Wilbarger County Board Rejects Request by Rayland Area Residents

Members of the Wilbarger County School Board Tuesday morning rejected a petition submitted several months ago, asking separation of the portion of the old Lockett district that is in Foard County so that it could be annexed by the Crowell School District.

According to the Vernon Record, "the action came after a number of residents of the area appeared before the County Board during the morning opposing efforts to separate the area from the district, which is now a part of the Vernon District. The opposition was apparently the deciding factor in the Board decision."

According to unconfirmed reports reaching here last week, 8 of the 10 persons appearing before the board were in favor of separation of the Foard County portion of the old Lockett District.

Texas Masons have been largely responsible for the recognition granted Texas public school. Masonic lodges throughout Texas have been active since the early 1800's in achieving education for everyone in the state. Today, Masonic Lodges are the force behind the action in promoting Texas Public Schools Week.

But the Masons can only initiate. Your support is essential and will be appreciated; if you're a parent, friend, or relative of a student, show your interest in him and his school. You're invited to Texas Public Schools Week March 2nd through 6th.

Miss Renee Cooper Named to Dean's Honor List at TCU

Miss Debra Renee Cooper of Crowell has been named to the Dean's Honor List for the 1969 fall semester at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. Miss Cooper, a 1969 graduate of Crowell High School, and a freshman at TCU, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crews Cooper.

To be eligible for the scholastic honor, a student must be carrying at least 12 semester hours in courses that count toward a degree and must maintain a 3.5 grade-point average on the University's 4.0 scale.

A total of 587 TCU students were named to the lists. Three hundred thirty of those were from AddRan College of Arts and Sciences, 48 from M. J. Neeley School of Business, 97 from the School of Education, 34 from Harris College of Nursing and 78 from the School of Fine Arts.

Warm Temperatures Bring Increase in Greenbug Activity

Increased activity of greenbugs in small grains can be expected as the daily temperature becomes higher. The greenbug can reproduce rapidly at temperatures between 55 and 75 degrees F. The natural enemies of the greenbug reproduce very slowly at temperatures below 65 degrees F. Therefore, in cool weather the greenbug may increase in enormous numbers while its natural enemies multiply slowly.

During periods in which the temperature is in the above range, producers should inspect their fields weekly. Once infestations are observed that could become damaging, inspection should be made more frequently. Because of the capability of greenbugs to reproduce enormous numbers over a short period of time, infestations can become damaging in only a few days.

Waterflood Operations Involvement in Raspberry Field

Humble Oil and Refining Company has been designated by lease owners as operator of a waterflood unit recently formed in the Raspberry Field in Western Foard County.

Waterflood operations involve the injection of water under pressure into oil bearing formations to move the crude toward producing well bores more efficiently. The unitized field, about seven miles west of Crowell, covers a total of 4,480 acres of leases. A total of nine working interests owners and 72 royalty owners are involved.

The producing zone to be flooded is the 6,100-foot Caddo lime formation. Water for injection purposes will come from the Canyon Reef formation at a depth of approximately 5,000 feet. Construction work on the first phase of the secondary recovery project will be started about mid-summer this year, a Humble spokesman said this week. It is expected that initial injection of water can begin early in 1971.

If the flooding operation is successful, it could result in a substantial increase in ultimate total production from the Raspberry Field, discovered in 1956. As operator of the Raspberry Unit, Humble now has six employees working there and it is anticipated that the number will increase as development work proceeds.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
WELCOMES YOU.

Sophomore News

Report cards will go out Monday. The parents will now see how well we kept our new year's resolutions.

Most of the classes are starting new chapters and units. In English II, book reports are coming up. A theme in world history has been scheduled near this date, also.

The VA boys have been busy all week putting a new roof on the VA building.

Many teachers and students were absent from school last week because of illness. The flu bug seemed to have arrived at the first of last week.

Freshmen News

Freshmen would like to welcome a new member to their class, Douglas Pharris.

Students wondered if the substitute teachers are taking over the school when Mrs. Bounds, Mrs. Brown, Mr. Welch and Mr. Streit were all absent part of last week. Everyone but Mr. Streit, who was attending a National Band Directors Conference in Dallas, was ill. Get well, soon (to everyone who's sick.)

Track and volleyball are now taking the place of basketball in CHS and soreness from using a new set of muscles seems to be a common complaint.

A program on the heart was brought last Wednesday by Dr. Hugh Wilson of Dallas. Heart surgery on a 17-month-old child was shown in a film.

Everyone enjoyed the antics of "Cappy" the clown on Monday.

Southern Assembly

Jan Natarno, better known as "Cappy," began his career as a clown in Europe, traveling with circuses through the Balkan countries. Cappy brought a very amusing assembly to CHS on Monday, February 16. Arriving in the U. S., and after serving with the Air Force for a period of four years, he returned to the big top when discharged. He travelled with the Pollack Bros. Circus which eventually brought him to the West Coast.

For six years, he appeared in Hollywood's top supper club, the Moulin Rouge. He has had his own TV show for 2 years from Hollywood. For seven years he appeared as host-captain aboard the SS Catalina, entertaining the youngsters and adults during the daily run between the Los Angeles harbor and Santa Catalina Island. He has just finished appearing on TV as "Ronald McDonald," the clown on the flying hamburger.

Cappy has entertained the children of such personalities as Danny Kaye, Jerry Lewis, Lucille Ball, Kirk Douglas, Dean Martin, Elizabeth Taylor, Danny Thomas, Red Skelton, Debbie Reynolds, Marlon Brando, Martin Landau and Barbara Bain and many more.

Everyone recognized Cappy by his special trade mark: a three-leaf clover on the tip of his nose, denoting a third generation clown in his family. All students, especially the lower grades, enjoyed Cappy and his show which he presented.

on a few classrooms and listen to possible teacher comments.

System of Checks and Balances

"This government of ours is truly a system of checks and balances. First there was the relief check, then came the allotment check, then the war bonus check, to say nothing of the Social Security check and the unemployment check. Soon to become commonplace will be the Great Society poverty and rent-subsidy checks. Now this take care of the checks, but I'll be darned if I know where the balances will be found." — Cascade, Iowa, Pioneer-Advertiser.

Unlicensed Drivers in Many Accidents

Department of Public Safety to Crack Down on Drivers With No Licenses

The Texas Department of Public Safety this week announced an intensive, statewide driver licensing emphasis program to be launched immediately on the basis of a study revealing a disproportionate involvement of unlicensed drivers in serious traffic accidents.

Col. Wilson E. Speir, DPS Director, said the drive is in conjunction with Governor Preston Smith's coordinated traffic safety program to combat increasing deaths, injuries and economic loss in Texas traffic which cost the state an estimated 3,580 lives, hundreds of thousands of injuries, and upwards of a billion dollars last year.

"Statistical data compiled from reports of motor vehicle accidents occurring on the public streets and highways of Texas during the first six months of 1969 reveal that some 9.6 per cent of the drivers involved in fatal accidents were unlicensed; that 7.6 per cent of the drivers involved in personal injury accidents were unlicensed; and that more than 5.8 per cent of those Texas residents involved in all motor vehicle accidents were not licensed," Speir said.

"In view of the fact that one out of each 17 Texas residents involved in motor vehicle accidents during the period were not licensed, and the higher percentage of fatal and injury collisions in which the unlicensed drivers were involved, an increase in enforcement efforts against unlicensed drivers would seem to be justified. It is estimated that there are as many as 400,000 unlicensed drivers in Texas at this time."

The Public Safety Director said the emphasis program will consist of:

1. Urging all drivers in Texas to see that they are properly licensed.
2. An intensive, stepped-up program of enforcement by means of frequent, periodic license checks to be made on the road by DPS patrolmen.
3. Development of driver training schools for persons who need more knowledge and skill to qualify for driver licenses.
4. Urging employers in large plants and business establishments to encourage their employees to obtain proper driver licenses, particularly those moving to Texas from other states.

Speir said the DPS will call upon all agencies and organizations concerned with the traffic problem, including municipal and county law enforcement agencies and citizens' groups, to make the statewide licensing drive a concerted effort.

"It is our considered opinion," he said, "that a driver licensing emphasis program will have, in addition to tangible results, the effect of creating among the general driving public an awareness of the critical traffic situation and their involvement in it, as permitted by their qualification to obtain and hold a license granting them the privilege of sharing the streets and highways with their fellow citizens."

Must Be Bewildered

"If Russians get their historical knowledge from official sources, and compare the current information with that issued a few years previously, they must be a bewildered lot. Each new updating of the Communist party history denounces previous leaders, formerly praised as wise and beneficent, as serious blunders . . . These vacillations may seem mysterious in an open society such as ours, but they are easily explained. The authors of the official histories do not aim to tell the truth, but rather to please the tyrant, or tyrants, in power at the moment." — Terre Haute, Ind., Tribune.

Social Security Prosecutes Those Who Violate Law

"Violations of the Social Security Act will be vigorously prosecuted," Jack Ashcraft, social security representative, warned this week. Mr. Ashcraft said he had recently learned that four area women have been convicted in Pecos on October 6 of violations of the social security act.

Christine Blaylock of Odessa pleaded guilty of misappropriation of funds paid to her for a minor child. She was given a one-year suspended sentence for five years.

Zula B. Carroll of Crane pleaded guilty of failure to report to the Social Security Administration that her minor child had been adopted by someone else, thus continuing to receive social security benefits which she mis-used for own benefit. She was given a one year suspended sentence for five years.

Helen L. Woods of Andrews pleaded guilty to false representation that she was living with and contributing to the support of a minor daughter, in order to obtain child's insurance benefits. She was given a one year suspended sentence for five years.

Vincenta G. Montoya of Pecos entered a plea of nolo contendere and was found guilty of failure to report that she had remarried. She continued to receive social security benefits after her remarriage. She was given a one year suspended sentence for five years.

In each of the above cases, the court ordered repayment.

"The conviction of the above persons for violations involving information should serve as a warning to all persons," Mr. Ashcraft pointed out. "When a person, with intent, causes social security payments to be made where none are authorized, a conviction on each such violation can mean as much as a $1,000 fine, or imprisonment of one year, or both," he advised. "Any suspected irregularities of this nature are fully investigated by the Social Security Administration."

We Can Move Ahead

U. S. Representative Joe L. Evins from Tennessee remarked: "Congress has acted in good faith but the accumulated problems of many years cannot be solved overnight and they cannot be solved alone by Congress. The problems are massive and their solution will take time, as well as a spirit of tolerance and cooperation between all people—all levels of government—and our great free enterprise system. Together we can move ahead for progress."

The churches of the Crowell Ministerial Association urge every one in our community to be a part of the fellowship of the church of their choice each week.

Texas Turkeys on Santa Catalina

Texas turkeys have reproduced on the 75 square-mile Santa Catalina Islands located about 28 miles off the coast of California, according to Harold Harper, wildlife administrator for the California Game Department.

During turkey trapping operations last year in Texas, a shipment of 20 hens and four yearling gobblers was air-lifted to California as part of an arrangement between the two states to exchange chukars and white-winged pheasants for wild-trapped Rio Grande turkey.

The chukars were released along the Pecos River and in the Big Bend area of West Texas, and the pheasants went to the Permian Basin and Texas Gulf Coast. California released the 24 turkeys on rugged Santa Catalina Island.

Wildlife biologists assigned to the island found young turkeys following the nesting season of 1969.

The appointment of Dr. Marc J. Musser as chief medical director of the Veterans Administration was announced recently by Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson.

Good Mental Health Starts in Early Years

The foundations of good mental health are laid in early childhood. A happy, secure environment is as important to an infant as it is a person throughout the rest of his life. An infant is totally dependent and needs to have a sense of security and love. Newborn babies are affected by attitudes toward them. They need warm, close, personal contact.

As a child matures during the pre-school years, he learns self-confidence by exploring his world. He also needs to learn that he can do things on his own and learning that he can win approval for his achievements. Belittling achievements or over-protection may make him feel inferior and helpless. Patience and care are required of the parents during this stage of development.

The beginning of school gives most children their first major social contacts outside of the home and family. This period is important to his future in learning to get along with other people of all ages. It is also a time when children need to succeed in learning experiences. Under-aggressive children need to develop self-confidence while the over-aggressive child needs to find constructive outlets for his aggressiveness.

Information on mental health and mental retardation is available from the Foard County extension offices in the court house.

Fish Farming in Rhode Island

Marine biologists at the University of Rhode Island are raising fish in captivity in much the same way as farmers raise chickens. The aquatic version of the chicken coop is a group of plastic-lined pools containing sea water. The fish are spawned in fresh water and later transferred to the outdoor salt water tanks. Similar experiments are going on in other parts of the country and of the world.

Researchers have succeeded in raising Atlantic salmon from an average weight of 1.5 ounces to a size of nearly 12 ounces in 6 months. According to the project director, Dr. Saul Salla, this was achieved under rather poor growing conditions. "We are convinced that with better environmental controls, it will be possible to effect even more growth than observed to date," he said.

So-called luxury fish such as rainbow trout, salmon, bluefish and striped bass are receiving the most attention. There already is an extensive market for these high-quality fish, and Dr. Salla believes that the fish can be produced more cheaply through aquaculture than through commercial fishing.

Fish farming, however, is not just around the corner, and a number of problems remain. For instance, maintaining the sea water at the proper temperature and developing a diet for the fish which will be both economical and healthful are still unresolved.

Although Dr. Salla concedes that fish farms may never be as common as chicken farms, he believes that aquaculture will become "a relatively important business venture."

Ran Out of Clean Air Six Years Ago

After vainly searching the remotest corners of the country, scientists have concluded the United States ran out of clean air six years ago when pollution from California finally reached Flagstaff, Arizona. (National Wildlife Federation Conservation News).

When Small Men Begin to Cast Long Shadows . . .

"When small men begin to cast long shadows . . . it is a sure sign that the sun is setting."
 And too many very small men are casting deeply black shadows across America today.

Small-minded business men, more interested in making an easy dollar by manipulation than a harder dollar by producing values.

Petty politicians who act as though they rule the people rather than serve them.

Selfish labor leaders more interested in power than in America, even though their greed brings high costs, destructive inflation, deadly depression.

Greedy people in many walks of life, who want their areas, their special interests supported by all taxpayers, when they ought to be paying their own bills.

Long shadows like these will continue to grow until the entire country is in eclipse, unless the real people, who do the work and pay the taxes, wake up to their responsibility and opportunity. By voice and vote, they can take their country back again, and insist on honest values once more, greater public integrity, and hard work so that everyone will earn what he gets. And we had better do it, before that sun sets.—Warner & Swasey.

David Powers Weds Miss Shirley Ann Deel in Church Ceremony

The First Christian Church in Crowell was the setting for the wedding of Miss Shirley Ann Deel of Quannah to David Charles Powers of Crowell Friday evening, February 6, at 7:30.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Deel of Quannah and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Powers of Crowell.

The church was decorated with a background of candelabra and greenery flanked on each side with an arrangement of white gladioli.

Miss Sharla Haynie was organist for the nuptials and traditional wedding processional and recessional music in addition to the wedding march and an arrangement of "More."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin dress styled on princess lines with fitted bodice that was accented with a white satin bow. The floor length skirt was styled on the A-line. The long bell-shaped sleeves were trimmed with scroll lace. Her shoulder length veil was fashioned of bridal illusion and lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations on a blue background.

Miss Eddie Nan Lindsey of Wichita Falls was maid of honor. She wore an ice blue satin brocade formal made on princess lines with an A-line skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations tied with blue satin streamers on a blue background.

Miss Marian Crisp of Plainview registered the guests in a white bride's book.

For traveling the bride chose a yellow and white knit two-piece dress that featured a pleated skirt.

Following a wedding trip, the couple will establish a home here where he is employed by Borchardt-Goodwin Chevrolet.

The bride is a graduate of Quannah High School and the groom is a graduate of Crowell High School and of Draughon's Business College in Wichita Falls.

Miss Odessa Moore Honored by Eastern Star Chapter

Miss Odessa Moore was recognized as a charter member—some 22 years belatedly—at the stated meeting of Crowell Chapter No. 916, Order of the Eastern Star, on February 10. Through error, Miss Moore's name was left off the charter dated October, 1947.

By action of the local chapter and the Grand Chapter of Texas, the mistake has been corrected.

Mrs. Lottie Estes and Mrs. Alyene Pittillo escorted Miss Moore to the East where a chair had been prepared in her honor. Mrs. Roberta Barker, worthy matron, praised the honoree's unselfish service to the OES and presented her with a silver dish in remembrance of the occasion. A past matron of the Thalia Chapter, Miss Moore was associate conductress when the Crowell Chapter was constituted. She has served as conductress and associate matron, as well as numerous appointive stations.

During the business session, members voted to purchase new draperies for the Masonic hall. Hostesses for the social hour were Mmes. Jack Welch, Baxter Gentry and Blake McDaniel.

Members have been invited to be guests of the Vernon Chapter on March 9 at 6:30 p. m. for a salad supper and stated meeting.

Mrs. Vivian Washburn and Mr. Beesinger Wed in Church Rites

Mrs. Vivian Washburn and Clarence Beesinger, both of Crowell, exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony performed at 8 p. m., Saturday, January 17, at the Free Will Baptist Church.

Mrs. Marie Ruckle of Burk Burnett, daughter of the bride, served as matron of honor. Eddie Hoffman of Tulsa, Okla., nephew of the groom, was best man.

NEIL A. ARMSTRONG

Astronaut Neil Armstrong Named Chairman of Easter Seal Campaign

Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong has been named chairman of the 1970 Easter Seal campaign in Texas.

P. O. Settle, Jr. of Fort Worth, president of the Texas Easter Seal Society, said that Armstrong will lead over 20,000 volunteers in the annual appeal for funds.

A spacecraft commander for Apollo IX, July 16-24, 1969, Armstrong, 40, holds the distinction of being the first man to walk on the moon.

A 1955 aeronautical engineering graduate of Purdue University, Armstrong was a naval aviator in the Korean conflict and an aeronautical research pilot, prior to his selection as an astronaut by NASA in September, 1962. As command pilot for the Gemini 8 mission in 1966, he performed the first successful docking of two vehicles in space.

"I am deeply honored to take on this responsible role," said Armstrong, in accepting the chairmanship. "The Texas Easter Seal Society is a voluntary agency which has taken the leadership in providing help for the handicapped in Texas for 41 years."

"The needs for rehabilitation," he continued, "are growing rapidly and I invite the cooperation of all Texans in helping to bring this excellent work to as many crippled children and adults as possible in 1970."

As state chairman, Armstrong joins with 237 Easter Seal appeal chairmen throughout Texas who are participating in the largest funds appeal ever staged by the Texas Easter Seal Society.

Last year 20,591 crippled children and adults in Texas received rehabilitation and other services, rendered by the Texas Society through 20 treatment centers and affiliated Easter Seal chapters, regardless of race, religion, economic status, or the cause of crippling.

Armstrong and his wife, Janet, have two sons, Eric 12, and Mark 6.
