Registration Urged As Many Elections Coming Up in '70

One hundred and nine Foard County residents registered to vote last week, bringing the total for on Saturday. the year up to 882. Voter registration deadline is January 31.

As of the week's total, Foard County is only 33 short of the goal of 915 registered voters for the county as set by the State Democratic Executive Committee in its "Operation: Everybody!" campaign to get Texas residents to register during this election year.

Gold, silver and bronze plaques will be awarded to the counties which exceed their quotas by the highest margins. All counties which meet their quotas will receive special certificates of merit.

In addition to the always-large number of state offices to be voted on this year, Foard County voters will cast ballots for county judge, county attorney, county treasurer, county and district clerk and Precinct 2 and 4 commission-

Alexander Sokoloff Now Teaching in California College

Every Christmas for the past thirty-one years, the James Welch family has received a Christmas R. D. Washington, 67, a teach- greeting from the family of Alexin San Bernardino, Calif., where Alexander is a faculty member of San Bernardino State College.

Alexander will be remembered by the people of Crowell and Foard County as the young student who, thirty-one years ago, came to Crowell from Mexico City to live in the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Yeats and family, and attend high school, where he was graduated with the class of 1939.

Since that time a number of interesting things have happened to him. He left Crowell that summer and enrolled at the University of California at Los Angeles. In 1942, he enlisted in the United States Army, and after serving three months, was granted United State citizenship, his prior citizenship having been in Mexico. After the war, he went back to UCLA where he was graduated with a BS degree. He went from there to the University of Chicago and received from that institution the

MS and PhD degrees in biology. For the next several years, he was employed by the Miner Institute, a privately-endowed agricultural reserach foundation at Utica, New York. During this time his chief interest was in the field of genetics, using the fruit fly and a genus of wild flour weevil for his research organisms. After the death of Dr. Miner, the Institute was disbanded, and Alexander and his family moved to California where he joined the faculty of the University of California at Berkeley.

He has been on the staff at San Bernardino State College for the past five years.

He has written several books on the genetics of the flour weevil and recently had some of his works published in the Russian journal, The Cub Scout Pack of Crowell is now collecting old newspapers, it was announced this week by Robert Foster.

The Pack sells the old papers to a firm in Duke, Okla., with the proceeds to be spent in the local Cub Scout program. Foster said that several tons of old papers were sold last week.

Farmer's Tax Guide Available Here

Copies of the 1970 edition of the Farmer's Tax Guide, covering 1969 tax rules and regulations, are now available from the office of County Agent Joe Burkett.
As indicated by the title, the publication has been prepared as an aid to help farmers with tax problems peculiar to their industry. Sample forms, filled out as examples, together with explanations, are used liberally in the guide, the county agent said.

Such subjects as income to be reported, farm business expenses, operating loss deductions, capital expenditures, farm inventories, depreciation and depletion, capital gains and losses, the sale of a farm, soil and water conservation and many others are covered in the 48-page publication.

Farmers may pick up a single copy without cost at his office, Burkett said.

A vaccine to prevent rubella (German measles) has been approved by the federal government. Widespread use of the vaccine can wipe out this disease, which is a major cause of birth defects, ac-cording to the March of Dimes.

That is the target date but whether they will hold to it I do not know. If you have not done so, talk to your doctor about

In Loraine we have a hospital of 20 beds owned by two medical doctors and employees including ber 23. The doctors tell me that if they are not allowed to keep Medicare patients in the hospital they will be forced to close to all patients so far as hospitalization is concerned. To lose it would be la very severe blow to our town.

In some instances Medicare complains of the physical plant of would meet the specifications of Medicare there would still be the nurses enough to have one on the not available, especially to the smaller hospitals, so even with a new plant Medicare could still close the hospitals because of the lack of nurses,

Here in Loraine we also have a nursing home of the most modern construction and can possibly meet In his annual detailed report every requirement of Medicare except that for registered nurses.

As I see it the only way hospital care for the citizens of the smaller communities can be saved is for Congress to amend some of the upon hospitals. Otherwise, many elderly patients, and young ones too, will find themselves many miles from a doctor or hospital

Drive Against Fire Ants Urgent As Extent Of Damage Increases

Farm leaders from 12 Southern states unanimously supported a special campaign seeking to eradicate the imported fire ant at a recent conference in Montgomery, Alabama. Some 50 Mississippi officials and layout learned to the second seeking to the seco cials and lawmakers accompanied State Commissioner Jim Buck Ross to meet with their counterparts from other Dixie states.

A major objective of this campaign is adequate funding, seeking to increase the present $25,000 budget to a total of $41 million for fire ant eradication to curb heavy demands to farm animals and damage to farm animals, soil, wildlife and potential threats to human safety.

Agricultural leaders agree that prospects are favored for stampping out this dangerous and costly pest, if all states concerned with the problem can unite coordinated Fire ants are a gravely serious problem in both rural and urban areas of the South. They now infest about 120 million acres in nine states. Federal and state quarantines have not halted the spread but recent large scale eradication tests have eliminated big infestations

The Montgomery conference endorsed the Southern Plant Board's position that federal funds provide two-thirds of fire ant eradication expenses. Under the projected cost-sharing formula, Mississippi would contribute about $1 million annually over a 10-year period. A lesser amount would be required for a two-year mop-up operation.

Fire ant eradication involves the distribution of mirex poison bait. It is a slow-acting chemical impreg-nated into corncob grits. Ants carry the tiny granules into their mounds where they are consumed, killing the entire colony. State Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Buck Ross has called for coordinated efforts by fellow commissioners in other affected states as well as legislators and entomologists in the Dixie area. It is a timely and imperative objective, one which needs and must have sustained support of officials, farm leaders and residents of all states where the fire ant menace is Indeed, "the fruit of the Spirit," is here contrasted with "the works of the flesh" (vers. 19-21) and these are

Finally, it is a remarkable fact that the graces which the Holy Spirit produces in yielded believers, are certainly not those which the world fosters and admires.

The world admires self-confidence, self-respect, self-made men, intellectual prowess, power, etc., while the Spirit produces "love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, confidence, intellectual acumen, the apostle says: "Against such political or other power—and he there is no law." may still be very difficult to live

Purcell to Seek Re-Election as Congressman Graham Purcell announced Monday that he would be a candidate for his 6th term of supposing that "the Spirit," in the U. S. Congress. Purcell, 1962. He said his campaign will be based on "his record of experience and effectiveness in representing the complex and diverse constituency of this district."

Purcell said, "during the 8 years that I have had the privilege of serving in the Congress, I have broadest possible spectrum of problems and legislation, from Agriculture to social problems to space technology. In a district that runs from Childress to Dallas, a sound knowledge of the people and the economy of all parts of the district is absolutely essential."

The Veterans Administration during 1969 administered government insurance programs totaling more than 5.6 million policies, with coverage valued at more than ness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance." But consider the difference. A man may have self-confidence, intellectual acumen
