Local Man's Portrait Unveiled At Fair

One of the highlights of the Arts and Crafts Fair was the remarkable leather portrait of Tom Barnes of Lubbock. Many local folks immediately recognized the tall, thin man in a suit and glasses as the former inspector for the Cattle Raisers Association and the portrait was a show favorite.

Overall, the Fair was termed a success. Between 700-800 people representing 25 area counties and three states registered. Over 50 Lubbock folks attended.

A large variety of art and different crafts were exhibited and made available to the public. Seventeen artists representing 23 artists displayed. Plans are already being formulated for a next year show.

Many folks were surprised at the quality and quantity of the items exhibited.

Donors included: Mrs. E.B. Gaither, candleholders from Charles Smith; Jhoni Caswell, Tahoka, glasses from Parker Pharmacy; Lela Wood, prints from Bill Craig; Wanda Elrod, Tahoka, tissue dispenser from Wharton Motor; Mrs. Bill Stewart, Tahoka, $25 bond from First National Bank; Mrs. R.H. ## Bulldogs End Season With 34-33 Victory

The Tahoka Bulldogs, who were picked to win few games at the beginning of the season, ended the 1973 grid campaign on a winning note last Friday night by defeating Post, 34-33. The Bulldogs, who played brilliant all season as a team and never gave up in a game came out with a better season mark than last year's team that was picked at the top of the 5-AA conference. Last year's Bulldog grid team was picked to be one of the prime contenders for the District title wound up the season with a 6-4 mark losing to Stanton, Abernathy, Frenship and Denver City. This year's ball club lost only three contests being to Stanton, Cooper, and Denver City. The Bulldogs put on a lot of extra effort this season to wind up with a 7-3 mark and pulled out a third in District Competition.

After hardly any offense in the first half, the Bulldogs finally got their first, first down of the night with just 5 minutes left in the first half. Neither team could get on the score board in the first period, but Post tallied first in the second period on a 13 yard pass from quarterback Dryan Davis to fullback Donnell Harper. The PAT was good giving the Antelopes a 7-0 lead. The Antelopes lead was cut to one, when Weldon Warren tossed a 26 yarder to Steve Miller to put Tahoka on the scoreboard. The Bulldogs missed their extra point attempt giving the Antelopes a 7-6 half-time lead in what appeared would be a low scoring game.

Things really started popping in the second half as Post added to their lead in the third period when Harper and Davis teamed up again, this time on a 16 yard but the PAT two-point attempt failed. This gave the Antelopes a 13 to 6 lead. The Bulldogs came right back when Jimmy Bailey scored on a 16-yard sweep. The Bulldogs converted on a two-point attempt leaving the score 14-13 with the Bulldogs out front. Before the third period ended the Antelopes came right back with a 14 yard touchdown run by Davis, Post missed their extra point again giving the Antelopes a 19-14 lead going in to the final period.

In the fourth period the Bulldogs struck twice on two consecutive drives capped by a one-yard plunge by Jimmy Bailey for six-points and a one yard plunge by quarterback Weldon Warren for a six point tally. The Bulldogs made one two-point conversion giving them a 28-19 lead early in the final period. On the kickoff after the second TD for the Bulldogs, Harper took the ball and ran the kickoff back for 97 yards and a TD for Post. The Antelopes missed another PAT leaving the score at 28-25.

Jimmy Bailey scored again minutes later to give the Bulldogs a 34-25 lead, but the Antelopes still weren't through, adding a final TD with just 27 seconds left on the scoreboard clock on a 20 yard blast by halfback Davis Conoly. The Antelopes added two points to end the score at 34-33 in favor of the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs took the kick-off and ran out the clock.

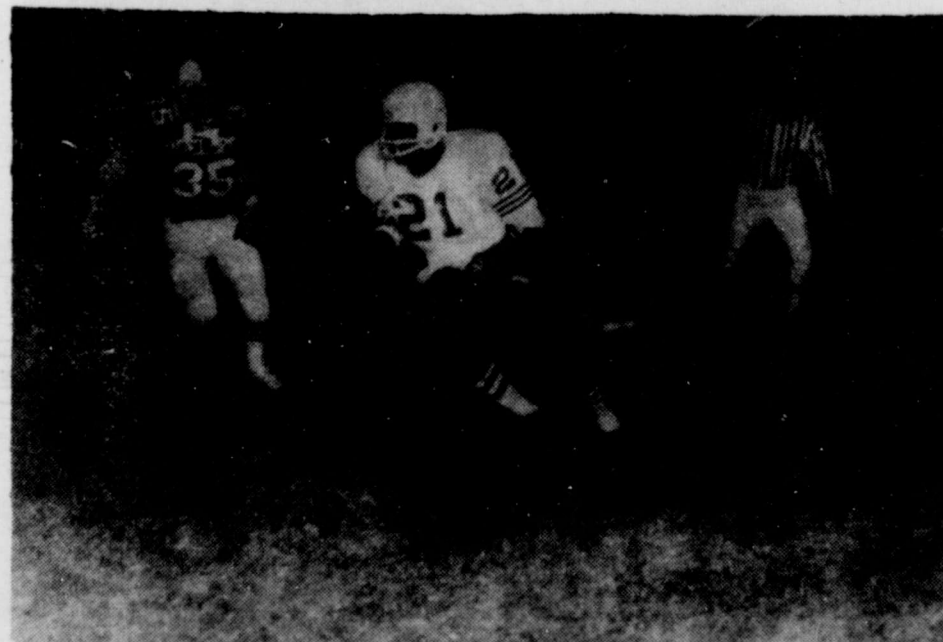

Jimmy Bailey had 173 yards rushing, with most of it coming in the second half. Timmie White had 60 yards rushing but most of White's came at critical times.

Johnny McDonald played an outstanding game on defense for Tahoka and Davis led Post's offense with 105 yards rushing. Linebacker Sammy Gutierrez was outstanding on defense for Post.

The Matador Matadors scored 14 points in the fourth quarter to take a come-from-behind victory over the Wilson Mustangs last Friday night in the last game of the regular season, 22-9.

The Mustangs were the first to score when Phil Kitten kicked a field goal of 28 yards, in the first quarter. With 4:59 left in the first quarter, Matador QB Steve Stevens passed to Willie Johnson 30 yards for a Matador TD. Stevens ran for the extra point.

The Mustangs played an outstanding second quarter. QB Mike Bednarz plunged 2 yards for a Mustang TD to cap a 97 yard drive. The TD was set up by a 43 yard run by Phil Kitten. On defense, the Mustangs forced 2 fumbles which were recovered by Mark Brieger and Johnny Arellano. Just before halftime the Mustangs threatened again when Chris Coleman intercepted a Matador pass and ran it back 40 yards to the Matador 5 just as time expired. At half the Mustangs led 9-8 and had 147 yards rushing to Matadors 33.

The third Quarter was a defensive battle as the Mustang defense again forced 2 fumbles; recovered by Johnny Arellano and Clyde Wilke. Both defenses capitalized on offensive mistakes.

The Matadors scored 14 points in the 4th quarter for a struggling come-back victory. Matador QB Stevens ran 2 yards for a touchdown that put them ahead 14-9. Stevens later threw to Gonzales for a 20 yard TD pass.

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., were notified from Washington November 16 that the Office of Oil and Gas was moving to alleviate what had been described as an "almost" incredible amount of confusion in the acquisition by farmers of fuel for harvesting 1973 crops.

A spokesman for Senator Lloyd Bentsen of Texas reported that Duke Ligon, Director of the Office of Oil and Gas, had agreed to grant a "priority preference" for 60 days on the allocation of diesel fuel to (1) farm and ranch activities, including feed lots, (2) drilling rigs for oil production and (3) public transit operations.

The "preference" was to be effectuated, according to Ligon, by an Advisory Notice in the Federal Register of November 16. Notices in the Federal Register, for practical purposes, carry the force of law. The notice will amend Section 12 of the Federal Mandatory Allocation Program for Middle Distillates which became effective November 1, "to avoid the unintentional misinterpretation of the regulations which stopped the flow of diesel in Texas," Bentsen's office said.

Shortages and fear of shortages began to appear immediately after the Mandatory Allocation Program went into effect, and PCG has been in daily contact with Congressmen and Senators and with Federal and State officials attempting to free up what appeared to be an adequate supply of diesel.

Lynn County News

Until November 16, according to PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "Suppliers and distributors had diesel fuel on hand, yet in many instances were refusing to sell it to farmers for fear of violating regulations of the Allocation Program."

The Allocation Program called for distribution of available fuel supplies equitably among wholesale purchasers, using month-by-month 1972 purchases to establish a "base period supply volume." Procedures were set up for adjusting monthly allocations, but even the forms for implementing these procedures have not been printed.

Monthly allocations based on the previous year's usage created a problem in that harvesting and other farm operations do not always occur in the same month from year to year. On the Plains, for example, because of good weather and an earlier crop, farmers this year will need four or five times as much fuel as was used in the same months of 1972.

Ligon's action to correct the gross inequities and hardships that were occurring came after two weeks of intensive work by farm state Congressmen and Senators, PCG and other farm organizations and individuals. On Nov. 15, Senator Lloyd Bentsen of Texas made a statement on the Senate Floor urging immediate fuel supplies for agriculture, and evening with Director Ligon.

The same evening Congressman George Mahon of Lubbock and Bob Poage of Waco were taking up the issue at the White House with President Nixon. Mahon, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, and Poage, Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, urged that fuel for agricultural operations be given the highest priority and that efforts be redoubled to "untangle" the situation.

In advising Mahon's office of the November 16 action, the Office of Petroleum Allocation said the 60-day preference for Agriculture would be effective immediately, but cautioned that allocations during these 60 days would be charged against users' total adjusted annual allocations.

Johnson said "The total effect of this action cannot be assessed on such short notice, but there is hope that it will alleviate much of the confusion that has existed in recent weeks and that the harvest can continue without further interruption.

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS

It's a modern day miracle, the production of food and fiber for the mushrooming population of this state and nation. Yet it's happening because dedicated people are working hard and caring for the land and striving to do their best to provide high quality food and fiber products for their fellow countrymen.

"Texans are invited to take a close look at the agricultural industry of their state during the month of November, which has been designated as 'Food and Fiber Appreciation Month.' It's a fitting tribute to an industry that serves as the lifeblood of humanity," points out Charles Baker, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Texans should be proud of their agricultural industry which contributes more than $10 billion to the state's economy each year and employs about 30 per cent of the state's labor force. Of the state's 168 million acres of land area, 142 million are devoted to agriculture."

What are some of the other facts and figures that make Texas an agricultural giant?

Baker lists a few: --Texas ranks third nationally to only California and Iowa in total agricultural income.

--Texas leads the nation in producing cotton, grain sorghum and rice.

--It is the top cattle producer and also leads in the production of sheep and wool, goats and mohair.

--Texas ranks third among agricultural exporting states and is rice, cotton, hides, tallow and cottonseed oil. About 21 per cent of the state's 1972 cash receipts from agriculture came from exports.

--Texas is second only to Georgia in peanut production and is a major producer of other oilseed crops such as cottonseed, soybeans, flaxseed and castors.

--Texas is the third leading vegetable producing state behind California and Florida. It ranks first in cabbage, watermelon and spinach production and second in onions, carrots and cantaloupes.

--The state is second in producing grapefruit and third in oranges.

--Texas leads in native pecans and is third in overall pecan production.

--Honey production is also big business, with Texas being third in the number of bee colonies.

--Texas is among the top 10 dairy states in the nation.

--The state is a leading producer of poultry and eggs.

Other enterprises that are important generators of agricultural income in Texas are timber, horses, fish farming and recreation. Texas is the leading state in horse numbers and is among the leading states in fish farming.

"Agriculture is indeed 'big' in Texas," notes Baker, "and it continues to grow to meet the ever-increasing demands for high quality food and fiber products."

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

State Conservationist Edward E. Thomas of Temple today urged Texas farmers to think carefully before putting new land into cultivation in 1974.

"Most land in Texas should not be farmed in clean tilled crops without terraces, contour farming, minimum tillage, or other proven conservation measures," Thomas stressed. "Besides, these practices help increase production in the long run."

"But some land should not be farmed under any circumstances," Thomas said. "We are already getting reports of highly erosive soils being plowed up for crop production. This can cause massive wind and water erosion problems."

Thomas, head of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service in Texas, said his agency supports full agricultural production as a principal means of checking food price increases.

"But we also need full protection of the land along with full production," he emphasized.

He urged farmers to contact local SCS offices before putting land into cultivation.

Cotton Harvest Increasing Daily

The South Plains cotton harvest is gaining momentum daily as stripping operations increase in all counties, according to Paul R. Dickson, in charge of the U.S.D.A. Cotton Classing Office in Lubbock. This great increase in harvest activity is reflected in the increasing number of samples being received daily at the four area U.S.D.A. classing offices. Approximately 32,000 samples were received at the four South Plains offices on Friday. This was the largest number of samples received any day this season and this volume is expected to increase daily if favorable weather continues. During the peak of the harvest this volume usually reaches 50,000 to 60,000 samples per day. Classers from other areas are being transferred to the local classing offices to take care of this increased volume.

The U.S.D.A. classing offices at Lubbock, Brownfield, Lamesa, and Levelland classed 170,000 samples last week and had approximately 69,000 on hand Friday afternoon. Total classed so far this season now stands at 358,000. This is far ahead of the volume at this date last year when 64,000 samples of the 1972 crop had been classed.

Quality of cotton continued excellent and is considerably higher than last year.

Grades 31 and 41 continued to be the predominant grades at Lubbock, making up 72 percent of all classed. Grade 31 made up 34 percent, Grade 41, 38 percent and 32, 10 percent.

Staples were predominantly 30 to 32. Thirty-seven percent had staple lengths of 30 and shorter and the remaining 63 percent stapled 31 and longer. Average staple length was 31.4-32nds of an inch.

Micronaire readings are an indication of fiber fineness or maturity. These readings indicate that most of the early-harvested bales were fully mature. Eighty-two percent of all cotton tested at Lubbock had micronaire readings in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.9, 11 percent was in the high micronaire range of 5.0 to 5.2 and 5 percent was in the very high range of 5.3 and above.

The Agricultural Marketing Service of the U.S.D.A. reported increased trading on the Lubbock market. Prices were $10.00 to $20.00 per bale lower and averaged 34 cents per pound over the loan. Most lots were selling in the price range of 50 to 60 cents per pound.

Average prices paid for the most predominant qualities in the 3.5 to 4.9 premium micronaire range were: Grade 31, Staple 30 - 48.65 cents per pound, Grade 31, Staple 31 - 52.40, Grade 31, Staple 32 - 57.40, Grade 41, Staple 30 - 47.70, Grade 41, Staple 31 - 51.25, and Grade 41, Staple 32 - 55.95.

Cottonseed prices were steady and farmers received $96 to $110 per ton. Average price was $101.50 per ton.

Cotton Contracts Rotary Subject

Problems relating to advance contracting of cotton crops were discussed at the Rotary Club last Thursday by Calloway Huffaker, local attorney who is reputed to be one of the most knowledgeable men on the subject in the country.

He expressed the opinion that there is a definite need for cotton contracting, but he says there are legal controls needed to protect the seller as well as the buyer.

Last spring, many farmers contracted their fall cotton crop at prices, in many cases about 925 point above the loan, which turned out to be far below the going price for cotton this fall. Some are attempting to break these contracts.

Mr. Huffaker advised against trying to break these contracts, but pointed out the need for better protection to the producer.

Representative E.L. Short, local legislator, has been holding hearings all over Texas recently on the subject, and legislation on the problem will be before the next session of the Texas Legislature.

Local cotton buyers who were guests at the meeting were Pat Campbell of Wilson, Mrs. Truett Schneider and Mrs. J.A. Peshworth.

Wilton Payne was in charge of the program.

Carolyn Haley Says...

By the time most of you read this, Thanksgiving dinner will be over and many of us will be wondering what to do with so much leftover turkey. One of the nicest things about roasting a turkey is that the leftovers are as tasty as the first slices cooked and ready to go into most succulent of main dishes.

However, it is important that cooked turkey be cared for properly. After the meal of roast turkey is over, the meat should be wrapped or placed in a covered dish to prevent drying out and loss of flavor, then refrigerate promptly. Meal-sized portions of meat may be frozen; properly packaged, they keep well for a month. If it's a stuffed bird, stuffing should be removed immediately from cavities, placed in a covered bowl, and stored separately in refrigerator. Gravy, too, can be refrigerated or frozen for use later in some elegant dish.

Sliced Turkey Creole

- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons diced green pepper
- two-thirds cup sliced celery
- 3 tablespoons cooking oil
- 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon celery salt
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 cup cooked peas (optional)
- 8 slices leftover turkey, hot
- 4 to 6 slices buttered toast

Saute onions, green pepper, and celery in oil. Add tomato sauce, water, celery salt, sugar and peas. Simmer 5 minutes. Serve over turkey slices on toast. Makes 4 servings.

Turkey and Almond Ring

- 6 cups (1/2-inch) soft bread cubes
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 bouillon cube
- 1 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon sage
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups chopped, cooked turkey
- 1/4 cup chopped, toasted salted almonds
- 3 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper

Combine bread cubes, milk, and beaten egg. Dissolve bouillon cube in hot water; add to bread mixture along with remaining ingredients. Pour into a greased (1 1/2-quart) ring mold and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 35 minutes. Let stand 5 to 7 minutes; unmold and serve with Mushroom Sauce. Makes 8 servings.

Turkey Tomato Casserole

- 4 cups diced cooked turkey
- 1 lb. 13 oz. can tomatoes
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 3/4 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme
- 1/2 cup finely chopped stuffed olives
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 2 cups shredded American Cheese

Place 2 1/2 cups tomatoes into a 2 quart casserole. Panfry onion in butter. Add salt, thyme and remaining tomatoes; cook 5 minutes. Combine with remaining ingredients and pour mixture over tomatoes in casserole. Bake at 350 degrees F. for about 30 minutes. Makes 8 servings. If desired, bake in individual casseroles with buttered bread crumbs sprinkled over top.

First Baptist Open Drive

In a building campaign begun in 1967, the First Baptist Church members and deacons decided to raise $75,000 toward a fund to improve the facilities at First Baptist Church. This goal has been reached. It had never been decided whether the money would be used to remodel the present building or to replace it with a new structure.

This year (1973) a decision was made by the church members. After studying many plans and following many suggestions, the church voted to build a new building. The plans call for a new auditorium, landscaping and furniture. Now, the church has a new goal—to raise $275,000 . . . $125,000 in cash by April 1, 1974; and $150,000 in pledges to be paid within the next 33 months. Construction date for this new church will be determined partly by the time involved in reaching this goal.

Leading the church's building fund campaign has been Rev. Leonard Hartley, pastor of Odesa's Sherwood Baptist Church. He has been working closely with the local pastor, Rev. Jim Turner, the past week in forming committees and securing personnel for the campaign.

Chairmen and other committees will be announced in the near future.

GARLAND PENNINGTON

Garland Pennington To Head

In Sunday morning church services, Rev. Jim Turner announced that Garland Pennington has accepted the responsibility of leading up the First Baptist Church in its Building Fund Campaign.

Mr. Pennington was selected by the members of his church, as the man to lead this building fund drive. In an impartial survey called to church members, Garland's name was most often written in.

Garland Pennington, the recently retired manager of Lynn County Electric Cooperative, Inc., after 35 years of service, has been a member of First Baptist Church since 1932. During this time he has taught 10 year old junior boys' Sunday school classes, been president of the men's Sunday school class and was elected a deacon in 1942, of which he was chairman a number of years. The farmer-rancher has served his church well for many years.

The church is attempting to raise $275,000 to enable the congregation to build a new church building. The quarter-million dollars will be raised through cash gifts and the balance will be made by members pledge. Many cash gifts have already been made.

Plans formulated by Rev. Leonard Hartley of Odesa during his visits to the local church will go into effect soon. The campaign will begin in earnest the first week in December and last through March 31.

White Indian Meets Ranger

one of the "Indians" that Texas Rangers in this area went looking for during 1875 was actually a redheaded boy from Llano named Herman Lehmann who had been kidnapped by the Apaches, according to a story by Clayton Williams, Sr. of Fort Stockton. Lehmann's sixteenth year, adopted Apache father was led by a medicine man who saved his own life, Lehmann and the medicine man, took his horse and the best horse in the area, gathered his bow and arrows, a blanket and some provisions and fled.

The lonely youth spent many days riding over arid plains, rugged hills and waterless desert, almost perishing from thirst, he staggered into a deep canyon which had a small stream of clear water and cottonwood trees. Here he existed in a cave for eight months.

One solitary night he was startled out of sleep by a strange sound.

Stepping quietly outside his cave, Lehmann heard loud laughter and saw a large camp of his white acquaintances not 300 yards away.

The Indians were apparently returning home from a successful raid, as they had a large number of stolen horses farther in the canyon.

Lehmann quietly gathered up his equipment and a supply of venison, caught his horse and moved up the canyon. Once on the plain above he rode eastward, crossing streams and killing all men—whites, Indians and Mexicans.

Once he used bow and arrows in a game, the 28 cartridges in his Winchester lasted until he got between the Pecos River and the Rio Grande. There in the desolate region he hid the night in a cave.

After traveling some distance, his jerky and water gave out and he was forced to exist on cactus tunas, sotol and other vegetation. Once the desperate man killed and ate a skunk.

At a muddy water hole, he used grass as a strainer in the water to keep from swallowing flies and bugs.

Moving on he spotted a herd of buffalo, roped and jerked down a young calf and dragged it some distance.

Dismounting to cut the calf's throat, the starving boy failed to reckon his own weak state. The animal butted him down several times. He tried to kill it with an arrow but did not have enough strength to drive it in.

Finally, he struggled back to his horse, dragged the calf until it was nearly dead and then got down and finished him off.

When he tried building a fire by rubbing two dry sticks together, he barely had the strength to create enough friction to produce a spark.

He took plenty of the meat, and at night he placed it under his head and fell asleep. When his horse snorted and ran up close to him, he grabbed the meat and equipment, mounted and rode away.

At a second stopping place, he again placed the meat under his head and fell asleep.

Once more his horse aroused him, and Lehmann saw that a big lobo (wolf) was smelling under his head for the meat. He let fly an arrow that ended that lobo's career. But soon another took its place.

Altogether, Lehmann killed five lobos and drove more than that away.

For a year or more, Lehmann lived a solitary life of constant fear. Then one day he encountered some Comanches, decided to join them and walked into their camp.

An old squaw wanted to have him killed. But Lehmann displayed the scalps of white men dangling from his shield and explained in Apache-through a Comanche interpreter, why he had deserted the Apaches, and that he hated the whites, loved the Indians and was one of them by adoption.

The Comanches decided to let him stay.

Two braves helped him stake his horse, and the squaws gave him plenty to eat and spread a comfortable pallet for him.

As Montechena, Herman Lehmann became well acquainted with the renowned Quannah Parker and his warriors and made several raids with them.

After settling down on the reservation, he met Gen. McKenzie at Fort Sill in Oklahoma in 1878, and the general persuaded him to go home. Arriving there, he found that his mother was still alive and that she had never ceased hoping for his return.

Many years later at a pioneer reunion, Lehmann, dressed in buckskin and with a pair of buffalo horns on his head, related his experiences as the "White Indian."

One of the listeners was Capt. James B. Gillett, a former Ranger and one of the men who had participated in the attack on the Apaches and had returned after a chase to look for the redheaded Indian.

After more than 50 years had passed since their first encounter, the Ranger and the "White Indian" shook hands.

was endeavoring to rejoin the Indians, Lt. Col. William R. Shafter's large outfit was really out to get those Indians who were out on the "loose."

After recuperating at the supply camp from 900 miles of previous scouting under unpleasant conditions, Shafter sent the soldiers out again.

On Oct. 12, six companies of cavalry and two of infantry marched to the headwaters of Yellowstone Canyon, where Shafter sent Capt. Baldwin's detachment by way of Tahoka Lake and the Mucha Que to the Big Spring, where a camp was set up and that detachment's scouts scrutinized the area.

Meanwhile Shafter's contingent scouted west by the Double Lakes, thence to Cedar Lake, where good drinking water was available in dug wells in a ravine immediately north of the lake.

Shafter dispatched Lt. Bullis and his detachment to the Sabinas where an Indian encampment was discovered and charged upon. The Indians escaped, leaving 25 of their horses and mules.

Fifty sacks of mesquite beans and several thousand pounds of buffalo meat and other camp materials were destroyed by the soldiers.

Shafter's troops arrived afterward and ordered Lt. Andrew Geddes with two companies of cavalry and Seminole scouts to follow the trail as long as possible.

Shafter, with the two remaining companies, moved out toward the Dug Spring of his previous trek. The Geddes detachment moved rapidly south, passed by the region north of present Midland and then Peck's Spring, farther south.

The Indians raced just ahead of them, pushing hard to cross the Rio Grande.

Capt. Norvell of Fort Stockton wrote to the military headquarters in November 1875 that:

"The mail carriers from this post reported that on Oct. 24, ult. a detachment of the 10th Cavalry passed Centralia Station, Tex. in pursuit of a large party of Indians that were headed toward the lower Pecos, that the officers told the carriers that they were from Col. Shafter's command and had destroyed the camps of the party that they were in pursuit of, and that the Indians were only 15 hours ahead of them."

Christmas Mailing Deadlines Updated

Because of the energy crisis, Postmaster Charles Townes today urged Tahoka and area residents to post their domestic and foreign Christmas mail one to two weeks earlier than the Postal Service originally recommended.

"The urgency of the fuel energy crisis compels us to request a one week advancement of the suggested dates we gave for domestic mail and a two week advancement for foreign mail," Townes said.

The new deadline for posting domestic first-class Christmas mail is Dec. 8 rather than Dec. 15, as previously announced. Domestic surface parcels, except those for Alaska and Hawaii, should be mailed by Dec. 3, instead of Dec. 10.

Airmail parcels and letters within the United States (except Alaska and Hawaii) should now be posted no later than Dec. 15, rather than Dec. 21.

"The seriousness of the fuel shortage to the Postal Service is underlined," Townes said, "by the fact that in addition to the fuel consumed by commercial air carriers, we require approximately 350 million gallons of fuel traveling 2.25 billion miles to deliver the 90 billion pieces of mail that flow through the system for December alone are 45 million gallons."

Townes said that "public cooperation on meeting these new, advanced mail early dates is needed to help us complete all Christmas deliveries."

"Reductions in the number of evening and early morning scheduled airline flights is of particular concern to us," Townes said. "Although roughly half of our Christmas mail remains within a 150-mile radius of senders, the Christmas season is a time of large volumes of long-distance mail. Except for surface parcels and other bulk materials, much of this long distance mail travels by air."

"So far, reductions in airline flights have not interfered with our ability to meet service standards since alternate flights have been available," he said. "But further reductions, particularly coming as they may during the Christmas season, give us cause for concern."

Today, the Postal Service delivers airmail letters overnight to designated cities, generally those communities within a few hours' flight time and with appropriate air service. Within the contiguous 48 states, the Postal Service promises that at least 95 per cent of all airmail letters will be delivered in no more than two days.

The Postmaster General has requested that long-haul truck operators under contract to the Postal Service observe the 50-mile-an-hour speed limit asked by President Nixon. To enable them to do this and still meet contract requirements, the Postal Service is re-evaluating its long-haul truck operations to make necessary schedule changes. The Postal Service clamped an energy-saving 50 miles-per-hour limit on its own vehicles last May.

"The effect of the 50-mile-an-hour speed limit will be most noticeable in the West, where typically you find long distances separating communities," Townes said.

New suggested international and military mail-early dates are:

Nov. 13--Parcel Airlift mail to Armed Forces in Antarctica, Australia, Burma, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, New Zealand, Okinawa, Philippines, Taiwan, Thailand and Vietnam;

Nov. 16 (changed from Nov. 30):

Parcel Airlift mail to Armed Forces in Canada, Greenland, Labrador, Newfoundland and the Azores;

Nov. 17 (changed from Dec. 1):

Airmail greetings and parcels to Armed Forces in South and Central America, Ethiopia, Iran, Israel, Saudi Arabia, Turkey, Antarctica, Australia, Burma, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, New Zealand, Okinawa, Philippines, Taiwan, Thailand and Vietnam; International surface parcels to Canada and Mexico;

High County Shows Rotary Seeking Students For Education Awards

Johnny Wells, president of the Rotary Club of Tahoka, has announced that the club is seeking young men and women in the Tahoka area as candidates for Rotary Foundation educational awards for study abroad in 1975-76.

The Foundation offers three types of educational awards: Graduate Fellowships, for those who have received a bachelor's degree or equivalent and are between the ages of 20 and 28; Undergraduate Scholarships, for those with a minimum of two years of university level work and are the ages of 18 to 24; Awards to Teachers of the Handicapped, for those who have been engaged as fulltime teachers of the mentally, physically or educationally handicapped for at least two years at the time of application and are the ages of 25 to 50.

Each award includes round-trip transportation, educational and living expenses for one academic year, and funds for intensive language training, if necessary.

In 1947, the Foundation started its programs of sending young adults abroad for study, and since that time, the Foundation has awarded more than US $17.5 million for its various programs, and more than 6,000 young men and women have gone to countries other than their own for a year of study. As a non-profit organization, The Rotary Foundation is supported by voluntary contributions from Rotarians, Rotary Clubs, and friends of Rotary in 150 different countries.

Further information about these awards is available from Johnny Wells. The application deadline is 15 March, 1974.
