Winners Named In Conservation Essays

The winners of the 1972 Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District Essay Contest were:

1. Southern Wells, Tahoka High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Wells.
2. Judy Turner, Hew Home High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Turner
3. Jeff Roberts, Tahoka High School, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts.

The announcement was made by A.V. Sheppard, District Conservationist, at an assembly at the Tahoka High School, Friday March 3, 1972. Plaques were presented to Southern Wells and Jeff Roberts by Sheppard. The second place plaque was presented to Judy Turner at an assembly at the New Home High School March 6, 1972. The essay contest was sponsored by the Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Directors. The title of the essays was "Conservation-Key to Survival."

the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce.

The board of directors of the district wish to say thanks to each student that wrote an essay. Also we wish to express our appreciation to the principals and English teachers of the Tahoka, New Home, Wilson, and O'Donnell High Schools for their help to make the essay contest a success.

The following are the winning essays: CONSERVATION -- THE KEY TO SURVIVAL, by Southern Wells. Conservation is the preservation of the world's natural resources through careful use and replacement. From the economic view, the natural resources of any country are its fundamental capital, and the wasting of their results in a loss that affects the country as a whole.

The conservation of soil is the most important and one of the most complicated of all conservation problems. Soils produce foods, nutrients, and materials which are vital to human life. Without the correct usage of soil conservation, the United States would not be able to feed its own people--much less the people of other countries.

Less developed countries, such as India, parts of South America, Africa, and countries of Asia have never been taught the proper usage or conservation of their native soils. Most deaths due to malnutrition are a result of poor land knowledge. We can learn by their mistakes how important conservation is to our United States.

Conservation involves many fields other than soil; the conservation of forest lands, animals, lakes and streams present problems to the United States that individuals of our country must solve.

We cannot create resources we can only alter them. They cannot be destroyed, but they can be wasted and irretrievably lost. Conservation is a way of life; an attitude toward our environment, an ever-present awareness of interrelationship and interdependence of all living things on this earth.

Simple beauties of Mother Nature must not be forgotten. The freshness of a stream, the still blue color of the ocean, the majesty of a mountain, the cool shade of the trees--these are things we have always taken for granted. They have been here from the very beginning and they must continue to bring beauty unto this earth.

Henry Steele Commager states, "The conservation of natural resources is, and has been for half a century, the paramount domestic issue before the American people." Conservation is the key to survival.

CONSERVATION -- THE KEY TO SURVIVAL, by Judy Turner. Conservation is indeed the key to survival. The survival of the entire God created world depends on it. President Theodore Roosevelt once said: "When the soil is gone, man must go. And the process does not take long."

There is no more land being created so what is now on earth is all that can be used to sustain life from now until eternity. Much of this land is now under concrete and steel. Great care should be taken in the cultivation of what little land is being farmed.

The advancement of the science and art of good land use is the prime objective of the Soil Conservation Society of America.

This organization is made up of dedicated men and women striving to preserve the world's land. Soil conservationists have helped develop such techniques as crop parallel terracing. Techniques such as these are vital to the productivity of the land.

Water conservation is also essential to life. Man and animals both need a constant supply of water. Water is used for the irrigation of crops, provision of hydroelectric power for homes and industries, disposal and removal of industrial waste, controlling of fires, and human and animal consumption.

One of the main problems in the conservation of water is finding clean, pure, water to conserve. This is primarily due to pollution. Industries and cities are not entirely to blame for water pollution. No individual American can run away from at least partial responsibility for the predicament the nation is in.

This is "the age of the environment." If man will look ahead and plan new conservation programs to combat environmental problems such as pollution and soil erosion, prevention can be achieved. Precious energies and resources can then be saved. Conservation is the key to survival. Without it, the extinction of life is inevitable. CONSERVATION -- THE KEY TO SURVIVAL, by Jeff Roberts.

It took the Dust Bowl of the 1930's to show the people that conservation was unavoidable. Sometimes a calamity is required to bring about action and the Dust Bowl did just that. By cooperating with nature, the basic principles of soil and water conservation can be applied anywhere and be successful. The use of good conservation practices can protect natural resources; enhance the environment and provide for both efficient and pleasant communities. Civilization is based on the productivity of the land, and the United States is fortunate in having had abundant fertile land to begin with. Productivity depends, however, not only on the rich natural capacity of land but also on the skill and technology with which men use it. Our ability to adapt to our environment determines the level of civilization we obtain.

It is predicted by the year 2000 the United States can expect a population double the present number. Therefore we must get the most beneficial use out of the land. Only an all-out effort on the part of all concerned to preserve and improve soils everywhere will guarantee the capacity of the land to produce the food needed to cope with the ever increasing population in this country and throughout the world.

Conservation will play an important role in the future of our country. Conservation means the development, protection, use, and management of all our resources for the needs and enjoyment of all the people. Conservation and wise use of our land is the key to keeping our land productive, our people healthy, and our Nation strong and beautiful.

editorially speaking

The Meanest Mother

I had the meanest mother in the whole world. While other kids ate candy for breakfast, I had to have cereal, eggs or toast. When others had cokes and candy for lunch, I had to eat a sandwich. As you guess, my supper was different from the other kids too.

But at least I wasn't alone in my sufferings. My sister and two brothers had the same mean mother as I did.

My mother insisted upon knowing where we were at all times. You'd think we were on a chain gang. She had to know who our friends were and what we were doing. She insisted if we said we'd be gone an hour, that we be gone one hour or less. . . not one hour and one minute. I am nearly ashamed to admit it, but she actually struck us. Not once, but each time we did as we pleased. Can you imagine someone actually hitting a child just because he disobeyed? Now you can begin to see how mean she really was.

The worst is yet to come. We had to be in bed by nine each night and up early the next morning. We couldn't sleep till noon like our friends. So while they slept my mother actually had the nerve to break the child labor law. She made us work. We had to wash dishes, make beds, learn to cook and all sorts of cruel things. I believe she laid awake at night thinking up mean things to do to us.

She always insisted upon our telling the truth, and nothing but the truth, even if it killed us - and it nearly did.

Revival services will begin Sunday April 9th and go through the 16th at the New Home Baptist Church. With the pastor Rev. Leo Cole preaching. Sunday morning, 11:00 a.m. and evenings 7:30. Morning services will be Sundays only. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

15 points, that is, if dated only to go to school functions. . . and that was maybe twice a year. . . my mother was a complete failure as a mother. None of us has ever been arrested, divorced or beaten his mate. Each of my brothers served his time in the service of our country and whom do we have to blame for the terrible way we turned out? You're right, our mean mother.

Look at all the things we missed. We never got to march in a protest parade, nor to take part in a riot, burn draft cards, and a million and one things that our friends did. She forced us to grow up into God-fearing, educated honest adults.

Using this as a background, I am trying to raise my three children. I stand a little taller and I am filled with pride when my children call me "mean."

Because, you see, I thank God. He gave me the meanest mother in the whole world.

Linda Huffaker, CHD Agent, Says.....

Consumers can look forward to more convenient information and added protection when they purchase wearing apparel in the very near future.

A recent ruling by the Federal Trade Commission will require that all articles of clothing, with a few logical exceptions, must bear permanent labels which clearly and simply disclose the washing and cleaning instructions for each item.

The new rule goes into effect on July 3 of this year. It means that all articles of clothing manufacturers after July 3, must have labels with washing and cleaning instructions permanently attached to them rather than on throw-away tags which can easily be misplaced.

Thus, the consumer will always have at her fingertips the correct information to insure that she will not inadvertently ruin clothing by using the wrong method of cleaning.

Home sewers will benefit by the new rule too. All textiles and fabrics which are sold for the purpose of making wearing apparel must be accompanied by similar care labels which the home sewer can attach permanently to her finished article.

Manufacturers of both home sewing fabrics and wearing apparel are responsible for providing the labels for their products. The FTC specifically states that all labels must be designed to last as long as the articles to which they are attached, and must remain legible for the life of the garment.

Evans Story In Book

A Lubbock author, Mrs. E. Lynn, has written a collection of true stories about the people, all of them living in this area.

The book is titled "He Is Only A Prayer Away." The chapter tells the story of Boyce Evans, Lubbock evangelist, and his account of a struggle with alcohol.

CONSTIPATION?

In this jet age, travel and commotion frequently go together. Constipation is one of the many ills that accompany the modern life. Modern bowel regulation may be accomplished by using preparations which provide stool-softening, bulking and demulcent activity. These are preparations which offer benefits when temporary constipation is present. Your pharmacist and local health team members know which products fall in this category and will recommend accordingly.

Where we say our school, not the school

Big city schools have little school spirit. Little sense of belonging. Little pride. School is a job at a very early age.

Our schools are important. We take a special interest in our children, their friends and their teachers.

We keep track of our graduates. We like to share in their successes and like to have them feel they always have a home community. Our community is proud of them. Because they belong to us.

Good school spirit is an important part of good community spirit. It makes everything more worthwhile.

No-fault's first year

Massachusetts is having such success with "no-fault" bodily injury auto insurance that the state is calling for a mix of rate cuts and credits designed to lower premiums by 552 per cent in 1972.

The first nine months of the first-in-the-nation experiment in keeping wreck injuries out of court exceeded all optimism: Claims fell by 34 per cent and the average injury claim was 60 per cent lower than before.

So the state is asking for a 27.6 per cent cut in bodily injury premiums and for another 27.6 per cent in premium credits to motorists—based on the fact that the insurance companies profited at least that much more than they should have on 1971 premiums.

The companies are expected to fight the premium credit, but the fact that it is suggested at all shows what a success compulsory "no-fault" has been.

Under it, the motorist's own insurance company pays for his injuries; only exceptional claims ever get to court—where big settlements for "pain and suffering" have driven up premiums in the past.

With settlements costing so much less under "no-fault," it is only natural that more and more states are looking at the new system as an idea whose time has come. So is the federal government.

Stop making decisions

Listed are 12 ways to avoid making a decision. Since this is the beginning of a new year, these suggestions are to be avoided:

- 1. Find a scapegoat and ride him. Americans can blame the Russians or vice versa. Both can blame the general apathy of the people or the atom bomb or the social order.
- 2. Profess not to have THE answer. That lets you out of having any answer.
- 3. Say that we must not move too rapidly. This avoids the necessity of getting started.
- 4. For every proposal, set up any opposite and conclude that the middle ground (no motion whatever) represents the wisest course of action.
- 5. Say that the problem can't be separated from other problems. Therefore, it can't be solved until all other problems have been solved.
- 6. Ask what is meant by the question. By the time it is clarified it will be time to go home.
- 7. Discover that there are all kinds of inherent dangers in any specific formulation of conclusions: danger of seeming too pro-Russian, too anti-Semitic, of having your statement in the hands of the wrong people, or of committing the organization too deeply.

- 8. Appoint a committee.
- 9. Wait until an expert can be consulted.
- 10. State in conclusion that you have clarified your thinking. This completely obscures the fact that nothing has been done.
- 11. Point out how the deepest minds have struggled with the same problem. This implies that it gives you credit even to have thought of it.
- 12. In closing, thank the problem. It has stimulated the discussion, contributed to our growth, opened up new vistas, shown us the way, challenged our inventiveness. It may have wasted two perfectly good hours, to be sure, but the problem should get the medal.

According to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., at least three changes in 1972 farm program regulations should be made, each of which would be of benefit to High Plains farmers and to the accomplishment of program objectives.

Following action taken by the 52-man PGC Board of Directors, Johnson has requested that the U.S. Department of Agriculture (1) move the final date for certification of cotton and feed grain acreage from July 15 to August 1, (2) require producers of wheat and barley to designate cotton and feed grain set-aside acreage at the same time as non-producers of wheat and barley, and (3) separate minimum planting requirements for feed grain and barley allotments, thereby allowing barley allotment holders to underplant that crop without losing feed grain planting history.

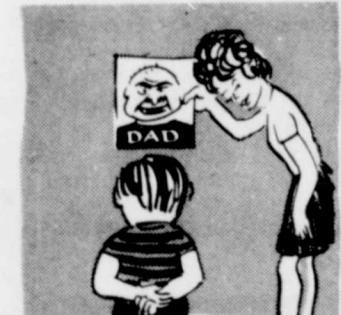

Allowing an extra 15 days for certification of planted cotton and feed grain acreage is necessary, Johnson says, because County ASCS offices will be hard pressed to supply measuring service to all producers between the time crops are planted and July 15. Under some Spring conditions many producers may be unable to plant feed grains until near the first of July. To a lesser extent, the same situation could exist for cotton. And should this happen over all or a significant portion of a county, ASCS office managers

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Poisoning Child's Mind

"Your father is a mean, nasty man. Stay away from him or he will whip you with a great big strap."

Laura, recently divorced, kept drumming this warning into her five-year-old son. She had been given custody of the child at the time of the divorce, and she meant to tighten her grip on him by any and all means.

Actually, her ex-husband was devoted to the boy. When he found out about Laura's tactics, he haled her into court. The judge took the matter so seriously that he changed the custody order, transferring the boy from his mother to his father.

As a general rule, the law condemns efforts by one divorced parent to poison the mind of the child against the other. It condemns "implanting in his tender mind the seeds of hate and the cankerous beginnings of malice toward those whom he should cherish."

Likewise, the law frowns on the use of the child as a pawn in financial bargaining. For example:

A divorcee constantly belittled her ex-husband to their small daughter. But she also let him know that she would stop as soon as he agreed to a large cash settlement. Again, a court denounced her tactics and switched custody from mother to father. The court said she had no right to use the child as a kind of blackmail weapon for her own benefit.

Of course, in these highly emotional situations, it may be difficult for a court to separate fact from fiction. As a result, judges sometimes fall back on solutions that are admittedly less than perfect.

In another case, at the time of the divorce, custody of a child had been divided between husband and wife. Later, in a court hearing, each accused the other of "poisoning the child's mind against me."

After due deliberation, the court decided to leave custody just as it was—divided. Even though this meant exposing the child to parental crossfire, the court said at least it gave each parent "equal time" to defend his character.

state it will be "next to impossible" to get all acreage measured, notify farmers of measured acreage and get them "certified" by July 15. The certification deadline in previous years has been August 1, and USDA changed to July 15 this year "so we can get payment checks out earlier." But it stands to reason that producers are going to certify acreage as soon as practical, whatever the deadline, Johnson says. As regulations now stand, farmers with wheat planted are required to designate all wanting the early set-aside designation have not been made public and PGC Directors fail to see that the requirement will further the program's operation in any way.

The third regulation which needs revision is explained by Johnson as one which will force producers with both barley and feed grain allotments to plant more feed grains and less cotton—precisely what USDA does not want. The rule is that farmers with an allotment of both crops will have to plant to either feed grain or barley 45 percent of the acreage total in both allotments. Otherwise they will lose 20 percent of both allotments.

A Crosby County farmer, for example, has a feed grain base allotment of 114 acres and an 80-acre barley base. He would like to plant the required 45 percent of his feed grain base (51.3 acres), set aside the mandatory 25 percent of both allotments (45.5 acres), plant the remaining 94.2 acres to cotton and give up 20 percent of his barley base. But ASCS officials have advised that this procedure will cost him 20 percent of his feed grain base in addition to the loss of barley allotment. This producer, whose case is representative of many High Plains farmers, doesn't want to plant barley in 1972. Nor is he particularly interested in protecting his barley base. But he does want to maintain his full feed grain allotment.

To do this, unless minimum planting requirements for barley and feed grains are considered separately as PGC is asking, he will have to plant 87.3 acres to feed grains instead of 51.3, and will be left with 36 acres less for planting to cotton.

CHECK FOR BAGWORMS

Now is the time for homeowners to check for bagworms on trees, advises Dr. Weldon Newton, Extension entomologist. Bagworms can now be easily detected while trees are bare. The insects can completely defoliate a tree next season if they are not controlled. Full grown worms or eggs may be found in the bags during winter.

On small trees, bagworms can be hand picked. Larger trees with bagworms should be sprayed in May or June with diazinon, carbaryl or trichlorfon.

STATE Capital NEWS

By BILL BOYKIN

State operation and funding of a food stamp program in all 254 Texas counties was proposed this week by Gov. Preston Smith.

Cost to the state is estimated at $17 million to $20 million, but Smith says the expenditure would generate over $285 million of economic activity in Texas cities and counties and offer low income citizens opportunity for better nourishment than is provided by commodity programs in some counties.

Among problems with the proposal is lack of money available at the moment to the U. S. Department of Agriculture which funds a large portion of the food stamp program. USDA says it would have to ask for additional congressional appropriations to fund the governor's proposed statewide program.

Smith says he believes the state's share of the cost would be money well spent and it would relieve counties of the financial burden of administering the program and issuing stamps—requirements under new federal guidelines.

Texas Wildlife Commissioner Raymond Vowell said he doubts the state's program could be initiated by the Sept. 1, 1972, start of the state's new fiscal year, as proposed by the governor, but he will talk to the governor about it.

Smith still says he wants to wait as long as possible before calling a special session of the Legislature this year to write an appropriations bill for fiscal 1972 and handle whatever other matters the governor chooses to submit—including the food stamp proposal. He estimates cost of a special session at $800,000 to $1 million. Others claim his cost figure is far too high.

EDITORS' POLL MOVES WEST—Newspaper editors and publishers were polled on state political races last week at the meeting of the West Texas Press Association in Sweetwater. Question one asked the editors what they thought would carry their counties.

ELECTION FINANCING—Still up in the air is the question of how state primary elections this year are to be financed. Secretary of State Bob Bulluck, the state's chief election officer, says the federal courts have clearly stated he has authority to use state funds for operation of the elections, just as state funds are used to conduct general elections. Other state officials say a special legislative session would be needed to provide the money.

TIMBER RECOVERY SOUGHT—Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has filed suit to recover from the federal government $732,000 for lands ceded to national forests of Texas.

Texas seeks money for stumpage sales on 658,513 acres in four national forests. The forests are Angelina (Angelina, Jasper, Nacogdoches and San Augustines counties); Davy Crockett (Houston and Trinity counties); Sabine (Jasper, Sabine, San Augustine and Shelby counties) and Sam Houston (Montgomery, San Jacinto and Walker counties).

Under a 1911 act of congress, 25 per cent of money received from each national forest was to be paid by the U. S. to the state in which the forest was located. Martin alleges that while there have been $2.9 million in Texas forest stumpage sales over the last six years, the federal government has withheld from the state the 25 per cent share due it.

HOG QUARANTINE LIFTED—Texas Animal Health Commission removed 28 counties from the hog cholera quarantine list last week and placed them under restricted movement.

Counties are Aransas, Bandera, Bastrop, Brooks, Caldwell, Calhoun, Colorado, Comal, Dimmit, Fayette, Frio, Guadalupe, Jim Hogg, Zapata, Jim Wells, Kendall, Kenedy, Kleberg, La Salle, Lavaca, Live Oak, McMullen, Matagorda, Medina, Nueces, Refugio, San Patricio and Wharton.

COURTS SPEAK—A $50 monthly expense allowance as mayor of Rusk does not bar Emmett Whitehead from running for the legislature, the Texas Supreme Court has ruled.

A federal district judge granted a government motion to dismiss an indictment of a San Antonio bank for making a loan to a gubernatorial campaign in 1970.

A Galveston district judge held the board of the rich Moody Foundation should be increased from three to seven members.

APPOINTMENTS—Governor Smith named six persons to the Texas Board of Private Detectives, Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies effective immediately. George W. Bichsel, Assistant City Manager of San Antonio, and Capt. Robert A. Crowder, director of a Dallas private investigation firm, will serve two-year terms. Robert C. Taylor of Houston, regional manager of a detective agency, and Morris A. Ruebright, former Houston Crime Commission member, will serve four-year terms. Serving six-year terms will be J. Mason Lankford Jr., security administrator for a Fort Worth firm and J. W. Golden, Richardson police chief.

Bob Alcock, special assistant for Congressional Relations Staff, has been appointed Associate Director of the Office of State-Federal Relations, to take office March 1. He replaces former State Rep. Randy Pendleton of Andrews, who resigned his position to run for the Democratic nomination for Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts.

Reps. Jon Newton of Beeville and Richard Slack of Pecos have been appointed to an interim legislative committee to study the state's land vacancy statutes and recommend revisions to the laws.

Governor Smith reappointed Mrs. Jimmy (Annie) Laura Day of Brookshire and Dan R. Eddy Jr. of Dallas to the Good Neighbor Commission of Texas.

CRIME TAX—Houston and Harris County led the state during the first four months' collection of the new "crime tax", a court cost levied for use by the Texas Criminal Justice Council to upgrade local law enforcement planning.

The Legislature enacted the tax in 1971 to provide money for CJC. Under the tax, additional court costs of $2.50 are levied for misdemeanor convictions in city, county and justice of the peace courts, $5 for conviction on a misdemeanor in district courts and $10 for felony convictions.

Houston collected $210,387 during the period, said State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert. Totals for other major cities included Dallas, $117,266; San Antonio, $83,479; Fort Worth $57,014; El Paso, $29,935; Austin, $34,098; Corpus Christi, $24,429; Amarillo, $18,453; Lubbock, $31,608; Beaumont, $23,811; Wichita Falls $9,049; Irving, $13,532; Waco, $15,756; Arlington, $12,492 and Abilene, $12,639.

County Collections reported by Calvert included: Harris $42,629; Dallas, $21,076; Bexar, $6,267; Tarrant, $7,811; El Paso, $9,168; Travis, $4,878; Jefferson, $6,553; Hidalgo, $7,184; Nueces, $5,116; Lubbock, $6,458; Galveston, $7,049; McLennan, $4,768; Cameron, $4,717; Wichita, $2,957 and Brazoria, $6,565. SHORT SHORTS

The Governor's Criminal Justice Council has received notice it will be funded $58,640 to provide four-year courses of study in criminal justice at four Texas colleges. The grant, from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, U.S. Department of Justice, will be subgranted by CJC to the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education. Participation Colleges are University of Houston; Wayland Baptist College, Plainview; Christian College of the Southwest, Mesquite and University of Texas at El Paso.

Twelve additional Texas counties have been approved for participation in the food stamp program of providing low cost stamps to low income persons for use in buying groceries. New counties with W. S. Department of Agriculture and State Welfare Department Approval are Bowie, Cameron, Castro, Crosby, Dallas, Floyd, Hale Hidalgo, Jefferson, Jim Wells, Swisher and Willacy.

University of Texas President Stephen H. Spurr was named to a new National Board on Graduate Education, a body which will investigate such things as oversupply of Ph.D.'s in certain fields and increasing costs of higher education.

Governor Smith has proclaimed March, April and May official Bluebonnet months.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes drew crowds totalling 17,000 on a three-day train campaign trip from Amarillo to Houston. He called for cabinet level officers to administer welfare and urban affairs.

INSTALL GAS AIR CONDITIONING NOW?

Install GAS air conditioning now and beat the rush that always comes with the first hot days. While everyone else is waiting on installation, central GAS air conditioning will be quietly and efficiently cooling your whole house. And another benefit of installing now is you have the time to consider the advantages that GAS air conditioning has over the other kinds.

A GAS air conditioning system is ruggedly built and operates on a simple principle. Heat from the steady blue flame circulates a refrigerant through the system to cool the air. There are fewer major moving parts and no compressor to break down or wear out. It's this simplicity that gives GAS air conditioning its low operating costs, its long life with no loss of cooling capacity, and its easy maintenance with few repair bills.

GAS air conditioning also filters the air to reduce dust and pollen.

If you have a forced air heating system you may be able to use the same ductwork for GAS air conditioning. So, be fox. Call Pioneer Natural Gas Company for a free air conditioning survey of your home or business.

Ask about special Winter Terms

You should be so fox.
