

Cotton Producers To Elect Directors

Lynn County cotton producers and agribusinessmen will elect a Producer Director to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at an 8:00 p.m. meeting on Tuesday, August 29 at the Lyntegar Room Tahoka.

Announcement of the election comes from Joe D. Unfred of New Home, current Lynn County Producer Director or to the 25-county commodity organization, and R.C. Carroll, Jr. of O'Donnell, Businessman Director. Each of the counties in PCG territory has two directors, one a businessman, usually a cotton producer. They serve two-year terms, with businessmen elected on odd years and producers on even years. Each is eligible for re-election every second year.

Unfred and Carroll said all interested parties are urged to attend, and that both farmers and businessmen are eligible to vote in the election.

In addition to the election, Unfred said a member or members of the PCG staff will be on hand "to bring us up to date on cotton activities and to answer any questions concerning the organization's objectives." He added "Directors to PCG are the men who determine the organization's policies and actions on legislation, research, promotion, finances and other matters so vital to the cotton economy of Lynn County, and all cotton people should make every effort to be on hand for this election."

Beef Prices Forced Up

Beef prices will be forced up because of the ban this week on the cattle feed additive DES, the president of the Texas Farm Bureau charged today.

J. T. (Red) Woodson said the decision by the Food and Drug Administration is typical of the "bureaucratic bungling" that hurts both the farmer and the housewife.

The FDA Wednesday banned the manufacture and use of DES in animal feeds. The substance, diethylstilbestrol, is used to promote growth of cattle and sheep.

The FDA Wednesday banned the manufacture and use of DES in animal feeds. The president of the 130,000-member Texas Farm Bureau said that the FDA move would mean less meat on America's dinner tables. He added that the price would necessarily be higher.

Woodson said that the U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates that a beef animal fed DES reaches the market weight of 1,000 pounds 35 days sooner -- and consuming 500 pounds less feed -- than one that isn't fed DES.

The TFB leader charged that the ban was imposed because of a technicality in the Food and Drug Law.

"FDA Commissioner Charles Edwards emphasized that he hasn't any reason to believe that use of DES in animal feed represents a public health hazard," Woodson said. "In fact, Dr. Edwards flatly stated that human harm hasn't been demonstrated in the 17 years since DES was developed."

"We know that the banning of DES will result in higher over-the-counter meat prices to the housewife," Woodson said. "We trust she will remember that government, and not the producer, is the direct cause of this increase."

LINDA HUFFAKER SAYS ...

For top eating-round, can fresh fruits and vegetables. Before canning, check your equipment carefully. Note if steam pressure and water bath canners are in perfect condition. Discard unuseable jars and follow manufacturer's instructions for lids and sealing. Also be sure you have up-to-date food preservation directions.

Select only high quality vegetables and fruits. Remember that the shortest time between picking and processing will insure highest quality food. If vegetables are limp, they will be less tender when frozen or canned.

Spoilage is also a danger in canning if you wait too long before storing vegetables in cans or jars.

You'll need to blanch most vegetables before freezing to retain peak quality. Then cool them rapidly. To can fruits and tomatoes with the hot water bath process, place the filled containers in a large vessel with a rack on the bottom and with the water level completely above the tops of the jars. The water must be a rolling boil throughout the processing time to drive out air in the cans to thoroughly heat contents.

Vegetable canning demands a pressure canner. The boiling water bath isn't hot enough to safely preserve the vegetables.

Non-acid vegetables...all vegetables except tomatoes can become quite toxic if the temperature of every particle isn't heated to the proper degree - a job that requires a pressure canner.

When canning for low salt and low sodium diets, you can spruce up the flavor of vegetables that contain no salt by adding a very small amount of complementary seasonings. This won't affect the processing time.

For example, peak up beets and carrots by adding one tablespoon of lemon rind or orange juice per quart jar. A pinch of spice, fresh herb or dried herb, pimento or a teaspoon of finely chopped celery will give a lift to green vegetables.

Cotton insects over the county are relative light, the cabbage looper has increased in numbers and in some spots in fields are ragging leaves.

Livestock: The month of July was the worst that Lynn County livestock producers has suffered through since the eradication program began in 1962. We have had many cases of screwworms and the month of August has been almost as bad as July. The Texas situation is so bad that it is almost incomprehensible. The state recorded 15,331 infestations during July.

We have received application blanks for windbreak plantings from the Texas Forest Service. Trees available for windbreak planting are Austrian Pine, Black Locust, Black Walnut, Green Ash, Mulberry, Osage Orange and Ponderosa Pine.

The ERTS - Satellite was successfully launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base, California at 10:50 a.m. Pacific time on July 23. The satellite passed over Tahoka on August 16 and will be passing every 18 days until August, 1973. Lynn County has six men doing ground observations for the satellite program. They are Tom Mason, Lit H. Moore, Jr., Jiggs Swann, Howard Moore, Eb Crawford and Harold T. Barnett. The satellite program has many uses. The satellite can map soils, identify crop disease, measure the total cotton acres in the United States. This is just some of the uses of the satellite program.

HORSE SHOEING - Pictured above are: Miss Davaughn Evans of Tahoka, senior education student at West Texas State University, gave her pre-school pupils an unusual opportunity to see the vanishing art of horse-shoeing. The educational experience was part of her student teaching at a Canyon school. Shoeing the horse is Miss Evans fiance, Jack White, an employe of the Mesa Verde Feeding Co. of Wildorado. (WTSU Photo)

Children See Horse Shoeing

The art of shoeing a horse is fast joining other parts of early American life in the pages of history books.

But a group of pre-school children in Canyon will be able to tell their children and grandchildren that they once saw a horse shod.

The educational experience was the idea of Davaughn Evans of Tahoka, senior education major at West Texas State University. She was one of 48 prospective teachers taking part in a five-week kindergarten curriculum program conducted by the WTSU College of Education at Rex Reeves Elementary School here.

The students were each given a 20-minute period during the recent summer school session to take charge of the pre-schoolers.

Miss Evans, daughter of Dave Evans of Tahoka, prevailed upon her fiance, Jack White, an employe of the Mesa Verde Feeding Co. of Wildorado and a skilled practitioner of horse-shoeing to give the children a demonstration of his vanishing trade.

"I thought it would be a good educational experience for the kids since so very few people have ever seen this done," Miss Evans said.

White, clad in jeans, leather apfons, boots and western hat, worked with tools that had changed little from those used by the blacksmiths of the Old West.

The scene thus put before the youngsters and the 48 teachers was like a visual recapturing of the days before the gas station replaced the livery stable.

White is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Roy (Pistol) White.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

BY MAX W. BAKER

This week marks the last days of Johnnie Martin's work with the Soil Conservation Service for this summer. Johnnie started work with the SCS in the summer of 1971 under the Neighborhood Youth Corps Program in co-operation with the Tahoka Public School District. After about 2 months experience Johnnie was hired full time as a Summer Aid and was rehired for the current summer.

Johnnie Martin has given valuable assistance in compiling soils maps, plan maps, and other materials for assembling conservation plans. He has also assisted in the reorganization of Work Unit files of District Cooperators.

Large amount of his time has been devoted to grid mapping which is an essential part of the designing of most parallel terrace systems. In his previous experience in this phase of the work, Johnnie has headed teams of high school boys hired by the farmers to grid map the land to be terraced.

Having graduated from Tahoka High School this year, Johnnie plans to attend Texas State at Canyon, as this fall. All of his work with the Soil Conservation Service with respect to our appreciation to Johnnie for his work with the program was a real success in the eyes of the Soil Conservation Service.

The Lion's Line

WAYNE HUFFAKER

Wayne Huffaker and sons, Cal & Ralph have found that the best laid plans of mice and men often go awry especially when planning a Colorado River float trip through the Grand Canyon.

Wayne told of his trip and showed movies to the Lions Club at last week's meeting. The first misfortune came when clothes, film and equipment shipped two weeks prior to the trip failed to arrive.

The Hatch River Expedition had been on the river two days when Wayne and the boys walked over seven miles down into Grand Canyon to meet the rafts.

The temperature had climbed to 115 degrees in the canyon and Wayne, carrying some 40 lbs. of equipment became a victim of heat exhaustion. He was sick for two days.

Some 30 people including a crew of five on three rafts made the 200 mile trip.

Wayne reported that the Colorado River temperature was somewhere in the neighborhood of 48 degrees, making it much to cold for swimming. Trip members used incoming rivers and streams for drinking water and bathing. The Colorado comes out of the dam at Lake Powell at the 576 foot level.

Huffaker was impressed by the way the crew of five fed the group. The menu ranged from eggs and pancakes for breakfast to cold cuts for lunch to steak, baked potatoe, salad and homemade soup for supper.

The crew even came up with a birthday cake for Ralph who celebrated his 10th birthday on the river.

Another bit of misfortune hit when the trip took on water from a polluted stream near the end of the trip. Everyone came down with severe stomach cramps and associated miseries.

The trip ended as the group entered the waters of Lake Mead making the final 60 miles across the lake at 3 m.p.h.

Wayne and the boys then flew back to the starting point by private plane.

Tahoka Lions meet each Wednesday noon at the cafeteria. Visitors and guests are welcome. Wendall Patterson is president.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

For the first time in three years, the number of Texas families with dependent children on welfare rolls declined last month.

There are 1,555 fewer AFDC recipients than a month before, the State Department of Public Welfare reported.

Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Vowell attributed the reversal to a number of factors, including tighter controls on AFDC program eligibility, vocational training and expanded day care programs to help mothers get to work.

The decline was the first in AFDC caseload since July, 1969. Drop-off was from 447,967 recipients to 446,412.

A steady increase in recent years has been attributed to liberalized eligibility standards as ordered by federal courts and altered federal regulations. In late 1970 and early 1971, AFDC rolls swelled at a rate of 10,000 to 12,000 recipients a month. Growth slowed significantly in recent months.

Vowell directed caseworkers to return to the practice of holding personal interviews with AFDC applicants and recipients, verifying income, child support, domicile, household composition, and other factors affecting eligibility and the amount of assistance granted.

A massive recertification effort also has been ordered by which AFDC cases are being checked individually to determine whether a family situation has changed so as to affect the monthly assistance payment. A new policy also has been instituted requiring applicants to provide documentary evidence of child eligibility by birth or baptismal certificate or hospital record.

Fraud detection efforts have been stepped up and 130 of 205 suspected cases have been referred to local prosecutors or grand juries. PWD reorganized a far reaching reshuffling of Parks and Wildlife Department divisions was ordered by new Executive Director Clayton T. Garrison.

Garrison named six new directors to head statewide divisions under a new structure.

The new directors are James E. Dickinson, 30, finance; Stetson G. Reed, 39, law enforcement; Robert J. Kemp Jr., 46, fish and wildlife; Paul E. Schlimper, 32, parks; Clayton G. Rutter, 38, engineering; and Bobby E. Bradley, 37, administration. Richard A. McCune will remain as director of information and education.

Garrison said the reorganization is a "move to get back to the basic responsibilities of the department." Each of the six new divisions will be the headquarters unit for administration of all field activities. PWD personnel will report to appropriate directors and divisions in Austin. HIGHWAY CONTEST FINALISTS NAMED - Five State Highway Department foremen and construction supervisors are finalists for this year's Lady Bird Johnson award for highway beautification work. They are Milton C. Campbell of Ralls, Cullen Luttrell of Sonora, Herbert H. Smith of Rusk, Melvin E. Bayless of LaGrange, and Rinaldo Rivera of Falls River.

Mrs. Johnson will make the awards October 11 at the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park near Stonewall. First-place winner will receive a cash award of $1,000 and the runnerup will get $ 500. An additional award of $500 will go to the newspaper writer who does the best job on highway beautification coverage, and an identical prize will go to the best radio-television effort in the field.

OFFICERS CREDITED - Additional auto insurance reductions may result from intensive law enforcement efforts that curb accidents, Southwestern Insurance Information Service said recently.

On the other hand, if enforcement efforts slacken and accident frequency rises, benefits of the recent 11 per cent rate cut (effective September 1) will be lost, the association said.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Active interest in establishing extensive textile operations on the High Plains is again beginning to boil.

Efforts to form textile manufacturing companies here and to attract outside companies have been going on for years. And, to say the least, success has been far from spectacular.

But one is reminded of the cattle feeding industry. For 30 years and more High Plains people toured cattle feeding operations in other areas, feasibility studies were made, Texas Tech and Texas A&M conducted any number of feeding research projects and marketing analyses. Still, very little happened for a long time. A few scattered commercial feedlots appeared in the early 1950's, a few more in the late 50's and early 60's, and their profitability became a proven fact. Then the idea really caught fire, and in the last decade huge, ultra-modern feedlots have sprung up on the Plains like mushrooms.

Today the High Plains feeds 75 percent of the cattle for slaughter in Texas -- and Texas feeds more cattle for slaughter than any other state in the U.S. As of August 1 this year, 1,638,000 head were on feed in the High Plains area, compared to 1,561,000 in the entire state of Iowa, a traditional leader in the cattle feeding industry.

And there are those who believe the long enduring struggle to secure a toe-hold on the Plains for the textile industry could have the same end result.

Among these enthusiasts is Roy B. Davis of Lubbock, recently retired manager of Plains Cotton Cooperative Oil Mill and the Governor's choice as Chairman of the Texas Rural Development Commission. Sharing his hopes and beliefs is Donnell Echols of Lamesa Chairman of the Board of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and also a member of the TRDC, and many others.

Beginning the latter part of September a "team" from the TRDC will visit New York City and move on down through the textile-intensive southeastern states, calling on executives of the nation's leading textile manufacturers. They'll be telling of the advantages offered by Texas and the High Plains, including abundance and proximity of fiber supply, productive labor, climate, nearness to midwestern and western markets, availability of the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech, and other attractive features they believe will outweigh any potential disadvantages.

They are now arming themselves with facts and figures to meet head-on the old bugaboo of water supply and ability to dispose of effluents from finishing and dyeing processes. Working with them are chemical and water resource engineers from Texas Tech, the Textile Research Center, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, the city manager and city engineer for Lubbock, Plains Cotton Growers and any number of others.

Small yarn-spinning plants are already in operation at Lorenzo and Abernathy on the Plains. And, hampered as they are by size and limited by their inability to carry processing beyond the yarn stage, they're still in business after a number of years, and they're operating at a profit.

Alleens, Inc. about two years ago put in a knitting, cutting and sewing plant in Abilene. They are now expanding into a plant with 17 acres under the roof that will spin raw fiber, knit it, finish it, cut it, sew it and turn out ready-to-wear women's and children's clothing. The operation is considered highly successful.

Even closer to home, Burlington Industries has operated an integrated sheeting plant in Post since 1914. It too is a profitable plant.

The point is this: If these things can be done at Lorenzo and Abernathy and Abilene and Post, they can be done at other locations in the area. And the dream of large-scale textile operations on the Plains may be no less real than the one-time dream of a massive cattle-feeding industry.

Past Days In Lynn County

Copied from Aug. 27 1931
DO YOU KNOW Tahoka children go to school in the country.... Our high school campus was a part of the T-Bar ranch until a few years ago... C.O. Edwards has been in the ranching business on the Plains longer than any man living or dead... He came to Crosby county in the middle 80's... Ben Moore of the Wells community has a large collection of buffalo horns found in the breaks along the caprock... Dr. C.B. Townes saw service in the army during the Spanish-American War... Joe Brooks owns a paper that is 66 years old - a copy of the New York Herald of April 15, 1865, which tells of Lincoln's assassination and of Gen. Lee's surrender to Gen. Grant at Appomattox Court House... 28,429 quarts of canned goods valued at $12,092.55 were put up in Lynn county last year.

Capt. Stevens had been putting about twenty-five boys through light work-outs each day until the coach's arrival, which was expected yesterday afternoon.

"Though we have only five letter men back from last year so far, the prospects for a good team are as bright as they were at this time last year," Supt. J.B. Pace Jr. states. The five letter men are Stevens, Walker, Short, Curry, and Tankersley. Last year's team was probably the best ever turned out by the local high school.

Coach McCarver is a last spring's graduate of Howard Payne College, where he has won the reputation of being one of the greatest running backs ever to don a suit in the Southwest.

C.V. McElvea formerly of Abilene but more recently of Hereford, is here preparing to open a bakery in the W.L. Knight building just east of the Phillips Service Station. Mr. McElvea has had considerable experience in the baking business and is no doubt prepared to give good service.

One man entered pleas of guilty in the Justice court here Friday to charges of drunkenness, abusive language, and fighting, all these offenses having occurred at the Bill Anderson dance hall on Thursday night. On Saturday another man entered pleas of guilty to drunkenness and fighting at the aforesaid time and place. Both of the men paid off.

Pleas of guilty to an arraignment were entered Monday in the Justice Court here by three young men of the Grassland community. The difficulty in which they participated occurred on the night of August 1 following a dance near Grassland, it is said. Two others have made bond to appear before the next term of the Justice Court in September on similar charges.

At the Kiwanis luncheon Wednesday, Mrs. R.W. Fenton made a very fine report of her trip to College Station and of the interesting things she noted there while attending the Short Course recently given by the A.&M. College. She has been president of the state women's demonstration clubs the past year and has attended the short course for the past four years. She has not only become prominent in the work of the state organization but has done a wonderful work in Lynn county. Her report was so comprehensive that we have not the space to give even an outline of it.

Mr. Walter Jackson of Abilene, who is here doing some educational work with the First Baptist Church made a brief but very enjoyable talk. He was followed by Dr. W.K. Johnston of Lubbock, Presbyterian pastor here, who also spoke in his usual interesting manner. Walter Anglin read a letter from a council of the civic clubs of Amarillo inviting the cooperation of Tahoka Kiwanians in treating any cripple children that might be reported to them whose parents are unable to have them treated. Any person knowing of any such child should report to Walter Anglin or Truett Smith.

Tahoka received her first bale of cotton of the 1931 crop Wednesday afternoon. Frank Rainey raised it on the Irving Stewart place two miles north of town and had it ginned at the Farmers' Independent Gin shortly before sunset Wednesday. He brought in 1400 pounds of seed cotton and the bale after being ginned weighed 460 pounds. The cotton was sold this morning to the Forrest Lumber Co. at 7 cents per pound and brought $32.41. A premium of exactly $50.00 was made by Tahoka business men and paid to Mr. Rainey.

Although Coach "Nig" McCarver had not arrived at the middle of the week, preliminary football practice has been under way on the Bulldog gridiron since Monday.

Jack Reaves of Lubbock a member of the State Highway patrol, was here Monday and asked that we call attention of the farmers to the fact that the state law requires a reflector to be placed on the rear of all wagons traveling the public highways at night. This will enable them to be readily seen by all auto tourists and prevent possible wrecks. All farmers haulign cotton to the gins and the drivers of all wagons at night should observe this law for their own protection.

Judge G. C. Grider left Wednesday afternoon to attend the county judges and commissioners' convention which was to meet in San Angelo this morning.

Before leaving the Judge stated to a representative of the News that he was to appear as the first number this morning on the program. He was to discuss Conditions in West Texas and our Legislative Needs. He said that the program committee had allotted him two hours' time for the discussion. At the last convention he was allotted an hour to discuss the subject assigned him and at the end of the hour his time was extended forty minutes longer. They allotted him two hours to start with this time, he says. The convention comprises all West Texas, and the Judge was expecting a large attendance.

Mrs. A. J. Hilton of New Home, 75, fell and broke her leg above the knee one day last week when her foot caught on a rug. She was taken to a sanitarium in Lubbock and treatment but owing to her advanced age the fracture is healing slowly.

Another unfortunate incident connected with misfortune was the fact that her husband, A.J. Hilton, contracted pneumonia while attending her at the hospital and has himself been in a precarious condition. He is not in the hospital, however, but is being cared for in the home of a grand-daughter in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilton are the grand-parents of County Clerk Truett Smith.
