Weather Unusual During Past Year

The drought of a winter ago which extended into August of 1974 resulted in Lynn and many other South Plains and West Texas counties having the poorest crop in many years.

In spite of this, 1974 ended with above average rainfall for the 12-month period, a total of 21.52 inches being recorded by the Tahoka observer for the National Weather Service.

Most of the county's dryland farms were never planted and dryland planted produced little or no crop. Even irrigated land failed to produce as it does normally.

However, fall rains have put deep moisture into the soil, and prospects are much better for 1975.

Lynn like most area counties, was recently declared a drought disaster area, and as a result farmers are receiving some financial help from Commodity Credit Corporation through "low yield" checks.

From early October, 1973, until August 1974, marked the driest period here since the 1917-1918 drought.

Following is the rainfall record for 1974: January - Trace; February - .15; March - 1.33; April - .85; May - 2.03; June - 1.12; July - .47; August - 4.35; September - 6.74; October - 3.22; November - .60; and December - .66; making a total of 21.52.

Average annual rainfall in Tahoka during the past 46 years has been 18.32 inches, and for the years 1913 through 1928 the average was approximately 20 inches.

Following are the rainfall totals for the past few years:

1969	27.93
1970	14.21
1971	21.63
1972	30.54
1973	16.43
1974	21.52

Although the total rainfall in 1973 was less than normal, the record-breaking crop of nearly 300,000 bales was made following the wet year of 1972.

VALDEZ

Pianst Valdez To Be At Church

Cheve Valdez, international gospel pianist, will be at the Tahoka Assembly of God Church, Wednesday, January 22, at 6:30 p.m. Valdez is a native of Del Rio. Without prior piano instruction, Cheve has a God-given talent that includes an international variety of christian music. You will be thrilled to hear the talent that God has given him. You are welcome to come and listen to him perform in person.

Tax Collections

Tax collections have been very good from October 1, 1974 through December 31, 1974 for state, county, and hospital tax. Eighty percent of the tax roll was collected during this period, and this is average comparing with previous years.

Tax payments for 1974 made in January 1975 will not be charged a penalty. Beginning February 1, a penalty will be applied.

Vehicle Registration

Lynn County residents may register their vehicles on February 3, 1975 with a five year plate. Registrations in 1976 will be made by placing a small decal on the five year plate. Fees for registration will remain on an annual basis.

Registration slips mailed to each vehicle owner from the Texas Highway Department will be all that is needed to register your vehicles. If you do not receive a registration slip, it will be necessary to bring your titles and 1974 license receipts.

Tax Office - Court House, Moore Insurance Agency - O'Donnell, Texas; City Office - New Home, Texas; Wilson Co-op Gin - New Home, Texas.

1974 Cotton Crop Lowest In Years

Effect of the 1973-1974 drought is reflected in cotton ginnings report of the U. S. Department of Commerce census report dated December 1, 1974, just received here.

Texas had ginned 1,166,350 bales in 1974 to December 1, compared to 2,373,130 bales for a like period in 1973.

Lynn County had ginned 15,413, compared to 137,833 on the same date a year before. However, most of last year's crop was ginned in December.

Following are ginnings for some area counties up to December 1, 1974; with the counties having extensive irrigation showing the best total production:

Lubbock	46,559
Hockley	34,633
Gaines	29,066
Terry	25,804
Lamb	21,913
Hale	19,973
Floyd	18,868
Lynn	15,413
Crosby	11,446
Dawson	8,931
Yoakum	8,346
Garza	275

Cotton Classing Total Million

The one millionth sample of High Plains cotton was classed on Friday, according to Paul R. Dickson, in charge of the USDA's Cotton Classing Office in Lubbock. "About 5,000 samples a day are coming in," he added.

The USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reported Lubbock and Brownfield classed 62,000 samples during the week ending Friday, January 10. This brought the season's total to 1,004,000. On this same date last year the total was 2,179,000, Dickson said.

At Lubbock predominant grades this week were 42 and 52. Grade 42 accounted for 31 percent while grade 52 assigned to 24 percent of the cotton samples. Thirty-eight percent of these samples were reduced one grade because of bark. This is up from 34 percent the previous week.

The predominant staples were 31 and 32. Staple 31 amounted to 35 percent and staple 32 was 24 percent of the samples.

Micronaire readings in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.9 accounted for 13 percent of the samples. This compares to 8 percent the week before. Micronaire readings below 3.5 accounted for the other 87 percent the week before.

Prices quoted by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange for the most predominant qualities in the 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire range were: grade 42, staple 31 - 28.65, staple 32 - 28.90 cents per pound. For grade 52, staple 31 - 25.60, staple 32 - 25.95 cents per pound. Mixed lots of cotton brought 21.00 to 28.65 cents per pound.

Prices paid to farmers for their cottonseed ranged from $105 to $145 per ton.

Bobby Gunnels and Menford Gandy were in an accident. Gunnels was traveling north on Ave. J and was in the process of making a left hand turn on South 6th St. when he was hit by Gandy who was traveling south. Gunnels was taken to Lynn County Hospital.

Friday night a 12 year old girl stole Coach Fowlkes car from his home and drove it a block and ran into Everton Nevill's van at the corner of North 2nd and Ave. Q. The van was parked.

Grant Given To Community Action

Congressman Omar Burleson announced today that a $17,826 refunding grant to the South Plains Community Action Association, Inc. had been approved by the Office of Economic Opportunity. The grant is effective January 1, 1975, to enable the Community Action Program to continue the administration and services currently provided by its programs. An additional $8,913 one-month refunding grant, effective March 1, 1975, was also approved. The counties included in this program are Garza, Lynn, Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Lamb, Terry and Yoakum.

Burleson Advises on REA Loan

Congressman Omar Burleson advises of the approval of a $1,484,000 REA loan to the South Plains Telephone Cooperative at Lubbock, which served Crosby, Floyd, Garza, Lynn, Lubbock, Castro, Cochran, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Terry, Dickens and Swisher Counties.

The purpose of the loan is to finance facilities to connect 17 additional subscribers; to construct 48 miles of new line; to upgrade services to all one-party lines in the Caprock, Cone, County Line and Pettit exchanges; to construct new central office buildings in the Cone and County Line and Caprock exchanges; and to finance system improvements.

Bank Deposits Hold Up Well

Deposits at First National Bank of Tahoka remain a healthy total in spite of the short crop year, according to the report at close of business December 31, 1974.

On that date the bank had $23,470,259.10 on deposit with loans and discounts of only $7,027,376.66.

Although this about ten million below the same time a year ago, it still approaches the second highest total in the bank's history for the last day of the year.

However, due to heavy income taxes being paid by farmers this year on 1973 crops sold in 1974, the total deposits are expected to drop this spring.

Farm finance men say most farmers will weather the drought in fair shape. Commodity Credit payments to farmers for low yields and drought disaster loans will help.

Winterize Your Tractors

Since tractors are used less in the winter months than during the rest of the year, now is a good time to take care of needed maintenance and "winterize" them to reduce repair costs and "down time" next spring.

Bill Griffin, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, suggests some winter maintenance practices to keep tractors in tip-top shape.

Clean the engine to prevent moisture collection and possible ignition system short-out.

Service the air cleaner. Check distributor points to make sure they are adjusted properly, and clean or replace spark plugs.

Tighten and clean battery terminals and check engine timing. Drain and refill the hydraulic system, crankcase and gear cases with a recommended oil. Used oil is usually acidic and can damage the engine during storage. If the tractor is going into storage, run the engine after changing oil to lubricate all parts.

Flush the cooling system and refill it with the recommended antifreeze. Then run the engine until it's warm enough to operate the thermostat.

If you're storing your tractor without a coolant, drain the radiator and engine block completely and leave the drain valves open. Loosely replace the radiator cap, but put a warning tag on the steering wheel or ignition switch that says "radiator drained".

If storing the tractor, drain the fuel tank. Close all drains after a few days to keep out dust and dirt. Do not leave gasoline in the carburetor or lines because it can leave a gummy, hard-to-remove deposit when it evaporates. Drain diesel tanks with a diesel-flushing oil or with a combination of half SAE-10W engine crankcase oil and half white kerosene.

Your operator's manual usually lists additional steps to take in "winterizing" your tractor and other machinery, adds Bill Griffin.

Vega Notchback Coupe

ITS ECONOMY STARTS WITH ITS PRICE.

The new little Chevy Vega comes off looking like a hero these days offering economy plus. Not only can you get value when you buy a Vega, but you also can save money on gas. Evidence of that comes from the EPA Buyer's Guide in which Vega had the best gas mileage of any 4-cylinder U.S. car. In the highway test, a 1975 Vega, with the available two-barrel engine, got 29 miles per gallon, and 22 miles per gallon in the city test. Still other signs that Vega is a good buy are the five major awards it received in the first four years since its introduction, including Motor Trend's 1973 "Economy Car of the Year" (GT model), and Car and Driver's Readers' Choice Poll in 1971, 1972 and 1973 for "Best Economy Sedan." For 1975, see what it's like to drive a winner. Come in and test drive the economy-minded Vega with the sporty-looking styling.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., January 8 took actions which the organization on a 1975 course of legislative work aimed at restoring producer income protection back into the govern- ment cotton program, maintaining agriculture's high priority allocation of natural gas and other fuel supplies, and developing handling techniques that will make "barky" cotton more usable on the open-end spinning system.

Larry Combest, Agricultural Assistant to Senator John Tower, a guest at the meeting, expressed the temper of the times when he said that if Government continues to ask farmers to expand production, the producer must be given some assurance of acceptable prices that is not in the present law which has become obsolete very quickly."

The only protection available to producers on 1974-crop cotton under current law is a 25.26-cent Commodity Credit Corporation loan, basis middling inch cotton, which is far below 1974 production costs, noted Donald A. Johnson, PCG Vice President.

Each misunderstood 38-cent "target price" in the law of no help at all on the 1974 crop, Johnson continued, although current market prices are well below 38 cents.

The law specifies that producer payments under the target price system will be equal to the difference between 38 cents and the average price received by all farmers for all cotton. In 1973, because of 1973 crop cotton sold in 1974 prior to the price break, and 1974-crop cotton being delivered on contracts written in 1973 and early 1974, according to USDA calculations, is around 50 cents per pound.

Declaring that the low loan and target price system "have been totally inadequate in the protection of cotton producers against financial ruin . . ." the PCG board adopted a resolution calling for:

1. A Commodity Credit Corporation loan level realistically related to the inflated cost of production, and a CCC interest rate no greater than six per cent, in order that the loan program can be used effectively by producers as an orderly marketing tool;
2. CCC loan regulations which guarantee producers the opportunity to hold cotton under the loan for a minimum of 28 months;
3. CCC resale prices which under no circumstances will permit government-owned cotton to compete in the marketplace with grower-owned cotton;
4. A target price for cotton high enough to reflect the tremendous increase in production costs since 1973 and a method of computing the average price paid to farmers for cotton which will reflect actual on-the-spot cotton purchases during a given year without the influence of contract purchases reflecting market conditions a year or more removed; and

The defeat of any and all proposals which will in any way restrict or depress markets for U.S. cotton either here or abroad.

This resolution will be mailed to all PCG board members and request that they discuss with farmers in their respective counties and convey to PCG other suggestions which may need to be included in a more specific legislative policy for sub- sequent board approval.

PCG President Don Marble of South Plains leveled a "gross misadministration" charge at USDA in connection with pro- cedures being used to determine producer eligibility for pay- ment under the law's disaster provisions.

Marble cited, as one of many, an example in which a farmer who inadvertently underplanted his 108-acre grain sorghum allotment by less than 2 acres was being denied over $4,000 in payments on a 66-acre cotton allotment which was destroyed by hail too late in the season for replanting. He referred to the procedure which resulted in the payment denial as USDA's "mandatory substitution rule."

Marble, Johnson and others met with USDA officials in early December seeking a correction of these inequities, but were unable to report any significant success.

In this connection, the board adopted the following resolution:

"That the Board of Directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. commend its officers and staff for actions taken in an attempt to remedy the obvious injustices that have resulted from arbitrary rulings and procedures in the administration of the law's disaster provisions, and "Further instructs the officers and staff to continue exploring all practical avenues of relief for 1974 and of preventing similar injustices in connection with the 1975, 1976 and 1977 crops."

Methods for handling cotton containing bark in such a manner as to make it acceptable to yarn spinners using the open-end system will be sought in a study now in the planning stages at Texas Tech's Textile Research Center.

FANCY THAT!

If your children are average the paper and wood each will use by the year 2000 will exceed one ton every year!

To help provide the wood and paper America will need, scientists at International Paper are breeding Supertrees! They grow faster, taller, straighter and healthier, and provide more wood fiber for more paper.

For every man, woman and child living right now in America International will have planted two Supertrees before the end of 1980!

Bowling over Giants

At one time the Scots were described in reference books as the tallest white men in the world. There are still plenty of tall stories about Scottish giants and the site of the story of "Jack the Giant Killer" is supposed to be in Scotland.

If you visit Tweedsmuir, on the famous fishing river Tweed, you will be shown the Giant's Grave, marked by two standing stones about 14 feet apart. Near by is a hazel grove from which brave Jack is supposed to have fired the arrow which brought the giant down.

If this is not enough proof that there were giants in those days, what about the Duke of Argyll's Bowling Green? This is actually a group of high mountains in Argyllshire, with Loch Long on one side and Loch Gail on the other. The Duke of Argyll is the head of Clan Campbell and the Campbells wanted to impress other Clans with the height and spirit of their chiefs. So they said that the Duke of Argyll was so great that he played his game of bowls across the mountains.

Some spoilsports aver that "Bowling Green" is a corruption of Gaelic words meaning "the high ridges", but Teacher's Scotch Information Centre is spirited enough to take the romantic view and looks forward to seeing the present Duke of Argyll playing bowls there.

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS

The Environmental Protection Agency recently approved an addition to the labeling of Treflan which allows the use of Treflan at double rates for rhizome johnsongrass control in cotton.

Treflan should be applied for two consecutive years at twice the normally recommended Spring rates (not to exceed 4 pints per acre). Rates for various soil types are as follows: Rate A, for rhizome johnsongrass control - Sandy and Sandy Loam - 2 pints; Loam, silt, Loam and silt - 3 pints; Clay Loam, Silty Clay, and Clay - 4 pints.

Fall (October 15 to December 31) and Spring (after December 31) application rates are the same for this use.

Incorporate Treflan thoroughly. Set disc to cut 4 to 6 inches deep and operate in two different directions at 4 to 6 miles per hour. Control of johnsongrass will be improved if tillage is used to break up rhizomes and destroy emerged johnsongrass prior to application of the herbicide. Cultivation during the crop season will also contribute to control. Acceptable control cannot be expected with only one year of Treflan use.

Crop injury in the form of reduced stands and delayed growth will occur under adverse cool, wet weather conditions early in the season and may result in delayed maturity and reduced yields when Treflan is used according to these recommendations. High quality seed accompanied by a good fungicide program to control seedling diseases in addition to other recommended cultural and chemical practices should be used to minimize crop injury from Treflan.

Following these two - year treatments, plant only those crops for which Treflan has been registered as a preplant treatment.

Research conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock and near Wellington and a result demonstration in Burleson County indicates that his treatment is effective in controlling rhizome johnsongrass with no adverse effects on cotton yields. The importance of cultivation during the growing season cannot be over-emphasized. If this is done, 85 to 95 percent control of rhizome johnsongrass in cotton can be expected after the second year of treatment.

This practice will be included in our cotton weed control suggestions for 1975. The 2X Treflan program offers a good opportunity to clean up fields heavily infested with johnsongrass. Growers who are considering this treatment should be aware of the fact that the label states that only crops that are tolerant to Treflan should be planted the third year after the two years of double rate Treflan. This rules out grain sorghum.

Salt Hazardous For Melting Ice

Using salt to melt ice on sidewalks, streets, and driveways can injure nearby trees, shrubs, and lawn grass, says Bill Griffin, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.
"Salt may drain into the ground when ice melts and damage root systems of nearby grass and shrubs," he points out.
"Salt in the root systems of trees can cause partial or complete burning of leaves and may result in the loss of valuable trees and shrubs. Patches of dead grass may also result. These effects may not show up until early summer," adds Bill Griffin.

He suggests using ammonium nitrate fertilizer instead of salt to melt ice. Ammonium nitrate not only melts the ice, but fertilizes shrubs and plants in the lawn.
"Any commercial fertilizer that is high in nitrogen and potassium can be used."
"Care must be taken to use only enough fertilizer to melt the ice," cautions Bill Griffin, "as a high concentration of fertilizer in the soil can also damage plants."
Sand can also be used to melt ice on sidewalks and driveways. It provides good traction for cars and pedestrians and is no more damaging to floors and rugs than salt.

BRIGHT STAR IN THE GALAXY OF ELECTRIC HEAT

THE HEAT PUMP

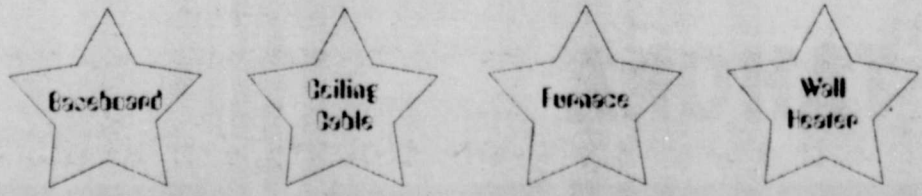

ENERGY EFFICIENT...

We call the heat pump a "Bright Star" because although the idea has been around for some time now... there's a lot more interest in saving energy than ever before... people want to save energy, but they don't have to give up their comfort. With the heat pump, you don't have to give up anything. The heat pump makes wise use of energy because it uses otherwise wasted heat and electricity to heat and cool your home. Electric heat, in any form, is a wise use of precious energy and the heat pump is today's star of the system... more than 100% efficient at the point of use - actually provides more energy than it uses. Call us this week for a free electric heat cost survey of your home... and ask about the heat pump!

The Future Is Electric!

The Same Sad Story... Texas Is First, Second, And Third... Cotton Marketing Still Dull... Census Forms In Mail.

It continues to be the same sad story for Texas farm prices and parity. As of the middle of December, parity stood (or slumped) to 73; this is down three points from November and off a whopping 17 points compared to a year ago.

All categories of livestock continue at levels well below parity. Crop prices, with the big exception of cotton, are above parity.

Wheat in Texas averaged $4.62 per bushel; parity is $4.21. Sorghum averaged $5.34; parity is $4.76. However, both wheat and sorghum were higher priced in November than in December, reflecting a general softness in grain markets.

Cotton averaged 32.7 cents per pound while parity stood at 76 cents per pound.

Hog prices are $10 below parity; feeder cattle are virtually two-thirds under parity. Beef cattle prices are about half of parity. Hog prices a year ago were $3 higher; feeder cattle prices were twice what they are now; and beef cattle prices were $7 higher a year ago than now.

Milk averaged $9.40 per 100 pounds while parity is $11. Eggs at 70 cents a dozen as of the middle of December compared to 75 cents a dozen parity ratio.

Wool and mohair are also at prices considerably below parity.

TEXAS is the first, second and third in production of vegetables in 1974. Texas is first in the nation in harvested acreage for fresh market of cabbage, spinach, and watermelons.

It is second in harvested acreage of cantaloups, carrots, cucumbers, honeydews and onions.

It is third in harvested acreage, production and value of fresh market vegetables. Texas ranks behind California and Florida in this category.

Estimated production of 14 principal fresh market vegetables and melons for 1974 is 12 per cent less than 1973. And they had a total value of $135 million. This is 26 per cent below a year ago. Leading crops in order of value were onions, watermelons, carrots, cabbage, and cantaloups.

COTTON marketing continues on the dull side. Markets throughout the state were reported more active, but producers were continuing to decline offers. Prices ranged from 20 to 34 cents per pound throughout the state.

Cotton planting is set to begin in February in the Rio Grande Valley, but the outlook for cotton continues bleak due to a recession in the general economy and a downturn in business in the textile industry.

Currently, the estimate for cotton production in the Valley is around 150,000 to 175,000 acres. This would be about 40 to 50 per cent less than in 1974. Similar cuts in production are expected throughout the state.

You are required to answer all questions that apply to your individual operation.

If you have any questions you should contact your county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office. That agency is equipped to give you the information you need to answer any of the questions on the census form.

Sawdust May Prove Beneficial To Cattle

South Dakota State University researchers have found that untreated Ponderosa pine sawdust may have beneficial effects for cattle.

Tests have shown that the coarse sawdust can be used as a roughage substitute at levels up to 15 percent with no substantial loss in animal performance.

And a side benefit of special interest is that the sawdust may reduce cattle liver abscesses commonly associated with high concentrate feeding. Research so far has indicated a significant reduction of liver abscesses.

The scientists say sawdust used at this level in the ration should not be toxic to ruminant animals or contribute any undesirable factors to meat products.

Offshoots Of Ag Research

While the USDA is not usually thought of as a health-protecting agency, it played a major role in the development of such wonder drugs as penicillin, dextran, and streptomycin.

The Glorious Yam

Sweet potatoes aren't actually potatoes but members of the morning-glory family. But, regardless of their ancestry, they're nutritious. One medium-sized yam supplies twice your daily requirement of vitamin A and one-third of your daily need for Vitamin C.

Anybody for a slump, grunt, flummery or pan dowdy? These traditional New England desserts may sound funny today, but everyone can love those luscious concoctions of juicy fruits and hot biscuit toppings. In old-time cookery slumps and grunts were boiled, while flummeries and pan dowdies were baked. This modern-day version of a pan dowdy uses canned red tart cherries to delight both the traditionalists and modernists.

CHERRY PAN DOWDY

Filling
1 cup granulated sugar
1/4 cup cornstarch
dash salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
2 No. 303 cans red tart pitted cherries
1/2 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon almond flavoring
2 tablespoons butter or margarine few drops red food coloring

Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg; add to cherries and juice in a saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Remove from heat and add lemon juice, almond flavoring, butter and food coloring. Pour into greased 8 x 8 x 2 inch baking dish.

Topping
2 cups biscuit mix
2/3 cup milk
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Stir biscuit mix and milk together just until blended. Drop by tablespoonfuls into mixture of sugar and cinnamon. Place biscuits on top of cherry filling and bake in a 400° F. oven about 30 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Shoppers Guide - The New USDA Yearbook

"Shopper's Guide" is the new Yearbook of Agriculture and is designed to help the shopper buy the right product for the best price, points out Bill Griffin, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The 368 - page illustrated book published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture is packed with information to help shoppers make their own decisions and do their own brand comparisons, says Bill Griffin. It has six sections -- Food, Materials, Equipment, Gardening, Services and Recreation.

Practical information in the Food section includes a chapter that tells how many servings you can expect from one package of food, and how many of those packages a family will require. Information is also provided to help consumers compare the costs of food in various forms -- fresh, frozen, or canned. Nutrition labeling, food grades and unit pricing are also discussed.

According to Bill Griffin, the Materials section covers concrete and concrete block, brick, lumber, plywood, and other wood-based material, insulating and wiring -- mostly in relation to work an energetic homeowner might do himself.

The Equipment section covers kitchen appliances, laundry facilities, lighting fixtures, and furniture, among other things.

Information on gardening ranges from buying seeds to trees and shrubs, roses, ground covers and vines, cacti and fruits.

The Services section includes how to deal with movers, shopping for credit, and having appliances and your car repaired or serviced, adds, Bill Griffin.

The Recreation section is angled mainly to vacation activities that don't involve much use of gasoline.

Bill Griffin points out that the new yearbook, "Shopper's Guide" is companion volume to the 1973 Yearbook, "Handbook for the Home." Both books are based mainly on federal or state research.

A copy of "Shopper's Guide" may be obtained for $5.70 at government bookstores in various parts of the country or from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

In addition, each member of Congress has a limited number of copies of the Yearbook for free distribution to constituents, notes Bill Griffin.

Dr. Durham Speaks At Rotary Club

Dr. K. R. Durham gave his predictions of things to come during 1975 in a talk at the Rotary Club last Thursday noon.

His predictions were mostly of a humorous nature, with some serious thoughts mixed in. His annual first of the year program is one of the club's highlight programs each year.

Fred McGinty was in charge of the program.

Warren Embree gave the charge to a new member, Jay Dee House, manager of the local Federal Farm Loan Association office.

Potential Seen For Boosting Soil Nutrients

Industrial organic wastes may prove to be valuable sources when it comes to alleviating fertilizer shortages.

Recent studies at the University of Rhode Island indicate good potential for utilizing the wastes both as plant nutrients and as soil conditioners.

During their investigation, plant and soil scientists tested residues from a pharmaceutical firm's production of antibiotics and organic acids. Composed primarily of cellulose and protein, the waste contains about two percent organic nitrogen.

Unlike most commercial organic nitrogen sources, nitrogen in the waste is slow release -- a desirable factor from the standpoint of crop production and environmental quality. In addition, the wastes do not contain the large amounts of heavy metals or pathogenic organisms often found in sewage sludge.

Experimental plots of potatoes treated with the waste product had higher yields than those using commercial fertilizers, scientists report. Turf grass also grew profusely and had excellent color with no supplemental nitrogen.

Evidence also indicated that the waste increases the soil water-holding capacity.

Because of the nitrogen slow-release quality, scientists say the waste can be applied at rates of 50 to 100 tons an acre with no danger of ground water pollution.

As a result of their studies, Rhode Island researchers believe many materials now considered as wastes may prove to be valuable as soil supplements.

Hybrid Cotton Moves Closer To Production

Hybrid cotton, a long-time dream of plant breeders, may be ready for commercial production by 1978 or earlier.

While further testing is planned, a University of Arizona cotton breeder believes he has come up with a hybrid that will boost cotton yields about 15 percent. As an added bonus, Dr. Lee Stith says the hybrid also will have a genetic resistance to verticillium wilt and other plant diseases.

The National Cotton Council says the complicated process of developing a hybrid cotton started some 30 years ago in Mississippi. And seeds from that state's project -- abandoned because of unfavorable weather conditions -- were used by Dr. Stith in starting his own testing program.

Once the new hybrid is available, the Arizona breeder believes it will be adopted quickly by cotton growers.

Although it took 13 years for hybrid corn to capture two-thirds of the U.S. seed market, Dr. Stith thinks hybrid advantages are now well enough known that cotton growers will make quick use of any new hybrid that performs as expected.

Growing practices for hybrid cotton would be the same as for non-hybrids, he says, except for a slight increase in fertilizer requirements.

Clues For Extending Storage Life Of Foods

Increasing the storage life of foods is one way agricultural science is seeking to add to the world's food supplies.

Food scientists at the University of Maryland are working on a substitute process for pasteurization that may prolong the shelf life of milk indefinitely.

And agricultural scientists at Cornell University have identified a natural plant hormone that may prevent vegetables from sprouting while in storage.

Maryland researchers are testing a milk sterilization process developed by a dairy equipment manufacturing concern. Under the process, milk is passed through a steam chamber and immediately heated to 300 degrees. It is held at that temperature for no more than two seconds, and then quickly cooled in a vacuum chamber.

By contrast, present pasteurization methods heat milk to 161 degrees for 15 seconds.

If the new sterilization process does kill all living microorganisms as the company claims, scientists say it will be a significant breakthrough. Theoretically, the shorter heating time should destroy fewer nutrients.

From a consumer standpoint, a vital question will be whether people like the fresh milk flavor after being accustomed to the taste of cooked milk.

After researchers have checked out the processing equipment and sterility of the milk, taste tests will be conducted among Maryland students and staff. Similar tests for the general public are slated for early in 1975.

Meanwhile at Cornell, researchers have already succeeded in identifying a growth inhibitor for onions and cabbages, and are seeking those for other crops.

The natural hormone signals a dormant stage in vegetables, preventing further growth.

Little Known Fact

The cotton plant produces a greater quantity of food for humans and feed for livestock than it does fiber. For each pound of cotton fiber produced, the plant yields about 175 pounds of cottonseed.

Hybrid Corns Improve

Hybrid corn varieties of today yield about 40 percent more grain than those in the 1930's did.

There were about 4.7 million veterans in the United States when the Veterans Administration was established in 1930. Today there are more than 29 million veterans eligible for VA benefits.

The World War II GI Bill, signed into law June 22, 1944, is said to have had more impact on the American way of life than any law since passage of the Homestead Act more than a century ago.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

So many things are now being done in the name of the consumer that it seems reasonable to ask just who this consumer is we're hearing so much about these days. Does she really need all the protection that's being proposed for her and can she really afford it?

We always had the naive assumption that everybody in this country—rich or poor, male or female, black or white, Democrat or Republican, illiterate or erudite—is a consumer. If that's still the case, then this time of economic crisis affords the best opportunity we can think of for the real consumer to stand up and speak on behalf of her pocketbook.

Consumerism has become commercial. In so doing, it deserves to be carefully scrutinized. One can be for consumerism—and who isn't? But commercial consumerism is something else. Government regulations in the name of consumer protectionism are spawned with rabbit-like prolificness. Virtually any piece of legislation with the word "consumer" attached to it seems assured of swift enactment.

And yet, many of the things being done under the guise of consumerism are strangulating both industry and agriculture at a time when increased productivity is vital to the economy. Costs of inputs for both industry and agriculture are spiralling even without the additional burden of huge expenditures brought on by the necessity of complying with some new government regulation. And ultimately, in one way or another, these increased costs turn up in the form of increased prices for the consumer.

Some degree of consumer protection is well and good, of course. The Pure Food and Drug Act passed back in 1906, for example, is one that has provided the American consumer with an assurance of clean, wholesome food unmatched anywhere else in the world. It was needed legislation because it provided the consumer with a protection she could not provide for herself.

Of more recent origin but in similar vein is the government flammability standard for children's sleepwear. By May 1, 1975, all children's sleepwear through Size 14 will come under this protection. Few will quarrel with the need for protecting those who are too young to protect themselves against fire hazards. Now, however, the Consumer Product Safety Commission is considering going a giant step farther and applying flammability standards to all sizes of dresses, shirts, pants, nightgowns, robes, and pajamas. If this is done, industry studies show that consumers can look for at least a 25% increase in prices for all these items—an increase that will come in addition to any that might occur because of general inflation. Do adults need this degree of protection and can they afford to pay for it in times such as these?

This is just one illustration of the snowballing effect of so-called commercial consumerism. There are countless others, to be sure.

Where do we draw the line? Does the real consumer have a voice in determining whether she wants to pay the additional cost of a protection she's not sure she needs?

It would appear that the protection consumers need most right now is protection from inflation. Or better still, protection from some consumer protectionists.
