Walker, members of the Tahoka Garden Club, as they place a wreath in front of the memorial on Memorial Day. They paid tribute to those who fought to save our cherished American way of life.

MEMORIAL DAY

The Memorial Day, May 29, 1972, it seems fitting to honor our war heroes who gave their lives for their country. The following list is the names of World War II men, whose names are inscribed on the monument in the Tahoka Memorial Garden.

Earl D. Banks, Cecil M. Blair, Raymond Brown, Paul

Ward, Arnold J. Warren, Delmer West, James M. Willburn, Andy T. Wilson, Herbert L. Womack, Martin Workman, Alfred G. White, Bruce N. White, and Cecil O. White.

The landscaping of this Memorial Garden has been completed by the Tahoka Garden Club. The project was introduced in 1965 and has won two Sears Awards.

Gary M. Gardner New Wilson Superintendent

Gary M. Gardner, Assistant Superintendent of Schools at Colorado City for the past two years, has been hired as superintendent of schools at Wilson, according to Roy L. Kahlich, president of the Board of Education.

Gardner, 29, serviced as Elementary Principal in Colorado City during the 1969-70 school year. He was elementary principal at Sonora from 1967-69 and was supervisor of the reading program at Aspermont during 1966-67. He taught and coached in the Lubbock Public Schools during 1965-66.

The administrator received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Abilene Christian College and has done post graduate work there.

Gardner is a member of Texas State Teachers Association, Texas and National Association of School Administrators, and the National Educators Association. Civic affiliations include membership in the Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner are members of the Church of Christ where he serves as a Bible study teacher.

The Gardner's and their young son will move to Wilson around July 1.

Youths Place In State Meet

The statewide Special Olympics meet was held at Trinity University in San Antonio, May 25, 26, 27. Bertamy Thompson, Katy Martin, J. C. Thomas, and John Alvarado participated in the meet.

There were approximately 1,500 contestants from some 65 Texas cities.

Bertamy Thompson had the 1st and best standing long jump in the state for age group 16-18 with a 7'2" jump. She was also second in her age division in the 50 yd. dash with a time of 6.5 sec.

Katy Martin was 1st in the state in girls division 13-15 in the 300 yd. run with a time of 44.0 sec.

J. C. Thomas was second in the softball throw in the boys division 2 age 13-15 with a throw of 155'.

John Alvarado participated in the 50 yd. dash and the standing long jump.

Chaperones for the group were Jackie Burkhalter and Janie Jones and all were sponsored by the Tahoka Lion's Club.

The Special Olympics program was developed by Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. Foundation to provide athletic training and competition for students in special education programs. The participants compete for medals in various events; but, the more lasting prize, says a spokesman for the Kennedy Foundation, is the "Growth and confidence that comes from a healthy body and physical coordination... which in turn frees the mind for more sophisticated learning and accomplishment."

Roundup Time At A&M June 6-8

Saddle up, podnuh! It's roundup time!

More than 1,800 4-H boys and girls from throughout the state will be invading the camp site of Texas A & M University June 6-8 for the 1972 State 4-H Roundup. And they will be bringing a multitude of talents and abilities as they enter into statewide competition in more than 30 contests and demonstrations.

In addition to the 4-H'ers, state 4-H officials say that some 600 adults including county Extension agents, 4-H leaders, friends of 4-H, contest donors and members of the board of directors of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation will also be on hand.

The 4-H'ers attending Roundup have already been named county and district winners in various demonstrations and judging contests. To be eligible to compete at the state level, the boys and girls must have won first or second place in district competition. There are 13 districts of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H.

This year's Roundup will officially get under way with a general assembly at 5:30 p.m. on June 6 in G. Rollie White Coliseum. Special awards will be presented to 10 individuals, businesses and mass media representatives who have made outstanding contributions to 4-H work. These awards are provided by the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation.

One of the special activities of the Roundup is an adult leader recognition luncheon on June 7 honoring those who have given strong support to 4-H. Twenty-seven 4-H adult leaders will each receive a special plaque from the 4-H foundations. Contest winners and donors will be honored at a special recognition program that evening.

According to state 4-H officials, the annual Roundup is one of the oldest statewide 4-H gatherings in the nation. It began near the turn of the century before 4-H officially became the youth phase program of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Lynn County 4-H'ers attending Texas 4-H Club Roundup are Carla Wilke and Terle Steen, Safety demonstration; Cindy Cook and Richard Taber Cooperative demonstration; Renn Dorman and Kevin Wood, Farm and Ranch Management demonstration; and Jana Adams and JoAnna Adams in Dairy demonstration.

LINDA HUFFAKER SAYS ...

Do you hesitate to buy canned hams? How do the hams compare in price and quality? How long do they keep? Are they inspected?

Canned hams, the most popular of the canned meats, should pose no mystery to food shoppers.

Almost any market will offer several brands of fully-cooked hams in a variety of weights.

Smaller, one-to two pound hams, heated to sterilization temperatures, require no refrigeration prior to opening. Larger, three-to 10 pound ones have been heated only to pasteurization temperatures and are perishable. Labels on these larger hams specify refrigeration even before opening.

Heating a canned ham usually improves texture and flavor but is not required. All sizes can be eaten cold without heating.

Buying a larger ham means paying a lower price per pound with the same brand. But the larger meat may be a different cut.

Hams of five pounds and under feature shankless and usually buttless cuts from the more desirable center portion. Larger hams are sometimes shankless cuts, but often the entire ham is packed.

The degree of trim, plus addition of honey and other ingredients also influence the cost of the canned ham. Some are smoked, but smoke flavoring does not increase the cost per pound as do honey and other ingredients.

Dry gelatin is often added to canned hams during processing. Ham weight may increase up to eight per cent after injection of the curing solution during canning. This solution and other liquids cook out as the ham undergoes processing, so the gelatin is added prior to heating. Labels for these hams read, "fully cooked ham with natural juices, gelatin added."

Labels on all canned meat products post a list of ingredients in the order of largest to smallest in quantity. Only corn beef ham or chopped ham, with an identity standard, doesn't list ingredients.

Some canned meat labels also report the expected number of servings. If the label lists the number of servings, then it must also state the amount of each serving. Canned luncheon meats contain ham, beef, pork or combinations of pork and ham or pork and beef. Most brands of these meats sell in 12-ounce cans, making price comparison easy.

All U. S. process meats are inspected for wholesomeness. Foreign exports undergo an inspection program equivalent to that of the U. S. and imported meats are sampled at the port of entry.

SKIPPY SAYS

Peanut Butter Cookies Pack a Wallop

There's more than one reason for making a batch of peanut butter cookies. A big first is that nearly everyone — and especially kids — like them. But just as important, and often more so to mothers concerned about the good health of their children, is the fact that peanut butter cookies pack a wallop in nutritional goodness. Peanut butter ranks as one of the most nutritious foods that Americans eat. It is rich in needed protein, a good source of polyunsaturates, as well as B vitamins, especially niacin.

In the Skippy peanut butter recipe here oats and nuts add to the protein value.

Peanut Butter Oatmeal Refrigerator Cookies

- 1/4 cup margarine
- 1/4 cup peanut butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup quick oats
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1/4 cup chopped nuts

Mix margarine, peanut butter and sugars. Mix in egg and vanilla, then oats, flour and nuts. Shape into roll about 2 inches thick. Wrap in waxed paper; chill about 4 hours or until firm. Cut in 1/8-inch slices with sharp knife. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in 350°F. (moderate oven) 8 to 10 minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Remove immediately from baking sheet and cool on wire rack. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

Deformed Bract Defeats Weevil

The "Frego bract" may be a key to biological control of the boll weevil. The National Cotton Council explains that bracts are leaflike structures surrounding the buds which develop into cotton bolls. In normal cotton, these bracts are broad and leaflike. They offer the weevil a preferred environment for egg laying.

The Frego bract, however, is unusually narrow and twisted and it is not suited to the weevil's laying habits. According to U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers, boll weevil populations were reduced 66 to 94 per cent in fields of cotton with Frego bracts. On two farms, no insecticides were necessary for weevil control in the Frego fields during the growing season.

The USDA says it is unlikely that the female boll weevil will adjust rapidly to the Frego bract since this would involve a change in the insect's behavior pattern. Although Frego cotton quality is not high enough for commercial use, it is believed that the abnormal bracts could be bred into high-quality cottons within five years.

Ralph Yarborough Seeks Senates Post

Houston: Ralph Yarborough candidate for the U. S. Senate, today disclosed that his runoff opponent, Barefoot Sanders, while in the Texas Legislature, voted in 1957 against a reform proposal that would have required state legislators to disclose their sources of income.

Yarborough said, "My opponent claimed to be a candidate for reform and honesty, yet while a member of the Texas House of Representatives in 1957, he voted against a proposal offered as an amendment to the Ethics Bill which would have required that state legislators disclose their sources of income."

"When he had his opportunity to stand up and be counted for reform, full disclosure and legislative honesty, he voted "no", and by his vote and his example helped kill this reform disclosure amendment in a vote of 59 to 69. If this disclosure act had been passed, instead of being killed with the aid of Barefoot Sanders, the Sharpstown band fraud and scandal might never have happened. Barefoot Sanders was weighed on the legislative scales and found wanting."

NEWS for OUTDOORSMEN

by VERN SANFORD

Here are some facts of interest to outdoorsmen:

Cricket raising for bream fishermen now has become big business. A half-dozen cricket farms through the south produce something like a million crickets per year, which are sold at local bait stands.

A true saltwater goose is the American brant. Seldom is it found far away from the sea. They are not migrants to Texas. A whittled wooden plug is believed to be the first ever tossed at a bass. That happened less than a hundred years ago — back in 1889.

You can always identify a copperhead snake by the pit on each side of its head. That's the reason they are called pit vipers.

Chukar hunting is permitted far into the winter months where they are legal game. Texas has planted them, but they are not yet in shootable numbers.

Watch those little sandpiper birds along the water's edge. They are always tipping their heads or their tails and have the nickname of "teeter-tails".

Texas fishermen are learning to use poles like those in Florida for moving their boats over sand bars and through moss beds. These can be the kind that pole vaulters use, with a foot added at one end.

A snapping turtle feeds only under water and it cannot draw its head or tail into its shell.

Empty, quart-size ice cream containers, the round kind, if filled with water and placed in your deep freeze, can be used to cool your portable ice chests. Provides drinking water, too, when melted.

There is economy in buying chunk ice for your chest instead of the crushed variety. It costs much less and lasts a good deal longer.

If you want to add to lake-side beauty, take along a few dime packages of flower seed when you go fishing. Strew them at good places along the banks of your favorite stream or lake.

When taking a camera into a boat, drop it into a plastic bag and put a rubber band around it. This gives the delicate mechanism of the camera protection against spray.

A small transistor radio is a handy item to keep in the tackle box if you are interested in getting the news while out fishing. Don't play it so loud as to disturb other fishermen.

Most public parks now have signs prohibiting dogs. If you are taking a long vacation trip, it might be best to board the pooch.

You can make cheap and effective fishing sinkers. Use spent .22 shells. Drop a small-size paper clip or a piece of bent wire into the shell. Then fill it with molten lead, solder or a mixture of water and pure cement.

Fat Bus

Harvey never knew what hit him until they told him about it afterward in the hospital.

He had been standing on a sidewalk near the curb, gazing to the north, when a bus approaching from the south moved in for a stop. The front corner of the bus, which overhung the curb, struck him a glancing blow on the forehead.

Under these circumstances, was Harvey entitled to collect damages from the bus company? In a court test, the company said no. The driver had a right, argued the company, to drive as close to the curb as his wheels would allow.

But Harvey won a substantial judgment. The court said the driver should have realized that, since a bus is fatter than its

Reminder

A yearly physical checkup is a special safeguard against cancer. The American Cancer Society reminds everyone that it's what you don't know about cancer that can hurt you.

The American Cancer Society wants every woman in America to have a Pap test. Why? It can save lives from uterine cancer.

Cancer is most curable when it's caught early and treated promptly. The American Cancer Society urges you to have a health checkup once a year even if you feel great.

For Dad

A message for daddies from the American Cancer Society: have a checkup once a year for your sake and the family's.

Cigarette smoking can rob you of years of life. Nobody likes a quitter, but we do say the American Cancer Society.

wheels, it can extend over the curb and smite an unsuspecting pedestrian standing on the sidewalk.

In the eyes of the law, a sidewalk is a safety zone in which the pedestrian reigns supreme. As the court put it:

"A pedestrian is entitled to assume there is no danger from traffic as long as he remains on the sidewalk."

Would it matter if the pedestrian had actually seen the bus coming toward him? That should make a difference, claimed the bus company in another injury case, because it would have been so easy for him to take one step backward—to be safe.

But again the court ruled in the pedestrian's favor. The court said he simply had no reason to expect that the bus would intrude where it had no business intruding. Still, there is always the possibility that at the very moment of impact, the pedestrian may have been leaning over the curb into the street.

One woman was struck by a bus while she was standing on the sidewalk between a fire hydrant and an electric light pole. Yet, even though both the hydrant and the pole were at the very edge of the curb, neither of these objects was even scratched.

Applying common sense, the court concluded that the woman herself must have been at fault. The judge said that, at least for a brief instant and a brief distance, she must have leaned out of her safety zone on the sidewalk, into the danger zone on the street.

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS ...

Lawn grasses do not thrive on restricted diets. If you want a beautiful, healthy lawn, regular feeding is a must. Although lawn grasses require all plant nutrients, the most important are nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium (potash). These are needed in the largest amounts and usually the first to become limiting. Grasses feed heavily on nitrogen and the amount of the soil is seldom adequate for good grass growth. Supply nitrogen in adequate amounts along with phosphorus and other nutrients as needed. Avoid applying nitrogen alone continuously as phosphorus and potash will become limiting. Common forms of nitrogen are quickly available to the grass so apply the material in frequent, small amounts to maintain healthy, uniform growth. Single applications should never exceed two pounds per 1,000 feet. One-pound applications are preferable on a more frequent basis. Also available are so-called "slow release" nitrogen fertilizers which permit heavier applica-

EDWARD D. THOMAS

Edward E. Thomas St. Conservationist

Youth, dedication, experience, professionalism—these are some of the traits of Edward E. Thomas, newly appointed state conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in Texas. Thomas returns to his native state from Nashville, Tennessee where he was deputy state conservationist for SCS. He succeeds Clyde W. Graham who has been named director of the South regional technical service center in Fort Worth. A career conservationist since 1954 Thomas was an assistant to Graham at the Temple state office until he went to Nashville in January 1971. "Having the chance to return to Texas as state conservationist exceeds my fondest dreams," Thomas admits matter-of-factly. "My family and I learned to love Tennessee, but it was always second to Texas." After starting his conservation career at Lubbock in 1954, Thomas worked at Wellington, Wheeler Jayton, and Morton. Then he became area conservationist at Pecos in 1963. After holding a similar position at Harlingen, he moved to Temple as assistant state conservationist in 1968. Thomas is a 1954 graduate of Texas A & M University where he was a member of the track team. He is also a graduate of Vernon High School and served as an Army officer in Korea from 1954 to 1956. He is a member of the T. Association of Texas A & M, the Soil Conservation Society of America, and the American Society of Range Management. He and his wife Mary have three children: Eddie, 15; Bill, 13; and Susan, 11.

Let's Go Fishin'

FISH THE COOL SPOTS
Fishing is the only sport in the world when finding a cool spot may mean you've found a "hot spot".

Most anglers look for traditional "hot spots" for their summer fishing success, when—reality—they should be searching out those cool, shaded areas where fish find life more pleasant.

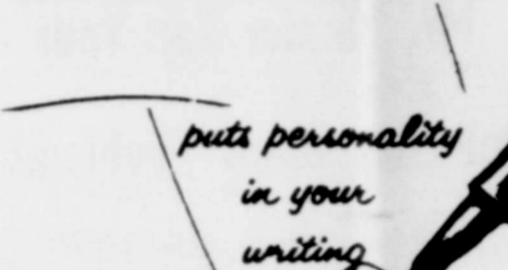

And a likely place to find such an area is to check the back ends of covers where water is shallowest. For here, by midsummer, water plants such as algae and moss have developed a thick, spongy layer that serves as a water conditioner for fish.

A common theory brought to attention of the fishing department at Mercury outdoors is that water is cooler beneath such layers of plant life. For one thing, the water is shaded from direct rays of the sun. Another thought is that the plants act as an evaporating cooler for the water underneath. Whatever the reason, these thick beds of water plants are good places to fish.

Temping a bass or pike out of a cool spot beneath the moss isn't easy. One method calls for using a pork rind frog, with a single weedless hook. Another popular lure is a sponge rubber frog or mouse, with double hooks imbedded in the lure to prevent their being clogged by algae or moss. The weedless feature is important.

Cast the lure into the middle of the weedbed. Let it sit a minute, and then begin hopping it along on top of the moss. Stop every few feet, then begin the retrieve again.

VOTE FOR PERFORMANCE

There is no margin for error in an office that must guarantee the biennial fiscal solvency of the state—balancing billions in receipts to payments each year. Bob Calvert has built a tax accounting system that is considered a model for study by other states. During 23 years as Comptroller, he has an unblemished record of remarkable public service.

VOTE FOR EFFICIENCY

Bob Calvert has continually modernized operations to provide greater service at lowest cost. The electronic data-processing equipment he installed is recognized as one of the most sophisticated and efficient computer systems in the nation.

VOTE FOR CONFIDENCE

Under Bob Calvert, the Comptroller's Office has returned $450,776,028.09 to 692 Texas cities since their sales tax was enacted. Every penny has been accounted for. His records are verified by the State Auditor's Department to insure absolute accuracy. The Texas Research League has proclaimed Calvert's office one of the most outstanding in the country in accounting and administration.

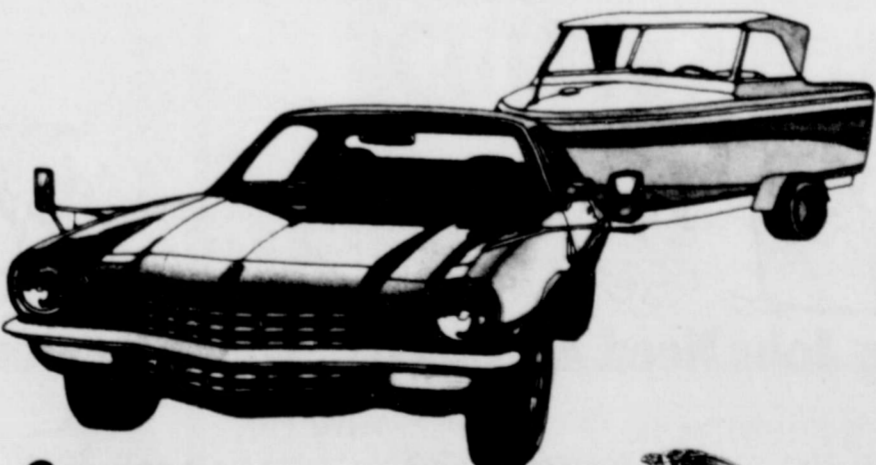

VOTE FOR INTEGRITY

The only things "old fashioned" about Bob Calvert are the virtues of honesty and integrity which he considers vital for a person in a position of such public trust. On the other hand, his runoff opponent, who has had six marriages, four divorces and one annulment, was fired from the Comptroller's Department last November after being convicted of aggravated assault on a female.

Highlights AND Sidelights

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

The long-awaited special finance session of the Texas Legislature has been called for 10 a.m. June 14.

Gov. Preston Smith issued the official proclamation last week stating repeatedly he plans to present a 1973 budget which will require no new taxes.

The governor, who has implied he would veto a tax bill, said he does not think lawmakers can pass one without his placing the subject of revenue on the special session agenda.

Under the proclamation, Smith will allow legislators to consider "such other subjects as the governor may submit from time to time."

However, he made clear he does not plan to open the call to any other business until the 1973 budget -- financing state operations from Sept. 1, 1972-August 31, 1973 -- is finally passed.

Smith vetoed all 1973 fiscal year appropriations adopted by the legislature during the 1971 regular session. In anticipation of more federal aid (that never was received), the Legislature did not enact a 1973 welfare budget -- which made a special session inevitable even without the governor's veto.

A proposed state officials' code of ethics and a recommendation for repeal of a controversial new trailer brake law are among items to be offered the special session for action after passage of the appropriations act.

There is some speculation Smith may try to avoid the need for new taxes by proposing a welfare program financing act covering less than a full fiscal year. This would leave the balance of 1973 welfare appropriations as emergency business for the regular session next year.

COURTS SPEAK -- The State Supreme Court dismissed the appeal of a Dallas man who sought a reduction of the $250,000 fee awarded his ex-wife's attorneys in a divorce action.

The High Court upheld a Houston court of civil appeals finding that high fees collected by a woman in an insurance case were the result of the insurance company's pro-longing litigation. National Life Insurance Company protested that legal fees ran five times as much as the insured collected.

In another case, the Supreme Court agreed that the state was immune from damage after a blind San Antonio boy drowned in a Texas State School for the Blind pool. PARTY SWITCHING ILL-GAL -- Secretary of State Bob Bullock issued a stern warning that June 3 runoff election voters must "stay in the party primary where they voted on May 6."

Bullock said Republicans who voted in the GOP first primary or Democrats who voted in their own May 6 primary cannot switch and participate in the other party's runoff primary.

If violations are discovered, said Bullock, they will be turned over to prosecuting authorities. It is also a violation, of course, for voters to cast ballots in two different precincts, within the same

OUR DEAR OLE' WEST TEXAS -- BY LEONA LEWIS ESTEP

This West Texas weather--The most unusual ever known -- One day it is snowing -- The next, upon us the sand is thrown. Our problems we have all suffered -- For the cruel weather that brought no rain -- But we all love ole' Texas -- And our dear ole' South Plains. I've been around for miles and miles -- To all points south and to Hollywood -- But dear old Texas is my home -- For that's the place I've always stood -- You kind people, don't get my wrong -- For this is the place where we pay our taxes -- A more friendly spot you'll never find -- Than our dear ole' West Texas. -- Now that Spring has come along -- With friendly weather and leaves so green -- Makes our dear ole' West Texas -- Almost seem a pleasant dream -- Now won't you nice people visit our state -- Where you meet kind people and a friendly smile -- Where you find beautiful scenery -- All around for miles and miles. -- Let's all visit the grand cities of Texas -- Where you find everything you need -- BUT bring your raincoats, just in case -- It decides to rain to grow our seed.

party, reminded the chief state election officer. $25 MILLION IN BONDS SOLD A total of $25 million in bonds have been sold to municipalities under the state's new financial assistance program for improvement or construction of sewage treatment facilities. Texas Water Quality Board reported it has received 106 applications for loans of water quality enhancement funds amounting to $28.77 million, and 72 applications totalling $24.63 million have been approved. Thirty-four applications are pending in the amount $4.1 million, and $4.2 million has been transferred to 16 projects where bids have been approved and cities are ready to start construction. Loans went to Atlanta, Berger, Clarksville City, Cleburne, Conroe, Dallas (four projects), Iowa Park, Mineral Wells, Montgomery County FWSO No. 2, Nueces County WCID No. 4, Rosenberg, Seagoville and Wortham.

The program makes it possible for cities to make improvements at about 25 percent of project costs to themselves. Bonds provide the state's share, and the federal government pays the rest.

AG OPINIONS -- A $1 special fee is applicable to all delinquent tax receipts and certificates issued by county tax assessors-collectors for special districts and should be included in a "state cost" item on forms furnished by the comptroller, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded: A requirement that portions of tuition fees be placed in a scholarship fund applies to charges for vocational-technical courses at public junior colleges. Up to 10 percent of the fund may be paid to out-of-state students. Collin-Denton County Water and Sanitation District has constitutional power to collect and dispose of garbage. APPOINTMENTS -- Governor Smith appointed H. Deskins Well, Wellington newspaper publisher Interstate Compact Commissioner for the Red River succeeding William R. Elliott of Sherman. Smith appointed Graham Bruce of Orange 128th district judge, and he picked B. R. (Pat) Fuller, former Eagle Pass and San Marcos city manager, to head the Texas Department of Community Affairs. William J. Pittstick is new chairman of the governmental operations committee of the Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. George Schrader of Dallas is chairman of the TACIR information services committee. GUARD CALLED OUT -- National Guard units from San Antonio and Austin were called out by the governor in a pilot traffic safety effort over the Memorial Day weekend. The Guardsmen rode as second man in highway patrol cars or manned Guard trucks and jeeps on "lifesaving" patrol. If the experiment proves successful, Smith said he may call Guard units to special duty during other holiday weekends. Meanwhile, law enforcement officers and traffic court judges were urged to "handle traffic violators in the full measure which our laws provide."

LEGISLATORS HIT -- A former state legislator received a four-year prison sentence for using state stamps to buy a second-hand pickup truck, and four other present or former lawmakers were indicted. Ex-Rep. Walter Knapp of Amarillo drew the prison sentence. Former Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford and Rep. John Allen of Longview were indicted in a scheme to hire each others children as legislative aides without requiring them to work. Rep. Tom Holmes of Granbury faced indictment for allegedly using House of Representatives-issued postage stamps to pay most of the price of a pickup truck. Former Rep. Hudson Moyer of Amarillo faces accusation of using House postage stamps to pay off a $6,000 bank loan.

Travis County District Attorney Robert O. Smith, who prosecuted former House Speaker Gus Mutscher handled all the investigations and vowed to crack down on any legislator who gets out of line if he can make a case. SHORT SNORTS Liberal Democrats are maneuvering to keep State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Roy Orr from presiding at the state party convention in San Antonio June 13. Agriculture Commissioner John White claims a grain theft ring was broken with the arrest of three itinerant grain truck operators at Cleburne. Forty-two Texas prison inmates are on death row as the U. S. Supreme Court studies whether the death penalty is constitutional. There has not been an execution in the Texas electric chair since July 1964. Veterinarians warned that Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) vaccine should be administered to horses only by accredited vets. Pecan growers will get a hearing here June 15 on a petition seeking certification to hold a referendum under the commodity law. State Health Department employees announced a massive strike against venereal disease financed by a $1.17 million federal grant. A Senate study committee report estimated a million Texans have used marijuana, and found state punishment excessive.

KNOW HOW

The pharmacist, through his training and expertise, is qualified to make professional judgments about drugs. Indeed, it is this knowledge that enables the pharmacist to better understand that in many cases the physician, through experience with his patients, has come to rely on the effects of a particular drug.

This is one reason why we never make unauthorized drug substitutions in filling prescriptions. Substitutes may be foreign made, or manufactured without well-controlled procedures for testing quality and the effects on a patient may be different than expected. In fact, so-called "equivalent" generic drugs have been shown to be different when clinically tested.

How come this kid has more money saved than you do?

Because over the years his parents have invested in U.S. Savings Bonds—in his name, for his future—by participating in the Payroll Savings Plan at work. He probably doesn't even know. And right now, he couldn't care less. But when he's older, that money can be used for a lot of things—a car, a college education, or even a new home. The Payroll Savings Plan is an easy way to save money for you and every member of your family. When you join, an amount you designate will be automatically laid aside from your paycheck and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds. It's a painless way to save. And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5 1/2% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1/2%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds. Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work and make your son the richest kid on the block.
