$80,000 Available in County to Repair Damage from Rains

Emergency Conservation Measures (ECM) has been approved for damages caused by the heavy rains in Foard County. Farms suffering severe damage may be eligible for assistance under the ECM Program administered by the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) if the damage:

1. Is unusual in character and is not the type which would recur frequently.
2. Materially affects the productive capacity of the farmland.
3. If not treated will impair or endanger the land.
4. Will be so costly to correct that the farmer cannot do it without Federal assistance and is truly an emergency condition for the farmer.

A farmer qualifying for ECM assistance may receive up to 80 percent of the cost for performing the following types of measures:

1. Grading or shaping severely damaged farmland.
2. Restoring conservation structures (Terrace Systems). Farmers, who feel the damage is sufficiently severe and their capabilities are such that assistance is necessary to correct the problem should contact the county ASCS office. Sign-up for ECM will begin September 2, and end on September 30, 1975.

County ASCS executive director Joe Sabbe said Monday that he has a total of $80,000 to be spent in Foard County under the ECM program.

would hear, "Hey, would you sign my annual?" It's really been a lot of fun, but I know the teachers are ready to scream.

Friday, we had a magazine salesman from Reader's Digest come to talk to the juniors about the annual magazine sale to raise money for the junior-senior banquet. We divided into two teams, boys vs. girls, with captains Kathy Whitfield leading the girls, and William Bachman leading the boys. The team that sells the least amount of magazines, has a pie thrown in their captain's face! The only bad thing about it is that there are 23 boys and 14 girls! So, we're all working pretty hard.

Everyone is looking forward to the game in Quanah this Friday. This will be our first game, so we're all going to support our team!
 Jill Myers has been sick this past week and the junior class wants to wish her a speedy recovery. We surely do miss her!

A final reminder for you to buy or renew a magazine, by contacting one of the juniors. Many magazines have special rates and we would appreciate buying one from us!

Juniors say: Show the Indians a little CAT POWER!

ing the counties of Childress, Cottle, Foard and Hardeman is nearing the stage for funding of projects. On June 12, over 100 copies of the plan in draft form were mailed to various agencies, organizations, and sponsors of the project. These copies were for review and comment.

Texas Governor Dolph Briscoe endorsed the project plan with a letter dated August 15 addressed to Henry Black of Crowell, chairman of the Four Winds RC&D Project. The letter stated in part:

"The plan has been found to be consistent with State of Texas planning and development policies and objectives. The Four Winds RC&D Project plan provides a far reaching proposal for stimulating the development of economic, social, and environmental benefits to an extensive area of the State of Texas.

"As a form supporter of local initiative, I commend you and the project sponsors on the development of this plan.

"I hereby endorse the Project Plan. On behalf of my office, I offer our cooperation and assistance in accomplishing future program objectives of the Four Winds RC&D Project."

After all comments and the governor's endorsement, the plan was put into final text and is being typed for printing. The plan will be printed by the Soil Conservation Service in Fort Worth.

Printing of the plan should be nearing completion by November 1, 1975. When printed, the plan will be mailed to Washington for approval and funding for operations.

One measure plan is being prepared in Cottle County with the commissioners court to treat the gullied areas along and adjacent to county maintained roads. Three major projects are planned for the construction of dams at the beginning of large gullies to prevent erosion and protect county roads. About 8 other areas are being planned for shaping and vegetating along county roads. This plan is scheduled to be completed when the RC&D project plan is certified for funding so work can start immediately. Plans are also being pre-

Football Coach Gives Talk on Prospects for 1975 Season

Crowell football coach Printiss Gidney told members of the Rotary Club about the prospects for the Crowell Wildcat football team at the Wednesday, August 27 meeting of the Rotary Club of Crowell. Gidney said the Cats have a tough schedule this year. Memphis is rated third in the state; Seymour is always tough; Quanah is rebounding this year; Knox City will again be tough and Haskell has everyone back from last year's team.

In the backfield, Gidney listed Rocky Glasscock as quarterback with Tommy Tamplen and Daniel Field as possible substitutions at this position. David Bell, 200 pound left half, is a much improved runner, Gidney said, and Ronny Swan, fullback, "runs with reckless abandon" according to Coach Gidney. He listed Myron Halecank, Finley and Tamplen as right halfback candidates.

He also named Rocky Marlow as nose guard along with Billy Halecank, and said that Myron Halecank will be outside linebacker on defense.

Gidney said depth is his biggest problem this year, and he added also that this team "has the best attitude of any team I've ever coached."

Gidney was introduced by Rotarian Marvin Myers. Visitors included Coach Gidney, David Fox of Houston and Rotarians Ross Hendricks of Vernon and Gill Bivens of Quanah.

Beta Chapter, the founding chapter of the organization, was one of 130 chapters represented at the national convention at the University of Houston and one of the ten nominated as best of the service projects for the band and for community and campus activity participation and membership.

The Beta Chapter made a presentation to a selection committee based on the past two years activities and supplemented by a scrapbook which gave them the outstanding national honor.

Nancy Looney of Truscott and Nancy Allen of Perryton were president for the two years that were covered in this presentation.

Also chosen for the national award for outstanding woman in music was the chapter's nominee and former member, Barbara Sperbert Prentice, former director at Seymour.

Another chapter member, Carol Blain, band director at Memphis, Texas, concluded a two-year term of office as national president at this convention. Elected for the new two-year term was Becky Hartman of Arkansas.

Beta Chapter has 70 members and is one of the largest chapters in the nation. Nancy was one of 10 members who attended the national convention.

To qualify for membership, the applicant must be a member of the band for one semester with a grade point average of at least 2.25.

A new major project of the chapter is to provide private lessons for under-privileged high school and junior high school band students. Among the many services of the organization are providing social activities for the band, the homecoming banquet and dance, the annual picnic and smaller projects including mending band uniforms.

Crowell Native Has "Handicap" Problem

Major Jimmy Stinebaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stinebaugh of Crowell and an Army officer at Fort Sill, Ok., was the subject of a recent news story in a Lawton newspaper. The article concerns Stinebaugh's golfing career. The story follows:

Who would ever believe that carrying a "scratch" handicap (shooting par or better) would present a problem?

Sill's Jim Stinebaugh, defending TRADOC gold champion, carries that handicap—and he has a problem.

Stinebaugh, who has been preparing to qualify for the TRADOC gold tourney to be held at Ft. Ben Jarrison Sept. 15-19 was notified this week that he's been selected for the Army Trials at Ft. Benning Sept. 8-12.

So what's the problem?

"Well," says Stinebaugh, "I can't be in two places at once. If I make the Army team, I'll be competing in the interservice competition that will be held at Charleston Naval Station in Charleston, S. C. Sept. 15-19."

Of course, having won the

LIVING UP TO OUR HYMNS

In a recent article we discussed the type of music God has instructed the church to use. In that writing we pointed out that the music is to be a cappella because God wants OUR worship -- not that of an instrument.

Surely we believe that as we worship God our psalms and hymns should be meaningful to us and an expression of our feelings. So, do we live up to our songs? Do we mean what we sing?

When we sing "I want to be a worker for the Lord", do we mean it? If we really mean it, what should and would we do? The answer is simple -- we would work for Him. He is willing if we are. As we sing "Anywhere with Jesus, I would gladly go", is it true? He told those who would follow Him that it would be a difficult path. In Luke 9:57-58, we have the account of a man saying, "Lord I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest." Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests; but the son of man hath not where to lay his head." Do you really mean "Anywhere with Jesus" or do you mean on his easy journeys you would go? Another song we sing has this in it -- "Take my silver and my gold", but how freely do we give? Every church we have ever heard of has more work it could do than it is able to support. So, do we really mean take our silver and gold?

And what about these songs: "We're marching to Zion", are we sure? Or, "Tis so sweet to trust in Jesus", do we? When we exhort, "Pray all the time", is there a prayer in our heart always? When we sing "Savior, lead me", do we let Him? Do we mean it when we sing "None of self and all of thee"?

We intend to live up to our singing but do we always do so? Let us consider the words of the songs we sing and be exhorted by them. Let us determine that if we sing it, we will certainly try to do it.

Do you know what 4-H is? What all of the projects, opportunities, and activities are available through 4-H?

4-H is for all boys and girls between the ages of 9-19 that want to develop new skills, learn cooperation, develop leadership abilities, improve citizenship, and have fun. It is a flexible program of real life experiences in which you learn to stand up for what you believe and learn to work with others. Early practice in making personal and group decisions builds.

4-H is learning by doing - it's an action program. Participants watch others; they study, they experiment, but they also practice and do things themselves. People remember 20% of what they are told, 30% of what they see and hear, 70% of what they do and think, and 90% of what they do and think. 4-H offers much thinking and doing.

Projects that are available to 4-H members include bicycle, electric, dog care, horse, sheep, swine, public speaking, clothing, personality development, parliamentary procedure, and leadership to name a few.

Get involved in 4-H work this year. Members need encouragement from parents and leaders. If your child is in the 8-12 grade encourage them to attend the first 4-H junior leader meeting this Thursday, September 4 at the Community Center immediately after school.

This Friday, September 5, there will be a county-wide Home Demonstration club meeting at 2:00 p. m. at the Community Center. The program will be presented on the metric system. All are welcome to attend.

Charles Burton over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baker of Oklahoma City, Ok.

The annual Glasscock reunion was held in the Truscott community center Saturday and Sunday. There was approximately 40 in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Walker and children stayed with the Ray Glasscock family during the reunion.
