas Supreme Court refused to change its rule that the Sunday closing law is constitutional. However, it granted a motion by challengers to stay its mandate pending appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Federal district court here threw out atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair's suit to prevent broadcasting of prayer and Bible readings by astronauts from outer space. She said she will appeal.

State Supreme Court agreed to send back for retrial a medical malpractice suit brought by a farmworker against an Ennis doctor.

D. C. Zeibig Is Subject for Article in Record-News

D. C. Zeibig, 83, long-time resident of Foard County, was the subject of an article in the Wichita Falls Record-News.

Mr. Zeibig, who before the turn of the century, was employed at the Wichita Times by the late Ed Howard, wrote a letter recently to Mr. Howard's son, Rhea Howard, present-day publisher of the Wichita Falls newspapers. Upon Mr. Howard's receipt of Zeibig's letter, he wrote Mr. Zeibig telling him that he was sending a reporter here to interview this former Wichita Falls printer. The article written by George Works follows:

Carl Zeibig was behind the plow at age 7 and his tractor is on his farm near Crowell 66 years later, but the part of his life he most fondly recalls was working as a printer's devil for the Wichita Daily Times.

Zeibig, now 83 and retired, was only 12 in 1898 when he went to work for Ed Howard, new owner of the Wichita Weekly Times.

"I earned my first dollar working for Howard," Zeibig laughed. "I worked two nights a week helping Charlie Gooze print the paper."

"I'll never forget going in to tell Gooze that I had to quit because the school teacher told my father that I sneaked away from school at recess to go help print the paper. That's when he said we would print it at night."

Zeibig, who raised two families during a long lifetime, remembers his days in Wichita Falls as the happiest of his boyhood. His father, Robert Zeibig, operated a furniture store and funeral home.

"We lived in a little four-room house a block from the court house," Zeibig said, and added, "We didn't have electricity, indoor plumbing or anything, but I look back and I still like to think about those days."

He worked for the Times two years. His two nights-a-week position soon included sweeping up on Saturdays. "I always got the office in shape for the next week," he pointed out. "And Mr. Ed Howard would always come in and we'd talk a lot. I never met a man I respected any more than him."

Zeibig became head of the household just after he reached 14. His father was attending an embalmers course in Fort Worth. He had completed his work and was to have returned home the next day. He died when a freight elevator in which he was riding crashed from the top of a six-floor building.

Zeibig's grandfather moved the family to the old family place northeast of Crowell. There Zeibig took over to help his mother raise three other children. It ended his newspaper career.

He went to school in Wichita Falls four years and recalled there was only one school in the city. "It was three stories with a basement, and that's all I remember about it."

He remembers when Seventh was the town's main street. "It was lined with grocery stores and saloons. They served drinks over the bar. I remember being out on the street one day and hearing a shot in the two-story Billy Keys Saloon. I watched a man stagger out of the door and walk across the street. Then he just lay down and died. The town was pretty wild and woolly."

Zeibig recalled having to feed the newspapers through the fence several times last week with her father, Charlie Blevins, in the rest home at Vernon.

fed press one at a time. "It was a big day when they got the big press," he said.

When he returned to Crowell, he helped raise his father's family, then started on one of his own. He has three children, a son in Lubbock and two daughters, one in Crowell and one at Irving. His wife of 57 years died a year ago.

He has seen a lot of new inventions and new operations in his lifetime. He had an old T model Ford in 1920 "when it was one of the only automobiles in this part of the world."

His comment about men landing on the moon: "I didn't much think that would happen."

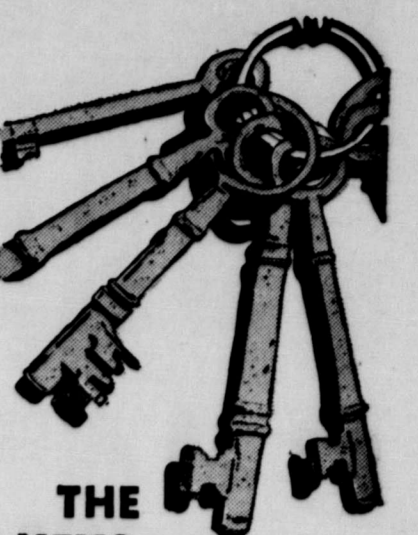

He is more concerned now with his chickens. He lost 18 laying hens to a bobcat on Thanksgiving Day. He no longer farms his 360-acre place, but leases it to keep it in production. He does hire planted 20 acres of wheat and six acres of cotton every year.

He still drives every day and likes to visit friends in Crowell. "You can make a lot of friends in a lifetime," he said, sighing.

Fish Farming Increases

More than 3,500 acres of water in Texas are now being used for the intensive culture of catfish.

And, says Wallace Klusmann, extension wildlife specialist, the dynamic growth of the new industry is expected to keep on expanding. The Texas Extension Service, he noted, has added to top authority in the fish culture field to its head-

Governor Preston Smith has announced the formation of the Texas Communities Tomorrow program for mobilizing the resources and services of the state government to benefit smaller communities of the state—such as Crowell.

Texas Communities Tomorrow is designed to enable state government to respond more effectively to the needs of the smaller community. Smaller towns can obtain information and assistance through the Division of State-Local Relations, Office of the Governor. The program will aid communities in using not only state but also federal programs in achieving locally desired goals.

Programs, plans and surveys conducted by government at higher levels have been designed, to a great extent, to attack the ills of the large cities. The tendency has been to regard large city crisis and rural decay as separate problems.

Texas Communities Tomorrow
was born of the conviction that neither urban crisis nor rural decay can be solved in the absence of balanced development and population distribution for both large and small communities. The Texas Communities Tomorrow program is a practical approach toward making small towns better places in which to live, work, learn, and play.

The well being of the large cities rests basically upon the prosperity, or lack of it, among the people of the regions surrounding them. Therefore, revitalization of small towns is also imperative for their sake.

The Texas Communities Tomorrow is designed:

—To simplify the complex task of finding and using state and federal programs which meet the needs of individual communities.

—To assure that the small community needs and problems are recognized, analyzed and reflected in policy and program decisions and recommendations by the Governor and state departments.

—To develop, with the aid of existing state agencies, new services and helps for local solutions to specific regional problems.

—To conduct "action" meetings in each of the twenty-one planning regions using specialists from state and federal agencies working in partnership with local leaders to achieve locally established goals.

—To provide training opportunities for local government officials and employees through courses, conferences and workshops.

—To respond to inquiries from small town officials by telephone, correspondence, or personal contact concerning state and federal programs that affect local communities.

In his announcement of the new program, Governor Smith emphasized that "success of this program will depend upon the use of it by local officials and other community leaders."

Dale Everson and Mr. and Mrs.
Jerry Baten and son, Bret, of Pampa spent from Friday until Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. E.
A. Boren.

Allen Boren of Kerrick spent from Wednesday until Friday of last week with his brother, E. A.
Boren, and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Harris and son, Stephen Wayne, of Andrews spent the Thanksgiving holidays

Texas Grapefruit Being Featured in Produce Departments

Produce departments are beginning to emphasize Texas grapefruit as supplies increase and qualities improve. Flavor has reached a peak for this time of year, reports Gwendolyn Clyatt, extension consumer marketing specialist.

This week's fruit market offers a wide choice with apples, oranges, grapes, tangerines, tangelos, bananas, cranberries and avocados, the Texas A&M University specialist adds.

Canned peaches, because of the plentiful supply, are an excellent buy in most stores.

Celery, red and russet potatoes, dry yellow onions, acorn squash, sweet potatoes, rutabagas, mustard, collards, turnip tops, salad tomatoes, cauliflower and broccoli are reasonably priced this week.

At retail meat counters, look for best beef values on round steaks, chuck steaks and roasts, some rib roasts, English roasts, short ribs and ground beef. Because the market is unsettled, pork prices are up a bit. However, good buys can be found on hams, canned hams, picnics, number two bacon and sausage.

Poultry continues to be plentiful and generally, grade A large size eggs are the best value for egg money, Mrs. Clyatt says.

The honors and awards committee presented its report and recommendations, which were adopted. Future plans and needs of the band were also discussed.

James Streit, band director, was congratulated on the excellent showing made by the Wildcat band at the UIL marching contest at Midwestern University in November. Mention was made of letters received from the Nocona band and from one music director associated with the Wichita Falls public schools commending the band on the good work this year. Also, special recognition was given

Hints Given on Keeping Christmas Trees Safe

Christmas trees will soon be the center of attraction in most homes and the problem of how to keep them fresh and safe becomes real.

Here are suggestions from county agent Joe Burkett which may help solve the problem.

If the tree isn't to be put up right away, it should be stored in a cool and shaded location and sprinkled frequently with water. When the tree is moved into the house, the lower tip of the trunk should be cut off at an angle, exposing new wood. The base of the tree should be placed in water. A new tree may absorb as much as a quart of water in a day, so the container should be checked daily. The moisture helps keep the needles moist and reduces the fire hazard.

Place the tree away from heating units, fireplaces and television sets. Heat dries out the tree and creates a fire hazard.

Lights should be carefully placed on the tree. Each light puts out heat. If needles on the tree touch a bulb, they are dried out and if the contact is for long periods, fire could result.

Most important, place the tree so that if it accidentally topples, it will not touch something that could be ignited or block a passageway. Finally, says the agent, don't overload electrical circuits and don't use strings of lights which contain defective wiring. It's best not to leave tree or other lighted decorations on when no one is at home.

Department of Agriculture Announces Food Stamp Program Extension

Following President Nixon's signing of the Agriculture Appropriations Act providing $610 million for the food stamp program, Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin last week announced a major expansion of the program to take full advantage of the increased funds available for this fiscal year.

Secretary Hardin outlined the broad framework of a 4-point program of actions to be taken to improve the operation of the food stamp program.

1. Coupon allotments under the program will be changed to assure that low-income participating families will be able to purchase a more nutritionally adequate diet. This critically important step will be accomplished by providing each participating family enough food coupons to pay for the U. S. Department of Agriculture's "economy diet," adjusted to compensate for current increases in the level of retail food prices. Coupon allotments will be set at a uniform level nationally, eliminating the separate schedules now used for the north and south. For a family of four this will amount to $106, compared with a current minimum of $58. Every participating family will get a stamp bonus, greater than or at least equal to the bonus for which it is now eligible. Bonuses to low income families will more than double in many cases.

2. The amount that a family must pay for its stamp allotment will be reduced as far as possible within the law's present requirement that this payment must not be less than a family's normal food expenditure. The department has re-studied the relationship of purchase requirements to normal food expenditures, and has concluded that present payment schedules can and should be reduced substantially. Secretary Hardin emphasized that the reform legislation requested by the President will allow even further reductions in charges for stamps, when it is passed.

3. The Department's Food and Nutrition Service will make every effort to expand the program to many new areas, including those now participating in the commodity distribution program which wish to change to food stamps.

4. "Outreach" efforts will be accelerated in counties and cities that are currently in the food stamp program, to acquaint them with these major improvements in the program in order to increase the participation level among those eligible to take part.

The plans for program expansion will be detailed to cooperating state agencies as soon as they are in final form. These state officials then will get the word to local officials in well over 1500 participating counties and cities, in the effort to bring as many persons as possible into the food stamp program.

Captures Coyote

Odell Williams, Foard County's rattlesnake catcher, captured a different "varmint" last week. He was in the News office Thursday afternoon and had in a cage in his car a live coyote.

Williams said his dogs "killed" the coyote Wednesday night, and he threw the "body" into a cage on his car. Thursday morning, the coyote was very much alive, and ready for a fight.

Missouri College Representative Visits Local School

Miss Andrea Sobotka, assistant director of admissions for Christian College, Columbia, Mo., was in Crowell Wednesday, Dec. 10, to talk with high school juniors and seniors. For the first time in the school's history, she interviewed both men and women.

After 118 years of educating young women, Christian, the oldest women's college west of the Mississippi River, opened its doors to men this year. Its first five male students were outnumbered 100 to 1 when they enrolled for classes in September.

Christian College is a small liberal arts school located in Columbia, Mo., one of the most unusual college communities in the country. This small city, halfway between Kansas City and St. Louis, has been tabbed "College Town, U. S. A." because of the high percentage of college students in its population. More than 40 per cent (23,000) of the city's 54,000 inhabitants are students on one of the three campuses in town, Christian College, the University of Missouri and Stephens College.

Pioneer Circle

The Pioneer Circle of the Methodist Women's Society had its monthly social meeting on Monday, Dec. 8, in the home of Mrs. Frank Flesher. Mrs. J. N. Ribble was leader.

After a medley of Christmas hymns was sung, Mrs. Iva Ballard led in prayer. The Christmas story from Luke was read by Mrs. A. R. Sanders. Mrs. Grady Halbert brought the feature for the afternoon; a monologue, "Matilda on Christmas," by Dorothy Dix.

After an exchange of gifts, the hostess served refreshments to seven members and two guests, Mrs. Halbert and Mrs. George Wilkins of Odessa.

Receives Award for Proficiency

An official State Health Department citation for work proficiency has been awarded to Milton F. Hunter, plant operations specialist for the Crowell Water Department.

Signed by the State Health Commissioner and authorities of the Texas Water Utilities Association, the certificate of competency is awarded only to those utility plant operators who have successfully demonstrated their skill and knowledge in modern principles of plant management.

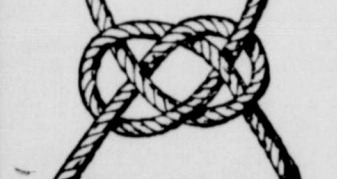

State law requires that at least one operator per shift be certified for competency by health department engineers, but many operators seek certification on their own time and at their own expense to increase their efficiency as key public servants to their community and state.

The engineers said the attainment is evidence of Hunter's efforts to better prepare himself for the duties of his profession.

Mrs. Darvin Bell, president, reports the following contributions to the Crowell Cemetery were made during the month of November:
