Youth Center Well Underway

Things are looking up at 1301 Lockwood. Have you been by this week? Everyone who has been in 8th grade through 20 years should stop in and look. Billy Miller and youths are building bathrooms in which fixtures were donated by the James Brookshire's. Tile for the girls bathroom was donated by the H. J. Franklin's and mirrors were donated by the W.T. Kirtwell's.

The stage is built and ready for carpet. Tuesday the youth cleaned the floor so the damaged tile can be replaced. The youth have started the partitions last Saturday night for the office and the pool table area. They expect to paint the walls this week. Yes, it won't be long until the youth will have an attractive place to relax and play ping pong, games and visit.

We need everyone behind this project. If you have a donation of money, please go by or mail it to the First National Bank of Tahoka, to "Youth Center Fund." It is so common to say "Well, when it is open, I will donate." But it can't open until it is equipped.

The following items are still needed: water fountain, ping pong tables, games of all kinds, indoor football, baseball and basketball equipment, P.A. system with speakers and movie projector and screen. If you have a donation call Jean McCord, 998-4297 or Peggy Atwell, 998-4365.

People are working day and night to get this center open as soon as possible. It will be supervised by a very responsible couple, Rhett and Gay Patterson.

Tahoka High Gets New Head Football Mentor

A. J. Viertel, 36 year old former head football coach at Hondo, became the new Bulldog boss Tuesday, succeeding Coach Buddy Stevens who has resigned to join the staff at Stinnett. Viertel fielded three district champions at Class AA Hondo during a four year tenure as head football coach there while amassing a record of 33 wins, 10 losses, and 1 tie. He is a graduate of Albany High School and Hardin Simmons University where he played under Coach Sammy Baugh. Viertel's coaching experience spans a twelve year period during which he was assistant at Nocona, Haskell, Sweetwater, Hondo, and MacArthur High School in Irving. He was assistant coach at Hondo for two years before being promoted to the head job there. During the past year he has been first assistant at AAAA Mac Arthur High School.

A. J. VIERTEL

Viertel holds a B.S. degree from Hardin Simmons University and a M.E. degree from Southwest Texas State University at San Marcos. His duties will include those of Athletic Director as well as head football coach.

The Viertels have two children whose ages are two and four years, respectively.

The new coach was awarded a two year contract in a special meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday evening. He will move with his family to Tahoka within the next few days. Three vacancies remain on the coaching staff. These consist of two assistant football coaches and a varsity boys basketball coach who will also assist with football. Cecil Robinson, who has been on the coaching staff for the past four years, will be varsity girls basketball coach, and he will assist with football also. A total of 82 boys in grades 9-12 have signed up for the football program which will begin pre-school workouts the middle of August.

Important Notice To All Patrons Of Post Office

This office, along with the other offices in the Lubbock Sectional Center and offices in the other Sectional Centers in the States of Texas and Louisiana, has received instructions to make the most drastic change in our dispatch of outgoing mail that has occurred during the past 30 years. The change became effective June 24th and is expected to save thousands of dollars annually without adversely affecting delivery of mail or service rendered.

Whereas, all the smaller offices formerly separated the outgoing mail in our dispatch cases, under the present system, each office will send its out-of-town mail to its Sectional Center where the mail will be separated by the unbelievably efficient Letter Sorting Machines in those offices.

Now, this is where you enter the picture - we need your cooperation to make the system work. Please separate your mail to Local (that includes Tahoka rural routes), out-of-town, and Air Mail bundles. The "local" mail will be canceled and delivered by this office throughout the day. The "out-of-town" mail will be picked up loose and dumped into an outgoing sack. This means that, if you deposit your local mail in the out-of-town slot, it will probably be sent to Lubbock with the rest of the out-of-town mail. For that reason, please do not use "City" as part of your local addresses, because, if by mistake, the mail is sent to Lubbock, the Lubbock postal clerk will not know what to do with it. It probably will wind up in the Dead Letter Office, unless it bears your return address, in which case, it will be returned to you. So, always use "Tahoka" instead of "City" when addressing your local correspondence.

Local concerns having postage meters are reminded that metered mail must be bundled separately from regular unmetered mail. Metered mail, also, should be separated to local, out-of-town and air mail bundles.

Your cooperation and understanding in this matter will be most sincerely appreciated. Charles Townes Postmaster

Drive Friendly Over 4th Weekend

AUSTIN--Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today cautioned motorists that traffic accidents during the Independence Day period from 6 p.m. Thursday, July 2 to midnight Sunday July 5 may claim as many as 46 lives in Texas.

"I am urging all Texans to adopt the 'Drive Friendly' theme during this holiday and to avoid unsafe practices which contribute to accidents," Speir said.

The DPS director listed the chief factors contributing to traffic crashes as speed too fast for conditions, driving while drinking, and driving on the wrong side of the road, often as the result of fatigue.

Speir said all available Highway Patrolmen will be on duty during the holiday period, augmented by uniformed officers from other DPS services. Also the DPS will conduct its 'Operation Motorcade' program of tabulating and announcing traffic accidents three times daily in an effort to bring about increased awareness of the added dangers of holiday travel.

In addition to the Department of Public Safety efforts, trained truck and bus industry safety men will take to the roads to participate in a unique Holiday Road Patrol.

Some 45 to 50 road patrol cars manned by experienced members of the Texas Council of Safety Supervisors will be on the highways to aid motorists in trouble. The program is sponsored by the Texas Motor Transportation Association, entering the motor carrier industry.

Junior Chamber of Commerce organizations in many parts of the state will operate rest stops for motorists along heavily traveled highways.

News media, business, and trade groups are also participating in the traffic safety program and the DPS director lauded their contributions.

"We especially appreciate the close cooperation of newspapers, the broadcast industry, and the outdoor advertising companies in helping focus public attention on safe driving," Speir added.

Rain Saves Many Crops

Rain Sunday night and Monday saved many Lynn county crops in desperate need of water to survive. The rain ranged from a mere sprinkle to more than an inch.

The U.S. Weather Bureau gauge in west Tahoka registered exactly a half inch.

Many reports of an inch or more were reported from northeast, southeast and southwest portions of the county, while parts of the West Point and old Three Lakes areas received very little. The dry Wells and Newmoore areas received fine rains, the News is informed.

Farmers declare a good general rain is still needed over much of the county.

In spite of the continued dry weather, there are many beautiful crops over the county. Most of the cotton, however, is later than farmers would like.

Lynn County To Get Food Stamp Program

Lynn and Dawson counties in West Texas and Nueces County in South Texas have been designated for the Food Stamp Program.

The two designated counties in West Texas are located just south of Lubbock, Corpus Christi is the county seat of Nueces County.

These three Texas counties were among 85 areas nationwide designated by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin for the Food Stamp Program.

The Texas counties currently are operating the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Distribution Program for low-income families. All had official requests on file with USDA to transfer from the Commodity Distribution Program to the Food Stamp Program.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford L. Hardin indicated that actual federal expenditures rates will continue to be watched in the coming month so additional approvals to transfer from commodity distribution to food stamps can be considered, if funds are available, as new requests are made.

Priority consideration, however, will continue to be given to requests from the remaining few counties that do not operate a USDA family food program or operate their commodity program on a limited basis, the Secretary added.

The Food Stamp Program, administered by the Food and Nutrition Service, enables eligible low-income families to increase their food-purchasing power by investing their own food money in federal food coupons ("Food stamps") worth more than they paid. The coupons are spent like cash at Federal Food outlets authorized under the program.

Exact dates when the areas designated will begin issuing food stamps will be announced locally, after FNS personnel and state welfare officials have planned a timetable for the steps that need to be taken to assure effective and efficient programs.

These steps include training of welfare caseworkers in the community on Food Stamp Program objectives and procedures providing arrangements for coupon issuance, certifying needy families as eligible for the program, and meeting with retail grocers and food wholesalers to assure their understanding of the food industry role before being authorized to accept and redeem the federal food coupons.

It's a good idea to divide home pools by depth lines, suggests Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies. Swimmers suddenly finding themselves in over their heads may be in more than just deep water.

Feet are particularly vulnerable to injury on the farm. "They get stepped on by livestock, run over by farm vehicles, caught in machinery and manage to be squarely beneath the heavy things we drop. Also, puncture wounds are common from stepping on nails and other sharp objects. Safety shoes with metal toeboxes and strong soles would minimize such injuries."

Eye injuries are frequent in farming. Flying or protruding objects, chaff, dust and the like, make eye protection a "must." Fletcher recommends that prescription glasses and sunglasses have non-splintering, break-resistant lenses. Also, many types of safety goggles are available for dusty or chaffy conditions, shop and maintenance work, and chemical applications.

Continuous exposure to noisy tractors and other farm machinery can permanently damage hearing. "When the racket rises, special muffs or acoustic plugs are well worth wearing to help save your hearing."

Referring to another way farm people get hurt, Fletcher suggests that "regular construction-type 'hard hats' and 'bump caps' can spare your head from painful blows it often receives when you are doing construction or maintenance work around the farm."

Other recommended personal protective equipment includes various types of respirators for applying pesticides and work in extremely dusty conditions, and the self-contained breathing apparatus (SCUBA) for use in the hostile atmosphere found while cleaning or maintaining manure tanks and silos.

Personal protective equipment suitable for farm use is available, or can be found or ordered from catalogs, in most cities throughout the nation. Information is also available from your local Safety Council.

YOUR STATE REPRESENTATIVE REPORTS

BY E. L. SHORT

STATE REPRESENTATIVE, 73RD DISTRICT

Editor's note: E.L. Short I supported this bill in the special session last year and it was not intended to prevent amateurs from hunting arrowheads, etc.

Contrary to a recent national news service story, the Antiquities Code of Texas is not spoiling the fun of amateur treasure hunters, collectors and beachcombers.

The wrath of scores of hobbyists was aroused when a news story in early February mistakenly implied that the Antiquities Committee planned to regulate all such activities when conducted on private land.

Dr. Fred Wendorf, chairman of the Antiquities Committee, issued a clarifying statement March 17, in which he said, "Informal collecting involving no excavation does relatively little damage to our archeological and historical resources. Thus, to prohibit it would be an unnecessary infringement on a popular activity. In addition, a regulation of this type would probably be unenforceable."

"We need a broad base of public support and confidence if we are to be successful in our primary goal to protect the fast-dwindling historical resources of the state from needless loss. I believe that the main source for this support lies with the collectors and amateurs, many of whom are already well aware of the need for preservation."

He emphasized, however, that the Antiquities Code regulates all types of excavation or digging on state property and on property owned by political subdivisions of the state.

It also regulates such activities on private lands which have been declared State Archeological Landmarks, but at present none have been so designated.

Persons who wish to excavate on state or public land should apply for a permit to the Antiquities Committee, P. O. Box 12276, Austin, Texas 78711.

H. R. 16250 and the Soviet System

(Reprinted from The American Rifleman)
When this magazine published details of the Soviet system of controlling firearms under the thumb of government in 1967, it was hardly expected to see a similar plan proposed in the U. S. Congress as a means of clamping down on American handgun owners. Yet it has taken only three years for this to come to pass.

Under the Soviet control system, a government sports agency, DOSAAF, keeps and issues target pistols for registered competitors. Any civilian shooter wishing to own a handgun must first satisfy both DOSAAF and MOOP, the Ministry of Internal Affairs. Maintaining Public Order or police bureau. "The police are the final authorities in these cases," said an article in The American Rifleman for January, 1967, page 43, and "relatively few shooters own a pistol."

Under H. R. 16250, introduced earlier this year by a Chicago Congressman, a similarly tight system of Government controls would be imposed on U. S. pistol shooters. This bill would virtually choke off private ownership of handguns by preventing them from interstate commerce. Then it would concentrate target pistol shooting under official government licensed clubs sanctioned by the U. S. Secretary of the Treasury. These clubs would be required to keep the pistols in a club vault, just like DOSAAF.

Each U. S. government regulated pistol club would have to pay a $25 annual license fee and prove to the government's satisfaction that it "has premises from which it operates, and maintains possession and control of the handguns used by its members, and has procedures and facilities for keeping such handguns in a secure place, under the control of the club's chief officer, at all times" when not used for target or recreational shooting. Premises, firearms and records would be subject to Federal inspection at any time.

The penalty for violating "any provision" of all this regulation would be fixed as high as five years and $10,000. (The Soviet penalty, by contrast, may under Communist Order or law range from $100 to one year at most.) Handguns seized in violations would be forfeited. Any handgun owner sickened to the point of surrendering the bureaucratic burdens of the system could yield up his handgun to a law enforcement agency and "be entitled to receive from the United States a payment equal to the fair market value of the handgun or $25, whichever is more."

The author of H. R. 16250, Rep. Abner J. Mikva (2nd Dist., Ill.), is a 44-year-old native of Milwaukee who represents a Chicago district including the University of Chicago. He is a cum laude graduate of the University of Chicago law school, which also produced several vociferous anti-gun spokesmen, and a former member of the board of managers of the Chicago Bar Association, which recently came out blandly for handgun regulation.

Nobody is on record as accusing him of being a conservative thinker. Nobody seems to have accused him of being a radical, either. He spent two years in the Army Air Corps in World War II, served 10 years in the Illinois legislature, was elected to Congress in 1968, is a family man and appears to like pistols with something approaching a passion.

The Congressman apparently fails to realize, however, that what he proposes for free Americans rivals or surpasses the Soviet system in its general severity and in government control of target pistol shooting. Possibly whoever prompted him to introduce H. R. 16250 is more fully aware of this.

In discussing the measure, the Congressman took it upon himself to say (Station WINS, New York City, March 3, 10:55 p.m.) that the National Rifle Association "really ought to be for this kind of bill, but I have no illusions—they will oppose this vigorously." He is right about the opposition, if nothing else. He is mistaken in blaming it largely on "financial interest." The issue is a lot bigger than that, though most Americans see something wrong with protecting their financial interests. Many legitimately own handguns worth $150 to $300 and up. Would they get "fair value" for these from some shadowy, distant bureaucracy?

H. R. 16250 has not rallied much Congressional support, perhaps it is because few Congressmen are prepared to imitate Soviet repression in restricting free Americans in any respect.

how to live - and die - with Texas Probate

NUMBER 5
IMPORTANCE OF AN INDEPENDENT ADMINISTRATION
Texas can proudly claim a great contribution to American law — the concept of an independent administration. An independent administration is a way of settling an estate free from the control of the probate court.

The probate process originated because of the government's desire to protect creditors and collect taxes. In 1843 the Republic of Texas gave birth to new type of administration, now commonly termed an "independent administration." The new law provided for including in a will the words "that no other action than the probate and registration of this will shall be had in the probate court."

This authorized for the first time in America the settlement of a decedent's affairs without long and expensive court supervision. Only three other states (Arizona, Idaho and Washington) have this extraordinary type of probate proceeding.

PURPOSE OF AN INDEPENDENT ADMINISTRATION
This law was passed to provide a more effective method for settling a decedent's estate with the minimum bother, delay and cost necessary to probate a will. After probating statement, "I wish my estate kept out of the probate court," has been ruled good enough. The only other requirement is the naming of an executor to hold this special job. Unless the person making the will names an executor who is alive when the will is probated and who is qualified and willing to act, an independent administration cannot be established.

The court cannot name an independent executor and the independent executor named in the will can't name someone else. Naming an alternate independent executor in the will to serve if the first one named is not alive or can't serve would seem wise.

WHAT IS AN INDEPENDENT EXECUTOR?
The position of an independent executor is somewhat unique. He takes charge of and administers the estate... without action of the county court in relation to the settlement of the estate and may do, without an order, every act which an executor administering an estate under the control of the court may do with such order.

But he is not a law unto himself. He is required to conform to the probate laws. The independent executor practically stands in the shoes of the one who made the will.

ENFORCEMENT OF AN INDEPENDENT EXECUTOR'S DUTIES
The purposes of probate are to settle the deceased person's affairs, to satisfy the claims of the creditors and taxing authorities and to distribute the estate left over in accordance with the directions in the will.

Ample protection is afforded to insure the independent executor's faithful performance of his obligations. If mismanagement is suspected, the independent executor can be forced to post bond with the court. If the one making the will does not relieve the independent executor of the necessity of posting bond, the independent executor must post an appropriate bond to qualify, just as any other executor. Most people making a will with competent advice eliminate the bond and save their estate the bond cost.

A soft answer turneth away wrath; but grievous words stir up anger. -- Proverbs 15:1.

Psychological Depression
Each morning, the daily newspaper describes incidents and speeches outlining just what is wrong with America. Ditto the radio and book tube. Know what I think? Think we Americans have talked ourselves into a state of depression!

The mass media frequently is guilty of overplaying the dissenters, the overreactors. Regardless of the subject, we are given viewpoints from radicals: left and right. Perhaps the general public is being brainwashed to the point of letting someone else do our thinking; mostly negative!

Partisan politicians — from both parties — don't help the situation. They can never realize that the opposing both party is doing anything but getting America deeper into a rut.

For a change of pace, let's examine WHAT IS RIGHT WITH AMERICA. Has our Maker ever before so blessed a nation? We are informed loud and clear when a screwball such as Jerry Rubin, Youth International Party (Yippie) explains: "The first part of the Yippie program, you know, is kill your parents. And I mean that quite seriously because until you're prepared to kill your parents you're not really prepared to change the country because our parents are our first oppressors." Americans know when Yippie, co-leader Abbie Hoffman agrees: "Revolution begins at home... I think the way to bridge the generation gap is to eliminate one half of it."

The mass media keeps us well informed as to what these anti-Americans are saying and doing. But what about the 98 per cent of our young people who respect their parents? What do we hear about the majority's views and actions?

How many persons — except, perhaps, those in their immediate community — learn about 75 high school kids volunteering to clear away wreckage after a tornado (that happened right here); about the Crosbyton High School Student Council voting to cancel a swimming outing to Roaring Springs because a few of their group (those who happened to be born with black skin) would not be allowed in the pool; when a group of young ladies (the Lockney Candy Strippers) volunteer to give of their time to visit and cheer ill and elderly persons?

The radical student movement, in our judgement, is "over the hill." Why? Because the majority of our young people are tired of being duped out of an education because of a few radicals. The collegians themselves, not university administrators nor the government, will correct this malignancy in America's educational system.

Did you know that 75 per cent of the nation's citizens, age 25-29, now own a high school education... compared to only 61 per cent 10 years ago. Thirty per cent of the college-age youth today are seeking a higher education, eight per cent more than in 1960.

Okay, so our education is increasing! What else can we say on the positive side?

Sixty-four per cent of all American families — amid a supposedly high poverty level — own their own homes. Eighty per cent own at least one automobile. Americans today have more savings, stocks and bonds, life insurance than in 1960. Even allowing for inflation, the figures still are on the plus side. Could it be that "necessities" today were considered "luxuries" 10 years ago?

Do you realize, poverty-conscious America, that 14 1/2 million fewer persons — according to government statistics — are living in poverty than 10 years ago. This figure has decreased 36 per cent since '60s, despite a population increase.

War, inflation, pollution, declining morals... these are real problems. Many others are imaginary, magnified by an over-acting news media and politicians.

Could we be compared to the Detroit auto worker who got a shopping pay raise and then wrote his Congressman complaining about higher prices on new cars? Are we thinking ourselves into a state of depression? There still is plenty RIGHT with America!

the will and filing an inventory of the estate with the court, the executor is not required to report back to the probate court for any purpose. He is not required to file annual accountings or final accountings. He is not required to apply to the court or to obtain court authority to make sales or compromise claims. And he is not subject to the direction of the court in any of his other activities in the settlement of the decedent's estate.

HOW TO OBTAIN AN INDEPENDENT ADMINISTRATION
A person must make a will to obtain the great benefits of this device — another good reason for making a will. No magic words are required; any indication that the executor is to be free of the court's control is ample. The simple

This way of handling an estate is so popular Texas lawyers never draw wills without it. It is truly the most significant feature of the Texas probate system.

THE PHILOSOPHER

Inflation

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm tackles inflation this week. It may have gotten away from him.)

Dear editor:
I have long known that a farmer, needing a rain, has to be careful where he says so out loud.

His neighbor may still be planting and get mad about it, which underscores a sort of unwritten belief that wishing has something to do with the weather.

Of course farmers are just going on, but, I have found out, this isn't true of economists.

According to an article I read in a newspaper last night, some of the nation's leading economists are trying to wish inflation away. One of them, lighting his pipe with a match from a penny box of matches now costing 2 cents, said "the economy should emerge from the current dip on a path of sustainable growth, with inflation on the wane."

What this means is that if things pick up he was right and if they don't, let's talk about something else.

But about the best statement came from another economist who said: "The peak of inflation is past and prices soon will be rising more slowly."

That's a statement worth picking up in your hand and rolling around and looking at more closely.

If inflation is ending because prices, while still rising, aren't rising as fast as they did yesterday, that's like saying we're getting closer to dry weather because it didn't rain as much this week as it did last week.

It's like a fat man's saying his diet is working because he gained two pounds less this month than the month before. It's like a lawyer's feeling good because he got his client 99 years instead of life. It's like a college student's teaching the administration a lesson in literature by burning down the library. It's like saying automobile pollution is lessening because we're having more wrecks.

I don't see why the economists don't abandon all their theories, get down to bedrock and state flat-footedly that rising prices cause inflation and that unarguably inflation produces rising prices and let's all hope the weather is better tomorrow.

Yours Faithfully,
J. A.

Past Days In Lynn County

Perhaps the largest crowd that ever attended an old settlers' reunion here was that which assembled in the City Park Monday to greet friends, talk over old times, swap yarns listen to speeches, enjoy again the enchanting music that a few of the old-timers can dispense with fiddle and bow, and even to hear the song and dance story of a candidate or two now running at large over Texas.

Not the least among the pleasures of the day was the great barbecued feast that was served at the noon hour - tender beef prepared as only a trained ranch cook can prepare it. The exercises opened at about ten o'clock in the morning with a welcome address delivered by Judge Tom Garrard, who although not a resident of Lynn County for thirty years, has been breathing West Texas air and sniffing the dust of the old cow trails of the Plains and the Pecos River areas for a much longer time than that. Tom is always at home on the platform when you turn him loose among a bunch of ranchmen to talk about pioneer days in the west. Judge J.E. Garland of Lamesa is also a favorite of the Pioneers and they had invited him to come up and regale them for awhile with tales from the Plains of the olden days and to partake of their hospitality.

The Judge spoke for awhile to the delight of all who heard him.

Then they turned the fiddlers loose, three of them, and we imagine that in the music that they made, those old settlers could again hear the whining of the night winds among the mesquites and the cattle camps, the bawling of the calves, and maybe the warning sound now and then of the rattlesnake.

Anyway, they all seemed sorry when the program was about to come to a close, and rather than break up and go home they consented to listen for a spell to a brief program of this modern but tuneful hill-billie music, followed by the gracious notes of a candidate for governor, Jerry Sadler was on the ground.

Joe E. Lewis, Fl-C in the U.S. Navy, 23, son of Mrs. Laura Lewis who lives out on Rt. 4 near New Home, was granted a discharge on June 19.

After receiving training at San Diego Training Station and Newport Naval Station, he was assigned to sea duty on the USS Cuttyhunk Island, serving thereon from September 1, 1945 to May 3, 1946. He expects to engage in farming as an occupation.

Last Sunday morning Charles Stewart, local examining pilot issued Frank Larkin his Private Pilot's license after giving him his examination that same morning of this week. There are many other pilots that will receive their Private License here in the near future.

Elliott will furnish gas and oil to the new Panhandle Service Station opened by Homer Parker and James Miller, to a station at O'Donnell and to the farm trade.

Copied from July 12, 1946 With the opening of the House of Flowers by Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Billman here Saturday, Tahoka will have a new enterprise - one which has long been needed here. It is hoped that it will have the undivided support of the people of Tahoka and of Lynn County from the very beginning so that its success and continued operation may be assured.

Mrs. Billman recently took a course in flower arrangement and had actual experience in a flower shop, and she is prepared to serve the public efficiently. Besides, she has visited and inspected other shops in order to get the benefit of their experience and any new ideas that might be suggested.

Mr. and Mrs. Billman plan to install a head yard and shrubbery department in the fall, and to expand their facilities as rapidly as the demands may require.

You are invited to visit the House of Flowers tomorrow and any time thereafter that may suit your convenience.

... tation of cholera into his herd. He can do this by:

I. Maintaining a closed herd. Should breeding or feeding stock be required, purchase only from clean stock. Don't buy bargain pigs. Isolate all replacement stock from the rest of your herd for at least 30 days.

II. Allowing only necessary traffic onto and around the feedlot and adjacent premises. Do not allow feed trucks or rendering trucks to enter any livestock lot.

III. Preventing unauthorized personnel from entering swine production areas. Clean and disinfect footwear and change outer clothing before entering your lots if you have been to a neighbor's lot, to market, or any other place where other producers may have been.

IV. Don't feed table scraps or raw garbage to hogs. These procedures will help prevent diseases other than hog cholera so that they should be a routine part of procedure on all livestock farms. The old adage 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure' is still true. In fact, disease prevention can easily mean the difference between profit or loss in your swine operation.

What will you do if you suspect hog cholera in your herd?

I. Isolate sick animals immediately.

II. Notify your local, State or Federal vet immediately so that he can examine your herd and arrange for all necessary lab tests.

III. If the disease is confirmed observe all quarantines and cooperate fully with animal health officials who are trying to locate the source of infection and prevent any further spread.

IV. Follow the 'Golden Rule' for hog cholera prevention: PROTECT YOUR NEIGHBOR AS YOU WOULD HAVE YOUR NEIGHBOR PROTECT YOU

The size of next fall's and winter's litters may be determined by the management given sows during the hot weather months.

For larger fall and winter litters, swine producers should make every effort to keep sows and gilts cool during the hot summer and early fall months. Research has proven that heat stress or high temperatures during the early stages of the gestation period reduces sow productivity.

Heat stress during the 15 days following breeding is detrimental to productivity, resulting in fewer viable embryos and lower survival rates.

Sows and gilts can be kept cool quite satisfactorily through the use of a fogging system. On farms which have a pressure water system, cotton spray nozzles have been successfully used in constructing the needed fogging system.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Richard L. Christie, "Crisis In Our Nation", indeed there are many crises. Anytime you listen to the news or read in the newspaper or magazines it tells of the crisis in our Nation. But they have yet told of the Greatest Crisis. The continued wasting of the land through erosion and improper use and the complacency of America about conservation is the Greatest Crisis. No war is not the Greatest Crisis, granted it is not good. But racism or declining economy the Greatest Crisis, even though we should be concerned. A nation deprived of its liberty may win it, a nation divided may reunite, but a nation whose natural resources are destroyed must inevitably pay the penalty of poverty, degradation and decay.

Bill Griffin,
County Agent,
Says.....

This is why Patrick Henry once said, "He is the greatest patriot, who stops the most bullets." Early leaders of our Nation, such as George Washington and Thomas Jefferson were conservationists on their land and they recognized the danger for this Great Nation if they failed to build America's future built by men and women seeking independence and security. Our shelter, food and clothing all come from the soil. The soil is lost so is our security and our freedom. When the soil is gone man must go, and the process does not take long.

Even though you may recognize it as a Great Crisis there is still a great deal you can do. If you get a pain in your stomach when you see a gully in a field or a lump in your yard when you see the wind blowing the soil out of a field or when you see a muddy stream flowing with silt from production farm land, then you recognize a part of the Great Crisis. You then make others well aware of the problem you have in our Nation a great service. We get news commentaries, editors, column writers, politicians and all the American population aware of the Great Crisis then we can rest only then.

Why this complacency in America about conservation? Perhaps it is because the need for conservation measures does not immediately strike the eye. The food stores at Tahoka and O'Donnell are full today. The dust in Lynn County may not be blowing today. And so we concern ourselves with the big headlines: wars, race riots, space missiles, student unrest and murders! The silent eroding of land in Texas this year affects our future more directly than our landing on the moon.

Yes, our supermarkets are still full. Our time has not run out yet...but we cannot afford to be wasteful in the future if we desire our children's children to inherit an affluent America. We must plan more intensively, farm more wisely, care more urgently.

We must make the city man understand that what happens to rural America affects him immediately and profoundly, while treating our God given resources with "Tender Loving Care".

HOG CHOLERA INFORMATION
The unexplained death of pigs at any age is sufficient reason to consult a veterinarian about the possibility of hog cholera. Remember, Texas is in Phase III of the eradication program; vaccination is not allowed, but indemnity payments can be made on hogs destroyed because of hog cholera. However, indemnity payments are only for hogs alive at the first official visit of a State or Federal Animal Health Official.

Hog Cholera is now known to have a chronic form, in addition to the typical, acute and fatal form. Hog Cholera is also being manifested as the 'sow syndrome'. Pregnant gilts and sows, acting as carriers of the virus, may abort or have weak pigs. Occasionally, deaths occur only after weaning.

Concurrent with the changing signs of hog cholera is an increased incubation period of the virus. Outbreaks may commonly occur three weeks or more after exposure.

The expense and problem of hog cholera can be removed from the swine industry by each producer preventing the impor-dardization of lengths. It's all a matter of personal proportion not inches.

Linda Huffaker, CHD Agent, Says.....

Hems down, waist up...placement of the waistline is important! Natural waist is to be avoided. Waistline must be defined above its natural point to create the illusion of a longer leg and a taller appearance. All boils down to a matter of the right proportion.

Pantsuits For Fall...look better than ever... long jackets which extend over the hips. Long pants are straight, full and frequently cuffed. What's new: The Gaucho Suit...newest pant for Fall...if midcalf, cuffed and finished with tall boots and a hat.

"Earthy" colors...will start the Fall season: shades like terra cotta, bronze, brass, or olives. Burgandy, deep purples and navy are also good Fall colors. Every shade of brown will be seen.

Hosiery...one of the most important parts of total look. Opaques lead it off in deep colors. Chied ideas: same color as shoe in order to lengthen the leg... dark leg look. Textures are good. Ribs will be one of the best textures.

In fabrics...more new textures...glaced and vinyl coatings...knits and corduroys...velours...linen-velvets and the great initiators of the seasons...red fox, patterned minks, spotted furs, and curly lamb. Crushed patent still on the scene. Important look is combination of two textures, such as fake fur or pile with vinyl, canvas with knot, wool with pile. KNITS ON THE RUNWAY...not confined to any single fiber-blends, acrylic knits, and double knit cottons. Geometric jacquards, raised surface designs, plaids, and stripes—all part of knit headlines.

Snake's alive and kicking for fall...translated into prints on such fabrics as knit, crepe, and chiffon. Seen in both dresses and sportwear. Lizard and snake appear as a popular trim on knits. Show and handbag manufacturers are following up the look.

Lots of buttons...vertically placed on front slit mid skirt to create a long slim line. Unbuttoning the skirt allows ease in walking and exposure of the legs—even if only one at a time!

Separated...big on Fall scene because they offer a choice of looks: short jacket, pants, midi skirt, long vest, turtle neck pullovers...select what individual sees as right for her. THE VEST...long and sleeveless...worn with pants and dresses. BATTLE JACKET worn with pants or midi skirt. TUNIC-PLUS-PANTS...tunic actually last season's short dress, perhaps two or three inches above the knee.

Coats...ponchos, capes and bathrobe wrap styles lead the scene. Trend to longer length in coats. Midi trenchcoat with pants is an acceptable silhouette.

SOME GENERAL NOTES ON ACCESSORIZING

As hemlines go down the accessory concentration is at the neck and waist.

Dog collars and chokers important. Pendants worn short. Small scarves worn tightly around neck like a cowboy. Long scarves wrapped around neck once and left long and flowing - sometimes extend to even the hemlines.

Shoulderbag still good. Clutch bag appearing on the handbag scene.

Boots or dark leg essential with new longuette.

This was the scene at the Dallas Apparel Mart during the week of May 25 which was the Fall and Back-to-School Market.

Ice cream is an amazing food! It's both good and good for you. Ice cream costs no more than other popular desserts and goes well with most of them. It's surprisingly low in calories, when compared with other favorite sweets.

Ice cream makes a notable contribution in food nutrients. It contains proteins, calcium and riboflavin (a B vitamin). If you are a person who believes that it is wise to make every food count, then ice cream is a natural for dessert.

Try some of these marvelous ideas for serving ice cream this summer.

For a gourmet touch, serve Ice Cream Splits, in edible "Boats." Whipp up a vanilla-flavored meringue, colored with vegetable coloring, if desired, and place in canoe-shaped mounds on a big sheet lined with brown paper. Bake one hour in a 275 degree F. oven until slightly brown and crispy. Cool the meringue boats and fill with assorted flavors of ice cream, plus sliced bananas, pineapple spears, peach slices, whole berries and sweet pitted cherries. Drizzle with chocolate and pineapple sauces, add a sprinkling of chopped nuts and a whipped cream puff.

Beat the heat with dairy drinks that team ice cream with whole milk and chocolate flavored milk.

Orange Milk Shake -- for 2- whip just to blend 1/4 cup frozen orange juice concentrate, 2 scoops orange sherbert, 4 scoops vanilla ice cream and 1/2 cups milk. Add a scoop of orange sherbert and orange slice to each glass.

Maple-Chocolate Cream -- for 2 -- Spark 1 pint chocolate-flavored milk with 6 tablespoons maple syrup. Top each serving with a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

Peach Cream Soda ... Into each tall glass put 1/4 cup crushed, sweetened, fresh, frozen or canned peaches, and 1/2 cup milk. Stir well. Fill glass 2/3 full with carbonated water. Top with a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

Chocolate-Peppermint Shake . for 2 ... Beat together 1 pint peppermint ice cream and 1 pint chocolate-flavored milk until frothy. Add a scoop of vanilla ice cream to each serving.

Strawberry Smoother -- for 2-- Combine 1 cup milk, 1/2 pint vanilla ice cream, 1 cup fresh sliced and mashed strawberries, and 1/4 cup honey. Whip until smooth.

For a strictly elegant desert, serve Flaming Ice Cream Mold.

1 pint strawberry ice cream

1 pint vanilla ice cream

1 pint green mint ice cream

5 sugar candle-holders

5 sugar cube

1 lounce bottle fresh lemon extract

Fill mold to top with scoops of slightly soft ice cream, alternating flavors, Pack firmly, cover and freeze. To serve, run knife around sides of mold to loosen ice cream. Dip bottom of mold quickly in warm water. Invert on serving plate; shake to remove ice cream. Insert sugar candle-holders in ice cream; return to freezer to firm. Soak sugar cubes thoroughly in lemon extract. Place in candle-holders. Touch lighted match to sugar cubes-serve immediately.

Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Pressure from the courts may move the Legislature to massive election law reforms next year.

At least two major Texas cases which could have far-reaching consequences for the state election processes and political system are pending in three-judge federal courts.

In one, Corpus Christi, San Antonio and San Marcos plaintiffs challenge the constitutionality of the annual voter registration requirement and the January 31 registration deadline. They ask reopening of registration after the June runoff primaries to allow voters until October to qualify for the November general election. More than 30 states already have a general election sign-up extension, and no state requires as early a close-off of registrations as Texas.

A second case tests validity of the candidates' filing fee system. An El Paso candidate for county commissioner and a Tarrant County candidate for county judge won places on the May primary ballot through court action when they pleaded they could not afford to pay the stiff filing fee.

A third case attacks the constitutionality of the statute denying aid to illiterate voters in marking ballots.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. acknowledges a great many changes are needed in the state election code. He is compiling a list of needs with an eye on court decisions and plans to contact legislators about them soon.

Dies indicates he is inclined to favor the recommendation that May-June primary dates be shopped back until August and September (as some 14 states now provide).

He also tentatively likes the idea of making voter registrations good for four years.

And the state, believes Dies, "is going to have to reach the conclusion candidates cannot continue to completely finance primaries."

LEGISLATIVE DECORUM EYED... A House committee studying ways to improve the legislature's decorum and public image indicated it wants curbs on the familiar practice of lawmakers' voting for absentees on an electronic machine.

Committee members couldn't bring themselves to condemn "proxy" voting for members absent from the floor for a few minutes to take telephone calls from constituents. But they frowned on votes cast for legislators who are truants from the capitol.

Committee, headed by Rep. John E. (Ned) Blain of El Paso, discussed a variety of proposals to make the House of Representatives look and act better.

Among other major suggestions: a glassed-in spectators' gallery, desk-to-desk floor telephone communications and overhead projectors to display hasty floor amendments to legislation.

DRUG MEMO SIGNED... High-ranking state officials signed a "memorandum of understanding" with the U.S. Department of Justice Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

Memorandum formalizes the present working agreement and outlines areas of responsibility for state agencies and the federal bureau in which mutual efforts and cooperation will be necessary or desirable.

Overall purpose of the memorandum is to establish and maintain effective working arrangements between the state and the federal bureau to hold to a minimum diversion of narcotics and dangerous drugs from legal channels to illicit traffic.

Most of the stimulants and depressants sold illegally originated from legitimate foreign or domestic channels.

APPOINTMENTS AND HONORS Sen. Criss Cole of Houston, a war-blinded Marine Corps veteran, has been nominated for the "outstanding rehabilitant in the nation."

Former Lake Jackson Mayor William D. Colegrove is the new president of the Beautify Texas Council.

Ralph D. Spencer of Lubbock now is secretary of the Texas Board of Architectural Examiners.

Dr. Robert Skinner was named acting director of the State Health Department tubercular control program.

Gov. Preston Smith announced these appointments:

Southern Regional Education Board -- Rep. Russell Cummings of Houston.

Commission for Indian Affairs -- Barney Joseph Wieland of El Paso.

Lavaca-Navidad River Authority Board -- Hans R. Wittenburg of Edna.

COURTS SPEAK... Texas Supreme Court heard arguments as to whether it should uphold a district court decision that the Texas obscenity control law is unconstitutional.

By a six to three decision, High Court held that a man could not recover damages although an Arlington hospital nurse fed him solid food soon after a colon operation.

A suit for $43,600, against a life insurance company that issued a policy on a quarter-horse, was refused by the Supreme Court because the company was not notified immediately when the animal became ill.

High Court ruled for Grand Prairie in a 3,000-acre annexation dispute with Arlington.

Court refused to hear the appeal of an Austin teenager dismissed from school after he was caught with marijuana in his pockets.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES Raza Unida Party in Hidalgo County cannot get its local candidates on the November ballot unless it gathers new petitions from non-participants in other party primaries, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

Teacher Retirement System Board of Trustees has authority to invest its trust funds in home office facilities, land and equipment used for administering the system, to manage and control facilities and pay expenses for operating, maintaining, repairing and improving them.

Election officers named to hold district school trustee elections must hold a regular election for county school trustees and are to be compensated by the school district which also pays for election supplies out of the maintenance fund.

HOSPITAL FUNDS DISTRIBUTED... State Board of Health allocated $1,477,880 to 12 applicants for federal Hill-Burton health facilities construction funds. Projects and amount allocated are:

Southwest Texas Methodist Hospital, San Antonio, $400,000; McAllen General Hospital, $315,000; Spohn Hospital, Corpus Christi, $225,000; Torbett-Hutchings-Smith Hospital, Marlin, $150,000; Fort Worth Radiation Center, $60,000; Teague Hospital Authority, $99,715;

West Coake County Hospital Robert Lee, $38,295; Overall-Morris Memorial Hospital, Coleman, $19,010; Sterling County Hospital, $38,900; Morningside Manor, San Antonio, $41,960; Space Center Memorial Hospi-pital, Nassau Bay, $50,000; and St. Mary's-Gates Memorial Hospital, Port Arthur, $40,000.

Hill-Burton program pays up to 50 per cent of cost of construction or modernization of hospitals and other health facilities in areas of critical need.

THREE CITIES HONORED... Governor Smith presented the merit awards to Lockhart, Atlanta and Graham.

Awards were for cities of up to 12,000 population tribute to progress made toward improving the quality of living.

Smith cited Atlanta for such improvements as a new high school, a 65-bed hospital, city-wide beautification and a new sewage treatment plant.

Lockhart was honored for improved housing, health services and general beautification projects.

Graham drew its citation for broad-based citizen participation to improve medical-health service, beautification and economic and property use.

SHORT SNORTS... Governor Smith directed a $1.2 million highway fund transfer to rein force the Department of Public Safety budget.

Texas Committee on State and Local Tax Policy invites suggestions on revenue sources and making tax laws more efficient, equitable.

Federal Office of Emergency Preparedness turned down Governor Smith's request to declare San Marcos a disaster area for flood damage aid.

Parks and Wildlife Department authorized $127,509 in spending for beach cleaning and maintenance in Galveston, Brazoria County and Nueces County.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Step In The Dark

Frank, visiting at a suburban home, went to look for the bathroom. He opened a door, encountered total darkness, took one bold step forward, and toppled down the stairway to the basement.

Could Frank hold the home owner legally liable for his accident? A court said he could not, because he had no one to blame but himself.

"Darkness," said the court, "constitutes a warning to proceed either with extreme caution or not at all."

A step in the dark is, all too often, a step in the wrong direction. Literally thousands of accident victims, seeking to recover damages, have found their rights impaired by their own failure to heed the warning that darkness gives.

True, there may be extenuating circumstances. In one case, a shopper was held negligent for having ventured into a dark storeroom, after a clerk had assured her it was all right to go there.

In another case a member of a lodge, coming to the locker room, found it in darkness. He stepped inside to reach for the light switch. But as he did so, he stumbled over a bench that someone had left in the aisle.

Again, a court found the man not negligent, since he had done the natural thing under the circumstances. The court pointed out that he had no reason to expect an obstacle there, in his past experience, there had always been an open space.

However, even if you are justified in stepping into a dark place, you should still use reasonable ingenuity to cut your risk to a minimum. For example, it may be negligent in the eyes of the law for you to fail to use matches if you happen to have them in your pocket.

One man who fell down an elevator shaft in a dark warehouse was held negligent because he had forgotten to use the cigarette lighter he was carrying. The court commented:

"The parental precept, 'Look where you are going,' is a sound statement of conduct which has become crystallized into a rule of law."
