11th Annual Rodeo Begins Today

"TWO BITS WORTH"
BY JOHNNY VALENTINE

The country Editor says that the average American spends half of his non-working time sleeping or watching television and one seems to be as educational as the other.

TBW
We would like to welcome all the Rodeo fans to Tahoka and urge everyone to attend the Big Little Town Parade Thursday at 5 p.m.

All citizens of Tahoka and businesses are asked to wear western clothes and help get rodeo atmosphere in Tahoka.

Letters to the editor are welcome—most of them, that is. The other day, however, an editor of a newspaper in St. Louis, Mo., received a letter which read as follows: "Please send me a free copy of your newspaper containing the obituary of my aunt. Also publish the enclosed clipping of the marriage of my niece. And I wish you would mention your columns, if it doesn't cost anything, that I have two calves for sale and our church is having a chili supper Friday night and the tickets are only 75 cents. As my subscription has expired, please stop the paper as I can't waste money on newspapers."

About the only comment that can be made here is that some days just start out bad, and once in a while they don't get any better.

TBW
News from Texas gets around! The other day the New York Times tells of an incident concerning a meat-packing plant in Texas which had planned to close its doors but was able to remain in business as a result of the willingness of employees to accept a 14 per cent pay cut in hourly wages as an alternative to the closing of the plant.

Those working for the packing plant are still protected by a union contract containing a cost-of-living clause, but they apparently realize that helping the plant to stay open would have the highest priority.

It means that jobs and payrolls in the community will be maintained, and an important enterprise of the region will continue to operate.

TBW
A NOTE ON WEIGHING IN: Every 8 1/2 seconds a new American is born and begins to scream loudly in a voice that can be heard for 70 years. He is screaming for 56 million gallons of water, 21,000 gallons of gasoline, 10,150 pounds of meat, 28,000 pounds of milk and cream, 9,000 pounds of wheat and great storehouses of all other foods.

These are his lifetime demands on his country and its economy.

TBW
Back in 1909, when horse-and-buggy travel reached an all-time peak, there were 30 fatalities for each 100 million horse-travel miles. Today, with more than 96 million motor vehicles driving 967 billion miles a year, the traffic toll is just a little over five fatalities for each 100 million vehicle miles.

24 Hour Tornado Watch By Local Officers

IN CASE OF TORNADO WARNING WILL BE SOUNDED

The News has been informed that the Tahoka fire department, police, sheriff's office, and DPS will be watching for tornado clouds, twenty-four hours a day. The warning signal will be 4 (four) or more whistles from the fire sirens, which means a tornado has been spotted.

To know what to do when a tornado is approaching, are as follows.

If you are near a tornado cellar: When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave or underground excavation which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept fit for use, free from water, gas or debris; and preferably equipped with pick and shovel. There is no universal protection against tornadoes except underground excavations.

If you are in open country: Move to right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.

If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

If in a city or town. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS in homes: The corner of the basement toward the tornado usually offers greatest safety, particularly in frame houses. People in houses without basements can sometimes be protected by taking cover under heavy furniture against inside walls. Doors and windows on the sides of the house away from the tornado may be opened to help reduce damage to the building. Standing against the inside wall on the lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

If in schools: In a city areas: If school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS with large, poorly-supported roofs!

In rural schools that do not have strongly reinforced construction, remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

In factories and industries, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS with large, poorly-supported roofs!

DROUTH BROKEN BY RAINS LAST WEEK

Rains late last week covered much of dry West Texas and gave farmers hopes more would come in time for planting crops.

Although not quite enough for planting in most places, the rains made a big dent in the long drouth that began last mid-October.

Most of Lynn county received from an inch to two or three inches. Tahoka officially recorded 1.17 inches, 44 Thursday night, .73 Friday and Saturday morning.

Up to two or three inches were reported over parts of the West Point, Petty, Lakeview, New Home, and Wilson areas, and also a strip east and southeast about two to four miles out of Tahoka.

Tahoka had recorded only .25 inch of moisture from showers and snow since October 16, 1970, six months to a day—the longest period that dry ever recorded by the local station of the National Weather Service.

The rains were followed, however, by high winds Sunday Monday and Tuesday and tornadoes and threats of tornadoes kept many people on edge.

A twister dipped down on Hereford and heavily damaged a ten-block area of the town. There were no deaths, but about fifty people received injuries and property damage was reported to be possibly $2 million or more.

Much of Garza county received little moisture, but on the other hand the bone-dry San Angelo and Edwards Plateau country, where towns were running out of drinking water received up to six inches in places.

Many farmers here have been enabled to re-list or list their land as a result of the rains. Most of the downfall came slow and easy, but fall was sufficient in some places, southeast of Tahoka and in the northwest section of the county, to put water in lakes.

For irrigation farmers, the rain proved a saving in pumping bills and helped saturate the soil.

Most farmers prefer to plant crops the latter part of April or early in May, but have a fair chance of success with even later planting, even late in June.

Farmers have reported there is a surprising amount of deep moisture, in spite of dry 1970 and the long drouth since October, but most will want another inch or two to begin planting both cotton and milo.

tial plants: On receiving a tornado warning, a lookout should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for moving workers to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

Keep calm. It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornadoes though, "just in case."

Mr. Woods graduated from Austin High School, El Paso, in 1962 as Salutatorian of his class of over 400. He was elected All-Austin High School Boy his senior year. Mr. Woods graduated from Howard Payne College in Brownwood in 1966 "magna cum laude" with degree in music (Voice and Organ). He was just as active in college as high school and was in all music productions and activities at HPC. He was the recipient of several scholarships while in college.

He received a Master for Music degree from the University of Texas in 1968 (Voice). While at Texas he was a member of all productions of the UT Opera, of the Madrigal Singers, and was employed as a coach accompanist. He has performed roles in the following operas and oratorios: The Messiah, The Creation, The Elijah, The Seven Last Words of Christ, Laud to the Nativity, The Childhood of Christ, The Crucifixion, Amahl and the Night Visitors, Così Fan Tutte, Don Giovanni, Falstaff, Madame Butterfly, The Beggar's Opera, Le Rossignol, Mignon, Le Jongleur de Notre Dame, The Gondoliers. In addition to these, he has memorized other roles which he has not yet performed.

Mr. Woods will present a sacred concert Thursday evening.

He has worked as music director in Brownwood, Kerrville and Austin. He is presently teaching voice at the Criswell Bible Institute at the First Baptist Church in Dallas.

"Dr. Fowler can preach. Mr. Woods can sing. YOU can come to the services. The Risen Lord can make your life happier. It is up to you." Jimmy A. Turner, Pastor of the church invites you to visit the services at friendly First Baptist Church.

The Lion's Line

The Tahoka Lions received the following letter in regards to their recent donation. The donation was proceeds from the Bake Sale held Feb. 27 1971.

Dear Lions:
Your recent donation made possible the distribution of student supply kits to primary school children in several recently constructed CARE schools. The materials received by the children included composition paper, writing pads, pencil sharpener, note books, water color paints, crayons, paste, scissors, and ruler. The kits were greeted by enthusiastic and appreciative smiles, not only by the students themselves, but also by the teachers.

These supplies you contributed represent far more than a surprise gift for the children; these materials actually provide a visible lift to the process of education in schools that need every bit of available help.

It is widely understood that education is one of the vital keys to progress in a developing country such as Guatemala. As in many other such countries, however, Guatemala's own resources are not sufficient to meet the ever-increasing demand for investment in this most important area. After expenditures for building new schools, training teachers and normal operating costs are taken out of the budget, there is just not enough left to provide the necessary, paper, pencils and other learning materials to each individual school.

Similarly, the vast majority of the children's parents -- earning approximately $300. per year -- cannot afford to buy the needed items. This leaves the teacher in the difficult position of trying to stimulate interest among children who do not have the basic learning tools available to them. Your thoughtful donation has bridged this gap. You may be certain that your gift is deeply appreciated by children, teachers and parents alike. Your generosity plays a vital role in the successful implementation of

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By RICHARD L. CHRISTIE

Now is a real good time to take an inventory of your Water Conservation Program on your farm. If there is any sign of water having left your field or even your farm you need to do something. This long dry spell that was broken by recent rains, Thank the Lord, should have all gone into the ground. There are several areas and places in the county where water did get away.

Some sign that would indicate to you that previous water got away are washes or eroded areas at the end of the row, all the loose dirt gone, sanded or silted areas in turn-rows and roads. These indications are easily seen by simple observation. Upon examination in the field the signs will be deep steep furrow side show that water has run, bed filled full of soil wash in, and rows that have broken from one furrow to another. People should observe in general all of the obvious signs on all land. They should examine their land closely for these signs and any of the many other signs of water lose.

Several things can cause or contribute to this costly loss of productive water. Row direction and slope is the main cause but not the only cause. Many times is the factor effecting infiltration rate is the cause. For example the soil may be to close together to allow water to soak in. The location and direction of turn rows many times is the cause. Structures that cause water to constrate and travel a determined course can cause this loss. All, one, or combinations of these can be your problem. The thing that bothers me so about this is all of these problems have solutions and can be remedied.

Each problem is different and needs evaluation, this is our job. But in general these things help terrace, management of crop residues, contour farming, conservation cropping systems and some-time minimum tillage.

Ask us, we will be glad to talk with you and assist you in any way possible. It is my job to help you in our evaluation and if you desire to make plans, contact me.

Scout Leaders Give Program

Local Boy Scout leaders gave the program at the Rotary Club last Thursday and presented the 1971 charter to club president V. F. Jones. Rotary sponsors the local troop.

L. A. Forsythe told of the importance of the Boy Scout organization in developing citizens for the future, and told of the local program. He said the local troop is fortunate in having an interested scoutmaster and four assistants.

Rudy Johnston, scoutmaster, and three of his four assistants were present and made brief talks. These were Rush Dudgeon, Jackie Henry, and Jack Jaquess. Bill Stewart, a new assistant, was not present.

Dudgeon, former scoutmaster, became an Eagle Scout back in 1927 at Sweetwater. Jack Jaquess, Jr., also an Eagle, has been in Boy Scouts here ever since he became old enough to join.

Out of 65 men in the U. S. space program, 62 have been Boy Scouts, was one of the interesting facts brought out. Jesse Dorman was in charge of the program.

The use of additives in swine rations has enabled producers to increase feed utilization and the growth rate of pigs in addition to making today's production system possible by controlling disease.

The use of additives is under real pressure and the final outcome rests largely with swine producers. All feed containing antibiotics or additives must be labeled, showing the number of days the materials must be withdrawn before the hogs are sold for slaughter.

Producers should carefully read the warnings on the tag attached to each bag of feed or on the invoices that accompany each load of bulk. Then, make sure all feeding recommendations are closely followed.

The withdrawal is made necessary since some antibiotics and growth stimulants are deposited in the animal's body tissue. The withdrawal periods allow ample time for the excretion of these materials to the point that body tissue or meat will not contain levels above those accepted by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration.

The FDA has increased its surveillance of drug residue in meat and that producers should make doubly sure that pork they produce has been fed in accordance with tagged recommendations.

Past Days In Lynn County

From April 24, 1936 the garage of Mrs. L. L. Esterfield was completely destroyed by fire early Monday morning. The origin of the fire is unknown. Members of the family had not gotten when the fire was discovered but they succeeded in getting the automobile out of the building before any serious damage was done to it. The building was of stucco finish. Only a small amount of insurance was carried on it.

Tahoka was well represented at the meeting of the South Plains Bankers Association in Plainview on Tuesday, San Jacinto day. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hegi, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Weathers, and Miss Mary Jane Weathers and Bill Sewell were present from Tahoka. They report an excellent meeting, with more than a hundred members of the association present.

E. T. Garnett of Draw is a believer in News classified advertising. Two weeks ago he placed a little ad in the paper making known the fact that he had a cream separator to sell. The paper was put in the mails early Friday morning, and that very morning, before the paper had been circulated on his route, a man living in town read the ad., drove out and bought the separator. For quick results, use News' classified ads.

A large portion of Lynn county was visited by good rains last Sunday. Over a considerable area the rain was heavy. More than half of the county, however, received an in sufficient amount to enable the farmers to begin planting, and in some localities the showers were very light.

The precipitation in Tahoka amounted to .41 of an inch. On Saturday afternoon there had been a shower yielding .08 of an inch and on Monday afternoon another .05 fell making a total of .54.

At O'Donnell and much of the surrounding territory the rain was heavy. Much of the Joe Bailey, Midway, South Ward, Edith and New Lynn communities received from a half inch to 1 1/2 inches or more. Wilson and vicinity received a heavy rain, and we understand that most of the territory lying between Wilson and Southland was favored with a heavy downfall. Just east of Tahoka also the rain was heavy. Many farmers in the favored territory are making preparations to begin planting, though most people regard it as a little early yet to plant.

The rains were not only helpful to the cultivated lands but were also beneficial to the pasture lands. Good general rains, however, are needed.

While these rains were falling in Lynn county and over the South Plains, most of Texas was likewise being visited by heavy precipitation. Even a large portion of the Panhandle received heavy down-pours. Wheat in that section of the state was helped but the crop will be exceedingly light at the best.

B. M. James, who resides about eight miles north of Tahoka lost a purse on the sidewalk near Boulfou's store Saturday afternoon, containing $25.00 in currency. He came to the News office in somewhat agitated state of mind and left a want ad, for the purse, offering a reward.

Early Monday morning, however Linnie Williams of the Draw community came to the News office making enquiry as to where the owner of the purse might be found, stating that he had found a purse containing $25.00 in money and a driver's license bearing the name of B. M. James. He left the purse at the News office, refusing to accept a reward, and the purse was delivered to Mr. James the same morning, Gilmer Aycock volunteering to take it to him. Probably most men would have done just as Mr. Williams did, but we fear that there are far too many who would not have done so. At any rate, if Diogenes were here with his lantern seeking for an honest man, he would know exactly where to go to find one.

A delegate will be selected from the Lynn county home demonstration club women Saturday afternoon to the meeting of Associated Women of the World in Washington, D. C., the first week in June. The delegate will be selected at the county council meeting to be held in the county court room at 2:30 o'clock.

Club women are raising funds to send the delegate.

Among the Tahoka people attending the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Amarillo James Minor, Mrs. L. E. Turrentine, Miss Dottie Turrentine, and this week were J. K. Applewhite, Russell Keltner.

J. K. Applewhite, director from Tahoka, reports that it was one of the best conventions of this organization he has ever attended.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Plan on Dying

Some years ago a clerk in a bookstore, unpacking a shipment of new books, found one on the subject of "estate planning." Thinking it must be about the landscaping of large homes, he placed it in the gardening section.

He would hardly make that mistake today. Estate planning has come into its own, used by thoughtful people everywhere to preserve assets during their lifetime and to pass them on wisely—and economically—at death.

One reason for the growth of estate planning is the growth of estates. Nowadays even the ordinary citizen is likely to have an estate of substance. It may well include not only a home and a savings account but also personal life insurance, group insurance, stocks, pension plan benefits, profit-sharing options, and social security rights.

Another reason is that estate planning has become far more sophisticated. Its techniques have gone well beyond the traditional "testamentary trust" for a rich old lady and "spendthrift trust" for a rich young man.

Unfortunately, there are pitfalls aplenty for the amateur planner. For example: many people think avoiding probate is the same as avoiding taxes. But the federal estate tax is based on the entire estate, whether it passes through probate or not.

Likewise, many people think life insurance is not taxable. But life insurance proceeds are included in determining a person's gross estate for federal estate tax purposes unless he has retained none of the incidents of ownership of that policy.

True, it may be sensible in certain circumstances to avoid probate. And it may be possible in certain circumstances to avoid taxes on life insurance. But clearly this is a field in which the layman needs expert help.

Much information is available from trust departments, accountants, insurance men, and investment counselors. The ultimate adviser, however, should usually be an attorney, since he alone is fully qualified to give the personal legal guidance a program should have.

Some people shrink from the thought of estate planning. But, like it or not, some plan is going to govern the care and distribution of your possessions. The plan could be yours, if you make one. If you don't, state and federal laws—oblivious of your wishes—will do it for you.

YOUNG DISCIPLES

Young Disciples Choir To Sing At Plainview

The Young Disciples, a choral organization for 4th, 5th, and 6th graders at the First Baptist Church, will travel to the First Baptist Church in Plainview, this Saturday to participate in a State Children's Choir Festival. The group is directed by Bob Strait, Minister of Music, Youth and Education at the church.

The choir will sing "Teach Us O Lord" for adjudication by three choral judges. Then will be informed of a selection of four possible songs and anthems that they must sing from memory. The anthems are "I Love Thee", "Sing With Joy", "O Daniel", and "Easter Carol".

"The choir received a grade of 97 and a third at Lubbock in March at the preliminary festival. They will be trying to receive as high a grade this Saturday. A more important thing they are trying to do, however, is to learn to praise God in the very best manner possible. This is the purpose: to do the things that we do for the glory of God", Strait explained.

Mrs. Clay Bennett will accompany the choir. Jimmy A. Turner is Pastor of the church.

Water, Inc., Favors Amendment Four

Water, Inc., has gone on record as officially favoring Constitutional Amendment No. Four on the May 18 ballot which will be presented to Texas voters.

"Our future water quality and quantity, 'water importation,' lies in the support that the people in West Texas are willing to give in voting 'Yes' for Amendment 4. No stone should be left unturned to make certain this amendment carries by a large majority," officials emphasize.

Gene Collins Jr., president of First National Bank in Lockney and Floyd County director on the Water, Inc., board says that leaders are pushing hard for passage.

Amendment Four would provide for $100,000 in Texas Water Development bonds earmarked for state assistance to local governments in construction of waste water treatment facilities, thereby clearing the way for increased federal matching funds.

Three major advantages to the proposal are outlined by the water organization:

1. Disposal of improperly treated wastes is causing a serious threat to the quality of the water supply in all parts of the state.

2. Approval of bonds could reduce local moneys needed to provide new and improved waste water treatment facilities from 70 to 20 per cent. (Under the present local-federal matching program for construction of waste water treatment facilities, the federal government supplies up to 30 per cent of the cost of the facilities with local governments financing 70 per cent of the project financing. By bringing the state government into the financing program, and with the proposed facilities complying with both federal and state standards, the local share would drop to 20 per cent of construction costs; the federal share rises to 55 per cent, with the state bonds providing 25 per cent.)

3. Assuming all Water Development Board bonds are sold and federal construction money is available at the present formula rate, the state would be eligible for more than $180 million in federal funds.

Constitutional Amendment Four raises the maximum interest that can be paid on all Texas Water Development Bonds from the present four per cent to six per cent.

This provision applies to the $100,000,000 included in this amendment and earmarked for waste water treatment facility assistance as well as to about $300,000,000 previously approved and unsold bonds which are to be principally used for assistance in the form of loans for development of water supplies for cities and towns.

Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority was "bottlenecked" for over two years because state law prohibits sale of bonds above the four per cent level, and existing state funds have been spent. Naturally, there were no "takers" for state water bonds at four per cent when the higher interest was available.

Since most of the previously approved bonds - for projects such as Mackenzie - would go into construction of reservoirs the state would be obtaining reserve storage space, thus providing a concrete beginning of implementation of the Texas Water Plan.

Another important feature of Amendment Four is that it would remove the 1982 cutoff date for assistance through the Texas Water Development Fund.

The proposal "effectively binds water quality and water quantity together, paving the way for future cooperation between ecologists and the environmentalists on the one hand, and those who realistically support the full development of our water resources on the other," Water, Inc., adds.

A large turnout of eligible voters at the May 18 election is considered of paramount importance to passage of Constitutional Amendment No. 4. Because of other issues appearing on the ballot, it is presumed that many voters may go to the polls to register a negative vote against all amendment.

Individuals favoring the water plan must ballot enmasse to offset this deficit.

Due to complacency on the part of some, an amendment in August of '69 that would have provided financing for implementation of the Texas Water Plan narrowly went down to defeat.

Will this happen again?

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Steadily-rising welfare costs will "bankrupt" state government unless prompt braking is applied, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes has warned.

Barnes -- acknowledging that a tax bill which may climb to nearly a billion dollars is necessary to balance the Senate's $6.99 billion version of the biennial state budget -- named a special committee to recommend how to effect welfare economies.

Senate, meanwhile, approved the record budget while a subcommittee drafted a tax bill. The house is expected to move out this week with its appropriations bill.

Only one year of welfare financing is included in the Senate bill. With a half-year welfare budget, about $688 million in new taxes will be needed this year. Appropriating for welfare in a later special session will require nearly $300 million more, unless the federal government steps in with additional aid.

Barnes' staff calculates Aid to Families with Dependent Children rolls are increasing by 3.10 per cent per month. Where 288,826 AFDC beneficiaries are anticipated by September 1 this year, 906,236 are seen by August 31, 1973. The latter figure would bring the AFDC cost to $76 million a year -- $16 million above the proposed new $55 million annual ceiling to be voted on May 18.

The Lieutenant Governor also noted that Medicaid costs have increased from $22 million in 1968 to an estimated $144 million for next year. He said state medical services to the needy -- financed through Blue Cross family insurance policies which will cost nearly $72 per family next year -- are better than those received by all but the very wealthy.

"I am convinced we are going to have to reduce the cost, or the state is going bankrupt," said Barnes.

OIL ALLOWABLE CUT-- May oil production allowable will be cut to a maximum daily flow of 184,076 barrels.

Railroad Commission cited reasons for the cut as substantial stocks of crude oil on hand, overall reduction in demand, and rising imports.

Commission's decision trimmed the allowable from 82.1 per cent in April to 77.2 per cent for next month.

May allowable, lowest in eight months, permits a maximum daily production of 3,637,654 barrels. Actual production is expected to be about 3,362,000 barrels daily, approximately what major buyers asked for.

Crude oil stocks on April 9 came to 108.3 million barrels, a million more than the week before and 2.4 million more than the year before. Ten of 14 big crude oil purchasers asked for the same allowable next month as in April. Three asked less, and one requested more.

INSURANCE CHANGES VOTED-- The Legislature had some good news for insurance purchasers last week.

A bill to create a special pool to guarantee coverage to property owners in "catastrophe areas" (subject to hurricanes, tornadoes and other disasters) won final passage. The pool will be effective May 14. A pool arrangement may be ordered later for fire and explosion insurance if that is found difficult to obtain in some areas.

Another major bill passed by the Senate would create a statewide guaranty fund to assure payment of claims against insurance companies which go broke.

Hospital-medical insurance policyholders, under a House-passed bill, could be reimbursed for treatment by any licensed, qualified practitioner of the healing arts -- physicians, osteopaths, dentists, chiropractors, optometrists and doctors of podiatry.

COURTS SPEAK -- State Supreme Court on May 12 will review the case in which an oilman sued the petroleum corporation which fired him after 13 months on the job because he did not find new supplies of oil to buy.

High Court also will hear on May 12 Abilene's appeal from a lower court decision that it must pay $885,000 to an oil producer who claimed his oil recovery operations were interrupted by its airport extension.

Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the stiff prison sentences given two black militants for destroying merchandise in a Dallas supermarket.

Court of Criminal Appeals also upheld the life sentence conviction of a man charged with leaving another to die in a North Dallas field after stripping and tying him.

AG OPINIONS -- Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, has held that former Gov. Allan Shivers' commutation in 1953 of the death sentence of a San Antonio man to life imprisonment with the provision that he never be eligible for further clemency is not binding on future governors.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

- + Sabine River Authority can enter a deferred compensation and pension plan with its executive employees.
- + Texas Water Rights Commission should reject all claims from parties asserting right to use water from the Rio Grande in Starr, Hidalgo, Cameron and Willacy counties where claims have been adjudicated in courts.
- + Stephen F. Austin State University, Nacagdoches, may acquire joint ownership interest in or long-term lease of a football stadium owned by an independent school district.
- + A $10 a month supervisory fee may be assessed a person granted probation after trial.

HOSPITAL CONSTRUCTION RUSHED-- A multi-million dollar construction program due for completion this spring will provide more and better facilities for Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Other building by MH-MR will get under way in the next few weeks.

When completed, the current program will provide added bed space at four state schools to accommodate 660 new students. Three state hospitals will have modern quarters for 600 mentally ill patients, and centers for specialized treatment of adolescents are contemplated. San Antonio, Austin, Terrell, Lubbock, Richmond and Corpus Christi institutions will get the new facilities.

APPOINTMENTS -- Former Stephenville Mayor Jack Arthur was named by Gov. Preston Smith to Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Smith designated W. E. Tinsley of Austin chairman of Texas Water Development Board.

DROUGHT AID SOUGHT-- As drought-stricken areas awaited major federal assistance, the Legislature called on Governor Smith to declare "calamity" and to set up a joint committee on a relief plan.

Lieutenant Governor Barnes and House Speaker Gus Mutscher named seven senators and seven representatives to a panel to work on the state program for purchasing and distributing hay and to serve as liaison with state and federal agencies.

Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville and Rep. Oscar Carrillo Sr. of Benavides head the Senate and House committee members. Governor, said the legislative resolution, can order a relief program administered by the Agriculture Commission.

Smith, meanwhile, said he expects to request emergency federal disaster relief benefits for 87 additional drought-hit counties, bringing the total number to 147.

SHORT SNORTS

All Texas school children (with religious and health exceptions) will have to have shots for six diseases under a new law.

Legislators are aiming for local option liquor-by-the-drink votes in all wet areas on May 18, date of the constitutional amendments election.

Senate approved the four-year terms amendment for all statewide elective officials.

Fraud is no widespread problem in the Texas welfare program, according to Welfare Commissioner Burton G. Hackney.

Cigarette taxes increased from $13.2 million in February to $15.6 million in March.

Selecting Sorghum Hybrids

What grain sorghum hybrid will yield the best or be the most profitable on my farm?

That's a question many producers ask each year as they prepare for the coming crop season. And they are fortunate to have a large selection of superior hybrids from which to choose.

"In selecting a hybrid, the key item to consider is the yield potential of the particular farm," points out Dr. Bob Metzger of Lubbock, area agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "By yield potential we mean all the available resources - irrigation water, soil fertility, soil type and depth."

Where adequate water and fertility are available, Metzger recommends that the producer select a late-maturing or full-season hybrid. In turn, under limited irrigation or dryland production, a medium or medium-late maturing hybrid probably is the best choice since it requires less water.

If circumstances necessitate late planting, then an early maturing hybrid should be selected, especially in areas where the sorghum midge is a problem.

In addition to selecting a hybrid on its maturity characteristic, other traits need to be considered. Such factors as standability, head exertion, and disease tolerance are highly important in profitable grain sorghum production.

"On farms where producers grow cotton and grain sorghum, the competition for irrigation water becomes keen as the crops develop," explains the agronomist. "Many producers reduce this competition for water by planting a medium or medium-late maturing hybrid early in the season (late April). They then apply one or two summer irrigations to the grain before the cotton enters its high water use period."

"Of course, the competition for irrigation water varies from year to year depending on available soil moisture and planting dates of the two crops. Quite often lower grain yields must be accepted since producers are unable to water the crop adequately once irrigation has started on cotton."

Bloom date of a sorghum hybrid, or the number of days from planting to bloom, is influenced by the planting date, maturity of the hybrid and temperature, adds the agronomist. Generally, yields increase as the time interval from planting to bloom is increased, provided adequate water and fertility are available. The bloom date is delayed by early planting of full-season hybrids. On the other hand, late planting of early maturing hybrids will result in the least number of days from planting to bloom.

"In addition to adequate water and fertility, other production practices must be properly managed for adapted hybrids to attain their inherent yield potentials," emphasizes Metzger. "Of special importance are proper seedbed preparation and weed control."

"Seed companies on the Texas High Plains are blessed with good climatic conditions so that they can produce exceptionally high quality seed," he adds. "Seed companies have high yielding, adapted hybrids available within each maturity group. Producers need to select the one that will perform best with the resources available on their farms."

Tillage Studies

HALFWAY - Research studies on minimum tillage practices are being expanded for 1971 at the High Plains Research Foundation.

Since the foundation began studies two years ago, several problems have been noticed and several questions have been raised, researchers said.

Minimum tillage can be a solution to reducing production costs as demonstrated in some cases, but research scientists said there are still many questions about methods to handle minimum tillage.

At the foundation, scientists Jim Schrib and Dennis Mooney will conduct a minimum tillage study in water penetration, using three methods of minimum tillage plowing.

BUICK BARGAIN DAYS ARE HERE

Buick Bargain Days are saving days.

A bargain price on a stripped-down car is no bargain. But a Buick or Opel at a bargain is something else again. Because we're not selling some special stripped-down model. We're selling Buicks and Opels, the same great cars we've sold all year.

With one difference. The deals have never been better. Which means that you can move out in a new Buick or Opel at a price that's hard to believe. When Buick talks about a bargain, we give you something to believe in.

Opel 1900 Sport Coupe. With a 1.9 liter engine that operates efficiently on low-lead or no-lead gasolines, hydraulic valve lifters for quiet engine operation, power front disc brakes and more.

Skylark Custom. With Buick's exclusive nickel-plated engine exhaust valves for smoother operation on today's cleaner fuels, Comfort-Flo ventilation system and more.

Your Buick-Opel dealer will give you better reasons to buy a new car now than anybody else.

The business of auto safety.

Auto safety is everyone's concern. But it's our business.

And we think the attention that's being paid to auto safety now is a good thing. Because it will result in better driving for everyone.

And, frankly, better driving for everyone means better business for us.

We say Buick is something to believe in. That's why we're trying to make it easy to be safe by putting in safety features that work by themselves. You don't have to do anything to make them work.

Like side guard beams. And the energy absorbing steering column. And the cargo guard between the trunk and back seat. They start "working" even before you get in the car.

But two safety features, two of the most vital, are worthless unless you do something first. Seat and shoulder belts.

Unfastened they do nothing. And you've seen enough statistics to know what a difference they can make. So use them.

But that's not all you can do. Because the most effective safety feature of all can't be added to our cars or anybody else's.

That feature is you. And the way you drive. Which should be defensively. And rested. And sober. We're all in this together. And together we can solve the auto safety problem once and for all.

And the time is now.

Linda Huffaker, CHD Agent, Says.....

What's one of the quickest ways for a woman to change her looks to suit her mood? Try switching to a wig or hairpiece.

Many women have a wardrobe of wigs, and men, too, are beginning to be less shy about buying and wearing hairpieces. In fact, the Federal Trade Commission estimated that the approximately $700 million was spent on wigs and hairpieces in 1970, and that three-fourths of all women own one.

Because of this sizeable sum, the FTC has proposed guides and regulations to help the consumer get his money's worth.

The FTC guides require that hairpieces should not be labeled, advertised or represented in any way which might mislead consumers. The labels must spell out exactly what the hairpiece is made of. If the hair used comes from a foreign country, the country of origin must be listed. Also, only a wig containing unbleached, undyed hair may be labeled as containing virgin hair.

Other regulations by the FTC deal with quality, durability, construction, weight, length, size, color, fit, style, required care, service guarantee, original price and special features of the wig or hairpiece.

Wigs and hairpieces may be made of human hair, animal hair or synthetic hair. Human hair for wigs comes from European countries or the Orient. European hair is usually softer and more natural looking; it can be styled more easily than Oriental hair.

Synthetic wigs and hairpieces are made from Dynel, Kanekalon or Elura. Wigs of synthetic fibers are less expensive than wigs of real hair, plus the curl in the fibers is permanently baked in. But the curl can usually be modified and the style lines changed somewhat with minimal brushing and combing. A synthetic wig is ready to wear as soon as it is taken from the box.

Synthetic wigs can stretch or non-stretch. Stretch wigs conform to all head shapes and sizes, requiring no alteration. Non-stretch wigs, on the other hand, come in standard sizes, and should be fitted by a professional.

Whether a wig is made of human hair or synthetic fibers, its construction is very important. A well-constructed wig will be light weight and comfortable, yet durable enough to last through countless washings without losing its elasticity, shape and strength.

One of the major problems of owning a human hairpiece is that it requires regular maintenance. Such wigs should be cleaned and styled by professionals. Synthetic wigs, however, can be washed in a special wig shampoo or in a mild cold water wool cleaner. Simply wash the synthetic wigs in cold or tepid water, then rinse thoroughly. Apply a conditioner to keep them soft and pliable. After the wig has dried, comb and brush in the style you prefer. Use a special wig spray to help hold the set.

To give your hair goods the best of care, follow the recommendations of the manufacturer and dealer.

List during the fall semester. To qualify for the Dean's List a student must have a grade point average of 3.0 or more and must be taking as many as 12 hours of work.

Announcement of honor students was made this week by Arts and Sciences Dean Lawrence L. Graves.

The College of Arts and Sciences is one of eight colleges and schools at Texas Tech University. The others are the colleges of Agricultural Sciences, Home Economics, Engineering, Education and Business Administration and the Graduate School and the School of Law.

Enrollment during the fall semester passed the 20,000 mark for the first time since Texas Tech was founded in the mid-twenties.

Farm Bureau News

Bills of interest that were brought before legislation last week are as follows:
AGRICULTURAL CHEMICALS: H.B. 1333 by Nabers, and S.B. 602 by Watson, companion bills amending present insecticide laws to provide for closer regulation of the sale and use of economic pesticides, were heard before the House Agriculture Committee on Thursday, April 15, and were referred to a very favorable Subcommittee. In Subcommittee these bills will be combined and either the House or Senate version will be reported out favorably for debate in the House of Representatives. An early favorable report is expected from the Subcommittee.
TRESPASS: S.B. 111 by Schwartz, a bill providing a misdemeanor penalty of up to $200 for persons who trespass on private property, was heard before the Senate Committee on Jurisprudence, was reported out favorably for Senate debate, and was finally passed by the Senate and sent to the House of Representatives.
LIVESTOCK: S.B. 249 by Hightower, a bill to require all livestock owners to register their marks and brands with the county clerk, was heard before the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Livestock, was reported out favorably by the Committee, was brought to the Senate floor and was finally passed by the Senate and sent to the House of Representatives.
REVISED PENAL CODE: S.B. 250 by Herring and H.B. 419 by Nugent, companion bills providing for a revised Penal Code for Texas, have been heard at length before the respective House and Senate Jurisprudence Committees and been referred to Subcommittee for final compilation. Both Subcommittees have agreed on provisions in the firearms section which would knock out the proposed "retreat" clause and all references to new restrictions on the ownership and use of firearms. The Subcommittees even went so far as to specify that rifles and shotguns may be carried in racks in pickup trucks. This action by the Subcommittees practically assures that firearms provisions of the revised penal code will be no more stringent than those in the present code and may even be more lenient for farmers, ranchers and sportsman.
SEED LAW: S.B. 457 by Watson, a bill requiring labeling of treated seed in accordance with rules and regula-
