First National To Build New Bank

Structure To Contain 8,000 Square Feet

NEW BANKING HOUSE FOR TAHOKA--A Architects drawing above depicts the future. The building will also have additional office space and will be a temporary Spanish style of architecture which has been designed by the firm of Whitaker and Hall of Lubbock.

Chairman of the Board Dr. C. M. Phillips and President F. B. Hegi of The First National Bank of Tahoka announced today that plans are now complete for a new banking house for that institution. The new structure will contain approximately 8000 square feet in the banking quarters plus a 2000 square foot basement and an additional 1500 square feet for office space. The building will be located on the old Cicero-Smith Lumber Company property which is located on the west of the U. S. Post Office building. A community room containing about 900 square feet will be built in conjunction with the bank. This room will feature its own outside courtyard, seating room for about 75 persons, an independent entrance and its own restroom facilities.

The new building will incorporate a contemporary Spanish style of architecture which has been designed by the firm of Whitaker and Hall of Lubbock. The exterior finish will be an exposed marble aggregate. Furnishings and decor are being designed by The Baker Company of Lubbock and will complement the building design. The entire structure will be heated and cooled electrically.

All utility lines will be underground on the site. Outside courtyards will highlight views from several areas within the structure and will be landscaped accordingly.

The plans will go to bidders tomorrow, March 12 and bids will be opened on Tuesday, March 30. Construction should begin about April 15 and completion is expected in late 1971 or early 1972. It is hoped that this investment by the bank will encourage other building and development within the city.

President Pete Hegi joined the First National Bank on September 1, 1929. The bank was then located in its present quarters. It had earlier moved into the present building in an exchange with the Guaranty State Bank of Tahoka from the building where the Lynn County Agent is now located and the City-County Library is located. In his 41+ years with the bank, President Hegi will be relocating his office for the first time. Public showings and an open house are planned after the bank's move.

A new regulation concerning set-aside requirements under the 1971 farm program has come down from Washington which, according to Donald Johnson, Executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "is grossly inequitable and will be impossible for County Committees to administer."

The new rule, as given to PCG from the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office at College Station, reads:

"Irrigable land within the farm's irrigation system (emphasis added) shall be designated for set-aside when the established yield for the allotments or food grain base from which set-aside is determined is irrigated. If an acreage is designated which cannot be irrigated the payment for the allotment or base shall be made on the basis of 'dry land yield.' The county committees shall establish a yield for the crop which is representative of dryland production for the farm."

Johnson said "Many of our farmers have already put down herbicides and fertilizers on acreage intended for crop production this year and it is totally unfair for USDA to issue new rules at this late date which would require changes." He further pointed out that the new ruling is incompatible with farming efficiency and the administration's stated desire to increase cotton production in 1971.

Attempting to administer the regulation to the letter as written would create a nightmare for County ASCS Committees, Johnson continued. "Without sending a qualified crew of water engineers to every farm in the country, how can a County Committee determine if an acreage cannot be irrigated? And how in the world is the County Committee going to establish a yield which is 'representative of dryland production' for the farm?"

As one example of the difficulty that would be encountered in determining whether an acreage can be irrigated, Johnson cited the case of a farmer with an irrigation system which waters the land in a circle, leaving the corners dry, and asks the question "Would these corners be considered non-irrigable 'within the farm's irrigation system?' " If so, the farmer would be required to buy additional irrigation pipe, which he would have no intention of using, just to show the ASCS committee an "irrigation system" that could irrigate the whole farm and thus prevent his payment yield from being based on dryland conditions.

It would be literally impossible in many instances for an ASCS committee to fairly establish a dry land yield for a farm which has been under irrigation for several years, Johnson believes. He points out that no two dryland farmers have equal soils and equal farming skills and management ability, and that there are many cases where dryland farms have higher projected yields than some irrigated farms in the same vicinity.

Section A of the regulations on set-aside eligibility reads "Set-aside shall be cropland which is at least equal in productivity to the average productivity of other cropland on the farm and could be devoted to the crop for which payments are made. In the event the county committee determines that the productivity of the set-aside acreage is substantially below average, the operator shall be given an opportunity to designate other land of average productivity. If other land is not designated, appropriate reduction in payments shall be made."

This "opportunity to designate other land" is largely meaningless, says Johnson, because set-aside acreage is not checked by ASCS until after a farmer has planted his crops and "certified" his acreage in soil conserving uses that he can designate. And this would certainly be the exception rather than the rule.

Section B is the part quoted above pertaining to irrigation, and Section C states "The following land is not eligible for designation as set-aside acreage: turnrows, drainage ditches, wet low lying areas, drouthy nobs or banks, other areas which normally would not produce crops and strips of less than two normal rows in skip-row planting patterns."

Hog Records And Selection Keys To Profitable Production

The continued success of any purebred breeder or commercial swine producer is dependent on his retention of productive high quality gilts in his breeding herd.

"For the past two or three years and up until this past summer, pork producers enjoyed a very good hog market," Dr. W.B. Thomas, a Texas A&M University Extension swine specialist, says. "During this period of high prices, there was a tendency among producers to retain in the sow herd, gilts with lower or sometimes inferior quality."

"Now, with hog prices at rock bottom, it is time to cull these sows that are below the herd average in quality and productivity."
 According to Thomas, producers should develop "on-the-farm" selection programs that place emphasis on economically important traits such as sow productivity, rapid growth and meatiness.

Large litters of thrifty pigs are essential to a profitable swine program. Records should be kept that enable producers to measure sow productivity. Replacement gilts should be selected from the largest, heaviest litters.

Rapidly growing hogs that reach 200 pounds at five to five and one-half months of age generally are cheaper to produce than slower growing hogs. Because of this, a measure of the pigs' ability to gain should be included in the selection program.

Producers must also be interested in producing a quality product. Therefore, selecting meat-type gilts and boars is important. The back-fat probe, an instrument widely used in the late 1950's and early 1960's, enables producers to make more accurate selections for meatiness. The back-fat thickness is a good measurement for estimating the amount of meatiness in the live animal if they have been fed on soy feeders.

"Replace those cull sows with meaty, rapidly growing gilts from large litters," advises Thomas. "Also, while hogs are bringing low prices, producers might consider purchasing that higher quality boar. He's probably cheaper now than he was several months ago."

"By following a sound selection program, we will produce a higher quality product that demands a better price."

Farm Bureau News

The Farm Bureau is again printing bills that were brought before the House of Representatives and the Senate for the week of March 1 through the 5th, that are of interest to this area.

TAXES: S.B. 460 by Blanchard, the companion bill to H.B. 65 by Jones of Lubbock to allow agricultural users to purchase liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) tax free for non-highway use, was introduced in the Senate and referred to the Senate Committee on State Affairs.

AGRICULTURAL CHEMICALS H.B. 795 by Lemmon, a bill requiring that all agricultural chemicals used after 1976 must be biodegradable, was introduced in the House of Representatives and referred to the House Committee on Agriculture. This bill would apply to insecticides, fertilizers, defoliants, herbicides, and all other agricultural chemicals. H.B. 795 is probably the most dangerous bill introduced so far in regard to use of agricultural chemicals.

TRANSPORTATION: H.B. 104 by Clayton, a bill providing that trucks operating under temporary permits (30 day permits) can haul any farm products, ing of treated seed, was introduced in the Senate and referred to the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Livestock. The bill provides that treated seed shall be labeled in accordance with rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioner of Agriculture. The Commissioner shall hold public hearings in Austin to help determine labeling specifications.

was heard before the House Committee on Motor Transportation, reported out favorably, brought to the House floor for debate, and was finally passed and sent to the Senate. The present temporary permit law spells out certain major commodities which may be hauled with a temporary permit. H.B. 104 deletes this list of commodities and substitutes any farm products. Producers have often been stopped by the Highway Patrol to see if they were transporting legal commodities. Most producers did not know which commodities were legal and which were not. Now all products will be legal and the problem will be solved - if the bill passes the Senate. SEED LAW: S.B. 457 by Watson, a bill requiring label-

Officers and Directors of the Tahoka Ex-Students Association met last Friday to plan for the first Annual Banquet to be held April 23rd. The Finance committee was instructed to complete enrollment and the Secretary to send out invitations to all Ex-students and Teachers. The Senior Class will be the honored guests of the occasion. The Association is planning to present an award to some worthy member of the Senior Class, details of which are yet to be worked out.

Also, further details of the banquet program are to be completed at the next meeting of the officers on March 10th.

Kirk and Gaynell Pitts, proprietors of the Cash Store, are this week celebrating their second anniversary in business, and are holding an open house at their store Saturday. For further information on the affair, we refer you to their ad in this week's News.

Another firm, which carried over last week, is Wynne Collier, druggist, celebrating its third anniversary in Tahoka with a sale this week.

C. M. Greer, a prominent farmer of the Grassland community is having a gas plant installed at his home. He is also on the Lyntegar electric line soon to be built and will have his home lighted with electricity, as will many others in Lynn county. Many farmers will soon be enjoying all the modern conveniences just the same as their city brothers.

Rollin McCord of the Tahoka Rotary Club has been authorized by the Chicago office and by District Governor Estes of Wichita Falls to represent the latter in the organization of a Rotary Club at O'Donnell, same to be sponsored by the Rotary Club here.

Mr. McCord has already secured the names of twelve of the leading businessmen of O'Donnell to enter into the organization, and he thinks as many more will sign up. Twenty members are necessary.

Tahoka's six months old band received its uniforms Thursday noon. A dress parade on the down town streets will be held possibly Monday.

The uniforms are West Point cadet style in blue and white. Uniforms were bought for 47 members of the organization, and are being paid for through benefit programs, band fees, etc.

The band was started last September, and has made wonderful progress under the direction of Joyce H. Felts, teacher of band music in the schools.

The Tahoka Rifle Club held its first meeting Wednesday night with thirty-one members present. The formal opening of the range will be next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, at which time officers will be elected and dues collected.

Tahoka businessmen have given many prizes to the club which will be well worth shooting for, T. Garrard says. The club also needs two old mattresses to use at the shooting range, and anyone having same should get in touch with T. Garrard at the post office.

Several additional members were taken in at the meeting, at the meeting and others are expected to join at next week's meeting.

Dr. E. Prohl left for Fort

Worth Tuesday to have one of his eyes treated by a specialist. He was accompanied by his wife and baby. It is hoped that the affection will yield readily to treatment and that he will be back in two or three days. In the meantime his office is being kept open for the accommodation of any who might have any business matter that need attention.

Style Show Held At New Home

The style show, given by the New Home FHA and sponsored by the Hang-Ups Department of Lathams, was a great success. It was held March 5 in the New Home School Cafeterium. Rock music for the show was presented by "Stanbank".

Mrs. Madeline Lowe from Lathams was mistress of ceremonies and commentators were Pandi Phifer and Carol Sealy. The models were: Dennie Bruton and Jeanne Bruton, seniors; Becky Blevins, Cheryl Fillingim, Melody Peek, and Virginia Smith, juniors; Lisa Tucker, sophomore; and Sheila McClintock, Judy Turner and Debbie White, freshmen.

The models wore clothes in the latest style for spring, ranging from beautiful formals to pretty party dresses, school dresses, gay peasant dresses, groovy sportswear, and bathing suits that are really the thing for the swim scene this summer.

The mood was set by illuminated black light posters behind the band that was on stage. The theme, "Turned on Spring", added to this mood of the show. John Piper sang songs, some of which he composed himself, and Ann Tolland and Valerie Ford sang folk songs during intermissions. A door prize, which was a $25 gift certificate from Lathams, was won by Mr. Tommy Dillard of Lubbock.

The show provided an enjoyable evening to all who attended. The New Home FHA would like to extend a grateful thanks to the people at Lathams for sponsoring this style show for us and to the people who attended the show.

Two Local Ladies Attend Library Meet

The Lubbock City-County Libraries, in its role as the Major Resource Center Library for twenty-six counties, held a workshop on Library Services for Children, on March 5, 1971, at the Lubbock City-County Library in Lubbock.

Mrs. Ella Mae Platz, Children's Librarian in Lubbock, conducted the workshop with assistance from Mrs. Joan Thel-fall, Mrs. Altha Christon of the Midland Public Library.

Mrs. A. J. Kaddatz and Mrs. Pearl Davidson librarian of City-County library was among the 26 who attended the meeting. The City-County library will receive one copy of each of the Children's books discussed in the morning session.

The luncheon speaker was Mrs. Barbara K. Walker, a well known Lubbock author of children's books. Her latest book, Pigs and Pirates was a Junior Literary Guild selection. She spoke on the value of story telling to open the door to better reading for children.

At the afternoon session the participants saw a film, "There's Something About A Story" which portrayed the experiences and reactions of children to different volunteer story tellers in the Dayton, Ohio area.

Plans for the Texas State Library's Summer Reading Club were discussed and Mrs. Platz encouraged all libraries to participate in this program.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Barbed Humor

"Many a truth," says an old proverb, "is spoken in jest."

But what about a lie that is spoken in jest? Is a false statement excusable if the speaker is "only kidding"?

Consider the case of a television personality who, in the course of his patter, referred to one of his guests as "a member of the Mafia."

The remark got a big laugh from the audience, but the guest was not amused. Instead, he filed a defamation suit against his host, accusing him of soiling an innocent person's good name.

Nevertheless, the court turned down the guest's claim. The judge pointed out that the remark not only was intended to be funny but also was taken that way by the audience.

It is this last item—the reaction of the audience—that matters most in the law of defamatory remark seriously, the tion. Unless listeners take a person's reputation simply is not harmed.

On the other hand, a jest may indeed be defamatory if those who hear it take it as true. Thus: A guest at a party passed the word that his hostess had been dabbling in adultery. When she later sued him for defamation, he explained that he had been trying to be funny.

"How can I be liable," he said, "when I had no guilty intent? It isn't my fault that some people just did not catch on."

But the court ordered him to pay damages for failing to make his humorous intentions clear. As one judge put it:

"A person shall not be allowed to murder another's reputation in jest."

Even words of flattery may be defamatory if they carry a hidden sting. Another case arose because of repeated references to a local political leader as "beautiful" and "godlike." In fact, the man was widely known to have an ugly deformity, left from a severe illness some years earlier.

Under these circumstances, the court held that the words of seeming praise were actually defamatory. The court said the insult was no less painful, merely because it came in disguise.

Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

In a week of major financial flurry, the House passed a $492.5 million tax bill and an $80 million college tuition hike, while the Senate approved a $185 million college building bond plan.

Here's the breakdown on the tax bill:

An increase in the sales tax rate from 3.25 to 4 per cent, $279.8 million.

Increase in the auto sales tax rate from 3 to 4 per cent, $69.75 million.

Increase in the hotel occupancy tax from 3 to 4 per cent, $6.9 million.

A $1 tax on transfer of corporate securities, $10 million.

A 10 per cent levy on entertainment admissions, $26.6 million.

Increase in the corporation franchise tax rate from $3.25 to $3.75 per $1,000 of assets, $39.5 million.

A 5 cents per gallon tax on aviation jet fuel, $50 million.

A 1/2 cent increase in the tax on sand, gravel, shell and marl taken from submerged lands, $10.6 million.

The House rejected amendments that would have taxed corporation net profits, timber, snuff and sales to government units.

Representatives approved a tuition increase from $50 a semester to $7 per semester hour--or $105 a semester for a full 15-hour course load.

Also included is a $47 per semester hour charge on out-of-state students, or about $700 per semester.

Both bills now go to the Senate, where Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes has promised extended hearings. First, however, the Senate -- unlike the House--proposes to total its spending proposals to see just how much revenue is required to balance the budget.

Senate voted 21-7 for the House-passed bill to provide tuition-backed revenue bond financing of new higher education facilities in San Antonio, Dallas, Odessa, Houston, Lubbock and El Paso.

COURTS SPEAK -- Texas Supreme Court refused to review a Sunday closing law case involving Cook's discount store at Bryan, thus again affirming Texas' blue law.

A woman who burned her finger due to a defective safety glove at the Dallas Texas Instruments plant nine years ago got a new trial in her damage suit for more than $20,000.

U. S. Supreme Court, in a case of interest to Texas, held unanimously that highways constructed with federal funds cannot cut through public parks except in "the most unusual situations."

U. S. Supreme Court in a Houston case held that an indigent cannot be jailed to work out traffic fines for non-jailable offenses.

Court of Criminal Appeals held two boys sentenced for murder in Edinburg were placed in double jeopardy because of their age.

REDISTRICTING ROW LOOMS--Lawmakers, armed with new census tract maps, are tuning up for some early showdowns on congressional and legislative redistricting.

Sen. J. P. Word of Meridian introduced caption bills for his redistricting committee to start work on within the next week. Word said he plans no out-of-Austin public hearings like those being conducted by the House redistricting committee headed by Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock.

Forty-six of 52 big-city House members served notice on Jones they don't like his preliminary sketches of new district lines. They interpret Jones' early efforts as designed to safe-guard rural congressmen.

Under a fair plan, they said, Harris County should include four congressional districts, Dallas County three, and Bexar and Tarrant counties two each. Instead of the 11 districts to which the metropolitan counties are entitled, they argued, Jones has indicated only seven districts would be dominated by the bigger cities.

APPOINTMENTS--Gov. Preston Smith named Houston attorney Carl Illig to the Texas Water Development Board.

Smith selected for the Texas Tech University Board of Regents Bill E. Collins of Lubbock, Dr. John James Hincinze of San Antonio and Johnny Clinton Formy of Hereford.

Among other recent appointments announced by Smith were: John B. Turner Jr. of Houston to Texas Industrial Commission.

C. H. Coffield of Houston to Texas Conservation Foundation.

Aubrey D. Voelkel of La-Grange, Roger Gilbert Zercher of Blanco, William C. Petri of Austin (reappointment) and Thomas C. Ferguson of Burnet (reappointment) to Lower Colorado River Authority Board.

Wright Mathews of Palestine (reappointment) to Upper Neches River Municipal Water Authority Board of Directors.

LOCAL SCHOOL COSTS SET--Local school district share of the state's public education system cost in 1971-72 will be $245.1 million.

State Board of Education set the local fund assignment for the next school year at a meeting here last week. (March 1).

Assignment includes 20 per cent of the foundation school program cost ($215.1 million), plus another $30 million in special credits earned by the districts during the past year.

Total cost -- both state and local share -- of the foundation school program for the 1970-71 school year is estimated at $1,075,634,247 (billion).

Professional and teacher aide salaries this year will cost $926.7 million; maintenance and operation of schools, $76.8 million; transportation, $26.8 million; Texas Education Agency administration, $2,093,000 and special programs, $7,082,000.

Many local school districts pay for additional services with local tax money and support salaries for their teachers higher than the minimum scale.

CRIME INCREASING STILL--Major crime increased in 1970 by 5.1 per cent, according to a report by Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Although Texas' crime trend remained up, Speir noted, the rate of increase was down from a 19.9 per cent gain for the first six months of last year and compares with almost 16 per cent for all 1969.

DPS director said there was a major crime every one-and-one-quarter minutes.

Crime rate jumped 4.8 per cent in cities and 7.9 per cent in rural areas.

There was some decline in the crime rate (5.9 per cent) for cities in the 50,000-100,000 population bracket. It was up 25.2 per cent in 10,000-25,000 cities. In big cities, the rate increase was just 2.8 per cent. Crime clearance rate rose slightly.

BETTER BUDGETING URGED In a news report, the Texas Research League recommended better budgeting and money management for the state.

Recommendations include a proposal that the governor become chairman of a new State Budget Commission which would include Legislative Budget Board members. A single staff would serve the Commission, and only a single budget would be presented to the Legislature. System envisions "budget execution" as part of the money management process.

SHORT SHORTS -- House committee heard testimony on a bill to protect news reporters from having to reveal confidential sources of information.

Senate committee killed a bill to authorize nine to three jury verdicts.

Testimony on the proposed penal code revision continued antagonistic.

Tax revenue from cigarette smokers increased from $12.8 million in February 1970 to $13.6 million last month.

Preston Avenue Bank and Turst Company, Houston, seeks a state bank charter.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held that the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation can move household goods of present employees (not new employees) to permanent duty stations in its own vehicles.

Thousands turned out for a look at the Apollo 11 space capsule during its four-day visit to the state capitol via special NASA truck-trailer.

Beeman Fisher of Fort Worth was selected president of Texas Water Conservation Association, succeeding Josiah Wheat of Woodville.

Bill Griffin, County Agent Says....

Seed treatment has come a long way since the Middle Ages, when seeds were thrown through fires to control disease organisms.

Chemicals are used today to treat planting seed to prevent damage by insects, fungi and bacteria. Most chemicals used for treating seed, such as phenol mercury acetate, are harmful to bacteria or fungi, and if misused can also be harmful to animals and humans.

To help prevent misuse of treated seeds and possible fatal results, the Federal Seed Act requires that seeds treated with mercurials and other similarly toxic substances be labeled accordingly.

The label must state the name of the substance used to treat the seed--either the commonly accepted name, the chemical name or a standard abbreviation of the chemical name. An example, BHC is the standard abbreviation for benzene hexachloride, which is the chemical name.

A label for treated seed must also contain an appropriate caution statement. Mercurials and similarly toxic substances must be labeled with the word "Poison" in red letters and with the skull-and-crossbones symbol.

Other substances classified as "harmful" in the regulations are required to be labeled with the statement such as "Do not use for feed, feed or oil purposes". Lawn seed are not ordinarily treated but home gardeners should note that many vegetables seed are often treated with toxic materials to help insure stands.

The Food and Drug Administration of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare required that food or feed grain seeds -- wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn and grain sorghums -- be colored an unnatural color if treated with a toxic substance, usually red.

To Solve Youth Problem

"Everyone from Dr. Spock to Vice President Agnew has advised parents on how to rear children.

"I have given these experts considerable attention and, with modesty, must admit that I have come up with the only workable solution on how to bridge the generation gap.

"One of the really pertinent points of frictions between parents and their teenage children is dress. Young people like wayout attire and only laugh at what their parents and other grownups wear. The solution is for parents to wear the same clothes their children wear. For example, when mother goes shopping, she could wear a gorgeous twopiece ensemble of old auto seat covers dotted with ravishing droplets of mustard and bleach. As accessories, she could wear a leather choker, Ho Chi Minh sandals and a U.S. Army field jacket draped daintly over her shoulders.

"The odd-makers give 10 to 1 that after seeing this, daughters will throw away all their Hindu shawls, Arabian headbands, and Australian gauchos.

"The father may have to sacrifice even more. First of all he would have to let his hair grow shoulder length and then use a good home permanent to add a few waves and curls. Since most young men only allow their nose to be hairless, the father would also have to let his sideburns grow until they met just under the lower lip, and then add a Joe Namath moustache. This may be embarrassing at first but no one ever said being a father would be easy.

"Most parents make the mistake of strongly disapproving their daughter's dates, even if he does look like the guy who lives in the trash can on Sesame Street. Actually this problem is easy to solve. All the mother and father have to do is to go into ecstasy over their daughter's boyfriend; invite him to dinner often; and frequently praise their daughter's good judgement in selecting a boyfriend that meets their 100 per cent approval. The daughter will drop him immediately.

"One thing sure to turn teenagers off is for them to come home one day and find mom and dad doing the "funny chicken" while screaming "Yeah! Yeah!" to the latest hit of the Jefferson Airplane. Naturally, mom would be braless. It's even more impressive if grandma joins in with her hair in curlers, wearing a mini-mini-skirt and wailing "Groovy! Groovy!" Their children's next stop will be the library looking for books on waltzes and foxtrots.

"There is no easy answer to the drug problem. Perhaps the only solution is for Vice President Agnew to announce he is FOR removing all laws against drugs. A clincher would be for Martha Mitchell to tell the press she is considering serving pot at her next cocktail party. Under these conditions no teenager would ever touch the stuff again.

"Other steps parents could take would be to stress "togetherness" in burning down the university or going on dates; point out that they'll help organize a rock fest providing they get to sing; sell both cars and buy bicycles in protest over air pollution; and use their children's college fund to buy psychedelic wallpaper for the entire house.

"Admittedly, these are strong measures to ask parents to take. If they are too harsh, there's still one hope.

"Many, many years ago, parents used something called discipline to bridge generation gaps. With luck, perhaps one could find something on this in the rare book section of the library."

More Cotton Production Needed

A supply shortage could endanger the best outlook for expanding cotton markets in a decade was a commonly heard statement at the recently held National Cotton Council meeting in Dallas.

Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist, said the need for more cotton production was pointed out by several conference speakers, including Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Clarence D. Palmby and

Dr. M. K. Horne, Jr., consulting economist for the Council. Horne noted that domestic mill usage in 1970 was 8 million bales and that exports for the crop year ending next August 1 are projected to rise to 3.5 million bales, up 700,000 from 1969. There is some feeling that actual exports will go to 4 million bales or more, Horne said. Domestic use of 8 million bales and exports of 3.5 million would reduce the carryover stock of cotton to the lowest level since 1952 and bring us to the brink of a supply crisis, the economist said. Elliott said Dr. Horne emphasized that cotton could not survive such a situation when we are competing with synthetic fibers which are produced on dependable schedules every day of the year. Therefore, a larger crop in 1971 is a must, Palmby also emphasized the need for more cotton production in 1971 and outlined how the Agricultural Act of 1970 could give a new direction for cotton. The new program offers the cotton industry the opportunity to be more competitive in terms of production costs and to produce what the market will take-the quantities and varieties needed, he said.

In order to expand our market opportunities, we must have larger supplies along with a greater variety of staple lengths and other quality factors. We must have cotton available if we hope to regain cotton's rightful share of market growth here and around the world, the assistant secretary said.

Elliott advises Texas cotton producers to take a realistic view of the current situation and take advantage of the opportunities offered.

THE PHILOSOPHER

Better System

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses the false national emergency alert this week, we think.)

Dear editor:

I wasn't listening to the radio at the time so wasn't aware of the "national emergency alert" that went out over the country when somebody fed the wrong tape into the networks, but according to the newspaper account I read a lot of people got pretty excited and more would have if more radio stations had believed what they were being inaccurately told.

I'm afraid the government's going to have to get a different system, because like it is nobody believes much of anything anybody says anymore.

It seems to be a national trend. No matter what a law says, practically any politician in violation of one can explain how he didn't violate it, taking so long to do it by the time he's through you've forgotten what the question was.

This seems to work for politicians, and what I object to is that it won't work in other areas.

For example, if my banker says "Your note was overdue last Tuesday," I'd like to be able to say, "Now look, it was a year ago I promised to pay that note by last Tuesday and I'm a man of my word, the record shows that, but the world doesn't stand still. What's true today is not necessarily true tomorrow. Life is vast and complex. I made that promise in the light of what was happening twelve months ago, and in that time as we all know the Indo-China situation has changed, we've had an earthquake in California, the cost of living has gone up, man has walked once more upon the moon, the world's biggest railroad and Rolls-

Royce both have gone broke and the airlines are losing money, not to mention the pollution problem, and while it's technically true that note was overdue last Tuesday, you've got to remember for the 12 months prior to that it was under-due. You've got to look at this from the over-all viewpoint. On balance, the note was under-due 12 months and is now over-due by only six days. That's not such a bad record, is it?"

You try this, and judging by what the banker will say, you'll figure somebody has fed the wrong tape into him.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)
Pisces is the sexiest of all the birth signs. Nothing daunts a panting pisces. Pisces men have been known to walk 27 miles just to whisper a sweet nothing in a librarians ear. Pisces men excel at bilking old maids and widows out of money. Women born under this sign are also romantically inclined and have trim, lithe, well formed gums. Never sad, they have a fine sense of humor - laughing at everything from traffic accidents to rock slides and 4 years of bad crops. Society does not get its fullest advantage from Pisces people because so many of them slip into obscurity before they finish elementary school. While in school, though, they shine at cheating and passing notes to other students.

Install gas air conditioning now?
You should be so foxy
Installing GAS air conditioning now means you'll beat the rush that always comes with the first hot or dusty spring day. While everyone else is waiting for the overworked installers you'll be cool, calm, and collected.
GAS air conditioning cools your whole house quietly and efficiently. You'll save on repairs, too, because there is no compressor to break down or wear out. And, GAS air conditioning cools your whole house for what you might have been paying to cool just two or three rooms before.
So, be foxy. Call Pioneer and tell them you'd like to find out more about installing GAS air conditioning in the winter. A representative will tell you what it will take to include it in your present forced air heating system. You may be able to use the same ductwork for heating and cooling. It costs nothing to get a complete survey of your home or business.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

BY RICHARD L. CHRISTIE

When we think about the business of doing the job of conservation it challenges the imagination. This is a big business when you consider all that goes into it. Let us look more closely at the mechanics of the actual work in numbers of machines, equipment operation and quantities of earth moved.

In the installation of a wide range conservation practices 1 billion cubic yards of earth was moved. In Lynn County the one practice of parallel terraces amounted to 1,457,770 cubic yards of earth moved itself and there were several other practices such as diversions and grassed waterways.

Yes this is a great deal of earth. You might say a mountain is moved each year. What does it take in terms of equipment to move this mountain? In 1968, a survey showed that 457,000 pieces of equipment used primarily to install and maintain conservation work. This equipment is owned by conservation contractors, individual land owners and operators, and soil conservation districts. There was 45 pieces of privately owned equipment operating in Lynn County doing work for the public this year. This is equipment to be larger and heavier than farm equipment.

Into the conservation effort each year go 425,000 cubic yards of concrete, 3.9 million feet of corrugated metal pipe, 15 million feet of concrete pipe 19 million feet of pipe of steel and other materials, 11 million feet of small-diameter water pipe, 12 million feet of tile, and 14 million feet of aluminum sprinkler pipe.

Getting vegetation on 4.3 million acres of pasture, critical erosion areas, and rangeland requires the spending of $11 million for seed, fertilizer, and lime.

For the protection and proper management of range, landowners install 14,000 miles of fence. This is a big business across the nation. It is also a big business in Lynn County. Some $164,000.00 went into the County's economy as a result of terracing alone. This was in the form of money paid to conservation construction people. They in turn spend it on wages, fuel, parts and equipment.

America is investing heavily in the conservation of all her resources and moving rapidly toward even greater protection of our total environment. Let us each do our part in the wise use of our God-given resources.

The Honorable Halbert O. Woodward, U. S. District Judge of the Northern District of Texas presided.

Following the naturalization ceremony, the students stayed to observe about forty-five minutes of pre-trial proceedings in U. S. District Court, at the personal invitation of Judge Woodward.

Faculty members accompanying the group were Mrs. Thalia Burks, Mrs. Margaret Carter, Mr. Cecil Robinson and Mr. Robert Ryan.

Officials Visit Local Federal Land Bank

The following men visited with the Federal Land Bank Association of Tahoka on March 2, 1971: Mr. I. W. Harper, Chief Reviewing Appraiser of the Federal Land Bank of Houston; Mr. Dick Simmons, Chief Reviewing Appraiser of the Federal Land Bank of Wichita, Kan. Mr. John W. Reesing, Assistant Vice President of the Federal Land Bank of Houston; Mr. Jerry Kjerstad with the Farm Credit Administration of Washington, D. C.; Mr. Harold Stevens, Federal Land Bank District Manager of the Amarillo District and Mr. Allan H. White, Jr., District Manager of the Lubbock District. These men, along with

Mr. Ross Smith of the local Federal Land Bank office, made inspection of Lynn County farms where they are making a cotton study. Included in the study these men are making are production records and land values.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Is it true IRS will figure the tax and the retirement income credit for taxpayers this year?

A) Yes, as long as certain conditions are met. Briefly, these are that your income is $20,000 or less and consists entirely of wages, salaries, tips, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities. You must also take the standard deduction.

The IRS will compute your tax if you meet these conditions. Fill in the proper lines as indicated on page 2 of the instructions and mail your return to the IRS Service Center. Any retirement income credit you are entitled to will also be computed where the proper lines on Schedule R are filled in. Be sure to attach Schedule R and other necessary Schedules to your Form 1040.

After we compute your tax, you will either receive a refund or bill for additional tax due.

Q) Taxes were withheld from a part-time job I had last spring. I don't have to file a return so how do I get this money back?

A) A return must be filed to obtain a refund. Attach W-2 statement showing the wages paid and taxes withheld to the Form 1040 you complete and send it to the Internal Revenue Service center for your area.

Q) The address is wrong on my blue address label. What should I do?

A) Make the correction right on the label and place it on the front of the form you file.

Q) What's the change in the handling of crop insurance proceeds for farmers?

A) A cash basis farmer is usually required to report income the year it is received. Under the Tax Reform Act of 1969, however, a farmer receiving insurance compensation for damaged or destroyed crops may elect to defer reporting the proceeds until the year following the loss if the income would otherwise have been reported in any tax year following the year of destruction or damage.

Q) What's the maximum social security tax for 1970?

I had two jobs and I think I paid too much.

A) The maximum social security tax is $374.40 for 1970. If more than that was withheld from your wages because you had more than one employer last year, enter the excess on line 62 of your Form 1040. This is explained in the 1040 instructions.

Q) Can you include the cost of a house hunting trip with other moving expenses for income tax purposes?

A) Yes, under certain conditions. For details on moving expenses, send a post card to your IRS district office and ask for Publication 521 and a copy of Form 3903. This form must be completed and sent in with your return if you claim this deduction.

Q) I drive several hundred miles a week going back and forth from my home to work. Can I deduct anything?

A) Commuting costs are a personal expense and not deductible. However, you may deduct the state and local gasoline taxes you pay as a result of this and other personal driving.

A convenient table to help you determine the amount of your gas tax deduction may be found on Page 8 of the Form 1040 instructions. It is based on the tax rate in your state, number of miles driven and type of car.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Johnny:
Several times in the last couple of weeks I have thought about dropping you a note to express my appreciation to the Texas Highway Department employees in Lynn County. During the recent storm which left our highways hazardous, I was having to travel between Lamesa, Tahoka and Lubbock quite a bit. It was very gratifying to see the outstanding job which had been done on the roads in Lynn County. Please express my thanks to those responsible.
Yours very truly,
Bob Capps
P.S. I hope we have much more moisture for them to work with.

Now there's a new, small Pontiac with a small-car price for small-car lovers.

Wouldn't you know it would be fun to drive, stingy on gas, quick to service and built to last.

Of course you would. We wouldn't build a small car unless we figured it would give you more of what you want a small car for.

Take that low price. Ventura II is a small car, so it has a low, small-car price. But it's what you get for that small price that makes Ventura II worth a close look.

Ventura II is fun to drive. It should be, it's from the Wide-Track people. Which means you get a smooth, comfortable, Wide-Track ride.

The handling's quick. There's a nifty 111-inch wheelbase for easy parking. And both the 250-cu.-in. six and available 307-cu.-in. V-8 respond beautifully in city traffic or on the expressway.

Ventura II is stingy with your gas money. Both the standard six-cylinder engine and the V-8 you can order run beautifully on regular gas or the new low-lead and no-lead fuels. The carburetor on the six is an economical one-barrel and the transmission for both six and V-8 is a practical 3-speed manual.

Ventura II is quick to service. If you're a do-it-yourselfer, you'll like fiddling around with the new Ventura II.

New twist-lock lamp sockets let you make changes in seconds.

The engine is uncomplicated and there is plenty of engine-compartment space, especially with the six.

transmissions. The standard 3-speed manual and the available 2-speed automatic. Turbo Hydra-matic or floor-mounted 3-speed are all rugged, dependable units.

Ventura II is built to last. There's nothing lightweight about this car. It's welded-not bolted—at hundreds of strategic points to help keep it tight and quiet.

The body is heavy-gauge steel. And it has double paneling in the deck lid, hood and doors. You could probably sum it up best with three little words. Body by Fisher.

So, come on. If you're a small-car lover, stop by your Pontiac dealer's today. Tell him you want to see the new Ventura II. It's the small car that gives you more of what you want a small car for.

Don't forget to buckle up for safety.

Ventura II - It's Pure Pontiac!

Would you say we had a good sand storm or a bad one last Tuesday. Well anyway we stayed in and played games. Mrs. Webb and Gladys, from Wilson, came in and played and sang for us on Wednesday afternoon.
Thursday we entertained ourselves.
Friday Mrs. Nance played the piano and three high school girls Dabolia Gutierrez, Sally Marez and Elma D. Casleth sang for us. We want these and others to come again. We enjoy hearing them sing and appreciate them coming to see and entertain us.
Gee, its good to see Mrs. C. E. Short is home and in to see us every day or so. We hope that she does not go fishing again for a year. We agree with Mrs. McCord, "She don't need to go fishing".
Miss Carrie Dillard is happy to have her sister, Mrs. Carpenter home. She has spent some time in Washington and we missed her visits.
Mr. Hunt and we are looking for Lucille home. We think she has been gone long enough. We have received several pretty cards from her, would you believe she promised us some Florida oranges. Well we received a card with the picture of a truck load of oranges and written on the side was "The truck load of oranges I promised you." Wasn't that real juicy of her?
We welcome a new resident to our home, Bonnie Hale. We are happy to have her and hope she enjoys her new home. Come to see her.
Miss Virginia Dunn is in Saint Mary's Hospital. We wish her a speedy recovery. We miss her and hope she will be home soon.

Do you know if these statements about foods are true or false?
Older people need less protein than young adults.
Fried foods are difficult to digest.
Whole grain breads are more nutritious than enriched white breads.
Butter has more calories than margarine.
Toast has fewer calories than bread.
They are all false. And here are the reasons:
Our body's requirements for protein continue throughout life so an older person needs the same amount as a young adult of the same body size.
Digestion of fried foods is as complete as that of other foods, but fat takes longer to digest than carbohydrates or proteins. Because fat coats food when fried, it remains in the stomach for a longer period of time.
Enriched white breads are just as nutritious as whole grain breads. Be sure to watch labels for the word "enriched", as unenriched white breads have less vitamins B and iron.
One hundred calories--that's the amount both butter and margarine contain. The price is different, but the caloric content is the same.
A slice of bread loses moisture when toasted, making toast lighter in weight than bread. But the number of calories in a slice of bread does not change with toasting.
