"TWO BITS WORTH"

BY JOHNNY VALENTINE

"When all is said and done, it's politicians who say it, and the taxpayers who do it."

We have several comments lately about the onion shortage, or we'll say the drastic rise in prices. As usual the Grocery Man gets the blame. Not true at all. As nearly always shortage is what raises the prices. The nationwide shortage began with Hurricane Agnes last August. Last summer onions were selling for $5.50 to $6 for a 50 pound bag and at the present time have jumped to $30 for a 50 - pound bag. Hurricane Agnes flooded the onion crop in upstate New York and other eastern states the onions rotted in the ground. Bad weather also affected the crop in other states and as onions gradually got more scarce, and farmers in Michigan, the state with the biggest damaged production, raised the price as demand increased. Better plant a patch in the back yard.

TBW

Part of the long range planning, and certainly one of the answers to a food problem, lies in the growing shortage of water in the Plains area.

The crisis will not come overnight, but solutions can't be found overnight either. Any solution to the water problem has to be found years in advance.

We in Texas are not willing to accept the report of the Mississippi River Commission and Bureau of Reclamation who found that "Although there may be Mississippi River water available for diversion during some months of the year, the cost of diverting water to the High Plains is excessive."

In addition, "environmental impacts to the Gulf area and along the diversion route could significantly aderse."

Even worse, "in the absence of supplemental water supplies, the High Plains area will likely return to the type and extent of agricultural production existing prior to the introduction of irrigation in 1944, with crops and agricultural practices being limited to those that withstand the annual precipitation rates of about 20 inches."

In plainer English, the committee says when the water runs out, farmers in the High Plains will have to make the best of it by going back to strictly dry land farming.

Underlying the entire committee report is the fallacious assumption that providing irrigation water for the High Plains is merely boostion production of crops that are already in surplus and which cost the government a lot of money in subsidy payments and storage costs.

The commision needs to get updated. Irrigation farms in the High Plains area also produce a lot of other foodstuffs, notably corn, milo, wheat, soybeans, sugar beets, onions, lettuce, carrots, potatoes and man other food items that members of the commision no doubt expect to have on their table in plentiful supply from now on.

Maybe Texans can turn back to conditions in 1944 and go back to dryland wheat farming. But it will certainly be a step backward.

Take away the irrigation, and we will indeed return to less costly farming practices, but also to a lot less income.

It will not serve anyone's best interest to let West Texas dry up or move West Texas to water, as some dreamers have suggested. More than economics or ecology is involved. We are dealing with people, rooted to the land and producing food for a hungry nation. We can't turn back the clock.

Our congratulations to Phil McClendon for winning the Class AA State 880 yard run. Phil is one of Tahoka's real fine senior lads and worked real hard to obtain this goal. Pays off too. We understand he inked a letter of intent to Baylor University on a track scholarship.

Editorials

THE CONSUMER ALERT

One of the most important cogs in our credit-based economy is the well-managed credit bureau.

In many Texas communities, retail merchants sponsor their own bureau. In some places, they depend upon and cooperate with reputable independent bureaus.

The function of a credit bureau, regardless of who runs it, is to be an objective third party, performing the task of gathering information from business with whom the consumer has traded, and making that information available to other creditors.

The credit bureau is important to you, because it literally is the keeper of your financial reputation. An error in credit reporting could result in the loss of a property choice, a purchase bargain -- or a job.

In the past, there were frequent reports of abuses by some unscrupulous or careless keepers of credit records. The Congress responded to those reports by enacting the Fair Credit Reporting Act, which sets standards for proper operation of credit bureaus and firms which engage in credit record checks.

The Fair Credit Reporting Act prohibits the collection of credit data for any purpose other than for the granting of credit.

If a merchant is given a "bad" report on your credit rating, you should be informed and you have the right to inquire as to the reason.

If you have innocently overlooked payment on an account, that gives you an opportunity to take care of it, and clear your record. If, for some reason, you have had to delay payments to your creditors the negative report could prompt you to clear up the delay payments to your creditors, the negative report could prompt you to clear up the problem.

In the event that someone merely has ignored his responsibility as a credit user, of course, knowledge of an unfavorable report would give him the impetus to reassess his financial situation.

The Texas Legislature went an extra step in 1971, an passed a law to make it a misdemeanor crime to "knowingly" give a false credit report.

That left room for human error, which could occur in a credit bureau as easily as it could in any other type of business operation.

Honest mistakes do happen. I know of one case in which a man with an excellent salary and an excellent payment record moved into a new city. He bought his wife a washer and dryer on installment, and before the first installment was due, the merchant's delivery truck arrived to repossess the appliances with the explanation that the man was behind in his payments.

It turned out that the firm had our friend confused with another man who bore exactly the same name -- middle initial and all; same age; same profession, and same place of birth. That was straightened out -- with the help of the local credit bureau manager.

A good credit record is one of the most important assets a consumer can have today. It is the magic key to free choice in major purchases decisions, such as a home and a car -- sometimes even the financing of a youngster's college education.

Some people who are not short of cash take out bank loans, or make an installment purchase, just to maintain a "live" credit record.

But if you are the average consumer who is dependent on the credit system, you should make it work to your advantage; When you are planning an installment transaction, be frank with the credit interviewer about your job history, your salary and other income and your credit obligations. If family illness or some other problem caused slow payment in the past, don't be afraid to explain it. It's much better to let the creditor base his decision on facts, than to find out you "fudged".

If you do run into any practices which violate the Fair Credit Reporting Act, or the Texas law, do not hesitate to complain to the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office.

No Advertising, No Free Press, No Freedom

To an increasing degree, we are witnessing efforts to restrict the free press and open lines of communication. Members of the press have been jailed for not revealing to courts and investigative bodies confidential sources of information. In many cases, if such sources were revealed the lives of individuals giving information about criminal activities could be placed in jeopardy. At the very least, the threat of disclosure would work to close sources of information previously available to the press and thus abridge the public's right to know. Legislation shielding members of the press from unlimited forced disclosure is imperative.

Another avenue of communication under broad attack is advertising, which is used not only to promote the sale of goods and services in a competitive market-place, but also to give facts and information on issues of public interest affecting the operation of basic industries whose products are absolutely essential to the functioning of the nation. In some 15 states, there has already been action to either abolish or seriously restrict advertising by utility companies. In a nation where majority public opinion determines the success or failure of any business enterprise, no matter how large, as well as the shape of state and national legislative policies, this is an extremely dangerous situation.

Public opinion surveys indicate that most people favor investor ownership of electric power facilities over government ownership. There is increasing understanding of the need for the construction of nuclear power plants to meet energy demand. Most people feel that electric service is reliable and that companies in their area are working to decrease any air pollution which they cause. Some 83 percent of the people questioned have rejected the idea that the only way to solve pollution problems is to drastically reduce the use of energy to the level of 30 or 40 years ago. This understanding of some of the facts of U.S. electric energy supply and its impact on our civilization has come largely as the result of the industry's efforts and its freedom to communicate its story to the public. What do you think would happen if this right of communication were stopped and no positive information could be presented by the industry so that the public could judge the merits of the record and the outlook for the future presented by the industry as opposed to the case made by its critics?

Unless the local electric company is permitted to communicate with its customers and as the chief executive officer of one of the nation's major electric companies has said, let them know that it is run with "... efficiency, economy, sound business management and concerned responsibility to the communities ..." which it serves, the end result is predictable. Public understanding and confidence in private enterprise electric service will decline. With public confidence will go investor ownership of the industry which supplies the energy that literally runs our civilization and upon which our very lives depend.

Carrying the matter a bit beyond its present state, a further question might be asked. If electric companies are not to advertise because there is barely enough electric energy to go around anyway, then what about automobile companies? Many people feel there are already too many automobiles in the United States. How about food? Shortages of supply of many food products exist, and it seems foolish to advertise for customers. Television sets, it is thought by some, are pernicious influences on the minds of the young. Perhaps they should not be advertised. You can take this as far as you want, but what it boils down to is -- the motive power behind our economic system, the right to advertise and sell a product in a competitive free market. Going even beyond that, of course, we are talking about cutting out the independent sources of support for a free press, which in the United States would be the final act of idiocy. Considering that individual freedom has never existed in a country without a free press, it is doubtful if it would long exist in the U.S.

There are, to sum it all up, many things to consider when judging the merit of the case presented by those who want to prevent various legitimate business enterprises from advertising to communicate with their customers on legitimate products or issues. If one is restricted, so will others be -- the process has already started. There is no question whose neck is really in the noose -- in the long run it will be our own.

THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1973 Past Days

Copied from Dec. 5, 1941
Tommye Sue, two-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Shortt, came the victim of a most deplorable accident last Friday night when she fell or jumped off a bed and broke one of the legs just above the knee. The child was brought immediately to the Tahoka Clinic, where the broken bones were set and the leg placed in plaster cast. The prospects are that it will be necessary for the child to remain in bed for several weeks.

Tommye Sue had a defective foot, a "club" foot, since birth, and the parents had been taking her to the British Rite Hospital in Dallas at frequent intervals ever since the child was 18 months old for treatment. The defect had been largely corrected, when she had with the defective foot was broken.

Many students are out of school because of the mumps at the present time. The names are: Lula B. Reid, Savannah Lou Tennell, Travis Morgan, Elma Reba Duggan, Joan Moore, Buddy George, Wayne Lee Curry, Glenn Darrell Wells, Claude Kelley, Billie Jo Sherrod, Kay Waldrup, Dottie June Floyd, Bob Waldrip, Donald Kent Cowan, Betty Hill, Billie Raye Anderson, Jean Reed, Lola Fern Kelley, Julie Jolly, and Billy Dale Moore. Many others are absent because of illness. It is not known whether or not they have the mumps.

A number of students have just recently returned to school after having recovered from mumps and several from whooping cough.

While Mrs. Walter Kahl, who resides in the Edith community east of Tahoka was shopping in a Lubbock department store Monday, a thief snatched from her grasp a purse containing fourteen dollars in money and a quantity of cotton stamps.

He quickly disappeared in the crowd and Mrs. Kahl was unable to give sufficient description of the thief to officers. No arrest was made.

Lynn county is among the first to the very first of the counties in this section of the state to receive a batch of soil conservation checks.

Up till Wednesday morning, checks for forty-nine farms in the county had been received for the aggregate sum of $13,425.81, according to Reble Thomas of the Lynn County A.A.A. office. More checks are expected to be coming in at frequent intervals hereafter.

Parity checks in the sum of $662.36 were also received Wednesday morning, and a batch aggregating $13,108.72 had been received a few days before, making a total of $24,700.00 received since our report last week. This brings the total for the year to $395,589.07, according to acting county retary Clinton Walker.

There can be only a few parity checks outstanding.

In warm-up games preparatory to the opening of the winter season, Tahoka boys' and girls' teams did not fare so well in the past week. However, Coaches A.L. and Hope Haynes have had their boys in training only a short time, and improvement is being shown by both boys' and the girls' teams.

Tuesday night of last week, Ropes defeated Tahoka 28 to 4, and Ropes won by a 35 to 11 score, but Tuesday night of this week the Tahoka girls won 9 to 8, while the boys held Ropes 17 to 15 score.

Wednesday night of last week, Union girls won over Tahoka 24 to 15 while the Tahoka boys defeated Union 17 to 15.

Tonight, the team goes to Meadow games.

K. R. Durham's To Dental Convention

Mixing business with pleasure, the K.R. Durhams returned from a 10 day trip on Saturday. The first 2 days were spent at the State Dental Convention in Austin. Part of this was 30 miles out from Austin at Lakeway Inn on Lake Travis.

On the weekend they drove to Greenville 60 miles N.E. of Dallas to hear the Greenville High School Choral Club present the musical, "Fiddler on the Roof." Their granddaughter Laura, a junior at G.H. School, was the piano accompanist for the performance.

Back in Austin the Durhams enjoyed a visit with State Representative and Mrs. E.L. Short and daughters who showed them through the capital, his private office, also the legislative and senate chambers. As guests of the Shorts, they attended a reception given by the South Texas legislators and Chambers of Commerce hosting their area and products. Naturally, orange juice was served and each guest was given a box of grapefruit. The Shorts also took them for a drive over the University campus and to other scenic parts of the city.

After the adjournment of the Dental meeting on Wednesday, the Durhams drove to San Antonio and on 90 miles west to Uvalde, Texas. That country's is very pretty at this time of the year, with flowers blooming in profusion and everything green.

For two days the Durhams were guests of the Fred Bucy's former Tahokaites where the men fished and the women just visited and relived old times.

Mr. and Mrs. Bucy lived in Tahoka in the '30's later moving to Brownfield where they lived about 20 years before going to Uvalde. Many old timers will remember them. Dr. Durham says he had not really realized what a job our State Representative is doing for us until he saw him in action. He is kept very busy attending sessions of the legislature and frequently committees meeting at night. He is expected to attend many receptions. The Durhams were impressed with the stature of our representative and the good job he is doing, as he represents this area. The other 149 representatives all know E.L. Short and respect him.

Wilson Seniors Honored By First Baptist Church

The Senior Class and sponsor of Wilson High School was honored by the First Baptist Church of that city on Thursday night, May 3, with a banquet held in the fellowship hall of the church.

The theme for the banquet was a "Masquerade Party".

The honored guest came dressed as well known T.V. and literature celebrities and comedians, as well as comic strip characters and local citizens and some identities were not known until they were introduced.

The invocation was given by Terie Steen, Mistress of ceremonies, Ann Davidson, welcomed the guest on behalf of the church. Greg Wied responded for members of the class.

A parade of celebrities was held with the Seniors voting for their choice of best dressed. Winners were Rene' Kah-lich and Danny Crowson. Shepherd. The benediction given by Danny Crowson.

Sheppard Talks On Watering

Sprinkler irrigation was the subject of a talk before the Rotary Club last Thursday by Allen Sheppard of the local Soil Conservation District office.

In the talk, accompanied by slide pictures, Mr. Sheppard outlined the history of sprinkler irrigation from the start with perforated pipe up to the more sophisticated automatic systems in use today. In spite of some of the highly developed systems now in use, men still has to run them and make the decisions on how and when to water and how much irrigation to apply to crops, he emphasized.

The slides used in the talk were assembled by the service's agricultural engineer at Big Spring.

Give mom a ringing sensation.

Now is the time to give mom a little of what she's always given you. An easier life. For years she's been running the house. Literally, that is. Running to toddling toddlers and to ringing phones. For Mother's Day you can solve one of her moving problems with a gift extension. She can have it located conveniently so that when it rings, it'll be a pleasure to her ears and a relief to her feet.

Carolyn Haley Says...

Mother's Day, Sunday May 13, is a good day to celebrate by keeping mother out of the kitchen and surprising her with food father and children have prepared suggests Mrs. Carolyn Haley.

Here are some party dishes, easy to prepare and easy on the budget, since they feature some foods on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's May plentiful list:

For your main entree, which also features a green vegetable try:

EGGS FLORENTINE
3 cups cooked spinach, Swiss chard or asparagus
6 eggs
salt
1 lb. American Cheese
1 can evaporated milk
5 cups buttered crumbs.

Chop green vegetable very fine and heat. Turn into shallow baking dish. Make 6 small wells in green vegetable. Drop an egg into each and season with salt. Prepare a cheese sauce pour over green vegetable. Drop an egg into each and season with salt. Prepare a cheese sauce by heating the cheese and milk over boiling water until cheese is melted. Pour hot sauce over eggs and green vegetable. Sprinkle with crumbs and bacon and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until brown, about 25 minutes. Serves six.

For a tempting salad, serve plentiful ruby red grapefruit, and for dessert, use plentiful cranberry juice in:
Cranberry Pink Fluff

2 pkgs. lemon flavored gelatin
2 cups water
2 cups cranberry juice
4 egg whites

Dissolve lemon gelatin in 2 cups of hot water. Stir in 2 cups cranberry juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat 4 egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually pour cranberry mixture into egg whites, beating until mixed and foamy. Pour into 8 individual sherbert glasses. Chill in refrigerator about 4 hours.

During the chilling, the mixture separates into tempting red and pink layers. At serving time, add a rosette of whipped cream. One good thing about this dessert, you can make it on Saturday before Mother's Day so you can have more time to prepare Sunday's big meal for Mother.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's May plentiful list features; Cranberry sauce-cranberry juice cocktail; Dry Beans, Split Peas, Oranges - frozen and canned; grits, corn meal, eggs, peanuts, and peanut products.

Fresh oranges can be stored for 4 to 6 weeks in your refrigerator. Buy as much as you can use in that time.

Most stores sell several kinds of "ground beef." You may find it labeled as ground beef, ground chuck ground round, or ground sirloin. These different kinds of ground beef mostly differ in: 1. the value of the cut from which they are made; 2. the amount of fat they contain and 3. the price.

Scout Troop 396 Reports Activities

THIS IS A REPORT BY GIRL SCOUT TROOP 396 ON OUR TROOP AND OUR YEARS ACTIVITIES.

We have 19 girls registered with our troop. This year we have earned 159 badges between us. We have earned 11 Signs of the Arrow and 6 Signs of the Star which are special awards.

We have worked and played hard this year. We meet once a week for regular meetings.

Our first extra meeting was a five mile hike. We made a campfire and cooked our dinner. We worked on several badges and learned to use a knife and how to tie the knots and first aid.

We made Vote signs to remind people to vote in November. Each of us used our own idea for our posters. Mrs. Porterfield took our picture with our posters and the Lynn County News put it in the paper. At an extra meeting we divided into three patrols and put the vote posters in the store windows around town. The store owners were very nice to us and we had fun delivering our signs. Mrs. Chancy took us to the cafeteria for a coke after we delivered them. Then we went back to the Scout hut and worked on more badges and made a dessert over a campfire. It helped us earn our Active Citizen badge. I think our posters helped people remember to go vote.

We did another service project in February. We made Valentine tray favors for the hospital patients. We made yarn dolls and put them on lace dolly valentines which we had made. These were delivered to the hospital for the patients.

We had a program on the Girl Scout Cabana in Old Mexico. Two Senior Girl Scouts who had been there brought slides and souvenirs and told us about it. They went there last summer. We also invited Girl Scouts from Wilson and O'Donnell to join us in our program. We served refreshments. We all had a good time.

We went on a skating party to Lubbock. All the girls who went earned their Skating badge. We ate at K Chef after skating and we were so hungry.

When we were working on our Drawing and Painting badge Mr. Bill Craig let us come to his home to see his paintings and sculpture and told us about them. He is a very good artist. We especially liked the crosses he had made out of nails. He was very nice and we enjoyed it very much.

We have done several craft projects in our meetings. We are making Mother's Day gifts now.

On Girl Scout Sunday we attended church together. We took part in an Area Girl Scout celebration. We did singing games for an hour at the South Plains Mall in Lubbock. A lot of people watched us. They seemed to like Sandy Land, Kechee and Strut Miss Lucy best. It was a lot of fun. After we performed we looked at the other Girl Scout demonstrations. It was interesting. Lions Club members were very nice to drive us to the Mall and back home. We gave a tea party for our mothers and grandmothers. We made the cakes and punch and decorations ourselves. We served them ourselves. We also had mints and nuts. We planned a program ourselves. Tammie Kelley and Denissa McNeely were our speakers. We did some songs and games, too.

We helped with a Brownie-Fly-up ceremony on May 4. We are planning an all day bicycle trip for May 19. We plan to work on our Cyclist badge and finish up our World Games badge.

Janet Porterfield is troop leader for Troop 396. She is assisted by Sandra Brown, Helen Del Toro and Frances Chancy.

Area Represented In State Arts And Crafts Show

Participants from Lubbock, Earth, Tahoka, Levelland, Plainview and Slaton will represent the area May 25-28 when 290 Texas artists and craftsmen gather in Kerrville for the second annual Texas State Arts & Crafts Fair.

The fair, sponsored by the Texas Tourist Development Agency will be the largest show of Texan arts and crafts ever presented. Participants are from 94 Texas cities, town and communities ... from Bloomburg on the Arkansas border to El Paso in the west, and from Pampa in the panhandle to Alamo, La Feria, Mission and Pharr in the south. They were selected from over 450 applicants from across the state.

Under colorful, open-sided tents spaced along Quinlan Creek on the Hill Country's Schreiner Institute campus, exhibitors will not only show and sell their wares, but will demonstrate their skills. Fairground performances of the Kerrville Folk Festival, a fiddler's contest and plenty of food -- including such items as homemade ice cream and sourdough bread -- will add to the festivities.

Top Winners Named District 4-H Contest

South Plains 4-H'ers in 14 of the 20 counties in Extension District 2 today (May 5) qualified to compete in the State 4-H Roundup by taking top prizes at the district contests on the Texas Tech campus.

About 450 4-H boys and girls competed in the event, which included 24 contests. The first round of district competition, including dairy cattle, horses, and livestock judging, was held in mid-April.

Swisher County 4-H'ers captured the most qualifying wins of any county. They are eligible to compete in ten events at the State Roundup which will be held June 5-6 at the Texas A&M University.

To qualify for the state contest, a team or individual must have a first or second place win in the senior division which is for 14-year-olds and older.

Other counties taking a large portion of senior division honors included Hale with six qualifying wins, Dawson and Terry counties with five qualifying wins, and Howard with four qualifying wins.

Lamb County came up with three qualifying wins.

Other counties who will be competing in the state contests include Bailey, Crosby, Floyd, Garza, Hockley, Lubbock, Lynn and Scurry.

Lynn County had winners in two Divisions.

In the Cooperative division two Lynn Co. youngsters took top honors. The two youngsters are Richard Taber and Cindy Cook, both of O'Donnell.

Grain Stocks Decline... San Saba and Gillespie Leading Counties... Egg Production Has Ups and Downs...

Stocks of the four feed grains—corn, oats, barley and grain sorghum—in Texas and throughout the nation continue to show declines, with wheat at the lowest level since 1968.

In Texas, a decrease of 47,000,000 bushels of the four feed grains was reported with grain sorghum declines being responsible for most of the downturn. Only oat stocks are above those of a year ago.

Wheat stocks in Texas stored in all positions as of April 1 are 15 percent below a year ago. Disappearance during the January-April quarter is estimated at 37,700,000 bushels, up sharply from the 3,000,000 bushels disappearance for the same period last year.

Grain sorghum stocks are estimated at 145,400,000 bushels; this is 25 percent below a year ago.

Corn stocks are estimated at 15,800,000 bushels, down four percent a year ago.

Soybean stocks are estimated at 5,900,000 bushels, 44 percent below a year ago.

THE TOP counties in Texas in production of fruits and nuts are San Saba and Gillespie. San Saba takes the 1972 honor in pecan production, and Gillespie County is the state's number one peach producing county for 1972.

Texas for 1972 was the nation's leading state in pecan production. The state ranked seventh in 1972 in peach production.

Total pecan production for Texas during 1972 was 65,000,000 pounds. Most of the production was in the south central and cross timbers areas.

Other top counties in pecan production in Texas during 1972 were Gonzales, Comanche, Hood, Guadalupe, Colorado, Lavaca, DeWitt, Bell and El Paso.

Other top counties in peach production in Texas during 1972 were Upshur, Camp, Parker, Montague, Eastland, Clay, Comanche, Limestone and Lampasas.

This year, the peach crop will be produced mostly in Central Texas and East Texas as the late freeze has either damaged or destroyed the crop in north Texas and on the High Plains.

Pecan trees are blooming in many areas of the state. Some damage is expected due to the late freeze which will reduce the crop in some northern sections of the state.

EGG production in Texas continues to have its ups and downs, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

Egg production during March was 11 percent below a year ago but 20 percent above last month. Nationwide, egg production was down six percent from the past year.

GROSS income from dairying in Texas during 1972 was up eight percent from the previous year. Texas farmers received a gross income from dairy products of $243,000,000. A total of 3,300,000,000 pounds of milk was produced in the state during 1972.

Total milk production was up four percent from 1971.

CONTINUE to submit screwworm samples to the fly laboratory at Mission, authorities request.

Thus far, 1973 is turning out to be a good year in screwworm control. But livestock producers are urged to increase the sending of suspected screwworm samples to the fly lab in Mission. County agents and vocational agriculture teachers have vials in which the samples may be sent.

Plants Pose Possibilities

Development of new plant varieties with a built-in resistance to certain insects is a major aim of scientific research underway in today's agriculture. According to the National Cotton Council, six primitive cotton varieties from Mexico and Guatemala were recently found to be resistant to pink bollworms. Work being done by geneticists at the University of Arizona revealed that when either the boll contents or rind was fed to bollworm larva, development stopped in some cases and the percentage of pupation was greatly reduced in all cases. While the fiber quality of the primitive cottons is poor, the plants are valuable for use in cross breeding. Future tests may enable scientists to combine the fiber characteristics of commercial varieties with the bollworm-resistance of primitive varieties.

Federal Support Of Libraries Is Reduced

On May 10, at 1 p.m., the City-County Library will dim its lights joining libraries across the country in dramatizing the effect of drastically reduced federal support for libraries.

Living Constitution

Visitors to the nation's capital can gaze upon the original United States Constitution, painstakingly preserved in a helium-sealed glass case in the National Archives Building. But you don't have to travel all the way to Washington to "see" the Constitution. Just step into your local courtroom on Law Day, May 1, or any other day for that matter, and you can watch the Constitution in living action. Nowhere are its durable doctrines more plainly on display than in ordinary court proceedings.

For example: In the "open door" policy you can recognize the Sixth Amendment in operation, guaranteeing to every accused person a public trial. In the careful spelling out of accusations you can see Article One, Section Nine at work, guarding—through habeas corpus—against the holding of any prisoner without clear and specific charges. In the jury box you can see the embodiment of the Seventh Amendment.

And as testimony is given, the Fourth Amendment is screening out evidence obtained by unfair methods; the Fifth Amendment is shielding the accused from having to testify against himself; and the Sixth Amendment is giving him the opportunity to confront his accusers and ask them questions. Meanwhile, on behalf of the community at large, the law's wheels turn, carrying out the Preamble's call to "establish justice" and "insure domestic tranquility."

One who foregoes a visit to the courtroom because he fears the proceedings are too complicated is missing a basic point: it is the simple elements, these constitutional ABC's, that are most important in a system of justice.

Perhaps this is what Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes had in mind when he said: "We need education in the obvious more than investigation of the obscure."

reational needs of the public. Mrs. Kaddatz, Librarian notes the programs affecting several groups of users in this community, instituted through grants of federal funds, will have to be curtailed or eliminated if cuts are not restored or other funding sources found. The borrowing of books from the Lubbock Library carried on locally will be affected. Even libraries which have received no direct federal grants have benefited from federal funding through the interlibrary loan program with Lubbock and the Texas State Library Communications Network.

The trends toward self-determination and self-help place a greater reliance upon the library as the only independent information agency at a time when support for this institution is being seriously threatened. Please write your congressman in regard to this.

Hall W. Cutler Salvation Army Field Representative Transfer Students

Hall W. Cutler of Odessa has been appointed field representative for The Salvation Army's volunteer Service Units in 33 cities in Texas including Tahoka.

The announcement was made in Dallas by Dan R. Eddy, Jr., Service Unit Director for the state of Texas.

After attending public schools in Lamesa, Texas, Cutler furthered his education at University of Texas, Southwestern University and Texas Chiropractic College.

Before accepting his position with The Salvation Army, Cutler had worked in retail management and in real estate in Midland, Texas.

Parents who wish to transfer students to Tahoka Schools for the 1973-74 school year are reminded that this must be done during the month of May.

Transfer forms are available in the Superintendent's office in the Tahoka High School Building, and Mrs. Freda Jeffcoat or Mrs. Kathy Dorman will provide the forms and assist as necessary in completing transfer applications.

In addition, it is requested that any secondary student new to Tahoka in 1973-74 bring their transcript to school so that they may be scheduled for classes prior to opening of school.

Clancy, a rookie cop, caught a thief breaking into a jewelry store one dark night. "Ha," Clancy said. "Caught in the act. You'll do plenty time for this, no boy!" "Look," said the thief. "I know my rights. I want to call my lawyer. Let me go into that cigar store and call him and have him meet me at the station house!"

So Clancy let the thief go into the cigar store and the thief kept right on going out the back window. Clancy didn't see him until six months later when he met the little crook coming out of a jewelry store with his hands full of rings and bracelets. Clancy grabbed the loot and the looter. "Ha," Clancy exulted. "I've got you with the goods this time. Come along with me." "I got to call my lawyer," the crook protested as they passed a cigar store. "You won't fool me this time," said Clancy. "Here. Hold these rings and bracelets and give me your lawyer's phone number. I'll call him!"

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS

Cattle recently turned in on young rapidly growing grass pastures may be affected by bovine pulmonary emphysema. Apparently bovine pulmonary emphysema is beginning to cause problems again this year. The Texas Veterinary Medicine Diagnostic Laboratory has recently reported cases of the

Lynn County News

Pulmonary emphysema means that the lungs become inflated with air. The air sacs in the lungs rupture and allow the air to escape. This interfered with the exchange of air between the lungs and the atmosphere and causes labored breathing in animals.

Just what causes this condition is still unknown. Usually cattle have been grazing pastures from two days to two weeks when the first animals are affected. A few head or half of the herd may become affected. Animals may die rapidly or become chronic cases and do poorly. Sometimes up to 50 percent of the affected animals may die.

Cattlemen should be on the lookout for these symptoms: 1. One or more cows standing in a field with their necks stretched out and muzzle elevated. Some breathe with their mouth open and emit a grunting sound on expiration. 2. Worsening of condition if animals are excited or forced to move.

To help prevent or reduce losses from emphysema, avoid moving cattle suddenly from dry mature feed to immature green feed. Try to introduce cattle gradually onto pastures that contain green forage. Limit access to such pastures to less than an hour the first day and gradually increase the time, taking at least a week to reach full use.

If cattle become affected, gently remove them from the pasture and place the visibly affected ones in a dry lot. Locate the remainder on a field of dry, mature grass. Excitement may cause the affected ones to die and others to show symptoms.

Call a veterinarian as soon as possible for advice on treating the affected animals. Drugs

1972 Crop And Livestock Totales

Cash receipts for 1972 crops and livestock totaled $3,803,000,000, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

From figures compiled by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, the breakdown included totals of $1,442,000,000 in crops and $2,361,000,000 in livestock, Commissioner White reported.

Value of production figures revealed increases over 1971 for all major crops except American Pima cotton, hay, and grapefruit.

Weather influenced some of the increases. Fewer acres were planted in grain sorghum, but good weather produced a four-million-dollar crop. Yield per acre was down to 373 pounds in rice because of bad weather, but better prices raised the year's total to $146 million. Peanuts and pecans both had increases because of improved weather, with peanuts at $66 million and pecans at $25.5 million such as antihistimics, stimulants and corticosteroids help but should be utilized in proper dosages without unduly exciting the animals.

Stockmen can help prevent losses by closely observing cattle individually and watching for early symptoms in animals recently turned in on lush green pastures. The sooner affected animals are spotted, the more opportunity there is for taking effective preventive measures.

Generally, cattle should not be returned to green pastures or at least 10 days to two weeks, and then for only short periods.

When cotton was destroyed by hail, acreage in sorghum was doubled, producing an increase of $11 million over the $8-million figure. Increased acreage also accounted for the increase in production value in sorghum set at $67 million. Hay was set at $123 million in 1972, $117 million last year.

Cotton lint had a value of $467 million. Upland cotton seed increased to $76 million. Too much rain reduced the yield of American Pima cotton to 478 pounds per acre compared with a total production value of $6.6 million. Also prices dropped slightly.

Vegetables drew better prices this year with $25 million value. Oranges brought an increase of $4 million over 1971's total of $8 million. Due to lower yields and some lower prices grapefruit increased from $20 million last year to $16 million in 1972.

Livestock figures were about the same in spite of the winter. Death losses were up from October to January and 50,000 head were lost, Commissioner White reported. Total death losses for 1972 have been estimated at 173,000 mature cattle and 260,000 calves, 81,000 over the total for 1971.

"Texas ranks about third in the nation in farm income. In 1972 we were close to the billion-dollar mark. If we can get our crops in, and prices hold; we can go above the figure in 1973," Commissioner White predicted.

Market Report

With fryer supplies leveling off, prices will move upward in the next several weeks, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Cloyd.

The consumer market specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, added that fryers remain budget buys - both the whole bird and fryer parts - in spite of price increases.

Whole turkeys and turkey parts also offer an economical choice at the poultry counter.

"Beef prices are about the same as the past two weeks, and most markets are featuring various beef cuts at special prices.

"In general, look for best buys on chuck roasts and steaks, stew beef, ground beef, round steaks and roasts, and beef liver."

Pork values include hams, picnics, end-cut loin roasts and chops, and shoulder roasts and steaks.

"Two eggs will satisfactorily take the place of a serving of meat for high-quality protein so families can use more eggs economically," the specialist suggested. "Grade A large-size eggs offer the best quality and economy for the money."

Fresh fruit and vegetable bins in ample supply at the most economical prices include apples, oranges, grapefruit, pineapples, tangerines and mangoes.

Others are potatoes, purple top turnips, cabbage, carrots, dry yellow onions, cauliflower, rutabagas, hard shell squash and broccoli, although prices on potatoes and dry yellow onions edged up a bit recently, she concluded.

Good Quality Seed Important To Grain Sorghum Producers

in cotton was destroyed, acreage in sorghum doubled, producing a net of $11 million over the 1972 figure. Increase in sorghum also accounted for a 10 percent increase in production value in 1973. Hay was valued at $67 million. Hay was valued at $123 million in 1972. Cotton lint had a value of $11 million. Upland cotton increased to $76 million. Much rain reduced the yield of Pima cotton to 100 pounds per acre from 120 pounds per acre in 1972. Total production value was $110 million. Also prices for sorghum seed were better this year with $25 per bushel. Oranges brought a net of $4 million. Total of $8 million. Higher yields and some higher prices grapefruit and from $20 million to $25 million in 1972. Stock figures were down in spite of the fact. Death losses were from October to January. Head we lost, Canner White reported death losses for 1973 were estimated at 175,000 cattle and 260,000 sheep, 1,000 over the total.

What do West Texas grain sorghum producers look for when selecting their planting seed? Obviously, most will look for seed exhibiting high germination, good yield potential and a maturity range which will fit their anticipated planting date and water availability. But an often overlooked factor in planting seed selection is its purity, says a Lubbock-based agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Planting seed has been an important source of off-type and weedy sorghums since the introduction of sorghum hybrids in the late 1950's" says Dr. James Supak.

"The reason for this is that sterile plants (plants which produce no pollen) must be used in the production of hybrid seed. Pollen from male sterile plants is carried by air currents to the sterile plants where pollination occurs and hybrid seed are produced.

"The problem comes when pollen from undesirable plants such as sudangrasses or sorghum alnum pollinates the sterile plants, producing seed which develop into weedy sorghums."

Supak says that seed of both the grain and weedy types are similar and can not be separated by seed processors. Consequently, few sources of planting seed are completely free of off-types.

"The rapid increase in off-type and weedy sorghum infestations in this area has caused a great deal of concern among farmers, seed producers and weed scientists alike," he says. "They compete with grain sorghum for nutrients, water and sunlight. Since they are closely related to grain sorghum they can not be controlled with herbicides. Many of the weedy-type sorghums are prolific producers of seed which may lay dormant in the soil for several years."

Supak emphasizes that reputable seed companies take special precautions to minimize the number of undesirable seed in their hybrids. They use isolated crossing blocks, pure seed stocks, and they rogue their crossing blocks regularly.

Even with the use of good production techniques, however, it is virtually impossible to completely eliminate the off-type and weedy sorghums.

"Farmers also can help reduce this problem," the area specialist says.

"Several measures can be taken. For one thing, producers can buy planting seed only from reliable companies noted for selling clean seed.

"Another, they should carefully label all sorghum seed after opening a bag to avoid inadvertently mixing grain with forage and sudan types.

"An important step to be taken is roguing of off-types in lightly infested fields to prevent their establishment in nearby clean fields.

"And most important," the agronomist concludes, "farmers in seed producing areas can greatly assist seed breeders in improving seed quality by avoiding the indiscriminate planting of sudan-type forages. Cooperation between seed companies and farmers is essential to reducing the quantities of off-type and weedy sorghums in grain sorghum planting seed."

Lynn County Well Represented At Conservation Awards Program

The Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District was well represented at the Region I Texas Conservation Awards Program Banquet which was held in Crowell, Texas, Wednesday May 2, 1973, Howard Moore, Chairman of the Districtors, has announced.

The honored guest from our district were Mems. Peggy Atwell, Debbie Burns, Shirley Holloway and Martha Davis, the four fifth grade teachers at Tahoka North Elementary School. Also attending were T.B. Mason, Howard Moore, district directors, J.D. Atwell, Allen, Walteria and Melinda Sheppard Moore stated.

The teachers were entered in the 28th Texas Conservation Awards Program which is sponsored by the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce along with 24 co-sponsored with help from state and federal agencies which provide assistance to Texas Soil and Water Conservation District Program of soil, water and plant conservation, Moore stated.

The four teacher taught a three week unit on soil, water and plant conservation last November. The teachers worked as a group to develop lesson plans, using guides, booklets and other supplemental material from the Lynn County SWCD, Soil Conservation Service, and Soil Conservation Society of America. None of these teachers had any formal training in resource management; however they were able to relate natural resources conservation to each of their students. The climax to the study was a poster contest sponsored by the district directors, Moore explained.

Of all the programs that we have worked with, we believe this is one of the best. Our thanks goes to the teachers who worked so hard and did such an outstanding job of teaching resource management in the schools. We plan to expand and improve the program in the future, Moore stressed.
