

NURSING HOME NEWS

We, at the nursing home have had an enjoyable week. We thank everyone who came by to say "hello" and we are especially grateful for the entertainment. On Monday, Johnny Wells and daughter, Southern, sang and played the piano. Johnny led and we sang some of the old hymns that we love so much.

Tuesday, Mary Beth McKibben and Ann Witt brought the girl scouts for a program. This we enjoyed and are looking forward to their coming again. The girls taking part were Pat Calderon, Katrine Belington, Penny Witt, Carmen Garcia, Jona Beth Valentine, Rita Ann Chandler, Deanya Wood, Susan Thornton, Susan Meeks, Tammie McKibben, Debra Rowe, Elaine Draper, Inola Thomas, Bridget Fowlkes and Mary Evelena McKibben.

Wednesday, Mrs. B.E. Webb and Gladys Broch from Wilson, sang for us. Gladys, though blind, played the piano and Mrs. Webb led the songs and we all sang. We tried to sing each song requested. There were 29 recipients came out into the setting room and halls as we sang. This is what we want. It helps each one to come out of their room for a little while to visit and see what is going on around them.

Thursday was a special day. Mr. Hall Glass celebrated his 88th birthday. We gathered in the dining room and after singing happy birthday we were served cake and punch. Mrs. Makouy made the beautiful and delicious cake and our florist, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bob Billman dressed the table with a beautiful floral arrangement. We want to say "thanks" to the Billmans for sending flowers to each recipient on their birthday, this means a lot to us and we do appreciate it. Lorenzo Aquirre played the violin during this time. We like the violin music. Lorenzo is a recipient at the home and is blind, but he is always busy and wears a smile at all times.

Later in the afternoon, Tammie McKibben and Deanya Wood entertained us with some piano selections. We are always glad to have these girls play for us.

Friday Diane McCanley, Betty Whiteburg, Mary Etta Ewings Mary Lou Solis, Sally Saldana and Juanita Benitz, teachers at the Lynn County child development kindergarten brought their pupils to sing for us. We want them to come again.

Thanks to Hipalito Zumiga Jr. for driving the bus that brought these children over.

We were saddened at the passing of two of our loved ones here. Mrs. Echles, Little Mary as we called her. And Hetra Gardenhire, we realize that they will be missed but they have finished their course and their spirits are basking in God's eternal presence. May God give their loved ones his grace. We extend to them our heartfelt sympathy.

Mr. Howard Gartman has returned home after having been in the hospital in Lamesa. A few days. We are happy to have him back.

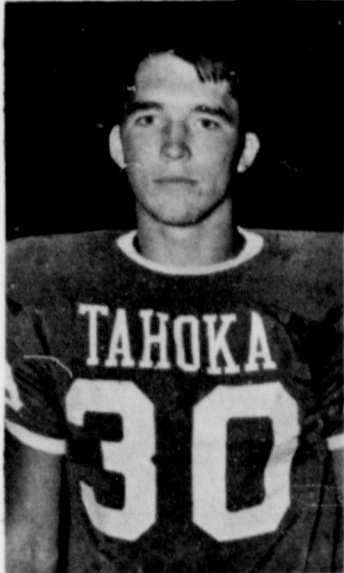

If you can come to see us, we are happy to have visitors anytime.

This weeks visitors were Mrs. Mackmillin, Mrs. G.M. Stewart, Mrs. W.O. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Barton, Buelah Akins, Mrs. Roy Russell, Mrs. B. E. Webb, Wilson, Gladys Brock, Wilson, Mrs. Winell Pascall, F.W. Tuv, Post, Mrs. Blount Hoskins, Lubbock, Judie

Unemployment Insurance To Farm Workers

The Unemployment Insurance legislation passed during this session extended coverage to nearly 5 million workers, bringing the total number of jobs covered by federal and state unemployment insurance laws to more than 65 million. There are now more than a million farm workers in the U.S. who are not protected by unemployment insurance.

Ruesink, who is directing the Texas project, said the state survey will gather information on farm labor use and the farm work force that is needed. Additional Extension educational and research programs will be established as a result of what is learned. It also will study the impact of current and proposed labor legislation affecting agricultural workers and employers.

He emphasized that Texas A&M is neutral on the program and is cooperating with the study at the direction of the Department of Labor. Questionnaire answers will be held in strict confidence. Farm workers and employers contacted by the survey will be selected at random. Data collected will be computer-processed and will be made available to farm organization leaders and other interested groups as they develop programs which involve farm workers.

Why Should I Cooperate? The information to be collected in this survey is badly needed to help keep Texas' agricultural economy strong and competitive. This affects employers' profits and workers' jobs. The only way this information can be obtained is through such a survey. The need for this survey has been strongly supported by an Advisory Committee of agricultural leaders and government officials who will be advising the researchers on the analysis of survey results.

What is the Purpose of the Survey? This survey is being conducted to gather information needed to evaluate the impact of current and proposed labor legislation affecting agricultural workers and employers.

Who Is Conducting the Survey?

The Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology (Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Agricultural Extension Service) at Texas A&M University.

Mail questionnaires will be sent to about 3,000 Texas farmers selected at random. As a follow-up, 3,000 Texas farm workers will be interviewed. It is anticipated by County Agent Bill Griffin that 43 farm workers will be interviewed in Lynn County.

Bill Griffin, County Agent, Says.....

Did you ever see a man without hands drive a nail or eat an ear of corn? Some men who have lost their hands in a farm machine can learn to do many things. But, they could do these things much easier when they had two hands.

Every fall, many farmers lose a hand or an arm in a harvesting machine. Such complex machines as combines, corn pickers and cotton strippers afford many opportunities for the careless operator to suffer serious accidents. These machines have many moving parts - drives, belts, conveyors, sickles, etc. These moving parts are conducive to damaged fingers, hands or arms sometimes lives.

A few simple rules, carefully used, can help to prevent these costly accidents. Here are a few. Keep protective shields in place. When they must be removed to work on drives, belts pulleys, and chains, be sure to replace them before starting the machine. Many, very serious accidents have been caused by clothing being wrapped around a drive shaft.

Be very sure a machine is not in operation when it is being worked on. Every year an alarming number of hands and arms are hurt in cotton strippers. Being sure the machine was out of gear could have prevented every one of these accidents.

When climbing onto a machine be careful of you footing. A recent study reveals that many operators are injured in climbing to the seat of a cottonstripper. A small spot of grease on the machine or the sole of the shoe often results in serious injury.

Your hands and arms are important to you right were they are - a part of you. Once you lose them, there is no adequate substitute. Be very careful during this harvest season, because you are needed in agriculture.

Story Of The Star-Spangled Banner

The widow Pickersgill made it. Her daughter, Caroline, helped her, because the flag with its fifteen stars must be flying over Fort McHenry before the British fleet attacked it. It was August 24, 1814, in Baltimore.

So begins the story in which Francis Scott Key and his friend John Skinner, slip out of the harbor in a small boat flying a white flag. Their mission is to intercept the British flag-ship and beg for the release of Dr. William Beanes, who is a prisoner of war.

Their errand is successful, but only after they spend a wild night as prisoners themselves while the British bombard the fort and threaten to burn the city.

The welcome sight of the flag at dawn inspires Mr. Key to jot down the lines of a poem on an old envelope. He called it "The Defense of Fort McHenry." We call it "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The music was composed by an Englishman, John Stafford Smith, about the time our country was thinking of independence. It was written for the theme song of the fun-loving Anacreonic Society of London. Sailors and travelers brought it to America where it became very popular. Francis Scott Key's famous poem fit the tune perfectly and it became an instant success, being sung in lonely army outposts, around campfires, by frontiersmen by all patriots.

On March 3, 1931, President Herbert Hoover signed the simple bill that made "The Star-Spangled Banner" our official national anthem. It has earned its place as one of the greatest anthems in the world.

During flag raising ceremonies at ball games and other public gatherings we should ever be mindful of proper respect due our flag and anthem. Flag laws and regulations, as passed by the Congress of the United States and the Department of Defense, state, "That during the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag or when the flag is passing in a parade or in a review, all persons present should face the flag, stand at attention, and salute. Those present in uniform should render the military salute. When not in uniform men should remove their headdress with right hand holding it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Men without hats should salute in the same manner. Aliens should stand at attention. Women should salute by placing the right hand over their heart. The salute to the flag in the moving column should be rendered at the moment the flag passes.

"That when the national anthem is played and the flag is not displayed, all present should stand and face toward the music. Those in uniform should salute at the first note of the anthem, retaining this position until the last note. All others should stand at attention, men removing the headdress. When the flag is displayed, all present should face the flag and salute."

At our next ball game shall we all sing as our anthem is played and stand at attention during the raising of the flag? This is the least we can do to show our love for "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

Mrs. W.A. Reddell who had a multiple disc operation July 26, has had to return to the hospital again since she is not recovering as the doctors had expected her to. They are running a number of tests, trying to discover her trouble. We hope she will soon be able to return home in good condition.

Past Days In Lynn County

Copied from Oct. 6, 1939

At 9 o'clock Thursday morning 5,434 bales of cotton had been ginned here this season, according to reports given the News by the five gin plants here. A little more than 2,000 bales have been ginned since the report was gathered last week. They weather has remained ideal for the harvesting of the crop. Practically all the cotton is being picked this year, none of it "pulled" as yet. This crop, whatever it may be, has been made on a sub-normal amount of rain. In Tahoka, only 10.78 inches of rain has fallen since January 1. Considerably more than this has fallen in some sections of the county, however, particularly in July and August, causing the cotton stalks to grow rank and promising for a few weeks a bumper crop. The price of cotton in Tahoka Thursday was about 8.10 cents per pound. Seed was selling at $25.00 per ton.

The farmers Cooperative Gin at New Home was completely destroyed by fire at an early hour Thursday morning. The fire was discovered in the cotton house at about 2 a.m. and had made such headway that it was then impossible to extinguish the flames. The gin plant, the cotton house, and the seed house were all consumed. Several bales of ginned cotton were also destroyed. There were many bales of unginced cotton on the yard at the time but none of them were damaged. The fire was running at the time the fire was discovered and many people were in and about the plant. The gin was owned by an association of farmers. L.N. Hancock being the chairman of the board of directors. Mr. Barron was the manager. About 1370 bales had been ginned this season.

The amount of insurance carried was not available. It is presumed that the plant will be rebuilt before the next ginning season.

The Tahoka Bulldogs downed the Lubbock Cowhands last Friday afternoon 26 to 7 on the Lubbock field.

The speedy halfback made all the scores. This man as we all know is Co-captain Max Minor. He also kicked the two extra points.

Co-captain Alvin White also turned in a nice game.

Some of the boys are still a little green at this game of football. It seems to me that I heard someone say they learned how to keep from getting blocked out by making his opponent clip him. Clipping draws a 15 yard penalty and nearly every time one of the Bulldogs would start to throw a block on one of those Cowhands the Cowhand would turn his back to him and get clipped on purpose.

O'Donnell lost their dedication last Friday night to the Crosbyton Lions 12 to 26. There were two thousand people who attended the celebration.

Dannie Lockaby, little son of Mr. and Mrs. R.M. Lockaby of south of town, was bitten by a bulldog Sunday afternoon while playing in the yard. He is recovering nicely, after treatment by a local doctor.

The dog is being kept under observation, to determine if he has rabies, although it is considered unlikely that he was mad.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By Richard L. Christie

Land use will be the critical factor in America's future growth warns many agricultural leaders including Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin. These United States have the land and the ability to satisfy the food requirements of a population perhaps double its size today but we must plan and provide to use the land wisely. Much of our land is not productive and in some cases is a loss to the owner. The honorable E.L. Short is presently serving on a committee of the State Legislature to study an equitable way to tax land based on agricultural production for agricultural lands. This is a problem that faces the environmental picture because agriculture bounty and environmental quality go hand in hand.

The USDA, especially the Soil Conservation Service, has been concerned about the quality of the environment and its improvement for 40 years. We have studied recorded and surveyed the natural and man-made ecology of our environment for a long time. The Soil Conservation Service provides ecological training for all her employees. We have been working for years in an organized, well-directed way to preserve and improve the environment. We have the experience, the organization and the leadership to get the job done.

Governor Preston Smith stated recently "about 70 per cent of our people live on 1 per cent of our land area. If we continue worrying about urban problems in a relatively exclusive way, without attending to the plight of small towns and rural communities we will have only rural waste lands and urban slums."

There are many factors to consider in land use determination. The best results will be obtained weighing all the factors first, then evaluating the alternatives before making a decision. If you plan to make any changes in land use, consult the Soil Conservation Service if it is or isn't agriculturally related. We have aided many prospective home builders and area developers in making the best land use decisions.

Program On Cotton Seed At O'Donnell

In a joint meeting, October 5th, the O'Donnell Young Farmers and Young Homemakers were told of the various ways that cotton seed may be used in the preparation of foods. Margerette Harden of the Texas Tech Food and Nutrition program explained how the glandless type seed is used for cooking. The group enjoyed tasting toasted seed and cookies made from the cotton seed flour.

The use of glandless cottonseed for human consumption is a new door opened to farmers of this area. Tests have proven that this type cotton grows well in our area. At the present time there are many acres of it growing around O'Donnell. Only 5 per cent of the seed is required for planting leaving 95 per cent for other uses.

This type of cotton seed is traced back five thousand years ago in India. It is a new product today because of the recent discovery of its nutritious and tasty value on the dinner table.

In addition to counseling and class work, students enrolling for the course gain experience working in local business institutions. In fact, to be a success, business people must lend their cooperation by hiring Distributive Education enrollees to work in their off-school hours.

Mrs. White said she has had wonderful cooperation from Tahoka business firms in initiating the program.

Although only 23 students are in this new program this year, she expects more to take advantage of the course next year if sufficient jobs can be found.

November 3rd.

The Most Important Election of Our Time!

We must keep a Senator in Washington who is responsible to the people of Texas. A Democrat who is free to support Administration policies when he thinks they're right but who can oppose them when he thinks they're wrong. Texas needs two Republican Senators like we need more inflation, higher unemployment, higher interest rates, tighter money, a higher cost of living. George Bush may be able to do more for the Republican Party. But Lloyd Bentsen, as a Democrat, can do more for the people of Texas. Lloyd Bentsen will be free to oppose Republican policies of tight money and high interest rates which have put 1,500,000 people out of work in the last 22 months without stopping inflation. Free to work for rural development through tax incentives for industries which locate in small towns. Free to work for welfare laws that will guarantee opportunities and protection for those who really need it rather than a minimum annual income without sufficient work incentives. Free to support legislation that controls criminals rather than guns.

Your vote for Lloyd Bentsen Tuesday, November 3rd will help insure Texas' independence from Republican control.

Warm, Fresh Air

... direct from the manufacturer

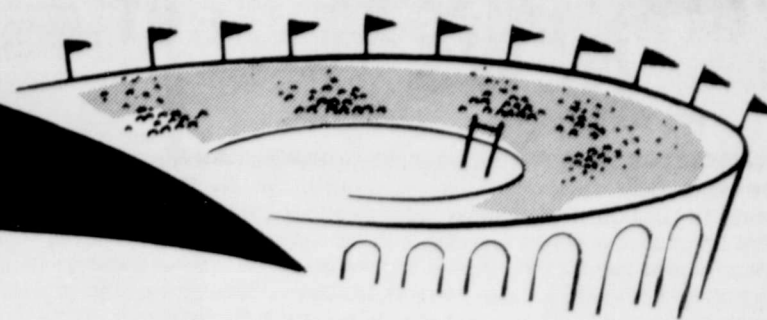

Natural gas is the healthiest, most economical way to heat your house this winter. Gas is economical because it's the direct way to produce heat - you don't pay to convert heat to another energy source and then back to heat. And with gas you can afford to bring clean outside air into your home this winter instead of having to re-heat the same old stale air time after time.

So, if you're building or remodeling, be sure to specify gas heating. Gas is the "natural" fuel. It's like buying direct from the manufacturer. Call your heating contractor, plumber, or Pioneer Natural Gas.

Data Is Published On Tahoka Weather Station

The Environmental Science Services Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce Weather Bureau has recently published a rather complete climatological summary of the Tahoka Station.

Although the elaborate tables almost prohibit publication in The News, the following text will be of interest to many Lynn County people. (The complete report may be received free by writing Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas, Austin, Texas, 78712.) CLIMATE OF TAHOKA

Located on the High Plains, 29 miles south of Lubbock, at an elevation of 3,120 feet, at weather station. Tahoka is the county seat and marketing center of Lynn County. The town owes its name to nearby Tahoka Lake, a natural spring-fed lake whose Indian name means deep clear water. The Tahoka Daisy (a member of the aster family) first discovered at Tahoka Lake, now spread wild over the High Plains to rival the bluebonnet (state flower) and wild verbena.

Lynn County is high plain, broken by draws and dotted by playas. Soils are sandy loams black and gray types. Elevations range from 2,600 to 3,300 feet above mean sea level. The economy of Lynn County is based on agribusinesses centered in cotton, grain sorghums and cattle. About 92,000 acres are irrigated.

The climate of Tahoka is a dry steppe type with mild winters. Mean annual precipitation is 18.44 inches. In an average year, four-fifths of the total precipitation falls during the warm season, April through October. Rains occur most frequently as the result of thunderstorms with monthly and annual amounts extremely variable. Annual extremes since 1929 range from 40.98 inches in 1941 to only 10.08 in 1956. Drought periods of several months duration are not uncommon. The prevailing winds at Tahoka are southwesterly November through April and southerly May through October. Wind speeds average about 13.4 miles per hour annually. Mean relative humidity at noon, Central Standard Time, is estimated at 49 percent in January, 40 percent in April, 45 percent in July, and 45 percent in October. The Tahoka area receives approximately 67 percent of the total possible sunshine in winter; 78 percent in summer. Freewater (lake) evaporation averages 71 inches annually.

Winter: Frequent surges of cold Polar Canadian air bring strong northerly winds and sharp drops in temperature. However, cold spells rarely last longer than about 48 hours before sunshine and southwesterly winds bring rapid warming. Freezes occur on about three out of four nights, but days are usually sunny, and daily maxima average 54.8 degrees F. in January. The lowest temperature of record at Tahoka is 15 degree F and occurred on February 8, 1933. Winter is a dry season. Precipitation most often in the form of light snow. Usually, the snow piles up in drifts, resulting in an uneven moisture distribution. The arithmetic mean is a poor estimate of expected snowfall at Tahoka as this statistic is biased by a few exceptionally heavy snows, such as occurred in January 1958, March 1968 and 1969 and December 1960.

Spring weather is characterized by frequent changes. Through March and April, warm and cold spells follow each other in rapid succession. These are the windiest months of the year. Infrequently, persistently strong southwesterly to northwesterly winds may produce dust storms in the area. Thunderstorms, which rarely occur in winter, increase in number through the spring season and reach peak frequency in May and June. In an average year, May is the wettest month. A few of these late spring and early summer thunderstorms may be accompanied by damaging wind and hail.

Summer is one of the most pleasant seasons on the High Plains. While afternoon temperatures are sometimes hot, most nights are pleasantly cool. After sunset, temperatures drop rapidly in the clear, dry air. Evaporative-type air-conditioners operate efficiently in this climate. While June and July are relatively wet months average rainfall decreases significantly in August. Thunderstorms occur on an average of 41 days annually.

Fall weather, like that of summer, is very pleasant. There is greater variety than in summer since the Tropical Maritime air mass is replaced often by cooler, drier, polar air. Rainfall decreases rather abruptly in November since the Tropical Maritime air mass is replaced often by cooler, drier, polar air. Rainfall decreases rather abruptly in November since the Tropical Maritime air is seldom present so far north this late in the season.

Mild, sunny days and clear, cool nights characterize the fall season.

The warm season (freeze free periods) at Tahoka average 217 days. The mean dates of the last occurrence of 32 degrees F or below in the spring and the first occurrence of 32 degrees F or below in the fall are April 4 and November 7, respectively.

Temperature and precipitation observation began at Tahoka on March 1, 1913, but were terminated on August 31, 1917. The climatological station was re-activated on September 1, 1928. Throughout its history, the station has been located within a radius of one mile of the Tahoka Post Office. Frank F. Hill, the present Cooperative weather observer was appointed on May 4, 1953. The station was relocated to its present site at 2411 West First Street, 1.0 mile west-southwest of Tahoka Post Office on February 23, 1966. Station equipment consists of a cotton region shelter, maximum and minimum thermometers and a standard, eight-inch, non-recording rain gauge. Daily temperature and precipitation data are published monthly in Climatological Data-Texas.

Linda Huffaker, CHD Agent, Says.....

Linda Huffaker says 'Tis the season for the great fur put-on...the fabulous fakes with wild life looks.

The manmade fur fabrics have been designed for vests and skirts, pants and jackets as well as coats and jackets. And the furs come in all types Chinchilla, raccoon, beaver, fox wild spots, stripes, checks or even pop art patterns.

Fake furs are deep pile fabrics made by interlacing extra sets of yarn in the basic cloth structure. The pile is usually a manmade fiber, such as rayon, acrylic or modacrylic. The backing is knitted or woven of cotton, acrylic or modacrylic.

The Textile Fiber Products Identification Act requires that every textile fiber product be labeled according to its fiber content.

Fake furs have a luxurious appearance and feel yet are comparatively light weight plus warm to wear. The furs are resistant to moths, mildew and wrinkles, and their relative cost is less than genuine fur.

Fake fur fabrics, however, have a natural tendency to tuft in wear and dry-cleaning. Tufting means that the fibers stick together. The fur also tends to mat and flatten down in wear. Because these fibers are very heat sensitive, care should be taken not to dry the garments near heat nor to steam press them.

To select the best fake fur garment, follow these guides: Read the label for fiber content and care instructions. Some fake furs are washable, but most of them require drycleaning, using either commercial or the fur method which is a more expensive process than regular dry cleaning.

Check the density of the pile. Better qualities have a denser, closer pile.

Determine shedding by shaking the fur briskly or by working the fingers through the pile of the fabric.

Acrylic and modacrylic fibers have a tendency to hold oil and grease stains and may require special attention for removal.

Yield: 4 dozen cookies.

Check the density of the pile. Better qualities have a denser, closer pile.
