Freak Accident Kills Mrs. McLaurin Friday

A driverless car traveling in a circle about 15 to 20 times near the Post Office last Friday twice ran over its owner, 39-year-old Mrs. Ann Louise McLaurin, who was reported dead on arrival at the West Texas Hospital in Lubbock.

The story of the 7:15 a.m. freak accident was pieced together from witnesses by Tahoka police chief Jack Miller. Miller gave the following report.

Mrs. McLaurin, who lived at 820 Ave. L in Tahoka with her two daughters, drove her car into a parking space on the west side of the Tahoka Post Office and got out of the car. She apparently thought the transmission was in "park", but the vehicle began moving in reverse after she stepped out.

The woman began to chase the car while holding on to the open car door, trying to get inside to stop it.

The open door struck utility post across the street, knocking Mrs. McLaurin down. She jumped up, grabbed the door again but again fell down.

That's when the car first rolled over her, Miller quoted witnesses as reporting. The car started around the same circle again.

An unidentified man ran to pull the woman away from the circle of danger, but the car came around knocking the man down and rolling over Mrs. McLaurin a second time.

Witnesses reported the car traveled in the same circle from 15 to 20 times, with the door striking the utility post each time, at a pretty fast speed before it eventually was stopped. However, before the car reached Mrs. McLaurin a third time, the man who was knocked down was joined by another who pulled her from the car's path. None of the rescuers required hospitalization.

Another man, also unidentified, threw a rock through a front-side window on the car and jumped head first through the window into the moving vehicle.

Throwing the gear into a forward direction and back into reverse to slow the car down, the man finally steered the car into the side of the post office building, where it stopped.

There was no damage to the building.

The car had passed at least once over Mrs. McLaurin's stomach. There were additional injuries reported to her left shoulder and legs.

Mrs. McLaurin was an employee in the office of Lubbock physician Dr. James G. Morris. Miller said Mrs. McLaurin was conscious before an ambulance reached the scene and had asked to be taken to West Texas Hospital in Lubbock. She was reported dead on arrival at the hospital at 7:45 a.m.

Mrs. McLaurin was born Jan. 21, 1934 in Kingfisher, Okla., and she and her family moved from Lorenzo to Lynn County in 1970. She attended school in Kingfisher and Colorado Springs. Services were held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Tahoka First United Methodist Church with Rev. Hugh Daniel, pastor officiating.

She was then taken to Kingfisher, Okla., for additional services and burial.

Survivors include two daughters, Charlie and Jerrriann, both of the home; a son, Roger Zundel of San Angelo; her mother, Mrs. Imogene Blair of Kingfisher; three sisters, Mrs. Margie Burpo and Mrs. Joe Gaither, both of Kingfisher, and Mrs. Margaret Smith of Enid, Okla.; three brothers, Troy Stroud of Kingfisher, Raymond Stroud of California and Gerald Stroud of Elizabethville, Iowa; and two step-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Lupe Tabor, W.H. McNeely, J.D. Davison, Bedford Raley, Jackie Hoskins and Morris Bingham.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH YOUTH CHOIR

Youth Choir To Present Program

The Youth Choir of the First Baptist Church, Tahoka, will present a patriotic musical, "IN GOD WE TRUST" this Sunday evening at 7:00 in the sanctuary. An interesting added feature will be a slide presentation that will highlight some of the content of the musical. The theme of the concert is our Nation's dependency on God: its foundation, its progress, and its future. The solutions to our problems can only be reached by first strengthening our relationship with God.

Solos will be performed by Larry Reynolds, Jeanie Inklebarger, Sherri Brooks, Lynn

Henry, Jerry Owen, Sherry Haney, Becky Bruks, Barbara Abbe, and JoAnna Adams. # Lasso® for cotton . . . Convenient weed control.

Cotton farmers are taking a good long look at Lasso, the preemergence herbicide by Monsanto.

Because Lasso is convenient to use.

First of all, you don't have to incorporate Lasso. You apply Lasso at planting. It's far less likely to blow away, then, and you've saved yourself an incorporation trip through the fields.

Lasso comes in easy to use liquid. You apply Lasso preemergence on the surface. Broadcast it, or for real economy, band it on. However you apply Lasso, you'll get effective control over Carelessweed, and almost a dozen other annual grasses and broadleaf weeds that compete with cotton.

And Lasso doesn't persist in the soil. So if you get hailed out, for example, you can come right back in with soybeans or corn with no carryover worries. Take a good long look at Lasso. It's the herbicide that's convenient for you at planting.

Move 'Em Out

New jumbo covered hopper cars are being rushed into service to move record shipments of grain for export as fast as they come from the assembly line. Santa Fe Railway alone is investing $37 million during a 12-month period for 2,000 new jumbos, 1,000 of which are already on hand with the balance due to be delivered beginning in June. This will bring that railroad's fleet of covered hoppers to about 16,000, nearly 12,000 of which will be of the 100-ton jumbo variety. John S. Reed, Santa Fe president, described the latest order as "... further evidence of our commitment to do everything we can to serve the grain industry, fertilizer industry, and others who require covered hoppers."

Tucker-Liseiby Pledge Double Vows

In a double ring ceremony Miss Lisa Dianne Tucker and Mr. Dennis Liseiby were united in marriage on Thursday, April 26th at 8:00 p.m. in the New Home Baptist Church. Officiating was Paul McClung, pastor of First Baptist Church, Morton, Texas.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Tucker of Rt. 4, Tahoka and the grooms parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Liseiby, Jr. of Route 1, Wilson. Mr. Tucker gave his daughter in marriage.

The altar was decorated with arched candelabras holding yellow candles. Floor baskets filled with yellow gladiolus tied in yellow ribbon accented the area. Candlelighters were the bride's cousins, Miss Debbie White of New Home, Steve Crosno and Bart Smith both of Lubbock. Lani Brown of Tahoka was flower girl and she carried a white basket filled yellow, pink, blue and green carnations feathered with baby's breath as filler and pastel ribbons. Debbie and Lani both wore yellow floor length gowns.

The bride wore a formal gown of ivory organza. The bodice was overlaid with chantilly lace and accented with seed pearls. The sleeves were full Bishop sleeves with large lace buttoned cuffs. The empire waistline dropped in the back to form a chapel length train. The headpiece was of Juliet style covered in pearls with a floor length veil of ivory net illusion. The bride carried a bouquet of white orchids atop a white Bible with showers of yellow, green blue and pink feathered carnations and gardenia colored trim. Her corsage was white cymbidium orchids taken from the bridal bouquet.

Miss Cheryl Fillingim of New Home was maid of honor and she wore a yellow floor length gown with a natural waistline. The long straight sleeves, the neckline and the hem were trimmed in dainty white lace. Bridal attendants were Mrs. Janice Liseiby of Snyder, Miss Karon Edwards of New Home and Miss Marshella Smith of Lubbock.

USDA officials are in the process of considering views from interested parties concerning the 1973 Commodity Credit Corporation cotton loan program, including a proposal that the 50 point penalty on bary cotton be removed. The deadline for submitting comment is May 9 and decisions on the bary matter, premiums and discounts for quality variations and other loan details should be announced soon thereafter.

The only real controversy revolves around the bary issue. Producers across the belt are unanimous in support of eliminating the penalty. But certain members of the trade are voicing strong opposition.

Earlier this year officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. Lubbock, recommended that the 50 point penalty on bary cotton, which is now applied in addition to a reduction of one full grade, be dropped. It was pointed out that an Agricultural Marketing Service study and other research work at Texas Tech University's Textile Research Center failed to justify the "double penalty" in terms of such cotton's loss of spinning and finishing performance.

Apparently based on the evidence presented by PCG, USDA in its Federal Register notice of April 9 said "... there is reason to conclude that the presence of extraneous matter doesn't affect the ultimate value of such cotton beyond that reflected in the grade reduction."

Those in the cotton trade who are objecting are basing their opposition primarily on the grounds that some cotton already has been contracted for Fall 1973 delivery at prices based on points over loan value and that removal of the penalty now would be "changing the rules in the middle of the game."

Responding to the Federal Register invitation for comment, PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, in a letter to Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Administrator Kenneth Frick, said "In our opinion this argument won't hold water," and made the following statements in support of that opinion.

"(1) Both producers and buyers knew when contracts were signed that there might be, and likely would be, some differences between 1972 and 1973 loan values.

"(2) If the argument is followed to its logical conclusion, then (a) USDA would be barred from making ANY change in premiums and discounts for micronaire, staple or grade in the 1973 loan schedule, and (b) since some cotton is already contracted for 1974-75 delivery, the same argument could be used to prevent a change for the next two years if not indefinitely.

"(3) Even if you assume that merchants would be unfairly treated on contracted cotton in 1973, only about 59,600 bales on the Plains (10 year average of 14.9 percent bary times the estimated 400,000 bales contracted) would be affected, while the alternative is to penalize producers, certainly more unfairly, on 298,000 bales (14.9 percent of an expected 2 million bale crop)."

Johnson's letter concluded by saying "I think you will agree that the objections to your proposal are far outweighed by the merit of the proposal itself and by the necessity for correcting a long-standing inequity in the loan program. We greatly appreciate your understanding of the basic issue in this matter, and again we urge you not to abandon your efforts to give producers a 'fair deal' and a strong support price for their cotton."

Add crochet laces, eyelet embroideries, ruffles, bindings, or knit trims for simple, colorful, feminine accents, suggests Mrs. Becky Culp, clothing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

FARM REVIEW

Energy Crisis

The real impact of a fuel shortage will be felt by Great Plains farmers by September, according to fuel experts in a conference at the University of Nebraska April 10-11, attended by Jack King, research director of Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

Localized shortages may be felt before September, the experts said, and fuel for irrigation could be critical in certain areas during peak pumping periods.

"The energy crisis is real," said James West, principle advisor on fuels and energy at the Department of the Interior. "We may be hard pressed to supply fuel and energy requirements this year.

An increase in farm fuel storage capacity was urged by both federal and oil industry spokesmen at the conference, who warned that diesel supplies will be tight.

Irrigation producers using both natural gas and butane should check with suppliers and make arrangements for stand-by fuels, according to natural gas officials. And they added that some curtailment of natural gas is likely in peak pumping periods.

The fuel shortage has been developing since 1967 partly because Congress has not heeded warnings from government and industry fuel spokesmen, the experts concluded.

"The gasoline shortage is caused by lack of refinery capacity and by the emission control systems on cars," said Granville Garside, special counsel to the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

"Diesel fuel will be short because our refineries are producing gasoline which has a higher profit return," Garside continued. He added that while diesel will be short it probably will be available at least until September, but farmers may have to search out supply sources.

Fuel shortages could continue for the next several years unless some leadership and proper planning emerges soon, the experts warned. They recommended the establishment of a National Energy Commission, incentives for industry to find new sources of oil and gas, and a more realistic approach to environmental problems.

GSPA has contacted authorities about the energy crisis on the farm, encouraging them to make sure fuel is available now to produce food required by the American consumer at a realistic price.

New Law On Pesticide

Summer is coming and so are the insects -- a plague to farmers and housewives alike.

This year it is more important than ever to read the directions on the container before spraying that rosebush or dusting that cotton field, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White pointed out.

"It's a matter of federal law this year," Commissioner White explained. "The Federal Environmental Pesticide Control Act of 1972 set out some firm rules on how pesticides can be used in insect control. The rules are printed on the product label and any use of the pesticide other than that indicated is a violation of this federal law."

The printed directions are for the protection of both the user and the environment, Commissioner White noted. Many products are very specialized in what they will or will not do. And the misuse of insecticides often can be harmful.

"It just makes sense to read and follow directions," he added.

Farmers are especially urged to check the product labels this season. Pesticides represent a big investment to the grower. He should get his money's worth by making certain he used the proper product at the right time in the most effective manner.

"Beware of misleading statements in newspaper advertisements," the Commissioner emphasized. "Generalized claims in the ads do not give full information. Instead rely on the directions on the product label to tell you what the product is designed to do, and how to use it properly."

In cases of damage to the environment or injury to human or animal life caused by improper pesticide handling, the user is subject to penalties of this federal law.

Information on the correct disposal of pesticide containers can be obtained by writing to John C. White, Commissioner, Texas Department of Agriculture Box 12847, Austin 78711. Ask for Pamphlet No. TDA - Q - 423A.

Know your product! Read the label! Follow directions! "Those are the ABC's of safe effective and legal chemical use," said White.

4-H Congress Slated For Texas

The first Texas 4-H Congress, July 10-12 in Houston, will involve members between the ages of 15 and 19 in developing program ideas that reflect the concerns of young people.

"There are two objectives for the Texas 4-H Congress," points out Dr. Don Stormer, state 4-H and youth leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "One is to identify specific areas of concern to older youth that have the potential for inclusion in the ongoing 4-H program. County Extension agents and 4-H leaders want additional programs that will complement their effort in meeting the needs and interests of older youth.

"A second objective is to provide a program that will be of interest to older delegates. The Texas Council, a representative group of older youth, recommended an emphasis on human values and their play in decision-making. a value-related theme developed for the Congress explains the 4-H official.

Stormer expects a attendance of more than 100 delegates for the Congress, which will be held at the Sheraton Hilton Hotel. Participants will include county delegates, members of the 1972 and Texas 4-H Councils, and county agents.

Each county is expected to send at least one delegate. State delegates will depend on the number of older 4-H members in each county. State members are not included in the county quota.

According to the 4-H grant of $3,000 by the Texas Livestock Show and Rodeo, the Congress will be held at the Sheraton Hilton Hotel. Each delegate must pay his own expenses.

Johnson Grass Cure

Chemical called glyphosate has shown much promise in tests for the control of Johnson grass, one of the stubborn field pests in Texas agriculture.

Glyphosate, said F.H. Fell of the Texas A&M University Soil and Crop Sciences Department, showed up best of six materials tried for controlling the grass in fields just after the harvest of such crops as sorghum and cotton. The other chemicals were terbacil, asulox, dalapon, and DDM plus MH.

Fell emphasized that glyphosate is aimed at fallow fields. It is not intended for Johnson grass control while the cash crop is still growing.

He also emphasized that glyphosate is strictly experimental so far. It has not been cleared by the Environmental Protection Agency and is not for sale.

Glyphosate started in the tests because it killed both the tops and roots (rhizomes) of Johnson grass. The other herbicides either would kill one but not both, or were erratic or too slow. Glyphosate's major shortcoming was lack of effect on grass seed.

Terbacil, Fell said, was found to leave a residue in the soil that might harm a following cash crop. However, the chemical could be a good one for fence rows and roadsides.

All the materials were applied in water at the rate of 15 gallons per acre with a tractor sprayer equipped with a 10-foot rear-mounted boom.

Fell's co-workers in the tests were C.W. Helpert and M.G. Merkle, also with the A&M Soil and Crop Sciences Department. Merkle also conducts weed research for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS

During the last half of May some 24,000 Texas farmers will receive a crop acreage questionnaire from Charles E. Caudill, Agricultural Statistician In-Charge of the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Austin, Texas.

This information will be the basis for determining the planted acreage for the State of Texas and for each county. There are 254 counties in Texas, and reports are needed from many farmers so that each county will be well represented. Accurate estimates are of great importance to farmers in planning production and marketings and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture.

The Texas Legislature has provided a program of estimates for each county. Texas covers such a wide area that State totals alone do not provide adequate information on Texas' most basic industry - agriculture. This is a cooperative effort of USDA's Statistical Reporting Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Farmers May Receive Loans

Farmers in Lynn County who had suffered crop or property losses because of drought and other natural disasters during the period January 1, 1972 through June 19, 1972 and who have not received an Emergency loan to assist them in recovering their losses may apply for an Emergency loan at the Farmers Home Administration County Office located in the Federal Land Bank Building, Tahoka, Texas, on or before close of business May 8, 1973. Applicants who apply by the deadline will be considered for Emergency loans at 1 percent interest.

In addition, those who qualify may receive a forgiveness benefit on their loan of not to exceed $5,000 based on losses that are uncompensated by insurance or otherwise.

Compiled From Sources
Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Production Down, Income Up... Cattle on Feed Increases Again... Cattle, Calf, Sheep Sales.

Wool and mohair producers are enjoying some of the best prices they've received in years. Mohair prices, for example, were 89 percent higher in 1972 than in 1971. Wool prices are 32 cents per pound on the average higher for 1972 than for 1971.

Increased demand for the commodities plus a continuing decline in production are reasons for the price situation.

Texas mohair production during 1972 was down 32 percent from 1971. The number of goats and kids clipped during 1972 totaled 1,521,000 head, down 31 percent from 1971.

Average price for mohair during 1972 was 83 cents; this compared with only 30.1 cents per pound during 1971. Total 1972 value of mohair to Texas producers was $8,458,000, up 89 percent from 1971.

While mohair production was declining, so was wool. Texas sheep produced 29,400,000 pounds of wool during 1972, a decline of three percent.

A total of 4,145,000 head of sheep shorn on Texas ranches averaged 7.1 pounds per fleece during 1972, down slightly from 1971.

The average price per pound of wool during 1972 was 48 cents; this is 32 cents a pound above 1971. Total value of wool produced was $14,100,000 in 1972 compared with only $4,900,000 in 1971.

Nationwide, the production of wool also declined three percent during 1972. A one percent decrease in number of sheep and lambs shorn was also noted in 1972.

IT'S THE same story for Texas and cattle on feed. Texas continues to be the number one cattle feeding state in the nation. During April, a total of 2,259,000 head of cattle were on feed in Texas feedlots. This is 22 percent above the number a year ago, and three percent above the total a month ago.

Indications now are that close to 4,000,000 head of cattle will be fed out in Texas this year, which will be another healthy increase over last year.

Feedlot operators report intentions to market 1,320,000 cattle between now and June 30. This would be 21 percent more than marketed during the April-June quarter of last year, again proof positive that cattle producers are expanding their operations and not holding back on cattle in an attempt to keep the price at high levels.

Large feedlots—those with 1,000-plus capacity—numbered 238 in Texas and held 2,211,000 cattle on feed for slaughter market. Capacity for these lots showed a 76 percent occupancy.

Steers account for the bulk of cattle on feed with a total of 1,462,000 head, heifers and cows totaled 797,000 head.

Nationwide, cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market in 23 major feeding states is five percent above a year earlier. Marketings now through June are anticipated to be five percent higher than a year ago.

SALES of cattle, calves, and sheep increased in Texas during March, while sales of hogs declined.

Cattle and calves marketed through auctions in Texas during March was 38 percent higher than a year ago, and nearly 50 percent higher than a month ago.

Sheep sales were three percent higher than a year ago, and 75 percent above a month ago.

Hog sales during March in Texas were 15 percent below a year ago, but 28 percent above a month ago.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Doctor's Fee

Harold's wife died shortly after undergoing an operation. When a bill arrived from the surgeon, Harold decided not to pay. In due course, the matter wound up in court.

"Obviously, the operation was a failure," Harold pointed out to the judge. "Why should I have to pay for services that were useless?"

However, the court ordered him to pay up. The court said a doctor's services are to be measured by the quality of his work, not merely by the results—and this doctor had performed the operation in a proper manner.

"The marvelous skill of the greatest surgeons in the world," added the judge, "is sometimes futile."

This case states the general rule of law about medical fees. Furthermore, unless a specific sum has been agreed upon in advance, the doctor generally has considerable leeway—within reason—in deciding how high the fee will be.

May he take into account the patient's ability to pay? That is, may he charge a higher fee to a rich patient than to a poor one? Most courts say yes, sometimes on the theory that high-paying work will allow him to take on more low-paying work.

Nevertheless, the basic standard of due care remains constant, whether the fee is large or small—or even nonexistent. In one early case, a doctor was accused of neglecting a charity patient. In his defense, he insisted that he had less responsibility to be careful when he was working for nothing.

But the court disagreed, and held him liable on grounds of malpractice.

The judge commented: "Whether the patient be a pauper or a millionaire, whether he be treated gratuitously or for reward, the physician owes him precisely the same measure of duty and the same degree of skill and care."

from the U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION AND WELFARE

VETERANS' EDUCATION — HEW's Office of Education announces a new program to improve services to returning veterans. A counseling service has been set up in the ten HEW regional offices and in some overseas locations to interview returning servicemen and determine their educational needs. In addition, the new program will help veterans apply for financial aid for their education and to overcome any educational deficiencies they may have. Veterans or others interested in this program can get further information by writing to Veterans' Program, Office of Education, Room 4012, 400 Maryland Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C., 20202.

CAREERS WITHOUT COLLEGE — A new survey by HEW's Office of Education and industry associations shows that many career opportunities as technicians exist for men and women who don't have college degrees, and that plan to get them. Printing data processors, computer operators, sanitation specialists and civil engineers are some of the careers discussed in "25 Technical Careers You Can Learn in 2 Years or Less." Free copies are available by writing to Careers, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Max Minor former Tahoka football star, was a member of the West team in the all-star Masket Temple Shrine game at Wichita Falls Labor Day which lost to the North team 15 to 6.

Minor, playing at half, is said to have starred as much as anyone on the West team, but did not get much opportunity to show his stuff. On one occasion, Minor intercepted a North lateral pass and ran it back about 40 yards.

Asst. Coach Blair Cherry of the University of Texas coached the West team, and Coach Matty Bell of S.M.U. coached the North team.

The game was witnessed by his father, John Minor, brother, A.J. Minor, H.A. Maasen, Billy Hill and Miss Hazel Thomas.

Max is visiting home folks this week, but will go to Austin soon to enter the University of Texas. He and James, who will also enter the University for post graduate work toward a law degree, have been working at Palestine this summer.

Mr. Chandler was formerly Texaco agent at Post, but has been a resident of this county 14 years, owning a farm in the Grassland community. He is married and has two children, Tommie Ruth and Charles.

Deck Dunagan has been connected with service stations here for a number of years.

Tahoka's 1940 Bulldog football team will open the season tonight against the usually powerful Monahans Green Wave at Monahans. The entire squad of thirty boys, Coaches Leo Jackson and Hope Haynes, and a few fans are making the trip to the oil field city for the game. In an intra-squad scrimmage on the local gridiron last Friday night, a hundred or two fans saw a sample of what might turn out to be a pretty fair football team by midseason. The boys many of whom are a bit green, entered into the scrimmage with zest and enthusiasm.

Though there are a number of excellent new recruits, Coach Jackson is likely to start the game Friday night with a team made up of experienced players. The starting line-up will likely be composed of Earl Adams co-captain at quarter, Jo Lehman, Roy Botkin, and Cecil Curry, back; Truman Hines, co-captain, center, Pug Parker and Kelly King, guards; Raymond Knight and A.G. Deason tackles; Hoss West and Jake King, ends. Among those likely to see action early in the game are Doyle McClintock and "Rusty" Waldrep, backs. C. Davis, end; A.G. Crutcher, tackle; and Doug Henderson, guard. In fact every member of the squad is likely to see service in the game.

Organized Crime

months ago outside a Dallas... a well-known police character... intriguing nickname, "The Creeper" in a hall of gunfire in a scene out of a Hollywood gangster film. He had suspected he was the "leader" of a loosely-knit group of southern western thugs known as the Dixie before this scene conjures up vision of organized crime takeover in the State, Texans should be aware of the state-wide efforts already being made to crack down on crime.

publicized up to this point, the Organized Crime Prevention Council is mounting an all-out drive to corral all of the criminal world.

Council, co-chaired by Attorney John Hill and Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Department of Public Safety, is comprised of top law enforcement officials from throughout the state. The hoodlums are organized, but we are not, too," Colonel Speir pointed out, "and we are moving ahead on all criminal fronts including auto theft, prostitution, gangstering, narcotics, fencing of stolen goods, and thefts and many others."

Attorney General Hill, since taking office, has expanded the organized crime division within his office. Headed by Tim James, a former vice squad leader and attorney, has the sole responsibility to work in close cooperation with local officials to help ferret out organized crime activities.

The office can give legal and auditing aid in conjunction with the DPS officers at the local level, assist in the welcome mat from under the criminal element in our state,"

Hill and Speir acknowledge organized crime does exist, but not of the class of La Cosa Nostra vintage.

Some of our home-grown hoodlums are within out-of-state mob ranks, and may be getting some tips and coaching from us. We have no concrete information on the national syndicates as they are operating in the state," said Speir.

The fact is indicated in statistics compiled by the Council.

Among the list of crime categories in our state is illegal gambling.

It is estimated that more than $815 million in football bets alone during the 1971 season with some $98 million flowing into the mainstream of organized crime activity.

During the calendar year from 1968 to 1971, the Council's gambling figures were more than 130 arrests were made. Bookies began to feel the heat. In regard to this as a sizeable accomplishment in such a period of time, when the state has had restrictions in making gambling cases are taken into consideration, says Colonel Speir. "Our records show that on the average, it takes 360 days to make a single case on a gambling case."

Increased pressure is being applied on drug traffickers in Texas. The Narcotics Service has been averaging 100 cases per month, mostly for sale of narcotics and dangerous drugs.

Speir estimates they will file some 2,000 cases against 2,000 defendants this year compared to some 960 cases against defendants three years ago.

Law enforcement officials move with arrests on all fronts there is increased activity behind the scenes.

"Texas Law Enforcement Intelligence Unit Association" has been formed to coordinate the exchange and sharing of confidential information on organized crime through establishment of an intelligence system involving law enforcement agencies throughout the state; exchange information on organized crime with appropriate neighboring states and federal agencies;

establish a central file or clearinghouse of criminal intelligence information and disseminate it with data and authorized dissemination;

develop personal relationship and trust between members of the organization and all law enforcement agencies;

promote professionalization of law enforcement;

coordinate the planned law enforcement through investigation and vigorous prosecution of organized crime.

One of the major areas of concern is the lack of law enforcement officials is the lack of awareness of what constitutes

VANISHING AMERICAN

organized crime.

Says Colonel Speir: "To understand organized crime, a definition is in order. Organized crime, in general, consists of unlawful activities of the members of a highly organized, disciplined and sophisticated association engaged in supplying illegal goods and services including, but not limited to, gambling, prostitutions, loan sharking, narcotics, labor racketeering and other unlawful activities."

"Organized criminals seek to infiltrate and control legitimate business. They also strive to corrupt public officials and others in an effort to minimize exposure and the possibility of legal intervention."

The Texas Criminal Justice Council, working through Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, is helping fund an approach to public education.

As one officer points out: "The public itself needs to understand that a seemingly innocent little football bet is a contribution to organized crime."

"The public needs to understand that 'cheap' bargains on some items of merchandise very well could be from a 'fence' who is peddling stolen goods."

"The public needs to understand they are the ones being victimized, and it won't stop until all citizens awaken to the fact that organized crime is everybody's business."

Members of the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council along with Attorney General Hill and Colonel Speir are District Attorney Ted Butler, Bexar County; Dallas Police Chief Frank Dyson; San Antonio Police Chief Emil Peters; Harris County District Attorney Carol Vance and Dallas County District Attorney Henry Wade.

These men are charged with combining top talent from law enforcement agencies all over Texas to combat organized crime.

"Public officers holders in all states have a mandate from the citizens to stamp out organized crime, and it is essential that we all cooperate to live up to that mandate," Attorney General Hill said shortly after taking office.

While the major responsibilities within that state's organized crime prevention and control operation have been assigned to the Department of Public Safety, all law enforcement agencies in Texas are playing a role.

Enforcement, and especially prosecution, at local levels are fundamental to the operation's success, according to Hill, who added:

"Until we break the cycle and crack down in areas which supply so much of the illicit cash which bankrolls the mob's operations in illegal drugs, auto theft, murder and robbery we can't truly say we are breaking up organized crime."

An "omnibus crime bill" is being prepared at this time for presentation to the 63rd Legislature now underway.

It will contain a wide range of requests for new legislation and some Constitutional revisions.

Legislative needs which have been delineated for Texas include:

1. Admissibility of oral confessions of criminals;

2. Electronic surveillance under strong safeguards;

3. Concurrent jurisdiction for the State Attorney General and statewide grand jury capability;

4. A law making possession of gambling paraphernalia a felony;

5. Receiving and concealing stolen property law.

Also there is a need for a general overhaul of criminal statutes to cope with specific offenses subject to organized crime such as loan sharking prostitution, book-making and others.

Electronic surveillance (popular name, wire tapping) is probably destined to become the most controversial new law being sought.

Law enforcement officials feel, however, such surveillance is grossly misunderstood.

With the news media telling daily of "bugging" in high places, the process has rapidly become a code word meaning "invasion of privacy" to many people.

"But without such investigative aids," Colonel Speir says, "it is almost impossible to get to the top of major illicit narcotics distribution systems and other organized crime activities simply because the most powerful mobsters never get involved beyond their telephones and penthouses."

The same situation holds true with organized gambling.

What will be proposed to the Legislature will be a tightly controlled electronic surveillance law -- patterned after Federal law -- which could be used only under formal orders by a District Judge, obtained only for a specific period of time and only after the Judge has become convinced that there is probable cause to believe that a person or persons are involved in organized crime.

"With the proper safeguards," says Colonel Speir, "the public can be guaranteed its right or privacy. The only people who need fear a wire tap are those with something to hide from the law."

The Organized Crime Prevention Council also is recommending a state statute to create and finance a statewide organized criminal investigation commission with independent, permanent status.

It would contain an adequate staff of investigators with subpoena power to keep a constant watch on danger areas. The commission would make periodic reports to the Governor and the Legislature and maintain close contact with law enforcement officials for possible prosecution purposes.

Both Hill and Speir are confident Texas is moving in the right direction -- and rapidly -- in efforts to control organized crime.

"We have identified the problem, begun to speed arrests and push prosecution and the word is increasingly spreading that organized crime can't do business in Texas," Hill says.

"If the public will join in to a greater extent, the day when Texas can become free of organized criminal activity will come much sooner," adds Speir.

Ski Suits

It happened on the slopes at a busy ski resort. The ginner, was "snowplowed" downhill when a sled struck her from behind. Painfully injured, she to claim damages from the management. She blamed the incident on the fact that the run and the sled run were right next to each other. Physical separation between

At the court hearing, the judge pointed out that the put up signs warning to stay away from the ski run court granted Alice's hearing.

"Sleds are not cashed while novice skiers are unable to direct their movements. The location of two runs made accidents possible but probable."

The growing popularity of skiing has focused new attention on the question of liability for injury. Generally speaking, the case above, the manager liable for accidents which have prevented by his foresight.

Nonetheless, skiers chosen a relatively safe sport—must accept a fair share of the risk. In another case, a skier was hurt when he struck concealed under the snow. The rock was small and had been checked regularly.

Denying liability, the court said: "Skiing conditions change quickly. To hold that the skier must accept a fair share of the risk would be to demand the impossible."

Several cases have pointed out that ski lift accidents on ski lifts. By and large, the management bears the responsibility for a chair lift accident. If a skier has more control over his own destiny.

Thus, the management is liable when a skier's descent on a protruding wooden post he was trying to dismount a moving chair. This was a danger, said the court, which could not be expected by the skier.

Carolyn Haley Says...

Look for an abundance of fresh corn - on the cob from now until at least the middle of May, at produce counters throughout the eastern two-thirds of the county. The surge in supplies at this time is pretty much a result of unpredictable weather that upset the normal marketing pattern planned by sweetcorn producers in Florida. Fields planned for marketing earlier were held back by too much rain and cold. So, these fields as well as those scheduled for harvest now, are ready at the same time. So there's more fresh corn at stores and vegetable markets now than is needed. Food retailers, newspaper and radio food editors, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture have been asked to spread the word: "Sweetcorn is plentiful."

There's nothing quite like fresh, hot buttered corn on the cob, for a real spring or summer treat. And the joy of the present abundance from Florida is just the first of the season. As summer advances northward, other production areas will supply our needs. So, let's eat it while it's fresh.

In choosing sweet corn, look for fresh, succulent husks with good green color silk ends that indicate recent picking. The ears should be well covered with plump, not-to-mature kernels. Most American families prefer kernels in the tender, milky stage. It doesn't pay to buy too much sweetcorn at one time, because it's best when used as soon after picking as possible. But now that it's so plentiful, you will want to buy all you can take care of properly.

For the best eating, store the unhusked corn, uncovered in the refrigerator, and use in 1 or 2 days. If you buy and cook more than can be eaten at one time, don't fret about possible waste. Fresh roasted corn, cut from the ear, can be used pretty much the same as canned corn. Try these ideas:

Broiled Fresh Corn-on-the-Cob - take 6 ears fresh corn, and....
 3 tablespoons butter
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 One - sixteenth teaspoon black pepper
 1/2 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
 Remove husks and silks from ears of fresh corn. Melt butter in saucepan; add salt, pepper and lemon juice. Brush over corn. Place corn in flat pan and broil until golden brown, turning the ears as they brown. Will serve 6.
 Escalloped Fresh Corn: Take 2 1/2 cups uncooked corn, scrape or cut from ear
 2 tablespoons flour
 1 teaspoon sugar
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
 1/4 cup minced green pepper, or chopped ripe olives
 1/2 cup milk or cream
 2 tablespoons butter
 1 cup soft bread crumbs
 Mix corn with the next six ingredients listed. Melt butter and mix with bread crumbs. Sprinkle 1/4 cup crumbs over bottom of 1-quart casserole. Add corn mixture cover and bake in a preheated oven for 20 minutes. Sprinkle with remaining crumbs and bake 20 minutes longer. Makes 4 servings.
