RAIN WASHES OUT CROPS SATURDAY NIGHT

GURLEY TO ATTEND SYMPOSIUM-Ricky Lee Gurley, left, Tahoka High School student, and instructor John E. Heath were among 550 of the state's top science students and teachers who attended the 11th Annual Texas Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas at Austin. The four day event, which began on Monday, June 7th, was a joint presentation of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, of which Southwestern Public Service Company is a member, and the University of Texas at Austin. Southwestern sponsored a group of 42 students and teachers at the symposium.

The weather and planting is still the concern of most Lynn County farmers. Cotton planting time is growing short and high winds blowing almost every day are no help, farmers say.

One of the worst sandstorms ever to strike here came Wednesday night of last week and burned or blew out most of the cotton that was up to a stand.

Then Saturday night, there came another rain that was a life-saver to many farmers but washed out much cotton that had been planted since the sandstorm.

Saturday's rain covered the north half of the county. Rain in west Tahoka measured .96 inch, but scattered areas received as much as an inch and a half to two inches. However, the rain extended only a short distance south of Tahoka.

County Agent Bill Griffin reports most Lynn County farmers are busily engaged in planting where such is possible, some of them for the third time, and most of the county has enough moisture to get crops up and growing.

Areas east, west, and about three miles north of O'Donnell still have not had sufficient moisture, Griffin says. Some farmers in these areas are planting, but whether or not moisture is sufficient to bring up cotton is questionable.

Some farmers in areas of Saturday night's rain, are scratching out cotton, but some fields were still too wet Wednesday morning to plant and some are inundated by lake water.

Over the county as a whole, though, farmers feel there is still an excellent chance to raise a good crop, especially if weather is favorable until late fall.

The drought was broken or badly dented over much of Lynn county by heavy rains on May 27, 28, and 29, when 3.75 inches fell in west Tahoka and possibly much more than this down town. Rain for the month of June totaled 4.68 inches here officially, which brought the year's total to 7 inches.

Some county areas, particularly Grassland have received much more than this. Some old timers declare Leedy Lake, at the south outskirts of town, is the fullest it has been in thirty years or more.

Tahoka received no rain in January, .16 in February, only .02 in March, 1.17 in April, 4.68 in May, and .96 up until Tuesday in June.

Some areas also received hail both in the late May rains and the Saturday rain, and this has also contributed to blowing sand.

The extreme wind Wednesday night of last week came from the south, originating in the Monahans, Odessa and Midland area, and brought dust so dense many cars were stalled on the highways because of inability of drivers to see much past the car radiators. Strangely, the wind dissipated before reaching Lubbock, but that city was darkened by the pall of dust.

Lynegar reported as many as fifty highline poles blown down, many limbs were blown from trees, shingles ripped from some houses, and a few outbuildings blown down.

Ronnie Nettles Has Broken Leg

Ronnie Nettles, manager of Farmers Cooperative Association of Tahoka, is reported to be recovering from a broken leg sustained in an accident about ten days ago.

ATTEND OPEN HOUSE-Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Unfred, Tahoka, Texas, attended an open house of Cotton Incorporated's Raleigh, N. C. research laboratories at the recent annual meeting of Cotton Incorporated's Board of Directors. Unfred is treasurer of the Board. His wife is very active in her local Cotton Wives' Club.

Cotton Incorporated Charts New Course

The challenges and opportunities for cotton in an environment of accelerated supply and demand are primary among forward planning programs presented to growers, members of the Board of Directors at the Annual Meeting of Cotton Incorporated held in Raleigh, N. C., June 1-2.

Commenting on the program review, Mr. L. C. Unfred, of Tahoka, said, "Cotton Incorporated is charting a new course for cotton that is placing pressure on growers to produce an ample supply of cotton."

Total marketing concepts created by Cotton Incorporated to sell more cotton in existing markets and produce demand in expanded markets were reviewed in a series of conferences covering all end-use applications of cotton in the Home Furnishing, Apparel and Industrial product markets.

Areas of key concern to the cotton industry including agricultural research, processes, handling and services research were covered in-depth by audio-visual presentation of programs designed to increase crop yield and improve product performance. A tour of Cotton Incorporated's new in-house laboratory facilities at their Research Center in Raleigh was included in the schedule.

The cotton fiber company's sales and marketing staff, headquartered in New York under the direction of J. Dukes Wooters, Jr., Executive Vice President and General Manager, presented current and projected plans designed to move cotton closer to its textile mill customers and motivate a faster reaction to customer needs through newly established fashion, fabric development and technical services programs.

Asked about the new strategy for cotton, Wooters said, "Our intent is to swing in front of the competition by providing innovative services to our mill customers, and the solid support of cotton producers in this unique self-help program will enable us to effectively anticipate and back-up our customers' needs."

All-America Game Promotion Group In Tahoka Today

On Thursday (today) June 10, a delegation from Lubbock will be arriving in Tahoka at 4:20 p.m. at the First National Bank and departing at 4:30 p.m. to promote the 11th Annual Coaches All-America Game. This outstanding football game features such stars as Jim Plunkett, Heisman Trophy Winner, and Rex Kern, All-America Quarterback from Ohio State University. The game will be played at Texas Tech's Jones Stadium in Lubbock on June 26. Kickoff time will be 7:30 p.m.

Bob Devaney, coach of the National Champion Nebraska Cornhuskers and the nation's winningest coach, heads the coaching staff for the West team. His assistants will include John Ralston, whose Stanford Indians upset the previously unbeaten Ohio State Buckeyes in the 1971 Rose Bowl; and Bennie Ellender, new Tulane head coach. Ellender comes from an eleven-game winning season at Arkansas State and a 1970 victory in the Pecan Bowl. Charley McClendon again heads the East team coaching staff in what will be a rematch of coaching skills which only last January saw his LSU Tigers pitted against West head coach, Bob Devaney, and his Nebraska Cornhuskers. Rounding out the East coaching staff will be Northeastern's Alex Agase, who was named 1970 Coach of the Year by the Football Writers of America; and Fran Curci, who has just taken over head coaching duties at the University of Miami following a 10-1 season at the University of Tampa.

Lubbock Chamber of Commerce President, John Whitcomb, stated that he "hope to increase the enthusiasm for this game throughout the South Plains Area through this tour". Whitcomb went on to say that "we hope that the people of West Texas will consider the Coaches All-America Game as an event that will benefit the entire West Texas area."

New Home Seniors In Accident Returning From Trip

A busload of New Home seniors were involved in a three-vehicle accident on Texas 36 about 2 1/2 miles north of Caldwell Friday which left one man dead and three others in serious condition.

Four of the students and three of the sponsors suffered minor injuries, and the occupant of one of the other vehicles also was hurt.

Pronounced dead at the scene was driver of a southbound auto on Texas 36, Troy G. Easley, 35, of Valley Mills. His wife, Barbara, 32, and their two children, Randy and Robbin, were in serious condition Friday night in St. Joseph's Hospital in Bryan.

Highway patrolmen said the schoolbus, headed north, was involved in a collision with a van driven by Pete Scarmardo, 18 of Bryan. The bus, driven by Bobbie D. Clem, 36, of Tahoka, then swerved to the left and was involved in the crash with the Easley auto, a DPS spokesman said.

Clem, one of the four senior class sponsors, his wife, Drana, and Mrs. Olga Lefevre 20, of New Home, suffered minor injuries, as did the van driver, Scarmardo.

At least four of the seniors also suffered very minor injuries, including Glenda G. McKee, 17, Wayne Ewing, 17, George R. Mayfield, 18, and David Foerster, 18.

The students were returning to New Home from their senior trip when the mishap occurred.

All the students and sponsors, including those who suffered minor injuries, returned to Lubbock by plane late Friday.

Thirty-four seniors and sponsors left Tahoka Friday night after a graduation aboard a chartered bus for Colorado Springs. The first stop was a tour of Colorado State Prison at Canon City, then on to the Royal Gorge, the World's highest suspension bridge. They arrived in Colorado Springs late Saturday afternoon after a thrilling trip through Phantom Canyon, a 43 mile strip of high rock cliffs, winding roads, and narrow bridges, on which some of the bus could have used some hinges and a little less weight. This trip took them through Victor and Cripple Creek, both old mining towns.

Ghost Town was the first stop, the old pump player piano will never forget that group and the singing left a little to be desired. They visited the Hall of Presidents, a Wax Museum and on to the Broadmoor Zoo after which they went bowling. Tuesday morning they went up to the summit of Pikes Peak, by cog train, on their arrival they were greeted by freezing weather, 16' a little earlier that morning, snow piled to the top of the building, with only a trail to lead you inside. It was a pretty clear day and you could see for miles Tuesday afternoon they visited the Cliff Dwellings then went on to the Flying "W" Ranch for a chuck wagon supper and a western show, before supper they had time to visit the leather shop, see old time movies in the saloon, even watch them shoe a horse in the blacksmith shop. Wednesday morning before they went to Manitou Springs to do their last minute shopping before heading for home, to be greeted Wednesday night by the good sand storm, but it did not spoil a thrilling trip for each person.

The Country Editor says that Taxes are like Golf - you drive hard to reach the green only to wind up in the hole!!!

TBW The proper handling of a retail advertising account starts with knowing that the "backbone" of our advertising effort is still our newspaper advertising," the nation's foremost advertising agency executives were informed recently by William R. Johnson, sales promotion manager for J. C. Penney Company.

Johnson, in an address at the 1971 American Association of Advertising Agencies annual meeting at the Greenbriar in West Virginia, told the agency heads there is no rating around newspapers as the retailer's basic medium for advertising.

"Some advertising people, especially in agencies," he said, "believe this is because we (retailers) are too inflexible in terms of media, and are inclined to think too traditionally. Just try to tell this to the store managers who know that it takes to attract customers to the stores."

"Our store managers know that their newspaper ads produce sales dollars. They are perfectly willing, even eager, to use radio and television in carefully selected lines, but don't try to cut back on their newspaper budget. Broadcast something you do with new money when increased advertising dollars are available to you."

TBW Parents want their children to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, all they have guests in the house.

TBS The reason they call television a medium is that so much of it is neither rare nor well done.

This is an age when, if you miss a day's work, the government loses about as much as you do.

There would be fewer demands for governmental services and aids if hidden taxes were not hidden.

Some minds are like concrete - all mixed up and permanently set.

The fortunes of towns and cities can be compared to those of individuals. Those who work the hardest, know where they are going and whose people and leaders exhibit the qualities of tenacity and conviction are the ones who forge to the front.

TOURNAMENT SCHEDULED AT YOUTH CENTER

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Morris and family of Grand Prairie visited Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Marett, last week.

Mrs. L. J. Marett was a patient in the Medical Arts Hospital in Lamesa from Thursday until Saturday, where she underwent foot surgery. She is now at home recovering nicely.

Highlights AND Sidelights

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Legislature in regular session agreed to submit 14 more proposed constitutional amendments to voters in November, 1972.

Among major ones is HJR 61, which would authorize the 1973 Legislature to serve as a constitutional revision convention.

Two others (HJR58 and HJR 95) would provide for raise in salaries of legislators (to $8,400) and lieutenant governor and House speaker (to $22,500).

Other amendments on the general election ballot in 1972 will be:

+ SJR 7 -- Providing four-year terms for governor and other statewide officials now limited to two-year terms.

+ SJR 16 -- Guaranteeing that no rights will be abridged because of sex, race, color creed or national origin.

+ SJR 7 -- Permitting local governments on popular vote to exempt $3,000 of assessed value of resident homesteads of persons 65 or older from all ad valorem taxes.

+ HJR 68 -- Providing for advertising (twice) of proposed constitutional amendment in clear, concise language in all legal newspapers in Texas.

+ HJR 57 -- Permitting county commissioners to reduce the county permanent school fund and provide for payment of money to independent and common school districts on a per-scholastic basis.

+ SJR 29 -- Providing that state employees can serve on non-paying school boards and city governing bodies without forfeiting state pay.

+ HJR 20 -- Exempting soil and water conservation district directors from dual office-holding prohibitions.

+ HJR 61 -- Relating to rates of interest to be borne by bonds.

+ HJR 41 -- Requiring that justices of the peace be compensated on salary basis.

+ HJR 31 -- Abolishing Lamar County hospital district. JOBLESS ROLL DROPS-- Number of unemployed in the state decreased 6,000 during April to 181,000, Texas Employment Commission reports.

TEC said the jobless rate was only 3.8 per cent of the total labor force, thus the decline may signal a "possible end to the doldrums of the past year."

Mid-April figure was identical with December, 1970 and considered probably the lowest of the year.

Thirteen labor areas reported improvements. Austin enjoyed the lowest rate of unemployment in the state -- 1.8 per cent of labor force.

APPOINTMENTS -- State Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert named William Skelton of Lubbock as a member of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles. Senate confirmed the appointment.

Charles W. Horan Jr., Fort Worth, is the new chairman of Texas Tourist Development Board, succeeding John R. McCarty of Dallas. George Lillman of Dallas is vice-chairman.

Appointed branch pilots for Sabine Bar, Pass and Tributaries were Capt. James William Throgmorton of Groves and Capt. Daniel Joseph Bromley also of Groves. Gov. Preston Smith asked the Senate's approval of the nominations.

LIQUOR TAX PASSED -- Tax on liquor by the drink passed in the first days of the special legislative session.

Measure (HB 3) will place a 10 per cent gross receipts levy on sales and service of mixed drinks in bars and private clubs. Cities and counties each will get 15 per cent of the revenue collected within their boundaries.

Bill also boosted the tax on liquor from $1.68 to $2 a gallon and upped the wine gallonage tax depending on strength of the wine.

Beer tax on July 1 will go up from $4.30 to $5 a barrel. This rate supercedes the $6 a barrel ordered in the regular session omnibus tax bill (HB 730).

About $28 million in new revenue for the next two years is expected from the bill.

COURTS SPEAK -- Clark's discount house in Abilene cannot legally arrange with allied concern (Sundaco Inc.) to offer Sunday sales in its store, State Supreme Court ruled.

High Court also reversed and sent back for a new trial a Dallas auto accident case where the jury returned two different verdicts as to which driver failed to yield the right-of-way.

Court of Criminal Appeals, reversing a Galena Park robbery by assault conviction, held that jurors are not qualified without expert advice to decide whether signature of a defendant is the same as that on criminal records.

A San Antonio man's claim that removal of a bullet from his back was an illegal search because the surgeon turned the slug over to a policeman was overruled by Court of Criminal Appeals.

AG OPINIONS-- A called session of the Legislature cannot pass a legislative redistricting bill, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said in a recent opinion. Martin held that unfinished Senatorial reapportionment must be accomplished by a five-member committee of state officials.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

+ Taxing authority of a junior college district is specified by the Texas Education Code, regardless of whether the board of trustees of the district is also board of trustees of the independent school district. If a separate board of trustees is created for the junior college district, it would have control and management of all district property but only such control over school district property as the district board agrees to.

+ Alcoholic Beverage Commission has no authority or jurisdiction to regulate beer sales by vendors who sell from ship's chandlerage under U. S. Customs bond.

+ State Treasurer will receive fines collected in district court for violation of the Texas Motor Carrier Act, and neither district attorney nor district clerk may retain a percentage.

+ A bill providing for establishment of a schedule of abused drugs by rule of the State Board of Pharmacy and for dispensing of drugs is constitutional.

AIR PERMITS NECESSARY-- A new law provides that any company planning to construct or modify a facility which may emit air contaminants must get a construction permit from the Air Control Board.

If a construction permit is granted, the facility must also have a permit to operate before going into actual system.

Grants went to Abilene Area MH-MR Board of trustees, $34,581; Bell County, $15,000; Dallas County, $26,593; Lubbock County, $10,000; Midland $13,176; Austin - Travis County, $43,100; Glaveston County, $12,826; Brownwood, $5,000; Nueces County, $10,000 and Harris County, $125,000.

SHORT SNORTS:

Bureau of Outdoor Recreation has approved a $296,150 grant for the development of Pedernales Falls State Park in Blanco County.

Alpine Independent School District has been cleared by the Department to acquire highway department property as site for a new high school.

State Industrial Commission officials are in Munich, Germany, to promote development of international trade for Texas.

Construction showed a seven per cent gain in April over March, five per cent of which was accounted for by residential building, reports University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

State economy and immediate prospects for significant recovery is described as "checked" by the Bureau of Business Research, but encouraging indications must be weighed against "soft spots."

Pioneer Reunion Set For Saturday, June 26

Past Days In Lynn County

Copied from June 11, 1931

A residence at the western limits of the city belonging to Mrs. Florence King was completely destroyed by fire last Thursday night. The house had been vacant for some time. It was partially covered by insurance. Origin of the fire was undetermined but it is believed to have been set afire, either accidentally or purposely.

This was a five-room residence besides and apartment upstairs. It was constructed many years ago but was a good building.

A group of Camp Fire Girls spent Tuesday night and a part of Wednesday morning at Two Draw Lake near Post. They were chaperoned by Mmes. Robert Reid, G. M. Reid, Sid Sanders, and Miss Lucille Kemp.

Those attending were Dottie Turrentine, Wanza Reid Annabel Reid, Jessie Fenton, Ney Camille Fenton, Martha Helen Powell, Eloise Roberts, Lottie Jo Townes, Janice Sanders, Luda Strasner, and Betty Sudarth.

For weeks Grandpa John B. King has been telling his relatives that they were to come to see him on June 3, for that day he and his wife were going to celebrate their sixty-second wedding anniversary.

There were present two daughter, Mrs. E. J. McDaniel Lindrith, New Mexico, and Mrs. Neal Williams of the Dixie community; three sons, W. P. King of Lindrith, New Mexico, and J. H. and J. O. King of the Dixie community; nineteen grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren and a number of friends, making the number over sixty. It was regretted that a son, H. C. King of Uvalde, and a daughter, Mrs. H. M. Simpson of Arkansas, was unable to be present.

The crowd enjoyed a bountiful picnic dinner. After dinner forty-two was played which happens to be one of Grandpa's favorite games. Kodak pictures were taken in remembrance of the occasion. It was planned that at 3 o'clock ice cream and cake would be served as it was at that hour that the wedding ceremony had taken place. The crowd departed wishing them many more happy years.

Grandma and Grandpa, though age 81 and 87, enjoyed reasonably good health. They left Friday for an extended trip to visit relatives in South and Central Texas.

Announcement is made that the New Home ball team will be in Tahoka Tuesday afternoon to play the Tahoka team a game of ball. New Home has sent word that it is bringing a hundred visitors to the game.

Both teams have recently played the Colorado team; Tahoka winning two and losing three games; New Home winning one and losing two. The $1.00 per day per boy. Some of the boys who did not originally have the funds necessary to make the trip were given various and sundry odd jobs by the people of Graham to enable them to earn the requisite funds, according to information they gave a representative of the News. They were a well-behaved orderly set of youngsters while here and were evidently enjoying their outing very much. A few of them who had gone shirtless on part of the trip were suffering considerable pain from sun blisters, however.

This trip was obviously of considerable educational value to the boys at a very small expense.

ROTARY SPEAKER

Says Telephone Of Future Fantastic

Horace Rogers was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker.

President V. F. Jones announced the annual meeting for installation of new Rotary officers will be held the evening of June 24 in the backyard of Mr. and Mrs. Calloway Huffaker, when wives of Rotarians will be special guests. Dwain Lusk is the president-elect.

Also possible in the future will be telephones whereby a person may view a wide range of some distant city or scenic area.

Mr. Jordan reviewed the history of communications, with help of color slides, and declared more development has taken place in the last few years than had taken place in all time since cavemen days.

Latest improvement now in wide use is direct distance dialing, which has helped reduce long distance rates materially.

Although so many fantastic developments are possible now, he said the public can not expect them to be in general use for some years, delayed until the equipment is further developed and the public demands the innovations.

But, before the end of this century, many of these developments will be put in use and others possibly developed.

They spent the night here at the Max tourist camp.

T-Bar Home Demonstration Club met last Thursday, June 11, with Mrs. J. C. McCarty. There were eleven members and two visitors present.

Miss Harrison gave an interesting and useful demonstration on "laying the Table and Serving a Meal."

Refreshments of grape juice and cookies were served to Mmes. Moore, Whipp, Townzen, McCarty, Alexander, Crews, Lindley, Henderson, Ruth Crews, Ward, and McCarty, and Misses Jamie Alexander and Harrison. All enjoyed the evening.

Plans for the annual Lynn County Pioneer Reunion, Saturday, June 26, were completed at a meeting of officers of the association last week according to Maxine Huffaker, president, and Mrs. Lois Greathouse, secretary. The program is being arranged by Johnny Wain, George McCracken, and Mrs. Truett Smith.

The meeting will be in school cafeteria, with registration beginning at 10 a.m. and a period of visiting in the noon, when a barbecue will be prepared under direction of Elmer Sproles and "Booger" Redwine will be served.

Following the meal, there will be a short but entertaining program, recognition of the best woman and man and person coming the greatest distance, and the election of officers.

Further details and a list of the committee members will be published by the News next week.

The Pioneer Reunion is one of the high-lights of the year in Lynn County, and a large crowd of 300 to 500 will be expected for the meal program.

Tickets for the meal will be $1.50, payable by attendees as they enter and register.

Crop Reports From Farmers Needed

In early July, some 22,000 Texas farmers will receive an acreage and production of selected crops questionnaire from Cary D. Palmer, Agricultural Statistician for the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Austin, Texas.

This information will be the basis for determining harvested acreage and production of early harvested crops for the state of Texas and for each county. There are 254 counties in Texas and reports are needed from many farmers so that each county will be well represented. Accurate estimates are of great importance to farmers in planning production and marketings and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture.

The Texas Legislature has provided a program of estimates for each county. Texas covers such a wide area that State totals alone do not provide adequate information on Texas' most basic industry - agriculture. This is a cooperative effort of USDA's Statistical Reporting Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Borderline Case

Preparing for summertime festivities, the Thompsons built a brick barbecue pit at the back end of their property. But neighbor Hanks took a dim view of the project. Checking the boundary line, he discovered that the bricks protruded several feet onto his land.

Mortified, the Thompsons offered to buy the strip of land for a fair price. But Hanks wasn't interested in money. Instead, he demanded that the structure itself be removed.

And when he carried his demand into court, the judge did order the bricks removed. The judge said Hanks could not be forced to sell a piece of his land, however small, that he chose to keep for himself.

This is the law's traditional view when an object overlaps the boundary line onto a neighbor's property. Whether it is a barbecue pit or a gutter or a fence or a garage wall, the neighbor may usually insist an actual physical removal - rather than having to accept money as compensation.

However, removal can be costly indeed - a real hardship on the first party. In recent years, courts have shown a growing willingness to "weigh the equities" of the situation, refusing to order a removal that is plainly unjust. Take this case:

A farmer was halted into court on the ground that the wall of his garage extended exactly one inch into a neighbor's farm. The neighbor demanded destruction of the wall; the court said no.

Noting the slightness of the intrusion, the court said:

"The law does not bother with trifles."

What if the intrusion is not by mistake but on purpose? That tilts the scales sharply in favor of the neighbor. Almost always, the court will order outright removal, regardless of the hardship it may entail.

In one case, a boundary line between two lots was in open dispute between the owners. One owner, without waiting for the dispute to be settled, went ahead and built a house on what he thought was his own land.

As it turned out later, his house extended almost four feet into the adjacent lot. Here, a court ordered him to remove the house, despite the obvious hardship. The court said he could not complain of a predicament he walked into with his eyes open.

Veterans Hit High Of 28.2 Million

The number of American veterans hit a high of 28.2 million this month, the Veterans Administration announced today.

The VA said the number of living veterans is likely to continue to increase in the foreseeable future since the military discharge rate has been running over 80,000 a month and older veterans have been dying at a rate of about 26,000 a month.

Of VA's 28.2 million veterans, some 25.1 million served during a wartime period and an additional 3.1 million served after the Korean conflict and before the Vietnam Era - Feb. 1, 1955 to Aug. 4, 1964 inclusive.

More than 11,000 vocational-agriculture teachers are helping train young people for agribusiness careers in the United States.

VEGETABLES HAVE STRONG FUTURE IN WEST TEXAS

Texas leads all the states in the nation in harvested acreages of cabbages, carrots, onions, and watermelons. It ranks third in fresh market produce and fourth in the acreage of all vegetables.

The High Plains contributes to the record with an annual vegetable production of $23 million - principally in potatoes, onions, carrots, cucumbers, lettuce, green beans, tomatoes, watermelons and cantaloupes.

The prospects for greater vegetable production is "indeed bright," according to Dr. Sam E. Curl, associate dean of the Texas Tech College of Agricultural Sciences whose specific interest is the college's research programs.

"West Texas has soils and climate well suited to vegetable production," Prof. Curl said, "and the area's intensively cultivated vegetable crops generate a large percentage of the state income derived from vegetables."

The little league standings are Yanks won 5 lost 3, Cards 5-3, Giants 3-5 and Cubs 3-5.

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

The principal production areas, he said, are the Munday-Knox City area, Gaines County, the Plainview-Herford-Muleshoe triangle, the Pecos-Fort Stockton area and the upper Rio Grande Valley near El Paso.

"As with any other, farm crop," Curl pointed out, "vegetables provide a significant multiplier effect which stretches their economic value far beyond the direct sale of the products."

Large numbers of people are involved in the production. They deal with chemicals, fertilizers and machinery. Production itself requires a large labor force, and harvesting, packing, shipping and marketing involves an even larger segment of the population.

It is in each of these areas, Curl said, that Texas Tech University is supplying continuous and progressive research leadership.

"The Texas Tech research," he said, "supports the prediction that vegetables have a strong future in the West Texas economy."

Barbecued chicken is a favorite meal that is tasty, nutritious and inexpensive to prepare.

Broilers are the best chickens to barbecue because the young tender meat is easy to cook and eat. Use broilers that weigh two and a half to three and a half pounds. Split the birds in halves for cooking.

According to Texas Agricultural Extension Service's publication "Chicken Barbecue," start with a clean grill and pit, basting brush and two kinds of prepared sauces -- one to use during cooking and the other for finishing. Use charcoal or a any hardwood, such as oak, hickory, pecan or mesquite, or fuel, and start the fire with Kerosene or charcoal lighter fluid. Do not use gasoline or cigarette lighter fluid as a starter.

When ready to barbecue, place the charcoal or wood in the pit on a nest of newspapers and saturate it with starting fuel. Allow about 30 minutes for charcoal or an hour for wood to burn down to a bed of white hot coals, placed about 12 to 14 inches below the grill. The secret of successful barbecuing is a solid bed of glowing coals and not leaping flames.

While waiting for the fire to burn down, prepare the basting sauce. Place 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon black pepper, 1 stick butter or oleo, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce and a few drops of hot sauce into a 3 - quart sauce pan. Cook over a slow flame until the butter is melted, then add the juice of one lemon (vinegar may be substituted), fill the pan with water to a convenient level and heat. Do not boil. This sauce will preserve natural meat juiciness and add a basic subtle flavor. Tomato products or sugar should not be included in the basting sauce since such products scorch easily.

Once the coals are white hot, put the broiler halves skin side up on the pit. Turn the halves every 5 to 10 minutes, basting generously at each turning. Don't let the skin blister or it will burn black. If the fire becomes too hot, apply water using a hand sprayer or a pop bottle with a sprinkler head.

Apply the finishing sauce about 20 to 30 minutes before the meat is done. To prepare enough sauce for 10 broiler halves, combine 1 cup cooking oil, 1 cup vinegar, 1 cup catsup, one-fourth cup sugar and one-half cup water. Add salt, hot sauce and Worcestershire to taste. You may use one-half cup mustard instead of catsup. Use enough of the finishing sauce in basting to completely cover each broiler half twice.

To test for doneness, grasp the end of the drumstick bone and twist. If it is loose, the meat is done. Or, take the broiler half which looks the least done and, using a sharp knife, open the meat and tissue down to the joint where thigh and drumstick meet. If moisture in the joints runs clear, the meat is done.

Remove the birds from the grill as soon as they are done. If left on the grill for extended periods, they will dry out. A common styrofoam ice chest with a tight-fitting lid may be used for temporary storage, but be sure the box is clean. Line the chest with aluminum foil or paper towels to keep the broilers warm and wholesome for at least 2 hours.

Cattlemen should be keeping a closer eye out for vitamin A deficiencies where drought conditions have reduced the quality of the hay and forage they normally feed their livestock.

Breeding cows that are vitamin A deficient will probably give the stockman his most harmful and most costly problem, according to L. A. Maddox Jr., Extension beef cattle specialist. While breeding cows that are deficient in the estrus periods, fewer cows become pregnant. If the pregnant animal is severely deficient, she may abort the calf or give birth to dead, weak or blind calves.

Cattle can store the vitamin, but calves at birth have practically no body storage of carotene (vitamin A) and they must depend on a supply from the colostrum or milk.

Younger animals tend to show signs of vitamin deficiency in less time than older ones, but there are differences among individuals of the same age who receive the same treatment.

Calves weighing between 250-400 pounds may show deficiency symptoms in 40-80 days. Those above 400 pounds show symptoms in 80-140 days and older cattle show signs in 100-150 days, Maddox notes.

To have sufficient vitamin A to be able to raise their calves, cows must have good green hay, ample silage, vitamin A fortified concentrates or synthetic vitamin A.

Synthetic vitamin A can be mixed with feed, injected intramuscularly and - or administered in controlled drinking water. Maddox reminds stockmen that products containing vitamin A should be stored in cool, dark places because the vitamin loses its potency when exposed to sunlight, air and heat.

Alfalfa and silage are two of the better natural sources of the vitamin. A bright pea green color is usually a good indicator of vitamin potency in hay, but it isn't completely reliable, Maddox warns.

Hays that contain molds as a result of heating have probably lost some or all of their vitamin A potency. Chemical testing procedures give the most reliable determination of the vitamin.

One symptom of the early stages of vitamin A deficiency is night blindness, but other signs such as watering eyes and some swelling joints are easier to recognize, Maddox says.

In the latter stages cattle become less alert and lose their appetites. Other symptoms of prolonged vitamin A deficiencies are nasal discharges, rapid breathing, staggering gaits, convulsions, or complete blindness.

Another sign that is characteristic of the vitamin deficiency is sluggishness. A staggering gait has also been noted. If this condition goes unremedied, the cattle will become unmarketable and will eventually die, Maddox says.

Mr. Milt also reported the great progress being made in the use of chemo-therapy in fighting cancer cells, and the advances being made in research in viruses causing cancer. Mr. Milt stressed that the final cure for cancer would not come from research or from doctors, but from the volunteers of the American Cancer Society who through their efforts make it possible for the research to be carried on.

'West Texas Pioneer Family' Statue

Granville W. Carter, nationally known sculptor, who was commissioned to do the West Texas Pioneer Family for American State Bank in 1968, has captured the look of the typical family of settlers who migrated from Central Texas during the period from 1890 to 1910. These families came to acquire land, to put the land into cultivation, and to build homes. Most of the people came from parts of Texas that had long been settled, and they brought culture and education with them.

The statue was erected by American State Bank as a tribute to the early settlers, for all West Texans to enjoy for years to come.

Quarantine Extended For Swine

The Texas Animal Health Commission recently announced a quarantine order that restricts movements of swine placed in effect March 29, to control hog cholera.

The new order becomes effective May 28, and it will remain in effect until further notice, according to Woodrow W. Bailey, Extension livestock and meats specialist.

All previous restrictions on swine movements contained in the previous order will remain the same, with the exception of one additional restriction.

The new restriction order will require holding all purchased swine for 30 days at the premise of the purchaser, and no movement will be allowed except for slaughter during the quarantine, Bailey says.

If swine are apparently healthy, this premise quarantine will automatically expire after the 30th day without any inspection, according to Bailey.

He added that it is strongly felt that extending the quarantine control will bring Texas closer to the complete eradication of the hog cholera virus by the December 1972 target date. Although 22 cases of hog cholera have been confirmed since March 29, none of these cases have been connected with swine movements after that date.

Emphysema In Cattle

Numerous reports of cattle deaths from emphysema of the lungs have been received by Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory from different sections of the state during the past two weeks.

While the disease is similar to the condition in humans, the cause is thought to be an allergic reaction to something the animals are eating.

Most of the current cases are associated with the high protein constituents of young Bermuda grass pastures. A veterinarian should be called in for diagnosis and treatment suggestions if the disease is suspected.

SUNNY DAYS

Sunny days can mean trouble, warns the American Cancer Society. Repeated overexposure to the sun can cause skin cancer.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By RICHARD L. CHRISTIE

The rains have been good generally speaking for Lynn County. There are some places that as of yet it has not rained enough to plant, generally in the west part of the County and around O'Donnell in spots. The moisture was at time and places too hard (hall) and fast. Areas north of New Home and around Lakeview and toward Slide the hall took its toll. But it was a pleasant relief from a long dry spell for dryland farmers. Those people with parallel terraces are in good shape if the weather holds. The water they held in these rains will be of great benefit in July and August if we don't get any more rain it will be very evident.

There was in certain areas of the County some damage to parallel terrace systems. However, this was not of great consequence. The blocks were designed to break before the terrace did and this is what happened in these cases. Some areas got a storm that in 24 hours put more water in the terraces than can be expected in every 25 years. This is called a 25 year frequency 24 hour storm. Parallel Terraces are designed for 10 year frequency 24 hour storms. All farmers with Parallel Terrace realize and plan to block maintenance when they install the terraces.

A block is put in a terrace to prevent the water from spilling out the end but it is also there to allow excessive water to spill over it. These blocks functioned allowing water to leave the field without washing.

One field had 6 1/2 inches of rain in less than 3 hours and the terraces held and functioned well except for two terraces. This soil and most soil in Lynn County will take 1/2 inch of water per hour so when you began to add above 2 inches an hour some where the water has to go.

How much water ran off to lakes and other peoples land? This water could be saved and would have paid later. Many of us think we really got enough rain but it will shortly be gone if you didn't hold it all.

More Emergency Loan Funds Expected For Drought Areas
Emergency loan funds are available, applications are being taken, and more money has been requested to combat the serious effects of the drought which grips Texas, Lynn Futch, state director of Farmers Home Administration, reports. President Nixon has asked the Congress to add $65 million to the fund from which FHA finances its nationwide emergency farm loan program, Futch says. The Farmers Home Administration has already made 1503 spring of 1970. Emergency loans totaling $15 million to farmers and ranchers in Texas to help them overcome the disastrous effects of the drought which has scorched parts of the state since the emergency loans are made to enable farmers and ranchers to continue normal operations which have been disrupted by natural disasters. These loans previously were available in 53 Texas counties, and last month, the Secretary of Agriculture increased the number to 235 counties.
