'TWO BITS WORTH'

BY JOHNNY VALENTINE

The Country Editor Says how's this for a definition? Colored -- a four-year loaf on father's dough.

TBW

The Tahoka Bulldogs looked real good last Friday night against Littlefield and beat them two touchdowns to none. It was very impressive to me to see them move the ball all evening. The teams in our district better look out, the Bulldogs are going to be real tough this year and with their positive attitude who knows what might happen.

TBW

Out of the mouths of babes. Garland Thornton's youngest daughter, Nancy attending her first day of school last week came home with this story. Dad, there was this girl Lola, she didn't come to school today, I wish I was her. Seems I might have something on that order my first day.

TBW

School is underway and kids are all over, so watch your driving folks. The youngsters are riding bicycles as well as walking so obey the signs that were put up for your protection as well as the youngsters.

The Phebe K. Warner Club is promoting Americanism this fall, culminating the effort with Americanism day on November 19th. They are also selling flags for the home as well as businesses and we would like to urge you to help them promote our country. Buy a flag and fly it.

TBW

A lot of fun is made of little towns and the people who live in them, but we know very few people who live in little towns like Tahoka without being happy about it.

In our opinion, there is nothing like "small town living," and we wouldn't trade places with any of our friends who "enjoy" the "benefits and excitement" of city life.

No riots, no smog, no traffic congestions, practically no crime, good schools, good churches and most important of all - GOOD PEOPLE make Tahoka and hundreds of other small towns across the nation what they are.

Little towns ARE America, and we're for doing anything possible to preserve them so that our children and our children's children will be able to enjoy "small town living" as we have.

Thousands and thousands of words have been written about the pleasures of living in a little town, along with the things come city people like to mention.

People who don't like living in a small town probably don't like themselves very much either.

People who do like living in the little town which they inhabit, by accident or on purpose, like it for various reasons, mostly because they like themselves and like other people, too.

People who prefer life in a little town like it in spite of all the funny things said or written about the small town - and maybe BECAUSE of those very things.

At least there is something to be said for knowing, usually exactly where you are "at", and little town people do.

A little town is where you don't have to guess who your enemies are. Your little town friends will tell you.

A little town is the only place on earth where people past middle age get hailed by their first names when they saunter down the street.

A little town is where everybody knows who is not speaking to whom this week and why.

A little town is where everybody knows who joined which church last Sunday...and who got arrested for what.

A little town is where few people can get away with lying about the year they were born. Too many other people remember when.

A little town is where people read the local news for the fun of seeing familiar names in print, including their own, in case, of course, the news is good news.

A little town is where people with various ailments can air them properly for sympathetic ears.

A little town is where people know what time other people go to bed.

A little town is where you get the wrong telephone number you can talk for fifteen minutes anyhow, if you want to.

A little town is where people know what happened to you after tomorrow, whether you know it yourself or not.

A little town is where people care. Good people, care, is.

A little town is where the ratio of good people to bad is something like one hundred to one.

That's nice to remember.

A little town is where it's hard to stop and explain to people who stop honk, and offer a ride.

A little town is where ladies can take things home on approval to try on with the good girl...and take'em back if the style or color is wrong.

And you can probably add more of your own.

Gas Rate Increase Requested

Pioneer Natural Gas Company on Aug. 19, made application to the city officials of the cities on its West Texas system, including Tahoka, for an adjustment in the company's general service rate charged for gas delivered to domestic and commercial customers in those cities. The application stated that, if the cities acted affirmatively within the sixty-day period provided by law, the company would accept a rate increase of 16.2 per cent rather than the 19.4 per cent requested.

In announcing the rate request, K.B. Watson, Executive Vice President of Pioneer said, "With the rising costs the company has sustained, it is in immediate need of additional revenue. To avoid any further delay and expense, an increase of 16.2 per cent would be acceptable although a rate increase of 19.4 per cent would yield less than a 7 3/4 percent return on the fair value of the company's investment. As an indication of the problem," Watson continued, "the company was forced to pay an interest rate of 9 1/2 per cent on its recent borrowing of $20 million. It was further pointed out that the Texas Railroad Commission had determined the proper charge for gas at the edge of the cities to be 32c effective July 1, 1970, up from 28c. "This gas rate adjustment will not result in increased revenue until the burner tip rate is changed. The rate increase was allowed in recognition of the company's increased cost in getting the gas to the communities through its transmission system. It does not include any consideration for the higher costs of distributing the gas within the cities," Watson said.

The company pointed out that either of the proposed rates would keep the consumer cost of gas on its West Texas system considerably below the State average for domestic and commercial use. The general service rate is applicable to this type service.

In the letter transmitting the application, the company re-

GETTING READY FOR ACTION -- "BIG BLUE"! The Tahoka Bulldogs are busy getting ready for regular season games. The football teams hold a two hour practice session each day from 3:20 to 5:30 p.m. Coach A.J. Viertel is pleased with the progress of the boys and is looking forward to the season ahead.

Bulldogs Tough In Scrimmage

The Tahoka Bulldogs, supposedly the underdog last Friday night in the scrimmage with Littlefield, pushed the larger team around with ease. The smaller Bulldogs, tough in every department, humbled the Cats, 2-0, in the pre-season scrimmage session.

Fans who viewed the scrimmage from Tahoka were very pleased with their performance and can hardly wait until the regular season gets underway. The Bulldogs picked in the lower division of 4-AA, were scrappier, from start to finish. The Bulldogs scored twice, on a pass play.

According to A.J. Viertel, Head Football coach the Tahoka teams will scrimmage O'Donnell this coming Friday night at O'Donnell. The Junior Varsity will play at 5:30 and the Varsity team will scrimmage at 7:00 p.m.

Coach Viertel said he was well pleased with the Tahoka Team. He said the attitude and hitting were excellent but the team still had a ways to go.

The Littlefield eleven had trouble making first downs against the Bulldog defense which was tough all night.

BULLDOG BITE--Shown above is the Bulldog Bite as they put the stop to a Littlefield end last Friday night in the scrimmage against Littlefield. The Tahoka team allowed the Littlefield gridders only short yardage.

BULLDOG DEFENSE TOUGH--A Bulldog defensive player is shown here as he stops Littlefield on a short gainer last Friday night. The Littlefield eleven were unable to move the ball all night against the tough Tahoka defense.

Bill Griffin,
County Agent,
Says.....

Creep feeding is a management tool in the production of calves that depends on the judgment of the individual cattleman for its success.

The ultimate goal is to increase profit. In most tests run on creep feeding, figures are on the wrong side of the profit ledger for calves on good pasture. Increased value of feeder calves is seldom enough to pay for the additional feed and labor.

Performance testing shows that the average creep-fed calf gains one-tenth of a pound more per day than his non-creep-fed counterpart. This amounts to 2.5 pounds at weaning. However, if put-on cost is greater than the sale price, profits are lost.

The county agent notes that creep feeding varies widely from farm to farm. If profits are to be gained, the herd manager must pay close attention to several factors.

Feeders should be placed where the herd congregates, such as near water or shade. A ready supply of clean, fresh, inexpensive feed is a must at all times. Winter creep-fed calves will probably need a ration containing 14 to 15 percent protein. In summer on pasture, a protein content of 12 percent is sufficient.

In view of the present situation, the county agents notes that creep feeding might offer better possibilities than in the more normal years. Stockmen interested in more information on the subject are invited to contact my office for a copy of B-792, "Creep Feeding Beef Calves."

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

People ask for brand-name products because they have become known for dependability and service through the years. These names assure us of quality.

We, too, are known by our names. Mention of John Smith immediately inspires a positive or negative reaction, depending upon the man's reputation. A good name is indeed our most priceless, yet most perishable, possession.

Day in and day out, our thoughts, words and actions must be on the side of goodness, for it is today which determines tomorrow's past — for good or for bad.

If we could only perform each act and utter each word as if they were our last, those by which we would be remembered, then how great would be the significance of our names!

In this confused era where better can we turn for guidance and help than to the Church? Here we will discover the teachings of Christ — the most hallowed name of all.

Alton Kelley Attends Vega Training School

If Alton Kelley, service technician at Bray Chevrolet Company tells you his boss sent him away to study a star, believe him!

But Alton hasn't been in Hollywood or an astronomy class. He's been studying the service features of Chevrolet's new economy car named for one of the brightest stars in the sky... Vega 2300.

He just returned from an intensive Vega school at the General Motors Training Center at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, part of a nationwide play to have skilled Vega technicians and ample spare parts in all Chevrolet dealerships when the new car is introduced in early September.

"Vega really lives up to all I've heard about the ease of serviceability designed into it," Alton said.

"Besides being an exciting little car, it has plenty of easy-to-fix features that will make it inexpensive to maintain."

He said the "2300" in the new car's name refers to the 2300 centimeter displacement of Vega's all-new, American built lightweight overhead cam engine.

"I was particularly impressed with the ruggedness of the Vega engine," he said. "It has stood up well in millions of miles of testing. I t has plenty of pep, gets good gas mileage and has excellent serviceability."

He said the Vega service school convinced him that Chevrolet's forthcoming entry in the economy car market "is a real winner".

Two-Week Revival In Progress

The Church of God in Christ began a two week revival Monday, August 24, in Tahoka.

The presiding ministers are the pastor Elder James K. Scott and Evangelist Eddie C. Scott.

Their motto is, "God is Not Dead," but very much alive. He is yet saving, healing, delivering, and filling with the Holy Ghost, as in the days of the Apostles.

All are invited to come share in our services and see and witness the moving of God. If you will come with open hearts and minds, you will leave bearing witness that of a truth, God Liveth. Christ is the answer.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy T. Wilson, Kevin and Wendy visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Roberts, last weekend.

Mrs. Bess Reid is visiting her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Reid in San Antonio.

Mrs. Puna Gattis is a patient in room 810 in Lubbock's Methodist Hospital.

Linda Huffaker,
CHD Agent,
Says.....

For some time now, homemakers have asked for help in figuring out which size package or can is the "best buy." By this they mean that they would like some way to help them find out which size to choose in order to get the most for their money.

The food shopper today wants facts not only about the product she buys, but also about the price tags attached to them. Encouraged by numerous consumer-oriented federal, state and local laws and regulations recently enacted or pending, retailers are looking for various means of providing the food shopper with more information, clearly stated.

Unit pricing is one of these measures. In recent months a number of big food chains have introduced customers to unit pricing on a temporary basis. It's too soon yet to tell whether unit pricing is what consumers really want, and whether it is something they will really use for their own benefit.

Unit pricing tells customers how much products cost by the ounce, pound, pint, quart, or some other common denominator suitable for specific, comparable items. The idea is to take the guesswork out of prices and make it easier to compare costs.

At present, there are about 8,000 different items in a big supermarket and around 2,000 new items are being added every year. These items come in numerous differently sized packages. The 6-slice packages of bologna, 320-ounce boxes of detergent, 2-ounce jars of instant coffees and No. 303 cans of peas of undeclared weight are examples.

For the food shopper without a strong background in merchandising, or some talents in mathematics, making comparisons between various sized packages in order to determine which will offer the most for the money becomes difficult.

One's dilemma is heightened when items are priced in multiples such as 2 for, or 3 for. Suppose the same size cans of evaporated milk are priced at 2.39c and 5.99c. Which is the least expensive per can? How much would a single can cost?

If you are an economy-minded food shopper you should be able to tell which of the items are the best buy for your food dollar. Unit pricing would give you the answers.

Being able to take advantage of the best bargain by using information available, and being able to do some simple arithmetic can save the food shopper money. Remember that pennies add up to dollars.

Interest in unit pricing is spreading fast. But most leading food retailers, and spokesmen for consumers as well, seem to agree that it warrants a closer and longer look before specific costs and consumer reaction can be gauged to a meaningful degree.

It is recognized, too, that food shoppers don't buy on the basis of price alone. They also have preferences, sometimes deep-rooted, for certain qualities, brands, and packaging. There are also status considerations.

Many questions about unit pricing remain. Consumer surveys and analyses of sales data in upcoming months may answer at least some of them.

For example, if there is a viable consumer shift from one size package or brand of product to another it may mean that some consumers have gotten the message written for them.

But how many? And how many from inner-city, low-income families? Those are the people whom unit pricing is particularly designed to protect and benefit.

After all's done and said, unit pricing may prove to be what consumers want and what their sponsors will endorse. It's well to be aware of the situation should unit pricing be tried in any of the stores in our area.

CHEVY'S NEW LITTLE CAR IS OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

We call it Vega. We also call it "the little car that does everything well." Because it does.

Everything? Everything.

Vega moves well, stops well, steers well, rides well, handles well, responds well, passes well, travels well, parks well, wears well, and is priced well under what you'd expect to pay for such a talented little car.

In our highway tests, Vega has been getting gas mileage in the neighborhood of the little imports, which isn't a bad neighborhood.

Yet unlike your average little car, ours steps right out when you step on the gas.

The engine is a specially designed overhead cam four with a lightweight aluminum alloy block. It turns slowly and quietly at turnpike speeds, with power to spare.

Disc brakes are standard in the front. So are bucket seats, except on the truck.

How we doing so far?

Numbers speak louder than words.

The wheelbase is 97 inches.

Total length is just under 170 inches, or nearly four feet shorter than a full-size Chevrolet.

Height of the coupe is just 50 inches, nine inches lower than the leading import.

Width: a nice stable 5 1/2 feet.

Weight: 2,190 lbs. for the sedan.

Engine displacement: 140 cubic inches.

Fuel economy: about 25 mpg, with the standard engine and transmission, in our highway tests.

Horsepower: 90. You can order 110 (80 and 93 hp, SAE Net.)

Seating capacity: 4 adults.

What it all adds up to is a lot of little car.

Three cars and a truck.

Vega turned out so well that we couldn't turn out just one.

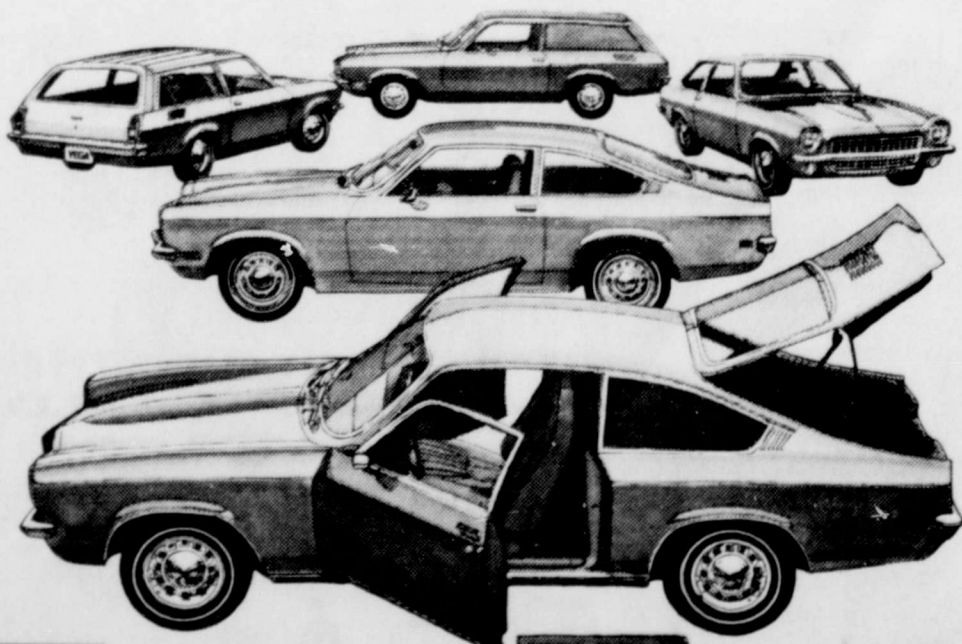

So we're turning out four: the sporty little hatchback coupe shown open and closed in the foreground below; the sedan, on the right; the Kamback wagon, on the left; and the little panel truck, in the rear.

Oh, and a special GT version of the coupe and wagon which we'll show you later on.

September 10th is Opening Day.

All 6,300 Chevrolet dealers are handing Vega, so you shouldn't have to go very far to see and drive one.

Chevy's new little car is open for business. Look into it.

New 1/2% Bonus On Savings Bonds

F. B. Hegl, Lynn County Chairman of U.S. Savings Bonds, reports that the 1/2-percent bonus approved by President Nixon means that Savings Bond owners can realize 5 1/2 percent annual interest on their holdings.

"The bonus applies both to Bonds purchased on and after June 1, 1970 and those bought before, and still outstanding. There'll be no need to redeem any Bonds to benefit from the new rate. Now, more than ever before, it pays to buy and hold onto your Bonds. The increase is a real boon", Hegl said.

He noted that Bonds are "like good friends of the family to people in Lynn County. They're present at milestone occasions. You'll find them given at births and christenings. Through the Payroll Savings and Bond-A-Month Plans they're accumulated to help pay for events important in family life-educations, new homes and autos, weddings, vacations, and eventually, retirement. Bonds are a friend in need during unexpected family emergencies."

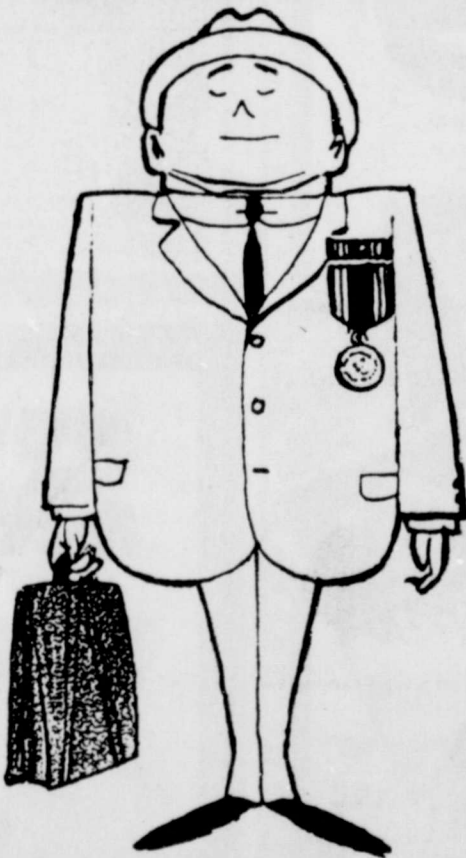

Hegl also pointed out that Federal funds for protecting our environment, and for developing recreation areas are bolstered through the purchase of Savings Bonds.

"Savings Bonds are the best way most of us have to help our country, our neighbors and ourselves - all at the same time. The higher interest rate, by making Bonds an even more valuable part of our personal financial security, will encourage more people to buy Bonds or to increase their holdings.

"Savings Bonds are the best way most of us have to help our country, our neighbors and ourselves - all at the same time. The higher interest rate, by making Bonds an even more valuable part of our personal financial security, will encourage more people to buy Bonds or to increase their holdings.

"The rate increase should be a fine inducement to our Future Farmers, 4-H Clubbers and other young people who haven't yet begun to save for their futures with U. S. Savings Bonds", Hegl said.

FB Leaders To Attend Meet

Lynn County Farm Bureau leaders will attend an area policy development kick-off meeting September 8 at the Holiday Inn East in Lubbock, according to Ronnie Dulin, president of the local farm organization.

Planning to attend are: Herman Wuensche, Ronnie Dulin, L.C. Unfred, Leland White, Howard Moore, Bob Lusk, and Charlie Beckham.

The meeting will be a committee work session for the purpose of identifying major problems at state and national levels which will be of primary concern to Farm Bureau members in the year ahead, Dulin said.

The work session committees will be identifying problems areas in some of the following subjects: Taxes, education, state and local government, regulatory programs involving agriculture, transportation natural resources, and various livestock and commodity problems.

Problem areas defined at the Lubbock meeting will be combined with reports from other similar meetings throughout the state and used by the Lynn County Farm Bureau Policy Development committee as it plans for policy development at the county convention October 12.

The annual Farm Bureau policy development process begins with county annual conventions which will be held during September and October, followed by the annual state convention in November in Fort Worth and the annual national convention in December which will be held in Houston this year.

All policies of the organization -- from local taxation to national farm program legislation -- are determined by the members in a truly democratic process through the series of conventions. They are not made by taking a poll, but are hammered out on the anvil of debate and compromise, Dulin said.

At the county convention, policies on local issues are formulated, and recommendations on state and national issues are forwarded to the state convention. County delegate representation at the state convention is based on membership strength.

Policies on state issues are decided at the state convention and recommendations on national issues are submitted to the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Again, voting delegate strength at the national convention is based on state membership. National policies are formulated by voting delegates from the various states at the national convention.

The resulting policies represent compromise among various regions and commodity interests. They are the natural policies of all Farm Bureau everywhere.
