Mr. Hamilton, representative of General Telephone met with the council concerning a rate increase in telephone rates.

A resolution was also passed by the Council condemning the new mail service set up in Tahoka and pledged themselves to write a letter of protest to Congressman Mahon, John Tower and Ralph Yarborough concerning the matter. The Council also favored asking all citizens of Tahoka to write their government representatives concerning the matter.

trash barrels, burying trash, etc.

The council also voted to accept the bid on a new Pontiac police car.

Motion made and accepted that all bills be paid.

Food Stamp Program In Lynn

Lynn County low-income families interested in the Food Stamp Program should contact the local caseworker for the Texas Department of Public Welfare. The program opened in the county on August 5.

The word comes from W.L. Webb, unit welfare supervisor, Spur.

Mrs. Jeanette Bell, who is caseworker for Lynn County, is at the courthouse in Tahoka from 8:15 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Wednesday of the first full week of the month and during the morning of the third Wednesday of the month.

In general, families eligible for the Food Stamp Program include those who work for low wages, or receive public assistance or a small pension check, and who cook food at home. The coupons cannot be used to pay for meals at restaurants, and are not good for imported foods or non-food items such as soap, paper goods or liquor.

Food stamps give low-income families more food-buying power, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. For example, a family of four with an income of less than $155 will pay $42 each month and receive food coupons worth $106. The difference is made up by "bonus" coupons paid for by federal funds.

Food stamps are used just like money at local groceries authorized by USDA's Food and Nutrition Service to accept them and are redeemed at cooperating banks through the Federal Reserve System.

Tatum Bros. Win Softball League

The Tatum Brothers put together a six game winning streak to take the Tahoka Softball Championship by one game over the Bray Chevrolet Pacesetters.

Going into the final week of play the Tatum Brothers trailed the Pacesetters by one full game. And in the final each had to play the other twice. It ended up they had to play on consecutive nights.

On Monday night they went together for the first game. Tatum proved to be too tough to handle for the Pacesetter. The score was 14 to 7. The Tigers and Gingers played with the Tigers winning the second game of that night.

The following night the Pacesetters were out to prove that the night before was just a mistake. But Tatum pushed across two runs in the bottom of the sixth and won 4-2. The Tigers won their game 3-2 over the Gingers as Leonard Dunn returned to the mound after missing four weeks with a case of cracked ribs.

Thursday found the Pacesetters taking the first game from the Tigers 10-0. The Gingers put up a great effort to overtake the Tatum express and almost exceeded them. Tatum pushed across three runs in the top of the seventh to win 8-7.

The Pacesetters kept the heat on Tatum by beating the Gingers 8-2 on Friday night.

Tatum had to play the Tigers which had beat Tatum more than any other team in the league. But Tatum pulled out their sixth win in a row and won 9-4 and the league championship.

Tatum Bros. - 17 - 7
Pacesetters - 16 - 8
Tigers - 9 - 15

Gingers - 7 - 17

Tatum finished second to the Pacesetters last year by one game. Just as it was last year the champion was not decided until the last game of the season. For the last five seasons the Pacesetters have been in the thick of the race until the last game. They were tied for 1st place with the Tigers two seasons ago and lost in the first playoff in the leagues history. They put together the first undefeated season in the 1967 season. Last year they won the league and finished second only one game back of the Tatum Brothers this year.

They have the only triple play in the league's history. This year they won the home run championship with a team total of six. Milton Miller won the race with three and teammate Rick Edwards and Mike Davis of the Gingers tied for second with two each. Pace setter Pistol Rash and Tatum Brothers Kenneth Huffaker were third with one each.

Charlie Pergeson of Tatum won the Sportsmanship Award for the 1970 softball season. We the players of the Tahoka Softball League wish to thank our sponsors this year. Tatum Brothers Elevators, Bray Chevrolet, Chancy & Son, and Paymaster Gins at Draw. And we want to thank you, the fan. We play the game because we like it but it would be for nothing if we didn't have you to cheer at us, to hoot at us, and just to be a fan of the sport. We thank you, the Fan.

And we would like to thank Joe Brooks our league president, Joe did a great job this year and we all want to say a job well done. And to the new president, Morris Bingham the best of luck for the 1971 season. Until we hook 'um again next season come the second annual Tahoka Softball Tournament.

Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Campaigns are shaping up on some of the seven proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on by Texans at the General Election on November 3.

While public interest centers on the liquor-by-the-drink amendment, there are other major alterations in the state's laws to be considered by the voters.

In their order on the ballot, these are:

1. Enlarge the powers of the Judicial Qualifications Commission to censure or remove lower court judges and justices of the peace as well as district and appellate judges.
2. Authorize the legislature to enact a law on the sale of mixed drinks.
3. Provide for legislative establishment of a uniform method of tax assessment on ranch, farm and forest lands based on the capability of the lands to support the raising of livestock or production of farm and forest crops.
4. Make the State Building Commission a three-member appointive agency.
5. Permit counties to issue road bonds up to one-fourth of their assessed real property valuation on a majority vote.
6. Make town or city home-steads of $10,000 and less exempt from forced sale (presently set at $5,000).
7. Allow the legislature to provide for consolidating offices and functions of government and for performance of governmental functions by contract between the political subdivisions in any county.

Texas voters have adopted 195 amendments to the 1876 constitution, over the years, and rejected 125.

DESEGREGATION SUITS THREATEN -- Federal negotiators report that only a few of the 38 Texas school districts called on the carpet concerning segregation, had satisfactory plans for complying with U.S. Justice Department.

LOOPHOLE COSTS-- State has lost millions in land revenue due to an old loophole in the law, which was temporarily closed last year.

State Land Office has been forced to sell submerged land for $1 an acre to any navigation district that wanted it. Another law permitted district to declare land so acquired surplus to their needs -- and sell it to the highest bidder.

So, Aransas County Navigation District, for example, acquired 604 acres near Rockport (in Little Bay) for $1 an acre, then resold to a corporation. Some 165 acres of property now is selling for $33,098 an acre.

Now, no more state-owned beaches, islands or submerged land may be sold or leased until the Interagency Natural Resources Council makes its final report to the legislature -- or until May 31, 1973 -- whichever date is first. Unless the legislature takes a permanent step, the Land Commissioner once more could be forced to sell land requested by navigation districts for $1 per acre.

GAS PRICE RISE URGED -- Federal Power Commission at hearings on natural gas prices in the Permian Basin was urged to end pricing controls or raise rates fast and substantially. Commission examiner reopened the Permian Basin rate case that resulted in the establishment in 1965 of ceiling rates at well-head.

Witnesses, included producers and political officeholders, called on the commission also to halt "two-price" system for wells drilled before 1961 and new wells.

Some called the 1965 regulation a dismal failure that led to the current shortage in gas reserves.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin pledged full resources of his office against any effort at federal regulation of Texas intrastate gas market. FPC now regulates gas moving interstate.

AIR POLLUTION END SEEN -- An end to "visible" air pollution in Texas in less than a decade has been predicted by the director of the State Air Control Board.

ACB Chief Charles Barden so forecast at a budget hearing for his agency.

Board, revealed Barden, now is working on a state regulation to control pollution from vehicles. Regulation will be in effect before the year is out.

FEDERAL GRANTS -- Recent federal grants include $200,541 to Southwest Educational Development Laboratory for continuation of Head Start Pilot Program in McAllen; $240,000 for alcoholic counseling and recovery program in San Antonio; and $21,340 for planning assistance to Lower Rio Grande Valley Development Council.

Chasing Ghosts from Abandoned Mine

The cobwebs and ghosts of the past are being evicted from an old nickel mine abandoned in 1923. International Nickel is pumping some 100 million gallons of water from the Victoria mine in the Sudbury District of Ontario so that it can investigate the possibility of reopening it. Although abandoned because of the low grade of its ore, Victoria may be worth mining again because of today's improved ore recovery and processing techniques.

editorially speaking - Edge Of Servitude

Saturday, May 9, was an unusual day. That was the day in 1970 when the average American taxpayer finally quit working for the government and began working for himself. From January 1 until May 9 -- over four months -- every dollar he earned would be required to pay taxes on his earnings for the year. Stated in another way, the average American taxpayer worked two hours and 49 minutes out of an eight-hour day just to pay his tax bills.

If this is not chilling enough, consider then the following figures: half of the federal individual income tax in the United States is paid by persons earning between $5,000 and $15,000 a year. It took the U.S. government 186 years to reach its first $100 billion budget -- and only nine years to reach $200 billion. The interest on the federal debt today is $20 billion -- more than the entire cost of operating the federal government only 29 years ago in 1941. State and local governmental revenues are going up at the rate of approximately 12 per cent a year and will double in less than seven years. The $201 billion federal budget for 1971 will cost every individual in the United States, from the newborn baby to the oldest centenarian, almost $1,000 -- to be exact, $980. In spite of all this, the old fallacy still persists that a handout from Uncle Sam is free.

Work was begun on the cement sidewalk proper on the west side of the square Thursday morning. The curb and gutter have been finished for about a week, but the hands have been kept busy tearing out the old galleries and leveling up the ground so the cement could be put down. It will only be a few days now until Tahoka will have a cement sidewalk 12 feet wide and 324 feet long of the very best workmanship and material. We already have two walks finished on Main Street 12 feet wide and 149 feet long and two more laid off and the curb and gutter finished, also a walk from Main street to the corner of Sweet and Porterfield, 12 x 137 feet. We now have, counting the walk along the front and side of the bank, 1,008 lineal feet of cement sidewalk completed and under construction.

John Henderson, of four miles east of Tahoka, takes advantage of our cut rate to send the News to his father, J.T. Henderson of Commerce, Texas. His father will receive 52 reminders of his son's affections during the next 12 months. Could he do better with 50 cents spent in any other way?

Judge G.W. Perryman, who has been very feeble the last week was moved from the Methodist parsonage, where he has been staying since he was taken sick, to the Shook house on east Lockwood street, Thursday. The Odd Fellow Lodge, of Tahoka, of which the Judge is a charter member has hired Preston Majors to give him his entire time, and are looking after their sick brother the best possible. The Tahoka I.O.O.F. Lodge cannot be excelled when it comes to looking after its sick or distressed members.

Quire a stunt was pulled off down at the railroad track Monday when the boys hitched the big gray horse of G.W. Snider's to a freight car loaded with 33,000 pounds of rock salt and pulled it from the warehouse down the track to the new platform just built for the salt. They hitched old Jumbo to the car and gave it a start with pinch bars and he rolled it right along. Mr. Snider says that old Jumbo can pull anything that is loose at both ends. The boys say that he could pull the earth if he only had something to stand on and someone to give it a roll.

Wednesday afternoon the home of Mrs. Swan was the scene of a pretty social function. The Pricilla Club met with her and enjoyed a very pleasant time, with seven members present. Mrs. Bartley of Floydada, and Mrs. J.D. Donaldson, of south of town, were present as guests. Some very beautiful embroidery is being done by the members of this charming little club.

Delicious refreshments of nut cake were passed around to the delight of everyone. The afternoon waned all too soon, the flying needles were put away and dainty fingers ceased from their labors, goodbyes were said and the Pricillas ended their way to their several homes, wishing their charming hostess farewell with many thanks for the good time she had given them.

A West Texan In Sweden

By John Ed Redwine

Ja Jean found grocery stores to be similar to ours with the exception that you sacked your own groceries and carried them out. Small stores sold ice cream, candy and other small items and were called Kiosk. They were usually next to a place that sold hot dogs. Swedish hot dogs are about 10 inches long, nestled in a 6 inch bun. This is usually topped with three scoops of mashed potatoes, and smothered in catsup or mustard, to your liking.

Sweden has socialized medicine so a doctor's call costs only $1.50. $6.00 gets you a private dentist and your phone bill would amount to 17 or 18 dollars a year plus two cents for each local call.

After two weeks in Sosdala, a town about the size of Tahoka, the Wahlgren family and Ja Jean left for the family's summer cottage on the west coast of Sweden. Enroute, the family stopped at a relative's farm in a place called Steningstrand. The family enjoyed a meal of ham, potatoes, rhabarber and vanilla sauce. Ja Jean got to ride a horse here but in a style she was not accustomed to. Riding was done English style. Ja Jean was amazed to find that girls did a lot of the heavy work and labor around the farm.

The summer cottage was located near Tanumshed on the west coast. The weather was inclement with much rain and cold.

The cottage was a three room affair with two bedrooms and a kitchen living room combination. Several cottages of like construction were situated nearby all of which reminded Ja Jean of Ruidosa.

While at Tanumshed, the family fished, sailed, and spent considerable time sight-seeing and shopping in neighboring villages. On one particular day, they traveled to the north into Norway and into the capitol of Oslo, where again they saw the sights and shopped.

Ja Jean's stay with her host family ended in Tanumshed. She boarded a train bound for Stockholm where she would stay overnight with the daughters of the International Lion Director for Sweden.

The lonely 7 1/2 hour ride gave her a chance to collect her thoughts and reflect upon what had happened over the past month. She was unable to communicate with anyone and if anyone spoke English, they didn't volunteer the information. The original group met back at Arlando airport on July 12 and as the started to board the plane turned as a group and sang the "Eyes of Texas" to the host families there to see them off. It was a tender moment, and tears were plentiful.

After stops in Copenhagen, and Milan, the group wound up in Rome where they would spend a day sightseeing.

It just so happened that Ja Jean's 18th birthday fell on the 13th and the group had a surprise for her. They were to eat at the famous Alfredo's Restaurant and Alfredo himself took care of the American youngsters.

Ja Jean found herself the center of attention and everyone sang Happy Birthday. Alfredo served her the largest portion of spaghetti and supplied a golden fork and spoon to eat it with. The crowning touch came when Alfredo walked in with a special birthday cake topped with one candle. Another tender moment, and more tears signified the warmth and special air of the occasion.

The next morning, July 14, the group boarded a bus for Milan and a plane home. They arrived around noon after an all morning trip to find that the Air Italia personnel had scheduled a strike at 1:00 p.m.

The plane broke ground shortly before 1 and the group was bound, non-stop, for the United States.

After reaching New York, they split into two groups and Ja Jean flew into Dallas, then into Lubbock.

It was at Lubbock that this story began last week, you know the rest.

Ja Jean's summation of the attitudes of the European people is probably what we would expect after listening so much to our own news media.

The people, as individuals, are warm, friendly, and outgoing. As a nation collectively, they resent the United States and our involvement in the Southeast Asia war.

They don't care for Nixon and think of all Americans as being involved in the riots that take place in scattered parts of our country. Europeans think of Americans as being loud, big spenders and ill mannered. Ja Jean's reaction to all this was best summed up when she said, "You have to have a good smile, an open mind and not be prejudice toward anyone."

The Tahoka Lions are very proud of Ja Jean and feel that she has helped change the attitude of at least some of the European people toward our country and ourselves.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Linda Huffaker, CHD Agent, Says.....

By Thomas W. Caldwell
The scene was familiar to Lynn County residents. A crop dusting plane was flying at lower than tree top levels spraying chemicals for insect control.

This was the scene that started a television program Monday night July 27 on channel 28 concerning the use of pesticides and their effects on our environment.

Twenty five years ago DDT came into being and there are now nine hundred other poisons and insecticides on the market. It has become a twelve billion dollar a year industry.

People are concerned about the use of insecticide and have a right to be as indicated by Jules Bergman who narrated the program. While no human death has ever been attributed directly to DDT it is not known what the long range effects it and other insecticides, herbicides, and other chemicals will have on our environment.

DDT has been found on practically every food product consumed by man and is presently in the bodies of all milk cows. Although it doesn't pose an immediate health problem, a safe amount is still at a safe level, it could have some effects in years to come. It was stated that all babies born since World War II have consumed great amount of DDT with no apparent ill effects.

The use of DDT has declined in recent years due to pressure by the public and government controls, however, it still remains a problem. For example DDT has not been used around Lake Michigan in four years but the level of DDT found in Lake Michigan has not decreased during the past four years. It's presence in Lake Michigan has killed millions of fish and threatens to eliminate the entire population of some species.

DDT and other pesticides get into the atmosphere as gases moisture and is deposited on grasslands and forests eventually finding its way to rivers and streams and into lakes and oceans. A case in point is Sweden which has not used DDT for years but its use by neighboring countries poses a threat to Sweden.

The problem with DDT and other deadly poisons is overkill. While using it to eliminate one insect many other beneficial insects, birds, and animals also die.

Mercury poisons were also mentioned. Its use in some of the plains states has poisoned birds such as the valuable ring-necked pheasant.

Dr. Marack of the University of California at Davis, a guest on the program, reported that in many cases farmers have no choice but to use chemicals. He pointed to the morning glory which has choked out thousands of acres of wheat in Eastern Washington and Montana and said farmers could not survive in some cases unless weeds and insects were chemically controlled.

It was pointed out that the use of deadly insecticide and herbicides by agriculture is continuing in spite of what is known. Much is being done to remedy the situation but it is equal to watching our house burn while digging a well.

What is the answer? No one is sure but the use of biological methods is promising. This involves cultivating beneficial insects, birds and animals which prey on the harmful ones. For example, a wasp will actually lay its egg into the living body of the alfalfa weevil and when hatched the new wasp will consume the weevil.

Another example is the sterilization of the male screw worm fly which practically eliminated the species.

Biological controls along with a moderate use of chemicals could be the answer but more research is needed.

The program was concluded with the summation that along with the already proposed Environmental Control Agency, a federal testing program is needed in conjunction with a monitoring system. Otherwise the people of the world will die or will become neurotics wondering if they will die as a result of these poisons.

children, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gribble of Grassland.

Mrs. Herman Huffaker was the good samaritan who prepared and took dinner to Uncle Mac and Aunt Norah Richey on last Thursday. The Richeys are feeling fairly well at this writing.

Wayne McDonald of Wilson and Carol Ann Mears of Lamesa were married on last Sunday afternoon at the Church of the Nazarene in Lamesa.

Rocky Gribble won first place at the Farm Bureau Talent Show in New Home last week. He is eligible to enter into District competition at Plainview on August 18.

Rev. Yeats visited with the Rawlings at the parsonage one day last week.

Herman Huffaker and wife and Kenneth Huffaker and family visited with the Glen Huffakers near Denver City on Saturday of last week. They report that the crops are doing very well in that area.

C.O. McCleakey and Mr. and Mrs. W.G. McCleskey journeyed to Rotan on Sunday to attend a reunion. They report meeting again with many old friends.

Reep-Pierce Pledge Double Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Pierce are at home in Tahoka following their marriage July 25 at 8 p.m. in the Sweet Street Baptist Church in Tahoka. The pastor, the Rev. Mr. Tyler, led the couple in repeating double ring vows.

The bride is the former Jeanette Reep, daughter of Mrs. J. D. Reep of Route two, Sweetwater, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Pierce of Tahoka.

Vows were read on the altar which was set with arrangements of mums and carnations flanked by greenery.

Louise Durham, organist played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Beverly Durham as she sang "Where Thou Goest".

Escorted by her brother, Rodney Reep, the bride was attired in an empire styled gown of peau de soie satin fashioned with a rounded neckline and long fitted lace sleeves. Her chapel length train was of lace. A fabric petal headpiece held her veil of lace.

She carried an arrangement of carnations and mums. Teresa Turnbow served the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Carolyn Durham, Tricia Howie and Nita Durham.

The attendants wore mint colored satin and lace gowns. Marvin Pierce of Lovington, N.M., was the groom's best man and groomsmen were Doug Pierce and Bobby Reep.

Guests were seated by David Thornton and Arthur Whitley, both of Tahoka.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in fellowship hall of the church.

When the couple departed on a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M. the bride was wearing a flamingo dacron knit. Her accessories were white and she wore a carnation corsage.

The bride will go before the state Board of Beauty Aug. 6 and will be a beauty operator in Tahoka.

The groom is employed by The Federal Government Building in Lubbock.

CHANGING MARKETS. DECLINING WATER

Can Texas Farmers Meet Challenges Of The Seventies?

(ED NOTE: The material in this article was taken from the June, 1970 issue of TEXAS BUSINESS REVIEW, written by Robert H. Ryan based on USDA and Departments of Sociology Reports of Texas Agriculture Extension Service.)

The Texas Farmer faces the 1970's with a real problem, shifting domestic markets, too little water for much of the best soils and too many farmers and farm workers who lack the high skills demanded by the modern sophisticated farm economy.

The average Texas farmer of 1970 is a man over 50 years of age, with a high school education and more of them have dropped out of high school than have finished 12 years.

The average net income from farming in Texas in 1970 is $5,000 (Net incomes ranged from $735 in West Virginia to $29,471 in Arizona. Texas farms averaged lower in net income than farms in 28 other states including Arkansas and Georgia.)

The average value of Texas farms is $100,000 with operating costs and overhead averaging $13,500 with an average mortgage of $10,000.

Taxes on the average Texas farm ran from $450 to $500 with gross income averaging $8,500 from livestock sales, crop sales of $7,100 and government payments averaging $2,800.

The average farm totals 700 acres broken into the following area: Grain sorghum 33 acres; wheat, 28 acres; cotton, 17 acres; cropland, idle or insoil building crops, 23 acres; cropland used for pasture, 35 acres; forest and woodland, 53 acres and open permanent pasture, 433 acres.

(ED NOTE: as you can tell from above this typical "average" farm includes the reports from all across the state of Texas).

Mr. Ryan's report also states that the largest block of counties where farming contributes most is the irrigated zone of the High Plains. There is uncertainty about the future dependability of water supplies in this area which may threaten the agricultural prosperity of the recent past. Elsewhere over the recent past, elsewhere over the state, farming is a major source of income only in South Texas, where most of the cropland is also irrigated, and along the Gulf Coast where the most profitable crop is irrigated rice. By contrast, humid East Texas is the state's least profitable agricultural region.

The report points out that cattle feedlot operations in Texas are growing faster than in any other state and feed cattle may double in number in the next decade.

The forecast for an increasing production of other meat items, namely pork, is also on the horizon according to Mr. Ryan's report.

Ryan shows that the future of Texas agriculture is brighter in many ways, namely that farm marketings passed the $2.8 billion level in 1970 and likely to reach the $3.7 billion mark by 1980. These estimates are based on the theory that Texas farming has more unrealized potential than in any other state.

The author says projections show that central Texas will be re-established as a vegetable and other high-value cropping area and also supposes that the High Plains will continue to produce. He believes the ground-water supplies will decline slowly and the decline will be offset by more effective use of water and development of less-thirsty crop varieties.

Ryan predicts more emphasis will be placed on mechanization during the 1970's. Texas farmers will be also called on for an upgrading of production in both quantity and quality in vegetable raising, dairying and other specialized lines.

The report also brings out the fact that the average American is paying only $25.02 in taxes to support the $5 billion agriculture program and this is less than he paid back in 1959. Without the government payments Texas farm income would be cut in half but the distribution of these funds still tends to oversubsidize large producers and keep some marginal farms uneconomically operative.

The reports sums up by stating in spite of the changes in the farming revolution Texans need not fear that farms and farmers will change beyond recognition in the next 10 years. But even by 1980 farmers will look back with pity at the farmers, farm incomes and agricultural practices of the 1960's.

Included in the report is a map of the State of Texas showing counties broken down into farm earnings (based on 1967 reports) Of the counties which had over $5 million in farm income in 1967 Sherman was one of the 20 counties in the High Plains area which were so designated and also had over 30% of their personal income from farming and agricultural related sources. The 20 counties so designated included Sherman, Hansford, Deaf Smith, Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Hall, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Cochran, Hockley, Crosby, Terry and Lynn counties in the High Plains. Those with over $5 million in farm income but with less than 30% of the personal income stemming from agriculture in that same area included Moore, Carson, Lubbock, Gaines and Dawson counties.

how to live - and die - with Texas Probate

NUMBER 8 WILL SUBSTITUTE LIFE INSURANCE EXEMPTION FROM CREDITORS

This is a condensed version of one of 10 chapters of a 21-chapter book, "How To Live—and Die—With Texas Probate," copyrighted by the Gulf Publishing Company. These condensations in no way cover the whole volume, which can be purchased from your local bookstore or from Gulf Publishing Co., P. O. Box 2708, Houston 77001.

Life insurance is something no one really wants but the head of almost every family has. It is a large part of the average man's estate.

As a result, laws have been passed to encourage the purchase of life insurance. A benefit given to policy holders is that the life insurance is exempt from creditors' claims. Thus, if a father dies leaving debts or claims, his life insurance will be available to support his widow and orphaned children (assuming he named them as beneficiaries and made the policies payable to them on an installment basis).

The only exception to this is a claim for unpaid taxes due the federal government. The proceeds are not exempt from the creditors of the one getting the insurance if payable in a lump sum.

TEXAS INHERITANCE TAX ADVANTAGES

Texas inheritance tax and community property laws make it possible to pass $80,000 of life insurance proceeds to a widow without any inheritance taxes. In fact, if the wife's $25,000 exemption for property received from her husband is used, a total estate of $130,000 of life insurance proceeds could pass to her.

TYPES OF LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES

While there are many types of life insurance policies, the two most important to the average person are ordinary life and term policies.

The ordinary life policy is a permanent contract with fixed (non-increasing) cost to the purchaser based on his age at the time he takes out the policy.

The term policy is paid for at one rate during each term (one to five years) for which it is purchased. It is cheaper than ordinary life insurance, but as each term ends it costs more to renew, since the owner will be older and more likely to die during the new term for which the company has agreed to take the risk.

METHODS OF PAYING PROCEEDS

After it is decided who will get the insurance, it must be decided how the insurance will be paid.

The life policy will provide four ways to pay the insurance at death. These are the interest option, the fixed period option, the fixed amount option and the life annuity option — each serving a different purpose.

INCOME TAX BENEFITS

Congress has provided two very useful tax benefits for owners of life insurance. The death benefits are exempted from the income tax. It makes no difference how the beneficiary receives the proceeds (ie. lump sum, 240 monthly installments or a life annuity) or how many premiums were paid by the insured.

The next tax benefit from life insurance comes only to widows or widowers. If the surviving spouse takes one of the installment options (other than the interest option), Congress allows a beneficiary to receive up to $1,000 tax-free interest on insurance money left with the insurance company.

WHO SHOULD DECIDE HOW PROCEEDS ARE TO BE PAID?

Bill Griffin, County Agent Says.....

Plant swapping often gives the intended beneficiary a great deal more than realized in the original bargain.

Root-Knot Nematodes and a whole host of root-tors may hitch a ride on the newly acquired plants and come as an "extra bonus" with the bargain. This in turn may serve to infest a complete flower bed or an entire farm.

New plants should be carefully inspected before planting to make sure that all parts appear normal. If doubt exists, the plant should be sacrificed in the interest of protecting existing plants. Most plant disease organisms are difficult to eliminate once they become established.

Root-Knot nematodes are probably the most commonly transported plant problem. The life cycle occurs inside plant root tissues with egg, larval, and male forms present in the soil. Transport of fill soil may also move the organisms, from one place to another. Once established, growers are faced with the control alternatives of using resistant plants or nematocides chemicals to reduce nematode populations in the soil.

The grower's best protection lies in being able to recognize symptoms of plant diseases and then carefully observing newly acquired plant materials, adding that the smart gardener doesn't let plant swapping turn into nematode and plant disease

The probate estate, unless the estate or executor is named as beneficiary of the policy or unless a beneficiary is not named. Just because it is possible to pass life insurance to a beneficiary without having it go through probate does not mean that it should always be done.

The facts in each family must be taken into account before a decision is made.

NEXT: Death and taxes are inevitable but the federal and state governments encourage planning to avoid death taxes. This planning brings financial rewards.

Love Thy Neighbor

In half a dozen places, the Bible tells us to "love thy neighbor." But it may be difficult to apply this general rule to the specific people who live next door. To what extent does the law insist on a "good neighbor policy?" Under traditional legal rules, a home owner owed very little regard for his neighbor's sensibilities. He could do almost anything he pleased, so long as he did not actually intrude upon his neighbor's property. In one early case, a home owner dug such a deep excavation near the boundary line that his neighbor's house had to be abandoned as unsafe. Yet, even though he had acted with malice aforethought, a court held him not liable for ruining the neighbor's house. And in another case, a court refused to condemn an enormous "spite fence," carefully designed to shut out light and air from the people next door. The judge said "it would be intolerable to allow a man's neighbors to question his motives." But in recent years, as people began living closer together, the attitude of the law has changed. Today the right to excavate is limited by considerations of safety and fair play. Almost everywhere, the spite fence is forbidden. As one court put it: "No one ought to have the legal right to make a malicious use of his property for no benefit to himself, but merely to injure his fellow man." Of course, moderate annoyances—even if unneighborly—are still legal. A home owner may still be reasonably noisy, even if the neighbors like it quiet. He may still paint his house a color that the neighbors consider frightful. In one case, a man turned a deaf ear to a neighbor's complaint about his four large maple trees. It seems the trees kept the neighbor's house in almost constant shade. But after a court hearing, the judge ruled that the neighbor had no legal grounds for complaint. This was the kind of "wrong," said the judge, for which the law provides no remedy.
