Large Crowd at Cap Factory's Open House

Almost three hundred people attended the open house at the Crowell Cap Co. factory Saturday afternoon and watched as workers went through their routines in the manufacture of caps from the time the material is cut from the bolts of cloth until the caps are blocked and boxed for shipment.

Joe Ray Settiff, plant manager, says the local plant has more orders for caps than they can presently fill.

He added that he was well pleased with the turn-out at the open house, and the interest shown by area residents. Since visitors in the plant affect production, the open house was held to let area residents view first-hand the plant and its operations.

Dedication of Copper Breaks State Park Set for April 18th

The formal opening and dedication of Copper Breaks State Park has been officially set for Thursday, April 18, beginning at 2:30 p. m., according to an announcement made last week by the Quanah on Thursday, April 18, at a special grandstand erected in the Hackberry Grove area of the park.

Chamber of Commerce. Several distinguished guests are expected to be on hand, including Governor Dolph Briscoe. Governor Briscoe will officially dedicate the park in ceremonies planned to begin at 2:30 p. m.

Plans for the opening were coordinated by Lowell Slaton and Bill Carpenter of Quanah.

The Quanah Chamber of Commerce and Foard County Development Corporation are co-sponsoring the event which will officially open the newly-completed 1,933-acre recreational state park which is located 8 miles north of Crowell and 12 miles south of Quanah.

The recent development includes the construction of some 25 campsites with shade structures and utilities, 40 picnic sites, two restrooms with showers, one restroom without showers, an amphitheater and several support facilities.

More construction is underway at the park, including a dam across Devil's Creek to create a 60-acre recreational lake in the park and an interpretive center and park headquarters building.

The area near the park is rich in Indian history, as the Medicine Mounds, prominent elevations where the Indians sought the healing spirits for centuries is located about five miles to the northeast and the Pease River Battleground is located within a short distance from the park.

The Pease River Battleground north of Margaret in Foard County is where Captain Sul Ross and his Texas Rangers came upon a band of Comanches in 1860 and recaptured Cynthia Ann Parker, a captured white girl who grew up with the Indians and adopted their way of life. She was also the mother of Quanah Parker.

Plans are for the CHS and QHS bands in addition to riding clubs from both Crowell and Quanah and other groups to participate in the dedication. Ross and his men were believed to have killed Comanche Chief Peta Nocona in the battle which took place near Margaret.

WINTER WHEAT: Much of the winter wheat in the states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico would appear to be out of winter dormancy and beginning spring growth by mid-March.

Moisture conditions would appear to be favorable for rapid plant development in most of the five states, except for part of the High Plains and Rolling Plains of Texas and adjacent areas in Southwestern Oklahoma and Eastern New Mexico and to a lesser extent in the Oklahoma Panhandle as well as a few areas in Southeast Colorado and Southwest Kansas where the first effective moisture to fall since September of 1973 was received at the beginning of the second week of March. While this will help to carry any plants remaining alive for a few weeks, it is questionable how much acreage will recover. If additional moisture is received during the next six to eight weeks much of the acreage showing extremely poor wheat prospects will be prepared and planted to sorghums, cotton and in a few cases soybeans. In some communities in Northcentral Oklahoma and through much of the Eastern half of Kansas late planted acreage has been flooded during the first half of March, but the full effect of flooding cannot yet be determined.

The five states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico produced a total of over 708.5 million bushels of hard red winter wheat from the 1973 crop, with the average production for the years 1968-72 being slightly more than 510 million bushels. Present conditions would seem to indicate a crop for the five states of 600-615 million bushels this year but this would require generally favorable growing conditions for the remainder of the growing season. Perhaps this might be bettered somewhat should fertilizer shortages ease during the next few weeks, although this generally is not expected. It also could be decreased by freeze damage during the next few weeks as much of the crop has emerged from winter dormancy earlier than usual.

VEGETABLE VARIETIES IMPORTANT

Get your home vegetable garden off to a good start by planting the proper varieties, advises a vegetable specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Varieties that are adapted to the particular climate, soil type and other factors in the area in which you live are more productive and the vegetables will be of better quality. Also keep a lookout for new hybrids that may do well in your region of the state.

TRY A MINI-GARDEN

A "mini-garden," or growing vegetables in containers, is just the thing for apartment dwellers and others who don't have enough space for a full-fledged garden, says the extension service. Vegetables suitable for growing in containers include tomatoes, peppers, eggplant, green onions, lettuce, squash, radishes, parsley and herbs. Containers can be placed on a window sill, patio, balcony or doorstep—anywhere they will receive plenty of sunlight. Container vegetables do best in a synthetic soil mixture.

WELFARE MESSAGE

"On the subject of this country's welfare, it is an extravagance. Admittedly, recipients are deserving, and those fortunate should be. The frauds are rampant... My wife and I were to take half the welfare and give investigating the half. That would be because the government then have to hire a survey to determine and later conduct a plan did not work. GOOD FRIDAY — THE CRUCIFIXION
 John 19:16-21 & Mark 15

From The Living Bible

Then Pilate gave Jesus to them to be crucified. They had him at last, and he was taken out of the city, carrying his cross to the place known as "Skull," in Hebrew, "Golgotha." There they fastened him and two others with him, one on each side, with Jesus between them. And Pilate signed over him reading, "Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews." The place where Jesus was crucified was near the city; and the signboard was written in Hebrew, Latin, and Greek, so that many could read it. Then the chief priests said to Pilate, "Change it from 'The King of the Jews' to 'I am King of the Jews.'" About three o'clock that afternoon, then Jesus called with a loud voice, "Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani" ("My God, my God, why have you deserted me?"). Some of the people standing there thought he was calling for the prophet Elijah. So one man went and got a sponge and filled it with sour wine and put it on a stick. "Let's see in Elijah and take him down!" he said. Then Jesus made another loud cry, and dismissed his spirit. A curtain in the Temple was split apart from top to bottom. When the Roman officer standing by his cross saw how he dismissed his spirit, he exclaimed, "Truly, this was the Son of God!"

An Easter Meditation

ulla Ward Howe wrote the song that captured the spirit of America: "line eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord. He has sounded forth the trumpet that shall never sound retreat; He is sifting out the hearts of men before His judgment seat." Easter is a message. Jesus the Christ is born again, Lord. He died for us, bore our sins. The Father accepts His work as atonement, and has raised Him up "for our justification." Now he stands before us—eternally God the Son and Son of God—risen indeed—before our hearts' knocking, seeking to come into the life of every man, into whosoever I receive Him, to save, to heal, and to glorify.

EASTER — THE RESURRECTION

Luke 23:50, 55-56 & Luke 24:1-9

From The Living Bible

Then a man named Joseph, a member of the Jewish Supreme Court, from the city of Arimathea in Judea, went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. As the body was taken away, the women from Galilee followed and saw it carried into the tomb. Then they went home and prepared spices and ointments to embalm him; but by the time they were finished it was the Sabbath, so they rested all that day as required by the Jewish law. But very early on Sunday morning they took the ointments to the tomb — and found that the huge stone covering the entrance had been rolled aside. So they went in — but the Lord Jesus' body was gone. They stood there puzzled, trying to think what could have happened to it. Suddenly two men appeared before them, clothed in shining robes so bright their eyes were dazzled. The women were terrified and bowed low before them. Then the men asked, "Why are you looking in a tomb for someone who is alive? He isn't here! He has come back to life again! Don't you remember what he told you back in Galilee — that the Messiah must be betrayed into the power of evil men and be crucified and that he would rise again the third day?" Then they remembered, and rushed back to Jerusalem to tell his eleven disciples — and everyone else — what had happened.

Range Seeding and Brush Control

Every rancher or pasture man has his own purpose for planting grasses and performing brush control, but usually it comes down to one essential reason, to allow him to carry more livestock.

"With the energy crisis and the cost of fuel as it is today, it becomes more important that ranchers and farmers should consider the best of management in seeding grasses this spring," says Thomas W. Shinn, Soil Conservationist, of the local Soil Conservation Service.

Selecting the right grass seed and mixtures for a range site is just as important as choosing the machinery to clear or control the brush. Range sites change according to soils and Foard County has twelve different ones. There may be several different sites on one ranch varying from deep hardland consisting of clay or clay loam soils to sandy which consists of fine and very fine sand to sandy loam soils. Other sites may consist of shallow clay soils to bottomland soils. Each one has its own best seed mixtures.

Range grasses such as western wheatgrass, sideoats grama or K.R. Bluestem are well suited to loamy bottomland soils. On sandy or deep sandy land soils grasses such as Indiangrass, lovegrasses, sand or little bluestem are most adapted.

Seeding should be done as soon as possible after the mechanical work is completed. The traditional rootplow or tree dozer is very effective against mesquite in the deep soil areas of the county where heavy brush has choked out the grass. To the contrary rootplowing in areas where a fair to good stand of grass suited to the site is already present could be detrimental especially if a long dry spell follows the plowing.

Scattered stands of mesquite and related species where a fair or better stand of grass is present may best be controlled by anchor chaining, grubbing or aerial spraying.

Weed infestation should be checked on seeded areas following root plowing. Weeds rob plants of needed moisture and plant food. They may be controlled by use of chemicals.

He said the Plymouth was a total loss and he estimated damage to the pickup as being over $1,000.

BREAD COSTS EXPLAINED

Consumers deserve an explanation on the costs that make up the price of bread, the extension, service says. Looking at a 47-cent pound-and-a-half loaf, here's the cost breakdown: farmer, 8.5 cents; miller, 2.5 cents; baker, 28 cents; retailer, 8 cents. The baker's costs include such items as profit, transportation, advertising, overhead and packaging. The pound-and-a-half loaf contains a little less than a pound of wheat. For this loaf to cost $1 as some bakers have recently speculated, the price of wheat to the farmer would have to jump more than 60 cents, or about $30 a bushel, compared to a current price of $4.58 a bushel.

Almost everyone, large or small, through out the land has at least a nodding acquaintance with the Easter Bunny. He is the mysterious nocturnal purveyor of multi-colored candy or real eggs that the moppet set so gleefully discovers on Easter morning.

Did You Ever Live in A Sod House?

Did you ever live in a sod house, a dugout, or an adobe building; or were you born in one? Did you ever teach school, attend school or church services in such a building, or help build one? Or are you a child or perhaps a grandchild of a former pioneer sod house dweller or builder?

If you can answer "yes" to any of these questions, the Sod House Society of America, with headquarters at Colby, Kansas, would like to hear from you. The unique society is making a survey and census of people who have any kind of personal experience with sod structures, including descendants of such persons. Sod houses, dugouts, part sod, and adobe buildings were once common in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

All former sod dwellers and descendants of a family that can claim a part of the sod house heritage during the pioneer settlement era of North America, or in more recent times, will be listed by the society in a permanent historical record of sod, dugout, and adobe dwellers and their families. Sod buildings in some form were used in well over half the North American continent.

To make this survey a success, information is needed from people in all parts of North America. If you have any information concerning present or former sod dwellers, a report of this will be most welcome. Please tell where the buildings were located and give family names, as well as your own. Reports should be sent to: Sod House Survey of Texas, Colby, Kansas, 67701.

WOULD MAKE A GOOD LEADER

"A lot of talk in Russia, for those who dare, about who will eventually succeed the present party leader, Leonid Brezhnev, as head of that nation. Well, if we lived in that country we'd be giving serious consideration to whomever it was that negotiated that wheat deal...with the United States."—North Vernon, Ind., Sun.

appetizing entree for every family's Easter dinner this year. Turkey is a happy combination of good nutrition and good taste, offering high quality protein at relatively attractive prices.

There are two things to look for when you buy turkey—grade (quality) and class (age) of the bird. Highest quality birds are U. S. Grade A. This means that the turkey is fully fleshed and meaty, well-finished and attractive in appearance. The grade of the turkey does not indicate how tender the bird is. For tenderness, check the class of age of the turkey. Young, tender-meated classes are most suitable for barbecuing, frying, boiling and roasting. Young turkeys may be labeled—young, fryer-roaster, young hen, or young tom.

Remember that turkey is perishable. Care and cleanliness should be used in the preparation, cooking, and serving of turkey. Keep the bird hard-frozen until time to thaw and cook promptly after thawing. Use fresh-chilled poultry within 1 to 2 days. Completely cook poultry at one time. Never partially cook and store and wait to finish cooking at a later time. Left-over cooked turkey, broth, stuffing, and gravy should be separated, covered, and refrigerated. Use within 1 to 2 days or freeze for longer storage.

Here is a recipe that would work perfect for any left over turkey. This makes six servings of creamed turkey. The ingredients are 1 cup margarine, 1/2 cup flour, 1 1/2 cups turkey broth, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/8 tsp. pepper, 1/2 tsp. poultry seasoning, 2 cups cooked diced turkey, 6 slices toast or biscuits, and parsley. Melt fat; blend in flour, stir in liquids, seasoning, and turkey. Cook and stir until thickened. Serve on toast or biscuits, garnish with parsley.

Social Security News

Persons receiving social security benefits can earn more in 1974 without having their benefit payments withheld than they could in 1973.

Henry Chustz, Manager of the Vernon Social Security Office, emphasizes that the exempt amount of earnings has been increased to $2400 in 1974. In 1973, the exempt amount was $2100. Anyone who receives social security payments and expects to earn more than $2400 should notify the social security office if he has not already done so.

Chustz also points out that if annual earnings go over $2400 in 1974, social security withholdings $1 in benefits for each $2 in earnings above $2400. Additionally, no matter how much you earn a year, you can get full benefits for any month in which you do not earn $200 in wages and you don't perform substantial services in self-employment.

He also reminds those beneficiaries whose 1973 earnings exceed $2100 to file a report with the social security office on or before April 15. Late filing may result in a penalty in addition to the normal withholding of benefit payments.

The Vernon Social Security office is located at 1701 Cumberland St. and the telephone number is 552-9346.

4-H AIMED AT EDUCATION

The 4-H program is designed to educate young people, says a 4-H and youth specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H. 4-H can help youth develop intelligent behavior by providing them information or knowledge, a positive self-concept and an awareness of their social setting. 4-H focuses on relevant knowledge and the development of a knowledge-getting process. The youth program also helps boys and girls learn the acceptable values, beliefs and goals of society.

BIGNESS IN CATTLE FEEDING

Cattle feeding in Texas continues to become more concentrated in the larger feedlots, reports a livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Of the 1,533 feeding operations in the state in 1973, only 233 had a one-time capacity of 1,000 head or more, and these accounted for 98 per cent of all the cattle fed in Texas. There were 66 super-large feedlots—those with a capacity of 16,000 head or more—which accounted for 76 per cent of all the cattle fed in the state.

Visits In County Last Week

Ray Farabee, Democratic candidate for the Texas Senate, was in Crowell Saturday for the open house at the Crowell Cap Company, Inc.

After touring the facilities, Farabee said, "This plant and operation is an excellent example of what people working together in their own community can do to increase job opportunities. Industries such as this can create jobs that will encourage our young people to stay in their home towns. It also provides jobs that help existing families to expand their income when faced with mounting pressures of inflation."

Farabee visited in Crowell twice last week. He and his wife campaigned in Foard County on Wednesday. Mrs. Farabee spoke to the Rotary Club on the importance of volunteer work to the quality of life in any community.

The Wichita Falls businessman and attorney came to Crowell Saturday after attending the annual meeting of the Lighthouse Electric Cooperative in Floydada.
