DAVID BLACK "Although raised in a Christian home, I never fully gave my life to Jesus until 4 years ago. All through my High School and college years I knew Jesus was calling me to the ministry, but I chose to live my life the way I wanted, turning my back on Him, and the call to His service. During this time, my life became one of frustration and much unhappiness. I tried running from God, but no matter how fast or where I ran, I could never get away from Him. Then on Good Friday, 1970, while watching the Oral Roberts Easter T.V. special, I gave my life to Jesus and answered His call to the ministry."

This summer, David has joined the staff of the Jack Gray Ministry in Evangelism.

Also on the program with David will be Johnny Ray Watson, a black singer from Lorenzo. Johnny Ray has just completed his first record with Word, Inc. in Waco. He is 6' 10" tall and a former basketball player for McMurry College.

High-capacity, completely integrated harvester brings the conveniences and productivity of self-propulsion to cotton stripping.

NEW FROM

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER

95 SELF PROPELLED COTTON HARVESTER

- · Wide, tall and deep row units, with long brush rolls, helps you strip fast, yet save all of the bolls.
- · Big diesel engine delivers 106 hp to keep you on the move in any field condition.
- Hydrostatic Drive, standard, lets you precisely match ground speed to crop and harvesting conditions for maximum
- Roomy cab is standard; includes pressurizer, filter, dome light, tinted safety glass, floor mat, mirror. Heater is optional.
- Huge basket holds 655 cu. ft. . . . dumps into 12-ft. high trailers . . . basket distributor attachment available to increase capacity
- Guide wheel axle is adjustable to row widths and to give you the amount of stability needed for your conditions.

The International 95 self-propelled cotton harvester gives you the fully proven cotton-saving ability of the IH stripping system-plus the added advantages that self-propulsion offers over tractor-mounted units, including . . . instant machine availability whenever your crop is ready . . . good balance for handling case and maneuverability . . . excellent visibility down the rows . . . convenient accessibility for servicing . . . plus the comfort and convenience you get from working inside an enclosed cab.

Roomy row units help you strip fields clean. The 95 harvester does a superior job of clean stripping, while working at highly productive speeds. This is because of the wide, deep and tall row units, with long brush rolls that sweep stalks

The automatic height control system senses ahead of the row units . . . provides fast response to keep units in proper sition to harvest more of your crop.

Vertical auger air separation system conveys fast, separates thoroughly. The augers convey bolls and lint to the top of the boll separation chamber where they enter into the air conveying system. Trash outlets along the way remove stems, Dual radial-type fans deliver strong blasts of air to move the open bolls directly into the basket. Heavier green bolls drop onto a grate that directs them into the 12-cu. ft. capacity green boll catcher.

Harvester is easy to service. Because the harvester is self-propelled, the stripping units, conveyor systems and the propulsion unit are more accessible than on tractor-mounted strippers. You spend less time in servicing, have more time for production in the field.

The big 655-cu. ft. capacity basket lifts high for dumping into trailers with sides as high as 12 ft. And because of its large capacity, you can spend extra time stripping, less time stopping to unload. Then, for even more capacity, you can add the exclusive IH basket distributor attachment that compresses the cotton in the basket so you can pack more in. PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Bids of aerial applicators for multiple spraying of an estimated 200,000 acres of cotton in the 1974 High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program will be opened August 12 and the first planes should take the air on August 26.

These facts were revealed in Lubbock July 31 at a meeting of the program's Technical Advisory Committee.

Ed Dean, Field Service Director of Plains Cotton Growers. Inc., gave the estimated base acreage figure and said the aggregate of acreage to be sprayed could come to around 650,000, requiring some 77,000 gailons of insecticide. PCG initiated the program in 1964 when it became apparent that without a control effort the cotton boll weevil within a few years would infest the entire High Plains and move on into New Mexico, greatly increasing cotton production costs and reducing both yield and quality of the crop. It has been described as one of the most successful pest management efforts ever developed in agriculture.

The massive spraying of technical malathion to decimate the number of weevils going into hiberation each fall is preceded by surveys to determine the areas that are infested and whether or not weevil populations are high enough to justify treatment.

The program "control zone" lies along the rim of the Caprock bordering the High Plains on the east. Fields in the zone are sprayed as often as necessary each year to prevent weevils from migrating and establishing themselves in the heavy cotton producing area to the west.

The program is financed on a dollar for dollar basis by cotton producers in PCG's 25 counties and the Federal Government, with some contribution from the Texas Department of Agriculture.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's South Plains Ginning Research Laboratory will have a Field Day August 9 to which all ginners and others in the cotton industry are invited. The program will begin at 10:00 a.m. in the gin building located just east of the Texas A&M Research & Extension Center 4 miles north of Lubbock on the Amarillo Highway.

Attracting area gin people will be demonstrations of cleaning machine-stripped cotton, green boll and stick removal, compliance with Occupational Safety and Health Act safety regulations, and modifying gin presses to produce 24-inch bales which can be compressed to universal density. In addition there will be a special presentation on motivation of gin employees.

Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, says, "These topics relate to every ginner's day-to-day operations and the field day activities should be of considerable value." PCG was among several organizations and individuals responsible for USDA establishing a ginning laboratory on the Plains to study problems peculiar to the ginning of stripper-harvested cottons and develop the technology to cope with those problems.

Gin Laboratory Director Roy Baker will report on work in conditioning and cleaning of stripped cottons, and Research Engineer Weldon Laird will discuss investigations in stick and green boll removal. Roy Childers, USDA Cotton Mechanization Specialist, will talk about methods, materials, costs and operational aspects of modifying gin press boxes to produce the narrower bale required for universal density compression.

The final presentation of the program will concern OSHA machinery guarding requirements which take effect with the 1975 season. Ken Chaffe, Cornwall and Stevens safety engineer, will conduct a walk-through inspection of the gin plant, pointing out machinery components on which OSHA will require safety equipment and areas not included in the proposed OSHA standards.

At noon during the all-day program, Dallas-based Texas Cotton Ginners Association will host a fried chicken and barbecue lunch.

re are two main reasons, out the Texas A and M sity specialist-high inrates and a desire to hold the price line as long as possible.

A short cotton crop for Texas and the United States is in the offing, and this should get mills in the buying mood before too long. Baker earlier estimated the U.S. cotton crop at 13 million bales and this still looks like a good projection. More than 350,000 acres of cotton have already been lost in Texas due to dry conditions, and earlier planting estimates by the U.S. Department of Agriculture can now be evaluated as some 400,000 acres too high in Texas and the other Cotton Belt

"With a U.S. cotton crop of 13 million bales or less, stocks for 1975 will be at a 23-year low," notes Baker.

"Farmers are holding out for higher prices for their crop as they are faced with skyrocketing production costs. The cost of producing a pound of cotton in Texas this year will probably reach 40 cents a pound, up about 9 cents from last year.

LAND USE PLANNING and air pollution. The administraor of the Environmental Protection Agency, in his attempt to enforce the provisions of the Clean Air Act, as amended. (P.L. 88-206) is attempting to regulate the location of parking lots and other public service facilities. The EPA administrator has issued rules and regulations, which, in effect, demand that each state submit a plan for controlling the location of parking lots and similar service areas designed to meet EPA standards. If the state plans are not approved, EPA proposes to enforce its standards within the states. The phrase used in connection with this problem is "indirect sour. ces". The "indirect sources" is defined in the regulations as follows: "A facility, building, structure, or installation which attracts, or may attract, mobile source activity that results in emmissions of a pollutant for which there is a national standard, such indirect sources include, but are not limited to (a) highway and roads, (b) parking facilities, (c) retail and commercial and industrial facilities, (d) recreation, amusements, sports and entertainment facilities, (e) airports, (f) office and government building, (g) apartments and condominium buildings, (h) educational facilities." If all of these public facilities are under the direct control of the federal government, it will indeed be a massive land-use planning program. Texas had not submitted an indirect source plan as required by EPA. Texas officials have concluded that they do not have authority to enforce such regulations.

Local citizens have been and will continue to be, very critical of EPA and indirect sources regulations. The whole point of this discussion is to remind county Farm Bureau leaders that Congress is the guilty group and not the administrator. It can be argued that administrators, rarely if ever, write regulations and enforce laws"as intended by Congress", but Congress is certainly aware of this situation. The original Clean Air Act was approved on Oct. 15, 1966 and was amended in Dec. of 1963 and 1970. U.S. Rep. Bob Casey, from Texas, has introduced a bill in the U.S. Representatives, designed to bar the Environmental Protection Agency from requiring states to submit indirect sources control plans as a condition of approval of an implementation plan. Congressman Casey has charged that the control of indirect sources by EPA amounted to an attempt to institute land-use laws after they have been turned down by Congress.(TEXAS POLLUTION RE-PORT, July 24, 1974)

FARM PROGRAM.-The Secretary of Agriculture has announced its intention to formulate programs for feed grain, cotton, soybeans and flaxseeds. These programs include the following decisions: (1) determining the 1975 national feed grain allotment; (2) whether there should be a set aside requirement for feed grains for the 1975 crop and if so, the extent of such requirements, (3) whether there should be a provision for additional diverfor the 1975 crop and if so the extent of such diversion payment rate therefore, (4) upland cotton national production goals (5) upland cotton national base acreage allotments, (6) upland cotton apportionment of acreage allotments to states and counties, (7) cropland set aside percentages, (8) extra long staple cotton national marketing quota, extra long staple national acreage allotment, (9) extra long staple date or period for conducting a national marketing quota referendum, (10) Determine whether a seed cotton loan program should be available, (11) soybean and flaxseed loan purchase program, (12) related provisions necessary to carry out the loan and purchase program and a set aside program for 1975, (13) the determination of the Commodity Credit Corpor-

EMERGENCY livestock credit-Congress has approved, and the President is expected to sign, a bill authorizing Emergency Livestock Credit. When this act becomes effective, it will result in a sizable increase in the amount of money available to livestock producers. Terms and conditions of the loans are much the same as any other loan. The entire body of the act is reproduced here for your information.

Free Food-The U.S. News and World Report for July 22, 1974 released an article entitled"$6 Billion Free Food Too Much or Not Enough?" This information reveals that in 1967 the federal government spent 700 million dollars for food (about $3.50 per capita) and in 1975, the estimated expenditure is $5.9 billion (about $27.44 per capita). These figures reveal that the expected expenditure in 1975 is 842.6 percent of what was spent in 1967.

Expenditures for direct payments to farmers was $3.3 billion in about 1967 (about $16.50 per capita) and is expected to be reduced to $500 million in 1975 (about $2.33 per capita). The estimated 1975 direct payment to farmers is only 15.2 percent of the 1967 figure.

The conclusion is that money formerly spent for direct payments to farmers is now going to purchase food for the government defined needy.

thank-you ladies. Corine Izard received a lovely, early birthday surprise of one dozen long stemmed red roses from the kids in California, Bugs, Babs, and Snoopy.

We received a beautiful spray of Gladialas from someone week before last and no one seems to know where they came from but we thank whoever sent them to us, fresh flowers are always welcome and enjoyed.

Inspector Kyle Adams dropped by for a cup of coffee on July 16, and just to say hello. Also our new Dietician, Stella Peeks was here the same day.

We were all sorry to hear about the death of Nathan Mears, a former patient here. May God bless them in their time of grief.

Our new patio furniture is here, we have 2 canopied swings and the patients who go out are enjoying them.

We have 3 new patients in the home. Jim Tomlinson came in the 18 of July and William and Preston Brookshire came in the 30 of July. Corine Izard went on vacation to San Antonio she left the 18th and came back the 29th so she is picking up where she left off and that's the reason there was no nursing news in the paper last week, no one used her notes to write the article. Corine flew to visit Ruth Pennington. She enjoyed her visit very much and was thrilled to see the rain when she got off the plane in Lubbock.

Our home was saddened by the death of James Nored. Our prayers are with the family. Mrs. Minnie McMillian is still in the Lynn Co. Hospital, so our prayers are for a speedy re-

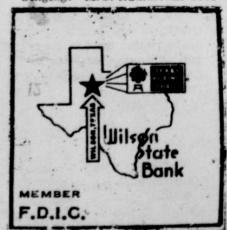

We want to thank the Nored family for the lovely flowers. Dean Bartly brought us a good mess of black-eyed peas which we all enjoyed very much. They kept us in watermelons last year. We hope they will have some for us again this year.

We thank the Rebeccah Lodge who brought us two cakes. Thank you. Mrs. Russell's family was here to visit over the weekend and Kelly, her grandaughter. who had been visiting returned with the family. Grandma says will be a missed little girl.

Jim Tomlinson visited with his neice, Joy Braggs at West Point and said he was going back to do some fishing in their stock tank.

The Sweet Street Baptist Church brought our Sunday Service. Bro. Jones spoke on the Psalm 23 chapter. Each time some one speaks on this selection we hear something new.

We are looking forward to our gospel singing on Monday. We are always glad to have our singing. Mrs. Hammonds does
