County School Superintendent Office Abolished

The office of the Lynn County School Superintendent has been abolished by State Lawmakers in Austin in a resolution introduced by State Representative E. L. Short.

The move came after recommendations by County School Superintendent Hewlett and the county school board along with the County Judge and Commissioners Court.

The present duties of the office, after the office is abolished, will be absorbed by the four county school systems. The office will run until the existing term ends.

The money now appropriated for the office of Lynn County School Superintendent will be funneled into the county school systems which will save the taxpayers money in the future. This will also give more room in the courthouse.

Ricky Gurley To Attend Symposium

RICKY GURLEY

Ricky Lee Gurley, Tahoka High School junior, and science instructor John E. Heath are among 550 of the state's top science students and teachers selected to attend the 11th annual Texas Nuclear Science Symposium. The symposium runs from June 7th through June 10th and will be held on the campus of the University of Texas at Austin.

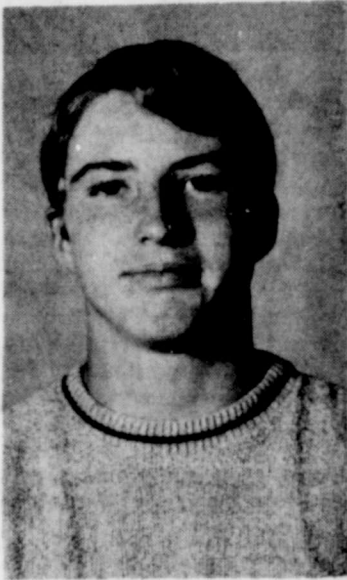

The symposium is presented by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, of which Southwestern Public Service Company is a member, and the University of Texas at Austin. 42 High Plains students and teachers, including the Tahoka pair, will be sponsored at the symposium by Southwestern Public Service Company.

Ricky, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gurley, 1805 N. 7th St., is a member of the National Honor Society. He has been athletic manager and teachers' aide for 2 years and entered competition in U.I.L. Number Sense (winning district as a sophomore), and earning the Algebra I Award for highest scholastic average. He's won several awards in FFA and stock shows.

Heath, of 2012 N. 4th St., received his bachelor's degree in chemical education from Southwestern State College and was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity.

The featured speaker for the opening session of the symposium will be Dr. Edward Teller from the University of California, one of the nation's foremost authorities on atomic energy. In addition to hearing lectures by leading authorities in thermonuclear fusion and nuclear physics, the symposium participants will have an opportunity to tour the fusion research laboratories at the University, where much of our nation's search for knowledge in this vital field is taking place.

A. M. Cade's Services Held

Aubra M. Cade, 75, a longtime resident and former county official in Tahoka, died at 5:15 p.m. Friday in Brownwood. He had been ill about five days.

Services were held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, May 30, in the First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Aubrey White of Sudan, the Rev. Hugh Daniel, pastor, and the Rev. Jim Turner, pastor of the First Baptist Church officiating.

Masonic graveside services followed in Tahoka Cemetery with White Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Cade, a native of Eastland, came to Lynn County in 1914. He was married to Pherne Taylor Dec. 26, 1917.

A graduate of Tyler Commercial College, Cade was a Lynn County tax assessor-collector before going into real estate and oil properties in Tahoka.

A veteran of World War I, Cade was a 50-year old member of Masonic Lodge Khiva Temple.

Survivors include his wife; three daughters, Mrs. John Thomas Tippitt of Tahoka, Mrs. Doris Rutherford of Gold Beach Ore., and Mrs. Iris Turner of Marion, Ohio; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Lou Davidson of Lubbock, Mrs. Amie Russell of Midland and Mrs. Corinne Haynes of Roswell, N.M.; two brothers, H. M. Cade of Slaton and V. L. Cade of Lubbock; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Nephews serving as pallbearers were Gene Cade, Charles Cade, Dick Cade, Jack Cade, Cade Davidson, James Russell, Tom Leay, and Ray Ford.

As Much As 3.75 Inches In Some Places

Drenching rains finally came last week end to cover Lynn county, giving most farmers sufficient moisture for planting dryland crops, and breaking an unprecedented 7-month dry spell.

Rainfall ranged from about 1.5 inches up to as much as seven inches or more.

Tahoka recorded a total of 3.75 inches, most of which fell Friday afternoon and night. The local official Weather Service gage recorded .37 inches Thursday afternoon, 3.08 Friday afternoon and night, and .30 early Sunday morning.

Parts of the Grassland community reported to have received up to seven inches of rain, and other spots as much or more as Tahoka.

Almost missed in the spotted first rains, New Home area received a drenching early Sunday.

However, because of the hard downpour and hail in some areas where only an inch or two of rain fell, a few farmers report moisture penetration of planting beds may not be sufficient to bring up crops.

Most farmers, however, will get busy immediately planting dryland crops, and some irrigated crops will have to be replanted. In areas of heavy downpours, lakes were filled and some crop land inundated.

Winds accompanying the rains, blew down some electric light poles, disrupted rural telephone service temporarily in some sections, and even uprooted a few trees and blew down some outbuildings.

Although the rains covered much of the South Plains, there are many dry areas, and a good, general rain is still needed over this drought-stricken area. Much of Terry, Yoakum and Gaines counties are still without sufficient moisture for planting.

The rains ended the longest dry spell on record in Tahoka. Although a good crop was made last year, only 14.21 inches of rain was recorded in Tahoka during the 12 months of 1970.

Since rains totaling 1.20 on October 14, 15, and 16, 1970, up until May 8, when Tahoka recorded .93 inch, only 1.42 inches of moisture was recorded in 203 days. Until the rains came last week end, only 2.35 inches of rain had been recorded in 222 days. Even now, total rainfall for seven and a half months is only 6.10, of which 6.03 has come since January 1.

Even during the unprecedented 1917-'18 drought, more rain than this was recorded.

However, although a bit late for planting, the old Plains can recover in a hurry, and this yet could be a good crop year. Modern machinery and improved farming methods, 70,000 to 90,000 acres of irrigated land, and prospects of fair prices give promise of a successful crop year to keep Lynn County's economy on an even keel.

Highlights AND Sidelights

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Gov. Preston Smith surprised Texas lawmakers by announcing he would veto the $900 million tax bill passed by the House and Senate unless they "cut out the fat."

He contended that this measure provided $300 million more than was needed. After an anxious 24 hours, a compromise began to emerge, and the House and Senate satisfied the Governor by knocking out a $287 million gasoline tax raise (two cents on the gallon). Smith found that feature the "most repulsive" in the giant revenue-raising measure.

Governor said he would sign the bill without the gasoline tax increase. With this problem more hopefully resolved lawmakers turned to a hurry-up job of completing major mandatory duties and hundreds of minor ones before the May 31 adjournment date.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes expressed confidence that the tough congressional and legislative redistricting job can be accomplished in two weeks.

Other pending business, given high priority by federal court action invalidating state laws, includes passage of a new voter registration act and lowering political filing fees.

Legislators plan to add other revenue with a $40 million mixed drink tax $22 million additional gallonage levy on liquor and wine and a $3 million increase in out-of-state college tuition.

Lawmakers, already have started a quick-time march to meet the adjournment deadline. Most of the bills introduced since the opening-day last January will clear during the next 10 days.

U.S. TO HELP MAKE RAIN-Federal aid through weather modification experiments aimed at bringing rain for some dry areas of Texas has been promised, Governor Smith announced.

Operational details of a cloud-seeding project will be coordinated with the U. S. Department of Defense, the Bureau of Reclamation of the Interior Department and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Smith said he is hopeful that this step may bring President Nixon to realize the "tra-

Armstrong said that there were three other bids of $30 million in bonds offered for sale. Buyers represented all areas of the country. AIRPORT GRANT RECEIVED--Federal Aviation Administration approved a $419,974 grant to Texas for a comprehensive study of future airport development needs.

Funds, together with $209,987 in state money, will be used to develop an airport systems plan for Texas. Grant seeks development of a plan that can be used to forecast regional and statewide demands for air transportation.

COURTS SPEAK--State Supreme Court in a Potter County case held that signing by an injured person of a release settling a damage claim is valid only for that person and no other involved in the dispute.

High Court told four contractors for San Antonio's HemisFair '68 that they couldn't collect on deferred payment certificates and unsold tickets which they received for partial payment of their services. Firms sued City of San Antonio, San Antonio Fair Inc. and San Antonio Urban Renewal Agency.

Austin District Judge Herman Jones enjoined the sale of historical (1755-1846) documents "The Laredo Archives," to which the state lays claim. Value is estimated at from $350,000 to $1 million.

One who kills with a weapon not generally classed as deadly must be permitted to testify as to intent, Court of Criminal Appeals ruled.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld the 1968 Railroad Commission turn-down of an application by Southern Pacific Transportation Company to transfer the company railroad agency from Elsa to Edinburg.

AG OPINIONS--Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held that the Parks and Wildlife Commission and similar state agencies can be increased in size by adding new members without abolishing present boards.

In other recent opinions, Martin conclude that: + A school board may contract with a teacher whose first cousin has been elected to the board but has not taken oath. Contract remains valid after the relative qualifies for office.

+ A pupil promoted to a high school grade not taught in the home district can transfer to any other accredited high school, and the resident district must pay the receiving district's legally-imposed high school tuition fee.

+ Houston Independent School District has the option of selecting procedures available to it in establishing a junior college district.

+ A bill to permit an individual to petition for leave to file quo warranto proceedings without the suit being brought by the state attorney general, district or county attorney is unconstitutional.

+ Monthly salary of state employees whose salary is budgeted on an annual basis determined by dividing the annual figure by 12. Opinion also sets a standard method of determining weekly hourly pay for such employees.

+ Money collected as mission fees and consanguinity profits at state properties to be spent for maintenance and repair of property.

+ A notary public can legally use a rubber stamp and India ink.

+ County employees are entitled to retain jury fees for jury service.

APPOINTMENTS, RESIGNATIONS--Governor Smith named 18th District Judge James Jr. of Cleburne to the 10th Court of Civil Appeals. He succeeds the late Judge Frank Wilson.

Smith picked Ralph F. Smith of Houston to serve on the 10th District Texas Commission, replacing C. H. Coffield of ton who resigned.

Governor accepted the resignation of Dr. Elmer Smith of Austin from the State Board.

The Shadow's Footprints

Summer has begun and lots of plans to make it fun! Looks like "The Shadow's" footprints will be everywhere this summer.

Newsletter: We are proud to begin our monthly newsletter and calendar of events. "The Shadow's Footprints". We are in hopes that this bit of news will be informative of interest to you.

Book Sale: There will be a book sale on June 4th at the Shadow. We will need your help and volunteers to sell all day.

Movie: The movie on the "Papa's Delicate Condition". It is a good flick. It will start at 9:00 and cost $1.75.

Ping Pong Pool Tournament: On Friday, June 11, a Ping Pong Pool Tournament will take place. This will be a family affair. Tickets will be $1.00 and there will be an entrance fee of $1.00. There will be a concession stand with lots to eat.

Car Wash: The "Careful Wash" will take place on July 3rd. It is called Careful Wash because last year we learned that careful is a must. We will make some money, have fun and soak in a few rays of the sun. There will be a sheet at The Shadow for you to sign up to help.

Operation Clean Up: We all want to have a community project this summer so that we can help make Tahoka a better place to live. Also, we will enter the MANPOWER contest again and who knows... we could win one of the thousand dollar prizes. The best way we can help the community this summer is to clean up our beautiful Big "T". All summer we will collect newspapers and aluminum cans to recycle. From June 19th to June 25th, we will work all day on projects to clean up Tahoka. Plan to work with the Chamber of Commerce and the City by clearing lots, picking up trash, encouraging people to paint their houses and plant flowers, painting trash cans with bright colors, and possibly building and distributing benches in town. We want to paint house numbers on curbs for a fee if possible. We want to help wherever and however we can in a united effort. Be thinking of more things we can do and be planning to come this week to help.

The more of us working and the longer we work the more we can really help. Think of some creative posters we can put in town. Let's make this a real effort, on our part, to work with others and help Tahoka be a cleaner and better place to live.

Western Dance: There will be a Western Dance on the 25th. It should be a fun dance for everyone so bring a friend and come.

ON THE LINE FOR JULY: Sadie Hawkins Dance: On July 3rd there will be a Sadie Hawkins dance. This gives you girls a chance to chase the guys . . . and have an excuse.

Talent Show: We are planning a Talent Show for the 17th of July. This will be the 1st year anniversary of The Shadow. We will give it for the community and probably be able to make lots of money. It should be really fun to work up this program. We need everyone to participate. If you have no specific talent then get with some friends and work up a humorous skit. We may call it "The Shadow's Amateur Hour". We will have try-outs the first part of July.

Greenbug Resistance Goal Of TGSPB

Shorty Wheat Breaks 100 Bushel Barrier

Sturdy and Caprock, two semi-dwarf or "shorty" hard red winter wheats released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in 1967, have already established themselves as leaders in both production and quality.

The plant breeders noted that commercial yields of 100 bushels or more per acre were produced in Texas during the 1969 and 1970 seasons. The new type can be heavily fertilized and irrigated to produce high yields without lodging. The 100 plus bushels per acre came from commercial plantings, grown under irrigation and with heavy fertilization; however, dryland yields in the High and Rolling Plains during 1970 approached the 70 bushel per acre level. And, adds Atkins, a yield of 43 bushels an acre was posted as far south as San Antonio.

Wheat growers have been quick to accept Sturdy. From the 3,000 acres grown in 1967, Fire destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lemons in the Fluvanna community, Friday night. Mr. Lemons was burned on the face and hands and is in the Cogdell Memorial Hospital in Snyder.

Grain sorghum resistance to greenbugs is the goal of researchers beginning TGSPB-financed studies at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center in Lubbock. A $12,133 grant from the TGSPB will finance operations at the center.

Four specialists will seek to transfer greenbug resistance into agronomically desirable sorghum lines and evaluate other sorghum varieties for additional sources of resistance. The greenbug has caused severe damage to High Plains sorghum crops in past years, according to GSFA Executive Director, Elbert Harp.

Resistant to greenbugs are agronomically unfit for commercial production. Over 10,000 entries have been submitted to the World Sorghum Collection, and each variety needs evaluation.

High Protein In Grain

Cultural practices to produce higher protein in hybrid grain sorghum crops is the aim of a grain sorghum quality test to be conducted this year at High Plains Research Foundation.

Massive application of insecticides for greenbug control could possibly be eliminated through development of a resistant hybrid milo. Not only are the applications expensive, but rapid build-up of other injurious insects may result. Greenbugs spread the damaging Maize Dwarf Mosaic Virus, and researchers speculate that this problem on the High Plains could be curbed with a decrease in greenbug population.

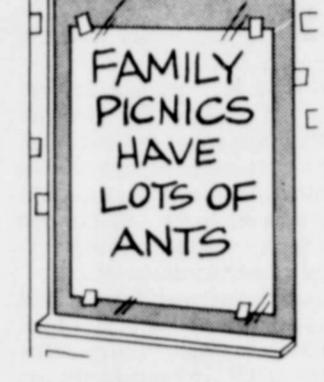

Breeding projects of this nature often require as much as eight years, but researchers hope to cut that time by one-third or more through the use of greenhouse experimentation.

To determine how cultural practices affect protein in sorghum, scientists have designed a test that will compare double-rowed and single-rowed sorghum under two irrigation methods, two rates of herbicide application and 18 different fertilizer treatments. Included in the fertilizer

Scientists at the Foundation point out that cultural practices, as well as genetic factors may be a key to increasing protein quality of irrigated sorghum due to the higher protein content in dryland sorghum. They say the test also is practical from the farmer's point of view. It has been reported that a few fields are paying premium prices for dryland sorghums because of increased protein content.

Procedure in the project entails crossing greenbug resistant lines with better sorghum varieties, using backcross and pedigree methods to transfer the resistance as rapidly as possible. Inheritance studies will utilize many crosses made in breeding work. In addition to studies of various sources of resistance to determine whether the resistance is controlled by the same gene or genes.

Store-Front Funnies

New high yielding wheat varieties have since 1940 provided Texas growers with high quality, well adapted varieties and their use is reflected in the increased per acre yields. Atkins said that better cultural practices and the use of fertilizers and irrigation had also contributed to the increased yields.

The average wheat yield in Texas has increased from 12 bushels an acre in 1940 to 26 bushels in 1970. Atkins noted that grain yields of 100 bushels per acre were achieved with corn soon after the release of hybrids and the same was true with grain sorghum.

Hybrids in wheat are not yet available, but breeders and growers have been able to achieve this high level of production with pure-line varieties developed over the past 30 years when used in combination with improved production practices.

Atkins noted that at least two more shorty wheats are now under consideration for release to Texas growers.

Who's Taking Who?

GUEST EDITORIAL

We asked a non-working hippie recently: "How do you eat?" He smiled and responded: "My friends feed me. I've never been hungry."

"Where," we persisted, "do your friends get what they give you?" He smiled again, waved his hand and said: "Maybe they have wealthy parents."

That may be the story in some cases - but it's not the whole story. Bill Fiset wrote recently in the Oakland, Calif., Tribune about how you as a working taxpayer are financing hippies. Mr. Fiset gave the case of a specific hippie:

gets 49 cents back in cash as change, the maximum amount of cash change he can get on a purchase. Then he adds one penny for the 50 cents to get his $28 worth of stamps for the next week. The fourth week of the month he sells his food stamps to friends for $15 cash. Thus in a month he's paid out 53 cents for $112 worth of stamps, for which he gets $83.53 worth of food and $14.47 net profit in cash. From the food stamp saleswoman: "Can you imagine how this adds up when you have 15 hippie kids living in a commune house, all doing the same thing? No wonder they laugh at the Establishment." No wonder welfare programs are in trouble!

"He boasts that for 50 cents he buys $28 worth of (food) stamps. . . Each week he uses the stamps to buy exactly $27.51 worth of groceries and

Narrow-Row Cotton Disease Losses Less

Initial research at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station north of Lubbock shows cotton produced in narrow rows may have the edge over cotton grown in conventional rows insofar as disease losses are concerned.

"Losses from both seedling diseases and verticillium wilt may be minimized in narrow-row production," says Dr. Earl Minton, plant pathologist with the U. S. Department of Agriculture at the station.

"Since narrow-row production is aimed at shortening the growing season, cotton can generally be planted a couple of weeks later than with the conventional method of production," he points out.

"This allows for better environmental conditions at planting so that seed germination and seedling growth will be improved. A healthy, vigorous seedling is less susceptible to seedling disease."

Will Cut Spread

"Also, a planting rate of four to six seed per foot of row will allow plants to be spaced farther apart in the row. The wide spacing will reduce the spread of seedling diseases from plant to plant."

Narrow-row production also features cotton plants that are short in stature with medium to light boll loads. Early maturing varieties that have shorter fruiting periods and less fruit per plant should reduce losses from Verticillium wilt, explains the pathologist.

In soils where wilt is a serious problem, Minton feels that narrow-row cotton can "get the jump" on the disease.

"Wilt is usually mild during the summer months at which time narrow-row cotton is making rapid growth. The crop should therefore reach maturity before wilt sets in."

Incidence Studied

In narrow-row cotton studies last year, the incidence of verticillium wilt was a key item under investigation. A highly susceptible cotton variety was planted in eight and 16-inch rows.

Wilt infection was increased as soil moisture levels were boosted. However, boosting populations from 10,000 to 70,000 plants per acre or increasing the nitrogen application from 80 to 320 pounds per acre had little effect on the incidence of wilt.

"We think a big plus for the production of cotton in narrow rows could be the reduction of losses from verticillium wilt," says Minton. We are continuing an extensive research program to study this production more fully."

The next day she put in a claim under her homeowner's insurance policy. But the company refused to pay off, on the ground that the car showed no "visible marks" of burglary, as required by her policy.

Undeterred, Ethel filed suit. "It is true there were no marks on the car door," she said in court. "Probably the thief got in with a master key or a coat hanger. But the fact remains that my bracelet was stolen. The company is trying to hide behind a technicality."

Nevertheless, the court turned down her claim. The judge said an insurance company has the right to put reasonable limitations into its policy, adding: "A person gets what he pays for, whether it be insurance protection or anything else."

The requirement of "visible marks" is common in burglary insurance. One purpose is to lessen the chance of an "inside job," in which a policyholder reports a theft that never really happened.

On the other hand, a policy may provide coverage even for an unlocked car, provided it is not left "unattended." In one case, a TV set was stolen from an unlocked car, which the owner had left at the curb for only about five minutes.

Trying later to collect insurance, he argued that this was too brief a time to make the car "unattended." But again, a court denied the claim. The court said even five minutes of opportunity is enough to tempt a thief.

Similar problems of interpretation may arise in the burglary of a building. One case involved the picking of a lock on a grocery store. To meet the requirement of "visible marks," the grocer pointed out that scratches on the lock, made by burglar's tools, could be seen microscopically.

Were such marks "visible"? A court decided they were indeed, and made the insurance company pay for the loss. The judge said "visible" meant able to be seen rather than actually seen. The microscope, he said, merely made clearer what was already there.

Farm Bureau News

Bills of interest to this area which came before the House and Senate last week are as follows:

AGRICULTURAL CHEMICALS S.B. 602 by Watson, a bill to amend present insecticide laws to provide for closer regulation of the sale and use of economic pesticides, was brought before the Senate in order for the Senate to concur in House amendments to the bill. The Senate did concur in House amendments to S.B. 602 and this major bill has gone to the Governor for his signature.

H.B. 217 by Schulle, a bill giving county commissioners courts authority to revoke exemptions of counties from provisions of the herbicide law, was signed into law by the Governor. This law is effective immediately.

T A X I N G AGRICULTURAL LANDS S.B. 876 by Connally, a bill to change the Minimum Foundation School Program financing formula from 80-20 to 100-0 and eliminate the need for any further increase in ad valorem taxation, failed to gain the required approval of two thirds of the members of the Senate to bring this bill before the Senate of the regular order of business for debate. There were 16 votes for Senate consideration of the bill which would indicate the bill will pass the Senate - if it can gain the necessary two thirds vote to bring it up. Another effort will be made by Senator Connally to bring S.B. 876 before the Senate for debate.

H.B. 1828 by Nugent of Kerr, the House companion bill to S.B. 876 to change the Minimum Foundation School Program financing formula from 80-20 to 100-0 and eliminate the need for any further increases in ad valorem taxation, was introduced in the House of Representatives, moved rapidly through the House Committee on Revenue and Taxation and was brought to the House floor for debate. H.B. 1828 failed to pass to third reading by about 8 votes. However, a motion to consider and table the vote was defeated by a substantial margin, so H.B. 1828 can be brought before the House for reconsideration and debate.

S.J.R. 50 by Connally, a proposed constitutional amendment to give the Legislature authority to provide by law for taxing farm, ranch and forest lands according to their productive ability rather than their fair market value, was reported out favorably by the Senate Affairs Committee, was brought before the Senate for debate, was finally passed by the Senate and was sent to the House of Representatives.

In the House of Representatives, Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville gained quick approval of the House Committee on Constitutional Amendments for both S.J.R. 50 and Nugent's House companion bill H.J.R. 75. Bring both bills to the floor for debate, Rep. Nugent tabled his bill in favor of S.J.R. 50 and passed S.J.R. 50 to third reading with 75 votes. However, a proposed constitutional amendment requires 100 votes for final passage on third reading. Every effort is being made to line up 25 more votes for this bill.

S.B. 875 by Connally, proposed enabling legislation for S.J.R. 50 if S.J.R. 50 is approved by the voters of Texas, was reported out favorably by the Senate Affairs Committee, was brought to the Senate floor for debate, and was finally passed by the Senate and sent to the House of Representatives.

ENVIRONMENTAL CONTROL H.B. 56 by Braun, a bill to be known as the Environmental Protection Act of 1971 and providing that any political subdivision, person, partnership or other legal entity could file suit in district court against any other legal entity for pollution or destruction of air, water and other natural resources, was brought before the House of Representatives on a motion by Rep. Braun to instruct the House State Affairs Committee to report this bill out favorably within 7 days. By a narrow margin, the House voted against the Braun motion and H.B. 56 is dead for this session.

LIVESTOCK S.B. 398 by Watson, a bill to allow dairy producers a second milk ring test following a "positive" test before blood testing their dairy herds for brucellosis, was signed into law by the Governor. This law is effective immediately.

S.B. 1009 by Herring, a bill to give the Texas Department of Agriculture authority to construct, operate and maintain livestock pens and facilities to hold livestock for export to other countries, was introduced in the Senate, referred to the Senate Committee on State Departments and Institutions, was reported out favorably by that committee, was brought before the Senate for debate, was finally passed by the Senate and sent to the House of Representatives. In the House of Representatives, S.B. 1009 was referred to the House Agriculture Committee, was reported out favorably by the Agriculture Committee and is now ready for floor debate in the House.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS S.B. 757 by Herring, a bill providing that the Commissioner of Agriculture shall regulate the use of the term "Texas Agricultural Product" and any symbol connected with that term, was signed into law by the Governor. This law is effective immediately.

H.B. 1380 by Doran and Jones of Lubbock, a bill to change the name of the Cotton Research Committee to the Natural Fibers and Food Protein Committee, was reported out favorably by the Senate Agriculture and Livestock Committee, was brought before the Senate for debate and was finally passed by the Senate. H.B. 1380 now goes to the Governor for his signature.

TRANSPORTATION S.B. 350 by Hightower, a bill providing for issuance of temporary permits for hauling agricultural harvesting machinery during harvest season, was reported favorably by the House Motor Transportation Committee, was brought to the House floor for debate, was amended to include "any agriculture products", and was finally passed by the House of Representatives. S.B. 350 now goes back to the Senate of the Senate to concur in the House amendment.

S.B. 351 by Hightower, a bill providing for issuance of temporary permits to haulers of their own agricultural products for hauling larger tonnage than now permitted by their normal registration fee, was finally passed by the House of Representatives and was sent to the Governor for his signature.

INSURANCE LEGISLATION S.B. 146 by Mauzy, a bill to repeal the doctrine of contributory negligence and replace it with a formula for comparative negligence in determining awards in damage suits, was reported out favorably by the House for debate and was finally passed. The bill was amended by the House and now goes back to the Senate for the Senate to concur in House Amendments to the bill.

YOUR STATE REPRESENTATIVE REPORTS

BY E. L. SHORT

STATE REPRESENTATIVE, 73RD DISTRICT

Constitutional Amendment Proposals are a dime a dozen. Very few will be passed. They must receive two-thirds vote to be placed on ballot - leading the list will probably be welfare, Legislative pay $9,600, Annual Sessions.

I opposed a Constitutional Amendment to have the 63rd Legislature act as a Constitutional Convention, (the Resolution did pass). According to history, one third of the Legislature will be new Members - a great number of those left represent people with little concept of rural Texas and no knowledge of the number one and number two industries of Texas (oil and agriculture).

S.B. 56 passed House to provide grants for students attending private colleges.

I approve repealing the 5-year old kindergarten program whereas all children 5 and over will attend school 13 years by 1977, (cost is staggering, could be $1 Billion over next ten years).

Billingual teaching in schools is finding strong opposition.

H.B. 314 should have student troublemakers on guard, it provides for their suspension and expulsion.

College enrollments are rising at 26,500 each year.

Penalties raised in Senate for child battering.

Looks like Blue Cross will be taxed. It will raise $700,000 per year.

H.B. 598, if passed, will revise and repeal certain sections of Texas Family Law Code passed in 1969 whereas it permitted common-law marriages. We are hopeful to get this through the Senate before the adjournment date of Legislature.

Conference Committee decided the new law on the Jury Wheel would be mandatory on counties over 10,000 and permissive on counties under 10,000.

Burton Hackney (Welfare Commissioner) told me he did not believe the Federal Government would take over welfare and if they did, it would be a phase-out program and that money would have to be appropriated in a Special Session. No money is allocated for funding next year's program. (Mr. Hackney's wife was my first grade school teacher in 1932).

I was elated at the array of V.I.P.s at the L.B.J. Library Dedication, President Nixon, former President Johnson, wives and kids, Speaker Albert, Vice President Agnew, Secretary of Treasury Connally, Goldwater, Congressman George and Mrs. Mahon, Mr. Humphrey - Billy Graham gave the Invocation. My wife (Dink) met Gregory Peck.

Representative Short has secured the following figures from Mr. Thomas Keel, Legislative Budget Director on State Expenditures for the Fiscal Year 1970. Mr. Keel's certification was that Lynn County received $825,302 for the State expenditure on education. Under the State Welfare Program, the State contributed $115,375 and the Federal share, in addition to this, was $364,310.

The 73rd Representative said "It is interesting to note that our State welfare money is matched by the Federal Government at a 2 to 1 ratio, but the Federal Government matched our state funds in Lynn County 3 to 1".

Representative Short also received the following State Expenditures from the Budget Board that is spent in Lynn County, as follows:

Transportation	$3,302,874
Health	$5,900
Public Safety	$18,610
General Government	$23,608
Natural Resources	$24,435
All State Expenditures in Lynn County:	$2,316,104.

SHORT SNORT

An increase in state unemployment benefits from $45 to about $77 a week has been approved by the Senate, but the proposal is heading for conference committee. House approved a $60 figure.

Both House and Senate committees have advanced a bill to provide for 100 per cent state financing of the minimum foundation school program.

Mrs. Bland's Funeral Held

becoming ill at her home. She was a former Lynn County resident, residing in the wine community, before moving to Terry County in 1948.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Meadow Church of Christ with Jim Matney of Lubbock officiating, assisted by Bob Reynolds of Lubbock and Bill Talley of Meadow Church. Burial was in Tahoka Cemetery.

Survivors include two sons, Elzie of Rt. 1, Brownfield, and Roy of Smyer; three daughters, Mrs. Geneva Henry of 1, Brownfield, Mrs. M. Lee Miller of Grants, N. M., and Mrs. Bessie McDonald of Seagraves; a brother, E. Yarbrough of Waco; six grandchildren; 11 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Robert Walker passed away suddenly with a heart attack at his home in Dallas on May 31. Among the survivors is a brother, E. Walker, Rt. 1, O'Donnell. Burial is pending.

Mr. and Mrs. Tooter Seagraves are entertaining their grand daughter, Clintonna Spear, daughter of Iris and Bud Seagraves. Their daughter, Caludia Swann visited over the week-end with the Smiths.

Cloda and James Wilson report the fishing was good at Lake Brady, where they spent the week-end fishing with Othy and Bob Weston of O'Donnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davidson, Houston, were visiting friends in Gall Saturday. Harold is the son of Mrs. E. Davidson, Snyder, a nephew, Mrs. Maggie Greenaway, Brasher, and Mrs. Olen Kee, Seagraves.

Linda Huffaker, CHD Agent, Says.....

Yogurt, after being dismissed for years as a health food, is becoming more and more popular.

While consumption of some dairy products is declining, the yogurt market is growing and shows prospects for continued growth.

Yogurt is a thick, smooth-textured, cultured milk product prepared with a mixed culture of lactic bacteria. It is usually made with fresh, partially skimmed milk that has been enriched by the addition of nonfat dry milk.

The nutritive value of yogurt is the same as in milk -- high in protein and calcium. Plain, unflavored yogurt is a cousin to sour cream but has only one-third the calories. One cup plain yogurt contains only 160 calories; fruit yogurt of 2.5 percent fat has about 250 calories per eight ounce cup.

Yogurt should be stored at a temperature of 40 degrees, and should be consumed within three or four days. If it is stored for longer periods, the acidity may continue to increase to produce a sharper-flavored product. If entire contents of the yogurt container are not eaten at once, remove the portion to be eaten then cover the container and return it to the refrigerator.

Freezing yogurt is not recommended. The freezing and thawing affects the texture adversely.

When cooking with yogurt, stir or fold it into the other ingredients. The custard-like texture of the yogurt will be broken down by any vigorous beating, so treat it gently. Yogurt also thins out during cooking -- even more than sour cream.

Yogurt can be eaten from the carton or spooned over fruit for a dessert. It is also good in dips, toppings and salad dressings similar to those composed of sour cream as a base.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK:
Strawberries and Yogurt
2/3 cup fresh strawberries
1/4 cup strawberry yogurt
1 tablespoon brown sugar
Place strawberries in an individual serving dish. Top with yogurt and sprinkle with sugar.

+ For weight watchers: Use plain yogurt and sweeten berries with artificial sweetener.

Bill Griffin, County Agent, Says....

Getting the most from irrigation water, especially where the supply is limited, should be the goal of every producer.

Applying irrigation water in the furrow between rows of skip-row cotton has boosted yields 10 to 20 percent per acre, reports Leon New of Lubbock, area irrigation specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Yields ranged from 24 to 82 pounds more lint per acre where irrigation water was applied between the two rows of cotton compared to application in the skipped row in a two-in, one-out planting pattern.

Irrigations were the same for the two water placement procedures. Either one or two irrigations of the same quantity were applied.

Verticillium wilt entered into the picture as expected but if not influence yield as much as did the extra boost from having the water closer to the plants. Cotton watered between the rows 7 to 15 percent more wilt infected plants, but yields were still higher than where water was applied in the skipped row.

Cotton varieties in the tests were Paymaster 202 and Coker 4104. Similar tests were planned with more wilt tolerant varieties.

Cotton yields were boosted with limited irrigation by placing the water where more plant roots could take advantage of it. Also, plant shading reduced surface evaporation.

Irrigation water must be managed efficiently to obtain the greatest profit per acre-inch. These tests show a profit of $5 to $18 per acre by watering between the cotton rows.

SWINE MOVEMENT QUARANTINE EXTENDED

The Texas Animal Health Commission has announced that a new statewide quarantine order on the movement or sale for movement of all hogs except for purposes of slaughter has been imposed. This quarantine order reimposes the quarantine that was placed in effect March 29, 1971, and shall continue in force and effect until further notice.

All previous restrictions on swine movement contained in the previous order remain the same. The only exception to this order may be:

(1) Swine moving to slaughter.

(2) Swine for exhibition purposes on permit from the Executive Director of the Texas Animal Health Commission.

(3) Special Feeder and Breeder sales on swine that must meet certain health requirements and a permit from the Executive Director.

(4) Swine may make one movement from one farm to another, with no diversion enroute, on special permit from the Executive Director.

An additional restriction under this new statewide quarantine order will hold all purchased swine for thirty days at the premise of the purchaser and no movement from such premise except for slaughter shall be allowed for the period of the quarantine. If swine are apparently healthy, this permit quarantine will automatically expire after the 30th day.

The Animal Health Commission points out that although 22 cases of hog cholera have been confirmed since March 29, none of the cases have been connected with swine movements after that date.

Past Day in Lynn County

Copied from May 26, 1950. Forty-three Seniors received diplomas of graduation from Tahoka High School at the final exercises held in the auditorium Tuesday night, May 23.

Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, in making the graduation address, told the Seniors they should prepare themselves to meet an ever-growing number of crises that face the world.

Dr. Jones stated the individual would be better prepared to meet these crises, and the world would be better off, if the young person of today developed a better understanding of his fellowman, regardless of race, if more tolerance and less selfishness were practiced in family relations, and if each person would realize that the individual is important and democracy can be maintained on this basis only.

Invocation for the Commencement Exercises was given by J. Lee Coffman. Hubert Tankersley gave the Benediction.

After Dr. Jones' address Pat McGinty played "Brahms Lullaby." Otis Spears, principal, presented scholarship awards to Delwyn Tunnell, valedictorian, and Jolene Bragg salutatorian. Mrs. Spears also presented the Babe Ruth Sportsmanship Awards to Geneva Marlin and James "Punk" White. Geneva and James were elected in secret ballot by the student body as the THS girl and boy "who have made the greatest contribution to the spirit of sportsmanship and fair play during the year at THS."

The eighth child, Janie Sue, age 7, just recovered, brought the disease home with her from school about 2 weeks ago.

O. F. (Fred) Zedlitz, 21, who works at Lubbock, came home and contracted measles, as did Mrs. Raymond (Opal) Pierce, 19, of O'Donnell. The other children with the measles are: Aaron, 14; J. V. 12; Alta Florence, 10; Jo Ann, 6; and Patsy, 4.

Melvin Edwards, 15, of New Lynn will receive a free educational trip over Texas June 5-9 with 15 other boys and girls as a member of the 1950 4-H Talent Club, sponsored by Producers Grain Corporation of Amarillo. There will be eight boys and eight girls in the party, accompanied by Extension Service members.

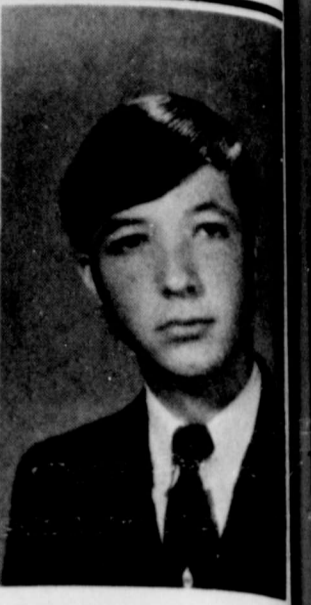

According to County Agent Bill Griffin, Melvin, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Edwards has been a member of the Wilson 4-H Club for five years. He is an outstanding club boy and a leader in his club. In 1946-47, he served as club reporter, and in 1947 served as secretary. He has carried on a swine demonstration for five years, a garden demonstration two years, cotton production demonstration one year, and a dairy production one year. From these demonstrations, Melvin has made a total of $1,029.83.

For 1950, he is continuing his swine, cotton, and dairy demonstrations and is adding a poultry demonstration. His work with these demonstrations has been outstanding, as shown by the following awards won since he enrolled in 4-H club work. Melvin was Gold Star winner and Dairy Production winner in 1949, Safety winner in 1948, Garden winner in 1947. Melvin has exhibited six head of livestock and eight crop exhibits in county and area shows. From these entries, he was awarded 98.50 in premium money.

Mr. Griffin says: "Melvin has increased his demonstration, progressed in leadership, and is quick to accept and apply methods beneficial to his program of work. I consider him a boy worthy of the honor and one that would be a credit to any group of award winners."

CLARENCE WOOSLEY
HONOR STUDENT

Clarence Woosley, son of Melvin and Vera Mae Woosley, is high ranking boy in the Mahan Grading class. His average was 93.343, the Valedictorian 93.437 and the salutatorian 93.406.

Water Injection At Planting May Benefit Cotton
The injection of water into the seed furrow at planting is a practice that can help cotton growers in the drier cotton producing areas, according to Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist.
Water injection isn't a method of irrigating cotton. Elliott said that under dry conditions there is usually subsurface moisture, but young plants can't reach it because there isn't enough water for the seed to germinate.
If the injected water can enable the cotton to reach the subsoil moisture, better stands will occur, according to Elliott. If the subsoil moisture is available, 30-40 gallons of water per acre may give the emerging cotton enough moisture to come to a stand in drought conditions, he said.
The equipment needed for injecting water consists of Acra-Plant operators (the only plant operators designed for water injection), a field nurse tank, a sprayer system on the tractor, a planter, and a conventional sprayer set-up similar to herbicide equipment.
Elliott said that at about 10 pounds of pressure with a tractor speed of four and one-half mph, the 30-40 gallons can be applied per acre to 40 inch rows.
Besides preventing skippy stands, the injection keeps producers from planting too deep and losing subsoil moisture. Another advantage Elliott pointed out is more uniform emergence because of the very desirable V trench the runner type opener provides for the seed to fall into.
The assets of American agriculture equal about half the market value of all U.S. corporations listed in the New York Stock Exchange.

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.
Keeping as perfect as humanly possible an imperfect system of grading cotton was the primary purpose of the Universal Cotton Standards Conference attended by Ray Joe Riley of Hart, Chairman of the Research Committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and Paul Bennett, PGC Secretary-Treasurer.
The conference is held every three years to examine and approve "key sets" of the Universal Cotton Standards for use in this country and abroad during the next three years. In attendance at this year's Conference in Memphis, Tenn. were over 200 cotton officials and industry leaders from 10 overseas nations and the United States.
Foreign countries that are signatories and were represented at the Conference include Belgium, England, France, Germany, Italy, India, Japan, The Netherlands, Poland and Spain. In addition to these, representatives of producers, spinners, shippers, ginners, exchanges and other segments of the U.S. cotton industry were present and took part in the work of the Conference.
Pursuant to the Universal Cotton Standards Agreement, first effected in 1923, all signatory associations examined and approved key copies of the Universal Cotton Standards to be used as the basis for trading American Upland cotton throughout the world for the next three years.
The "First Reserve Set" of standards approved at the 1968 Conference has since been sealed in the National Bank of Commerce of Memphis, and the Special Committee to Safeguard Standards almost ritualistically escorted this First Reserve Set to USDA's Memphis Cotton Division office May 18.
The 1968 set was opened that afternoon and matched to Key Sets of Standards for 1971, with opportunity for comments and suggestions from all delegates. A First Reserve Set, a Second Reserve Set, a Special Working Set for USDA and Key Sets for Signatory Associations were selected. Each Key Set contains a "biscuit" or standard cotton sample, representing the characteristics of all U.S. cotton grades.
Opening remarks for the Conference were by S. C. Rademaker, Director of USDA's Cotton Division. Addresses were heard from Dr. Clayton Yeutter, Administrator, USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, and J. Dukes Wooters, Jr., Executive Vice President of Cotton Incorporated.
While the Conference delegates took no action on the matter, a demonstration was given of quality measuring instruments now being evaluated by the Cotton Division and there was much discussion of instrument classing of cotton and the problems related to the standardization of cotton classification.
Bennett and Riley reported wide agreement among delegates in discussion periods that the presently used system of classing and pricing cotton by staple, grade, color and micronaire does not adequately reflect the end-use value of the fiber.
Riley said "We often ask spinners to tell us precisely what fiber properties they want. But they can't give us a realistic answer because of the vague relationship that exists between the "green card class" and cotton processing performance. And mills won't be able to give precise answers to our questions until sound, scientific, repeatable measurements are developed that include all properties necessary to the accurate prediction of fiber performance in the production system.
"Hopefully," Riley concludes, "in years to come we will see the Universal Standards Conference evolve into a forum for modernizing cotton evaluation techniques rather than a gathering for the approval of standards to be used in a highly imperfect system."
