258 Persons Attend Annual Pioneer Reunion

The annual Lynn County Pioneer Reunion was held last Saturday with 258 persons attending.

The assembling of Lynn County old settlers and their descendants was in honor of the memory of Elmer Sproles and Maurice Hall, longtime workers with the annual event beginning in the 1900's.

Wright Edwards, 87 of Lubbock and Mrs. C. A. Thomas, of Tahoka were awarded the plaque for the oldest man and woman attending, who had not previously won the award.

Ed Redwine, program chairman, said this was the first time Mrs. Thomas would admit her age, though she had attended the reunion before.

The efforts of a former resident were again futile as he tried to secure the award for traveling the farthest to attend the festivities. Raymond Griffin of Turlock, Calif., who has tried for several years to win the award, was beaten this year by his sister, Thelma Griffin Parker of Sacramento, Calif., whom he brought to the reunion.

Both were residents in Lynn County in the 1920's and 1930's. Mrs. Parker graduated from Tahoka High School in 1935.

Borden Davis Hardware received first place for the best store display windows of old time material with second going to Parker Pharmacy. County Agent, Bill Griffin presented the Outstanding Senior Citizen of the County award to Mrs. G. M. "Lady Dobbins" Stewart.

Brig. Gen. James M. Rose of Texas Air National Guard, scheduled speaker for the event was unable to attend. Replacing him was Rep. E. L. Short of Tahoka, a lifelong Lynn County resident. He spoke on events and legislation of the past session.

Master of ceremonies was Dr. Emil Prohl. Officers elected for the coming year were Dub Gurley, president; Jim Porterfield, vice-president; and Mrs. Darlene Gurley, secretary-treasurer.

Barbecue and all the trimmings were served at noon at Tahoka High School Cafeteria.

The reunion is held annually on the Saturday nearest to June 24. The date was selected at the first gathering in the 1930's with the women choosing the birthdate of Mrs. J. S. Wells who didn't offer a suggestion for a time to meet.

Things Happen Faster Nowadays

With so many dire things predicted for the future, it is more than a little refreshing now and then to learn that some people are concerned with the past.

Up at Lubbock, for instance, an oxbow shaped stream bed, dry now and scraped by bulldozers, is under investigation by a team of young scientists looking for a lifestyle which flourished 10,000 years or more.

The tree shaded location is the Lubbock Lake Site, and it is regarded by many anthropologists as one of the most important early man locations in North America.

We have been informed that the researchers may need three summers to find evidence of Folsom man who lived 10,000 years ago and, with luck, to find also evidence of the Clovis culture which flourished 11,000 to 12,000 years ago. It is the earliest culture known to America.

Nixon, Dean & Cox

The recent charge by John Dean, that he discussed Watergate many times with President Nixon, was not unexpected. After all, he had been the man designated to investigate White House involvement. And he is apparently hard put to explain his alleged investigative role in the affair.

Other White House aides have testified that Nixon became dissatisfied with Dean's investigation, which is said to have exonerated everyone in the White House. It seems obvious Dean wouldn't have been telling the President anything different. Aides have also testified the President sent Dean to Camp David for six days to write a report on the investigation. Dean returned with nothing in writing. He was then fired according to reports.

Splashing his charges against the President on front pages over the world, depressing the dollar, the stock market and causing widespread consternation and doubt was certainly a costly business. But it is inevitable as long as a Senate committee continues its circus--which Democrat special prosecutor Archibald Cox has asked postponed. Cox says the whole truth may never be discovered if the Senate show continues before the television cameras; he seeks a delay of three months to conduct the Justice Department's investigation.

The politicians, of course, know when they have a crowd-pleaser, a good gate attraction, and make the most of it, for better or worse. Since Democrats control Congress and its committees, it's inevitable politics is being played in these scandal hearings.

The Justice Department would not play that game. And since Democrats on the Hill overwhelmingly approved fellow Democrat Cox only a few weeks ago, they should now comply with his request for the good of the nation and in the interest of obtaining the truth "from bottom to top," as Cox puts it. That kind of Justice Department determination can be relied upon; sensational self-defense statements from a parade of involved witnesses before a Democratic committee about a Republican President, cannot be equally relied upon.

With the world, and the United States in particular, faced with energy and pollution crises, things could get worse in the next three years, however, than they have in the 11,000 years it has been since the Clovis culture flourished. Let us hope not, but let us at the same time take a long, hard look at what we have done to ourselves since becoming "civilized".

To The Young

Pertinent advice for the young generation has been offered by Judge Phillip Gilliam of Denver, Colorado. Today's young men and women are more sensible and realistically oriented than were their counterparts just four or five years ago but the advice is still valid, and worth repeating each summer--as college and university students go home:

"Go home. Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, wash the car, learn to cook, scrub the floors, repair the sink, build a boat, get a job, help the minister, priest or rabbi. Visit the sick, help the poor, study your lessons . . . and when you are through and not too tired read a good book.

Your parents don't owe you entertainment. Your city or village doesn't owe you a living. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy and talents so that no one will be at war or in poverty or sick or lonely. In plain simple words, grow up; quit being a cry baby. Get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone; start acting like a man or lady. You have no right to expect your parents to buy you every whim or fancy just because your selfish ego instead of common sense dominates your personality, thinking and requests. In heaven's name, grow up and go home."

Energy And The Future

If inflation is currently the nation's number-one domestic problem, the energy shortage is probably the number-one long-term domestic problem. And it seems clear the federal government must move on several fronts to insure adequate energy for the American people in years to come.

Since there's little time to lose (a start should have been made several years ago), the Nixon Administration, it seems obvious, should mount an all-out effort to produce within this country approximately ninety per cent of the nation's energy needs--because national security demands that we not become overly dependent on foreign oil.

To accomplish this more coal must be mined, and used. We have more than ample reserves. More oil and gas must be produced in this country, some perhaps on federal lands. More nuclear power must be developed.

Conservation should be preached and practiced, and engines burning less fuel and producing less fuel and producing less pollution are desirable for our automobiles. These are general goals almost everyone agrees on; it is now up to the Nixon Administration to have them translated,

'AND THEY HAVE A VERY NICE MEAT MARKET--
THEY FURNISH FREE SMELLING SALTS'

COMED FROM SEPT. 13, 1935

In the first workout of the season, held Thursday afternoon, the 1935 edition of the Tahoka Bulldogs looked more impressive than any team the high school has had in several years. Though much of the material is green, there are several new boys from the rural districts who have weight and athletic ability and are taking to the game of football rapidly.

Coach Prentice Walker has been working with a majority of the men for two weeks, while several suited out for the first time at the opening of school last Thursday. Among the best looking men are Roy Stevens, Jim and Danny VanDyke and Cecil Cleveland, all from Midway, Leiton Hilton from New Home. Other new men include Clayton Lawrence, Clifton Rogge, Arvil Akin, Loy Lawson and Jack Weathers.

Built around such lettermen as Capt. James Minor, A. J. Thompson, Champ Perkins, Homer Parker, L. V. Alexander, Bonnie Brower, Eby Dyer, and Luther Carpenter, the squad of thirty-one men is composed of the following: Backs; Jim Woods, wt. 143; Jim Van Dyke, wt. 152; Clifton Rogge, wt. 147; Herbert Hoover, wt. 128; L. V. Alexander, wt. 154; Eby Dyer, wt. 152; Jack Weathers, wt. 138.

Linemen; A. J. Thompson, wt. 156; Roy Stevens, wt. 180; Leiton Hilton, wt. 178; Sam Garrard, wt. 208; Vernon Smith, wt. 108; Ted Boydston, wt. 109; F. E. Redwine, wt. 138; Champ Perkins, wt. 160; Delton Pemberton, wt. 148; Reid Parker, wt. 150; Homer Parker, wt. 145; Loy Lawson, wt. 142; Levi Billman, wt. 131; Bonnie Brower, wt. 157; Joy Edwin Brown, wt. 134; Cecil Cleveland, wt. 159; Luther Carpenter, wt. 160; James Foster, wt. 98; G. C. Price, wt. 161; Danny VanDyke, wt. 181; R. C. Wells, wt. 136; Arvil Akin, wt. 177; Clayton Lawrence wt. 163.

C. N. Woods, jeweler and watchmaker is preparing to remove his shop from the Thomas Bros. Drug Store to a small compartment being prepared for the purpose by Bart's Cafe.

He expects to get moved some time next week.

Weir Washam, former Baylor

University Star, Wednesday was named assistant to Frank Bridges, football coach at St. Mary's University here. Washam, since graduation has helped coach Baylor and Texas Tech freshmen and various high school teams.

Washam, former coach of the Tahoka Bulldogs, is the fourth ex-Tahoka high school coach to secure a college job this year.

Cecil Peoples, coach here in 1923-24, early in the summer became president of a Baptist junior college in East Texas.

"Windy" Nicholas was named coach of Amarillo Junior College Badgers, state junior college champions in 1933 and 1934.

"Nig" McCarver is now assistant and coach at Howard-Payne College, Brownwood.

So, it seems, if a coach can get eleven men out for football practice at Tahoka, he is almost sure to go on up in the coaching field.

Judge W. E. Smith reports that before the time limit period expired, the county filed application with the Works Progress Administration for the improvement of public roads across sixty-four lakes in the county. This project calls for the grading and topping of the roads across these lakes, and covers a distance of about sixteen miles, we understand.

If this project is approved and the improvements made, farmers will thereafter have much less trouble in getting to town during wet weather.

COMED FROM SEPT. 20, 1935

Quite a bit of repair and improvement work is being done in Tahoka now. A new roof has recently been placed on the old Ketter building on Main Street, formerly known as the Jones Dry Goods building but recently occupied by R. W. Fenton. The old plank floor has been torn out and a concrete floor is to be laid on a level with the adjoining sidewalk. Also the walls and the ceiling are to be repaired and repainted and a plate glass front is to replace the old front, which has been torn away. Mr. Nowlin says that the Temple Trust Company, who owns the building, have had and now have a number of bids to rent the building but that thus far no rental contract has been made.

The relief office force to vacate the old Brashear building on Main Street before October and remove their office to the structure being built by the city as an adjunct to the cafe and a dry good business is to be opened up in the Brashear building.

Wyatt Bros., dealers in grain and feedstuffs, have enlarged their office and installed mammoth new scales. The form of these scales is 24 long and the scales have a capacity of 24,000 pounds.

Tom Chio is constructing a small new building across street east of Bouillon's grocery store and will open a cafe when it is finished.

Meeting for the first time of the scholastic year, the P. Teachers Association Wednesday afternoon heard an outline of suggested ways in which it will be of service to the school, by Superintendent W. G. Barr. Many of the suggestions will doubt be followed during the year. The meeting was in the Central Ward School auditorium.

The program opened with singing of "America," by Cary Mathis, principal of Central Ward.

There was a piano solo by Tommie Applewhite and a playlet was cleverly played by Mary Beth and Peggy Peck and Dorothy Jean Applewhite. The program was followed by a business meeting.

Mrs. G. M. Reid is president of the organization and presided over the meeting. About forty members were present.

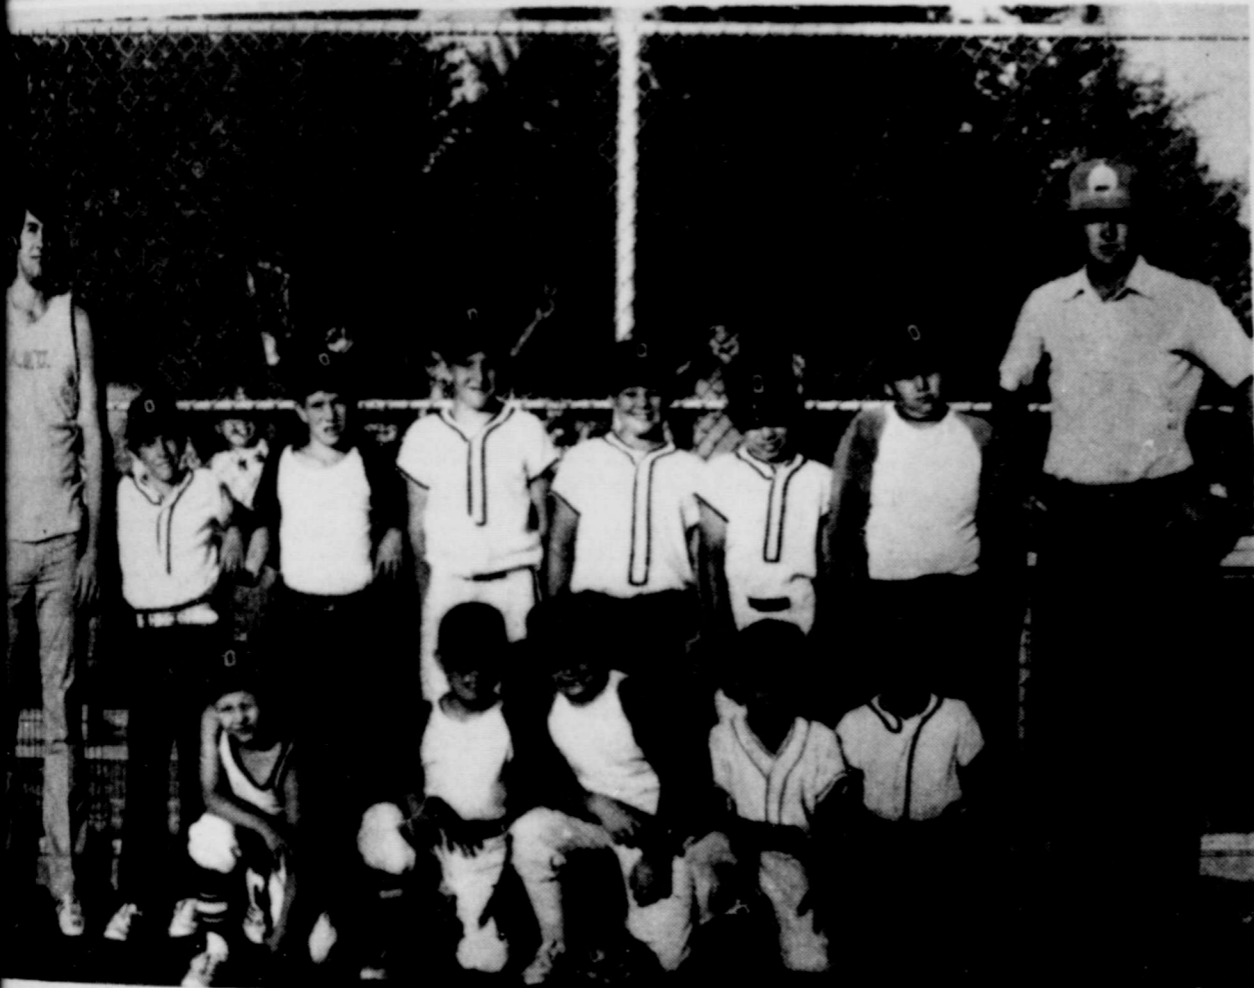

The next meeting will be in the same place the third Wednesday in October. All patrons and friends of the school are invited.

Miss Marjorie Wells was hostess Monday evening to the Batons, in her home.

President Ola Lee Stone presided over a brief business session after which the lesson of the new study course on "Musical Instruments" presented by the Counselor, Lottie Jo Townes played a pian selection and the club members, both representing the positive types of the study. A lovely salad plate was served to members and one guest.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources
Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

No Doubt About It... Wheat and Diesel... Still Number One... Milk Production Dips.

If there were any doubts about it at all, a report from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service will dispel them regarding cotton and Texas.

During 1972, Texas produced about a third of the nation's cotton crop. Normally, the report on Texas cotton would have been completed much earlier, but the 1972 crop harvest wasn't completed until March of 1973.

The crop for 1972 totaled 4,246,000 bales compared with only 2,579,000 bales produced during 1971.

Yield per harvested acre averaged 408 pounds compared with 263 pounds in 1971. This is the second highest yield on record, being exceeded in 1968 with 410 pounds per acre.

The 1972 upland cotton crop is valued at $446,000,000, compared with $329,000,000 in 1971.

Nationwide, a total of 13,702,100 bales was produced, which is 31 per cent above the 1971 crop. The average 1972 price is set at 26.60 cents per pound compared with 28.07 cents per pound in 1971.

WHEAT harvest continues in Texas amid reports of fuel shortages. As of the first of June, harvest was only five per cent complete compared with 25 per cent in 1971.

Fuel shortage reports continue heaviest in the wheat harvest areas. Custom combine operators apparently are having the most trouble in locating fuel supplies.

Farmers who run short or out of fuel should report that fact to their county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office or the Texas Department of Agriculture.

PEACH production based on June 1 prospects for Texas is forecast at 271,000 bushels, which is less than half of the 604,000 bushels produced in 1972. Peach harvest is now active and quality is reported good to excellent.

RANGE and non-irrigated pasture conditions are six per cent better now than a month ago. Conditions are generally good to excellent throughout the northern half of the state with some exceptions.

TEXAS continues its honor as the number one cattle feeding state in the nation. As of June 1, cattle on feed in Texas totaled 2,252,000. This is 10 per cent above a year ago, and four per cent above a month ago.

Number of cattle on feed in the seven major cattle feeding states—Texas, Iowa, Arizona, California, Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas—totaled 9,455,000. This is a one per cent increase from a month ago and four per cent more than a year ago at this time.

Placements into Texas feedlots during May total 492,000 head. These placements are 12 per cent below May this year but 91 per cent above the previous month.

Marketings of fat cattle during May totaled 403,000 head, which is 12 per cent above a year ago and 14 per cent above marketings for April.

Cattle producers are continuing to expand production, contrary to some claims by some consumer groups that the cattleman is purposely holding back production in order to keep his price high.

MILK production in May in Texas is the same as May of last year, but is one per cent below a month ago. May milk production totaled 305,000,000 pounds in Texas.

Nationwide, milk production is two per cent under a year ago. Production during the first five months of this year is two per cent less than last year.

"Producers who supply a nation's people with an unprecedented abundance and quality of food and fiber at prices more reasonable than anywhere else in the world or at any previous time in history should not be denied a just return on their labor and investment. Nor should this country's most efficient industry in terms of its ability to compete in world markets, and therefore the nation's best defense against a lop-sided trade deficit, be strangled."

These statements, made by Ray Joe Riley of Hart, President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. are being used repeatedly by PCG in its efforts to secure equitable and economically sound farm legislation this year.

"It seems to me these points are beyond dispute from an economic or moral standpoint," Riley says, "but in Washington, where farm legislation is concerned, political considerations appear to be taking precedence over both economic wisdom and what may be right or wrong."

For example, he notes that the current Administration is refusing to endorse "target prices" for cotton at anything like a reasonable level. The Senate recently passed a farm bill with a target price for cotton of 43 cents per pound -- only 70 percent of parity, which can also be described as a fair price to farmers in relation to their cost of production.

The House Agriculture Committee has reported a farm bill, still to be considered on the House floor, with a 38-cent target price, which is less than 65 percent of parity. And the Administration has referred to even this low price as being "unacceptable," and threatens a presidential veto.

On another point, Riley believes there is no justification whatsoever for the imposition of an upper limit on payments that can be received by individual farmers under farm programs.

"Yet the Senate has voted a

CROP REPORTS FROM FARMERS ARE NEEDED

In early July, over 23,000 Texas farmers will receive an acreage and production questionnaire from Charles E. Caudill, Agricultural Statistician for the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Austin, Texas.

Information from this survey will be used to determine harvested acreage and production of early harvested crops for the State of Texas and for each county. There are 254 counties in Texas, and reports are needed from many farmers so that each county will be well represented. Accurate estimates are of great importance to farmers in planning production and marketings and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture.

The Texas Legislature has provided a program of estimates for each county. Texas covers such a wide area that State totals alone do not provide adequate information on Texas' most basic industry--agriculture. This is a cooperative effort of USDA's Statistical Reporting Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

$20,000 per farmer limit on payments under its version of a farm law, and the House has placed a similar restriction on funds to be available under the Agricultural Appropriations Bill," he points out.

"The continued production of adequate supplies for domestic and export markets may well prove impractical under such a limitation," Riley contends, "in which case we will have sacrificed the base for our high standard of living in this country and our chances for a balance of trade with foreign countries on the altar of political expediency."

irrigated, narrow-row cotton production was said to be a severe test of the capabilities of Texas soils when the new system began taking root in the 1970's. Now, an even stronger test has been applied, with promising results, according to an engineer with the Agricultural Research Service - USDA.

Dryland, narrow-row cotton yields over a three-year period from 1970 to 1973 out-yielded the conventional 40-inch row pattern under three different moisture conditions, says Elmer Hudspeth, based at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock. Some questions remain unanswered, but the results look good, he adds.

The development of the storm-tolerant, short-season variety cotton, together with effective herbicides and efficient harvesting systems, enabled us to consider dryland production," he says.

We have known for some time that narrow-row cotton would yield more than the conventional system, as long as it was irrigated. What we did not know, however, was whether the South Plains soils could handle the narrow-row system without irrigation.

"Our primary goals were to reduce production costs while preserving the underground water supply," Hudspeth recalls. In the studies, conventional systems carried about 50,000 plants per acre in 40-inch rows. Hudspeth's research sites carried 100,000 in 16-inch rows. If a new system could be handled by South Plains soils, the pattern had to yield more than conventional.

"It happened," the ARS engineer says, "that during those three years we experienced three completely different moisture conditions at the Experiment Station. This was enough to substantiate our belief that in years of normal rainfall, dryland, narrow-row production is possible."

According to research data from the studies, the 1970 dryland crop was produced mostly with moisture already in the soil. Rainfall after the cotton came up was so insignificant that it had no effect during the later stages of growth.

The opposite happened with the 1971 crop, the report shows. Little moisture was available at planting time. Rainfall after planting literally made the crop.

Both weather conditions were present in the 1973 season. Moisture in the soil profile was adequate for normal growth, and additional rainfall during the growing season aided production of the crop.

Says Hudspeth, "It is important that yields were not decreased in the narrow-row and high plant population system during those three years. This means that unless a severely dry year occurs, dryland production on narrow rows is possible."

The scientist recognizes that cotton producers will need to carefully consider many factors before thinking seriously about converting to the dryland, narrow-row system. Soil conditions, climate history and the grower's ability to take the risk are prime factors to think about.

"Nothing is certain these days," Hudspeth points out. "This method may work like a charm for three years and then in a severely dry year, may fall completely. We just don't know yet.

"Based on our research thus far," he concludes, "producing cotton on narrow rows, without irrigation, can give good results and it should conserve some of our underground water supply."

New Cotton Insecticide Being Studied

In realizing the importance of cotton as one of our major crops in West Texas, the High Plains Research Foundation is concerned with new problems that continually seem to plague area farmers.

A new cotton systemic insecticide is being studied at the High Plains Research Foundation in cooperation with Texas Tech University and the project is under the sponsorship of Diamond Shamrock Chemical Co.

The research foundation is furnishing land and equipment for the study, and their personnel will evaluate the test to determine the actual effect of insects on crop yields and quality. Entomologists from Texas Tech University will be keeping insect populations under close observation throughout the growing season.

Under test guidelines, one testing method compares three rates of the insecticides as a seed treatment. Another method compares three rates in furrow application on untreated seed and two rates of sidedress applications.

Comparisons with three rates of Temik and one with Di-Syston also were established for the test.

One major purpose of the study is to determine the best source of early season insect control in cotton.

Of course, testing which has been underway for many years, will be continued in 1973. In cotton variety testing, 49 varieties from 11 seed companies and private breeders are entered in the 1973 cotton variety test on standard 40-inch single rows. Included in the varieties are 24 experimental strains that show promise in the area. This variety test has been underway at the

4-H'ers Attend Leadership Workshop

One hundred, seventy-four 4-H'ers, adult leaders and county Extension agents gathered at South Plains Junior College in Levelland this week (June 19-21) for a three-day workshop on the art of leadership.

Under the guidance of experienced junior leaders, the young 4-H'ers combined work and fun as they studied ways to exercise leadership skills. The youths, ranging in age from 14 to 18, placed themselves in practical problem situations and worked them out through group interaction.

Coupled with the long hours of work were folk games, tournaments, swimming, vesper services, special ceremonies and theme parties.

A 12-member staff of junior 4-H leaders planned the event, which began Tuesday and ended at noon Thursday. Coordinators were Ed Garnett, area 4-H and youth specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Gordon Harris, Dawson County Extension Agent, and Martha Couch, Gaines County Extension Agent.

The leadership workshop is one of several annual leadership activities conducted by the District 2 4-H Council. Others

Foundation since its beginning in 1956.

In the double-rowed cotton varieties test which began in 1971, 36 varieties from 15 seed companies and private breeders are entered. The object of this study is to determine the best varieties available for double-row cotton production. Eleven of these varieties are experimental strains.

This study is supported in part by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

include the 4-H Gold Star banquet, district elimination contests and electric camp.

Theme for this year's workshop was "Developing Human Relations Skills."

Seven 4-H'ers from Lynn County attended the affair. They were Tami Thompson, Kevin James and Steven Payne from O'Donnell 4-H, Sharon Ernst and Lynna Poer from New Home 4-H, David Peterson from Wilson 4-H and Mike Edwards, Tahoka 4-H.

Accompanying the group was Bill Griffin and Carolyn Haley, County Extension Agents.

Says county Extension agent Griffin, "These young people have developed skills in this workshop that will help them serve as outstanding leaders for our 4-H'ers of tomorrow. We can be proud of the work they've done in preparing for this challenge."

NEW ST. AUGUSTINE GRASS

A new St. Augustine grass that can side-step a number of ailments that have plagued the common variety for years will soon be available to homeowners. It's called Floratam and gets its name from the fact that it was developed jointly by the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Floratam's strongest suit is that it is resistant to St. Augustine Decline (SAD) and chinch bugs and is also tolerant to downy mildew and gray leaf spot. Certified sod producers are now growing the new grass and supplies should be plentiful next spring.

PYTHIAN SISTERS HAS MEETING

June 19 the Pythian Sisters met for a business session with MEC Judy Holden in her chair. Lottie House was installed in the Guards Chair. A report was given on Grand Temple which was held in Abilene. Ladies attending from the local organization were Dorothy Kidwell, Trudy Schuknecht, Emma Halowicek and Gladys Cobb. Mildred Sherrill and Elnora Curry were hostesses for the evening, serving 18 sisters. The next meeting will be held July 3rd.

A SHORT REPORT

BY REP. E. L. SHORT

Senate Bill 817 would require butane dealers to increase storage to 18 thousand gallons. This provision was amended out of the bill in the House.

The Committee I serve on in Agriculture found many problems this Session with the Animal Health Commission and they are in the administration of the rules and regulations. From this Committee came the idea that the 6-member Board needed increasing to nine people. If signed into law, we will be adding a person in the marketing, horse business and cattle feeders to the Board.

Governor Briscoe's recommendation for school financing has passed the Senate and the wild liberal bill that the House passed costing 1.8 billion dollars will not see the light of day.

A bill was passed by both Houses that would allow junior colleges to admit any person 17 years or older with a high school diploma regardless of his educational background.

There will be no State Telephone Commission this Session.

I passed a Concurrent Resolution to study the quality and quantity of blood in Texas. The enormous amount of blood being used in this state for Leukemia patients and other medical uses is not of the same quality from one blood center to another and many diseases are being transmitted through transfusions. I have worked with the staff of Wadley in Dallas on this matter for over a year.

The Appropriation Conference Committee of the two Houses decided on 269 changes. 9.7 billion dollars will be the state expense for the next two years.

Speaker Daniel appointed 5 House Members to make arrangements for a party that the Austin Statesman said had 1000 people in attendance and that most of the money was received from lobbyists. The Speaker is off the hook because he now contends that he had nothing to do with the arrangements so now his lieutenants are the goat. The irony of it all is that the Speaker said he was going to give the party himself and did not approve of the lobby being a part of such party. According to other articles by the Capitol Press, Speaker Daniel is now blaming some of the same lobbyists for the defeat and weak reform bills of the session.

Under a Bill signed into law, the right turn on red will be permitted if the cities agree and adopt a uniform plan.

Druggists will probably have a post for public view the prices and names of 100 major drugs that they sell as a pharmacist.

A bill failed on final passage that would have set up a security fund to reimburse clients that lost money through fraudulent actions of their attorneys.

Two bills I authored are on the Governor's Desk for signature. One, that a District Judge name a receiver for unclaimed and unknown mineral interest owners so that they might go to Unitization agreements. The other one is a Breach of Warranty bill that a purchaser may sue in his county of residence rather than go to the place of manufacturer or home office.

Also passed and sent to the Governor were two bills which abolish the Lynn County School Board and the other abolished the Office of the County School Superintendent and Board in Terry County. This bill got four amendments added to it abolishing four additional counties saving the State of Texas over $100,000 per year.

My colleagues of course know me as a farmer rancher. A number of them have asked me "What is a watergate?"

MRS. DAVID MIDKIFF
... NEE LEXI ADAMS

Adams-Midkiff Repeat Vows

Lexi Adams and Dr. David Midkiff were united in marriage at 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 23, in the First United Methodist Church of Tahoka. Reverend Hugh B. Daniel of Lockney officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lester D. Adams of Tahoka, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Midkiff of Snyder, Texas. The bride is a graduate of Texas Tech University with a degree in home economics. The groom is a graduate of Baylor Dental College and is a dentist in Tahoka.

The bride was attired in a gown fashioned of white French cotton voile trimmed with venise lace. The empire bodice featured a wide squared collar outlined with the cotton lace and long Bishop sleeves with lace trimmed cuffs. A grosgrain ribbon overlaid with venise lace motifs encircled the raised waistline, and the hemline of the fuller A-line skirt was bordered with venise lace and flowed into a short brush train. Her bouquet was of roses, daisies, and baby's breath of pastel yellow, blue, and pink.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Jana Adams served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of similar design to the bride's dress, fashioned of pastel blue cotton voile, the dress featured a white squared collar and white cuffs bordered with venise lace and a deeper blue grosgrain ribbon encircled the raised waistline. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, daisies, pink roses, and baby's breath.

Miss Billie Wolfe of Lubbock played "Harp of the Western Winds" by Gall Barber on her concert harp, and Mrs. Clay Bennett provided wedding selections on the organ.

A reception was held in the bride's home after the ceremony. Following a wedding trip, Dr. and Mrs. Midkiff will make their home in Tahoka.

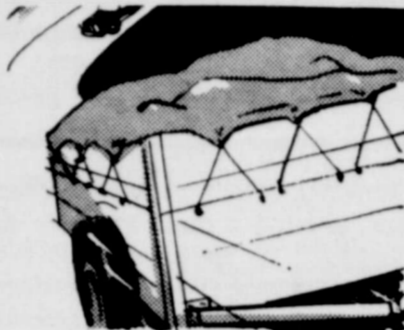

Runaway Trailer

To move some household goods to the country, Watson hitched up his trailer and set out along the highway. But as he was climbing a hill the trailer broke loose, veered across the center line, and slammed into a car coming the other way.

The other driver was seriously injured, and in due course brought suit for damages. At the trial, Watson insisted that he was not to blame because "it all happened so suddenly."

But the evidence showed that the trailer hitch had a faulty weld, and that the defect had been plainly visible before the accident. Result: Watson was held liable.

Anyone who undertakes to haul a trailer on the public roads must also undertake reasonable precautions. He must exercise a degree of care commensurate with the size and speed of this extra vehicle.

Furthermore, he must conform to the special requirements—such as a "fail safe" set of chains—that may be called for by the local traffic code.

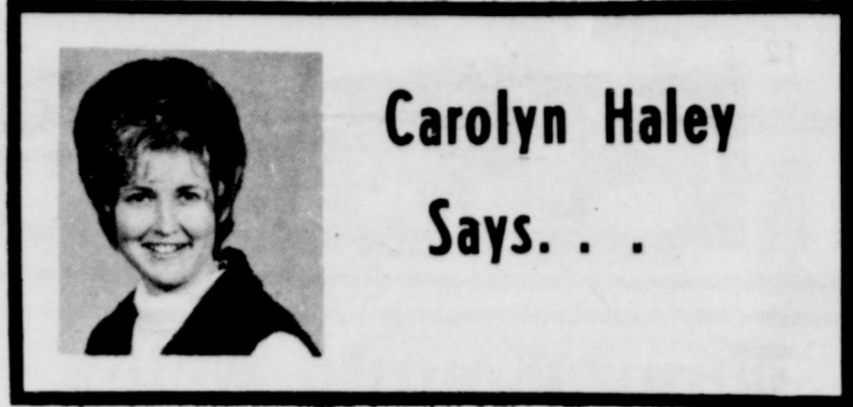

Even if a trailer does not actually break loose, it may still be dangerous because of swaying. Another driver incurred liability because his trailer, swinging from side to side, knocked down a woman walking on the shoulder of the highway.

On the other hand, not every injury inflicted by a trailer is the driver's fault. Consider another case in which a runaway trailer caused a collision. This time, the trailer came loose as a result of the shearing off of a pin in the hitching mechanism.

But there was nothing to put the driver on guard for such an eventuality—no visible defect, no prior experience to warn him of danger.

Accordingly, a court refused to make him pay damages.

"The collision," said the judge, "was the result of an unavoidable accident."

I promised you more information on food preservation, so I'll keep my promise. Have you wondered about the difference in water-bath and pressure cooker processing of foods in home canning?

The water-bath method is used for processing acid fruits and vegetables and is done using a pan with a lid and rack. The rack is used to hold the jars off the bottom of the cooker. The pan is large enough to cover the jars with one to two inches of water, so that the jars are surrounded with boiling water. The lid is used to help retain the heat. The acid in some fruits and vegetables helps prevent the growth of some bacteria which is the reason the water-bath process can be used. Microorganisms that grow in acid foods can be destroyed by boiling temperature within a reasonable period of time.

However, low acid fruits and vegetables must be canned using the pressure cooker. The spores (seeds) of some bacteria are highly resistant to heat, which makes it necessary for them to be destroyed by high heat. This is accomplished with the pressure cooker.

What are foods processed by these methods? The water bath is used for such foods as fruits, tomatoes and rhubarb. The pressure cooker is used for such foods as meat, poultry, seafood and most vegetables.

If you need more preservation information, write or call my office for helpful booklets.

Rolled oats can be used in a variety of ways. They are nutritious and easy on the food budget, too. When added to hamburger or other ground meat recipes, rolled oats help bind the ingredients together so that the meat retains its shape and can be cut easily without crumbling.
