the Tiger 48. A 34-yard pass Glenn to Raindl, and a 5-yard run by Ernest Bailey put the ball on the Frenship 9. A 26-yard field goal attempt by Joseph Bailey missed the uprights, and the half ended with the Tigers ahead 7-6.

On receiving the second half kickoff, the Bulldogs put on probably the best running series of the year as they drove 73 yards on six play to score. Good runs by E. Bailey, Britt Brooks, and a 20-yard bootleg by Glenn put the ball on the Tiger 24. From here, Danny Moore scored on a counter to give the Bulldogs a 12-7 lead as the PAT kick was no good.

The Bulldogs' lead was short-lived, however, as Frenship returned the kickoff to the Tahoka 37, and in plays went to for another TD to take a 13-12 lead.

Late in the fourth, the Bulldogs got a break when the snap on a Frenship punt attempt sailed over the punter's head and Tahoka got the ball at the Tiger 20. Tahoka moved to the Tiger 3-yard line, and on fourth and goal Botkin came in to kick the field goal for the final 15-13 score.

The Bulldogs, led by Joseph Bailey, played good defense and limited the Tigers to only seven yards rushing in the fourth quarter.

Tahoka had 10 first downs, 169 yards rushing, 99 yards passing, and 65 yards in penalties. The Tigers had 13 first downs, 222 yards rushing, no passes completed but one intercepted, and 50 yards in penalties.

Homecoming Set For Oct. 24

The annual THS Homecoming will be held Friday, Oct. 24. A program will be held at 2:30 p.m. in the Tahoka High School Auditorium with the speaker being Jake Jacobs of Bovina, former Tahoka High School principal.

The Eastern Star and Rainbow supper will be held in the school cafeteria from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Prices will be adults, $2.25; children, $1.75 and students $1.00. The football game, Tahoka vs Slaton will begin at 7:30 p.m.

After the game, coffee and visiting will be at the Lyntegar building. Everyone is invited to attend.

Stewart - Stotts Receive Awards

John D. Wolfe, Jr., District Director for Farmers Home Administration presented Bill H. Stewart, County Supervisor, and Doris M. Stotts, County Office Assistant, with Certificates for Outstanding Accomplishment on behalf of the Texas State Director, J. Lynn Futch.

The county office unit of Tahoka, Texas consists of Lynn and Garza Counties. Due to the 1974 adverse weather resulting in crop failures the County Office made 492 Emergency Loans in the amount of $12,392,180.00.

The awards were given for sustained high volume of work accomplished and outstanding performance in all phases of Farmers Home Administration programs.

County-Wide Meeting Set On New Texas Constitution

A county-wide meeting to discuss pros and cons of the proposed new Texas Constitution has been set for Monday, Oct. 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lyntegar meeting room in Tahoka.

All eligible voters of Lynn County are urged to attend this meeting to become better acquainted with the proposed new Constitution which will be voted on in the November 4 election, according to Dan Curry and J.A. Pebsworth, who are helping arrange the meeting.

There will be a panel of five or six local citizens to lead the discussion, and Representative E.L. Short will explain the proposed new Constitution provisions drawn up by the Legislature.

Both good features and bad features will be aired, and citizens will be urged to ask questions and present their viewpoints.

Citizens of O'Donnell, Wilson, New Home, Grassland and Draw, and all other communities are urged to attend since this is the only meeting to date planned in the county to date on the new Constitution.

The News this week is publishing a resume of the provisions on the new Constitution.

five elected officials whose salaries are set by the Legislature determine the salaries and allowances of legislators; salary and retirement benefits are adequate; to enhance salaries and benefits would increase the likelihood of "Professional legislators"; and to remove legislative compensation from the Constitution would take away from the people their last control over their elected representatives.

"Omitting executive (closed) sessions in the Senate (as allowed in current Constitution) - Proponents argue that executive (closed) sessions should not be permitted in governmental bodies as the public's business should be transacted in public. Opponents argue that such sessions are utilized only for the purpose of confirming the Governor's appointees, and to discuss the qualifications of these individuals publicly would give a member of the Senate an unlimited license to assassinate the character of a proposed appointee without any liability for libel or slander.

"Fifteen-day "veto session" - Proponents argue that the Legislature should be able to review any action that the Governor has taken to veto legislation which came to him after the close of the legislative session; and these sessions would not be called frivolously because it would require the petition of as many members of the House and the Senate as would be required to override the Governor's veto.

Opponents argue that this is a petty argument of who has the last word; there has to be an end to the legislative process sometime; and if the Legislature felt the matter was important enough to spend the hundreds of thousands of dollars necessary to hold a veto session, it should have acted on the legislation early enough to require the Governor to either sign or veto the bill before the Legislature adjourned.

The latter provision is where Article III, The Legislature, overlaps with Article IV, The Executive. Article III provides for the reduction of the Governor's veto power by permitting 90 representatives and 19 senators, to override a Governor's veto instead of the 100 representatives and 21 senators now required.

Proponents argue that this makes it easier to override the Governor's veto. Opponents argue that the Governor's powers are limited enough, and to reduce the strength of his veto would further weaken his role in the administration of state affairs.

The proposals in both the Legislative (Article III) and Executive Articles (Article IV) include several innovations: a regular review of existing state agencies by requiring the extension of their authority every ten years; the requirement that the Legislature consider governmental reorganization bills; authorization for the Legislature to delegate some budget-execution authority to the Governor; a provision for appropriating pre-inaugural funds to aid a new governor coming into office; setting the time of expiration of the terms of all appointees made by the Governor to state agencies to occur during the spring in odd-numbered years; permitting the Governor to designate chairmen of state agencies; granting the Governor some limited removal authority of appointees; and limiting the Governor to two consecutive four-year terms.

Proponents of these various proposals argue that they would provide for a better transition between administrations, a smoother continuity of operation in the Executive Department and a mandatory review of the politics would not be removed by letting a salary commission appointed by

Congress Blamed For Energy Crisis

Congress and other politicians were blamed for the U.S. energy crisis by a speaker at Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday noon of last week.

The speaker, A.D. Rippe-toe of Midland, division safety representative of Shell Oil Company, declared that for 20 years oil industry spokesmen have been warning of the impending oil shortage. Instead of doing anything about a shortage of fuel, Congress has consistently taken action to discourage or impede production, and today is still dragging its feet.

Back in 1954, the government the price on well-head gas, and for 20 years, because of the freeze, there has been little incentive to produce. Just one company, Shell, has been rejected by five Northeastern states on applications to build five refineries in that section.

Then, coal production was restricted at the behest of environmentalists, then the

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS

About 20 percent of the agricultural work injuries occur in farm and ranch buildings. The way to prevent accidents is to spot and correct potential trouble situations before they happen.

Some of the general precaution to take when working in and around farm and ranch buildings are listed below:

1. Keep buildings clean and free of trash and litter that could cause falls or feed a fire.
 2. Keep buildings well lighted and supplied with fire extinguishers and lighting protection systems, and be sure the electrical wiring is sound.
 3. Make sure stairs and ladders are in good condition, dry and unlittered.
 4. Mark low ceilings, beams and passageways with warning signs, and close doors and gates to hazardous places to keep children out.
 5. Shield power equipment properly and be sure shields are in place when using the equipment.
 6. Post and enforce no smoking signs.
 7. Store flammable liquids in UL approved metal containers and keep toxic materials locked up and out of reach of children.
- As far as animal facilities are concerned, keep gates closed and floors clean. Fens, gates, chutes and lot fences should all be sturdy and in good shape.

“$15,000 MACHINE CAN CUT TAXES BY $6,000”

BY BOB DUNAWAY

“MY NEW tractor cost plenty,” reports an aggressive young Texas farmer. “But I figure I’ll get about $6000 worth of tax savings out of it.”

He didn’t buy the tractor just to save taxes. He needed it anyway. But the tax cuts sure make the $15,000 price a lot easier to swallow. His banker thinks so, too.

New machinery gives bigger tax savings than ever this year. With the 10 percent Investment Credit now, plus extra first year depreciation, he can chop off $5980 from that price tag over the next 8 years. That’s 39.9 percent of the cost—and he gets nearly half of it the first year.

Tax angles should always be a part of decision - making on machinery purchases. The steps and examples here make it easy for you to budget it out. And your banker should be impressed.

Let’s run thru the 3 ways taxes help trim machinery costs.

“INVESTMENT CREDIT. Right now, this direct credit against your tax bill is 10 percent. It’s scheduled to drop back to 7 percent at the end of the year. So it may be better to buy now.

In dollars, that means $15,000 worth of equipment would shave $1500 right off the top of your federal income tax bill.

You have to figure a useful life of at least 7 years to get the 10 percent credit on full purchase price. If you figure 5 or 6 years, two-thirds of the amount qualifies for the 10 percent. And if you figure 3 or 4 years, one-third qualifies. Watch this when you trade in machines if you took investment credit on them. You may have to figure some recapture.

In other words, if you figured a 6-year life on $15,000 worth of machinery, you would take the credit on $10,000 [two-thirds of $15,000]. Tax cut would then be $1000 [$10,000 x 10 percent].

You can take the credit on both new and used machinery you buy. On trades, figure the credit on the undepreciated value of the machine being traded, plus the cash boot you pay. On machinery purchased outright, figure 10 percent on the price you pay.

“EXTRA FIRST YEAR DEPRECIATION. This is 20 percent ‘fast depreciation’ the first year you buy and depreciate new or used machinery. The extra depreciation is 20 percent of the cash boot you pay on trades. It’s 20 percent of the amount you pay for machinery without a trade. The machinery has to have a useful life of at least 6 years on your depreciation schedule to get it.

On $15,000 worth of machinery bought outright, the extra first year depreciation would be $3000 [$15,000 x 20 percent]. In a 32 percent federal tax bracket, that $3000 extra depreciation will cut your taxes by $960.

“REGULAR DEPRECIATION. You’ll get a little regular depreciation the first year you buy and the rest during the remaining years of the machine’s life.

You have several choices, though. You can eliminate salvage value if you figure the machine will be worth less than 10 percent of its new value when you are through with it. You can also use faster depreciation methods such as double declining balance or sum-of-the-years-digits method.

The straight line method is more commonly used.

On a $15,000 tractor bought outright, for example, you first have to deduct the $3000 first year depreciation. That leaves $12,000 to depreciate. If you use an 8-year life, that’s $1500 a year.

If you buy that tractor now, you may take only one-third of a year’s depreciation, or $500. At the 32 percent rate, that’s still $160 less tax.

Then, you could take regular depreciation each of the next 7 years, that figures out to $3360. There would still be $1000 to depreciate the next year or figure for salvage value.

Here’s a summary of your tax savings on $15,000 worth of machinery and equipment.

Investment Credit	$1500
Extra First Year Depreciation	960
Regular Depreciation This Year	160
Total This Year	$2620

When you subtract that amount saved from the original $15,000 price tag, you find the after-tax cost would be $9020.”

TACL Conference

Annual Conference of the Texas Association of Children with Disabilities was held in Lubbock, Texas, Oct. 20-21, 1975. This was the first time the conference was held in Lubbock. The conference was a resource for a resource teacher, as their representative. "Opportunity That Make A Difference" was the theme of the meeting. There were professional speakers from throughout the nation speaking on varied topics concerning language and learning disabilities. Some 2,500 teachers from Texas were able to share and gain new ideas. The convention was an inspiring learning experience for all involved.

New Home Title I Teacher Go To School
Even teachers go to school. On Thursday, Oct. 9, 1975, the New Home Title I reading teachers, Melodie Eades and Karen Davis, attended a workshop in Lubbock; which was conducted by Mrs. Julie Duncan of the Region XVII Service Center in Lubbock.

New methods in the instruction of reading and new materials available in the field were discussed. These workshops provide the teachers with the knowledge and experience to evaluate and accept or reject new and existing programs.

Teaching is not a static field. Methods and materials are constantly changing. The Title I program is attempting to keep up with these changes.

Games for Migrants

Games are the big news in the migrant program classes this year. They are being used to improve competency in oral language. Oral language is basic to learning any other subject, so it is our emphasis this year. Our newest game, called "Fishing Pond", consists of a cardboard box covered with paper and decorated to look like a fishing pond. The fish are made of colored paper with a paper clip attached. The fishing pole is a stick, a length of yarn, and a magnet. The game can be used on many different levels to teach different skills. Kindergarten children must tell the color of each fish they catch. Older students work in pairs. One catches a fish, then reads the sentence written on the back. His partner must tell the type of sentence it is (statement, question, or command). If he can not, the fish must be thrown back into the pond. The winning pair is the one that gets to keep the most fish. The same game will be used later to learn parts of speech and morphology.

First downs were equal for the teams. The loss dropped the Eagles to a 4-2 season mark and left New Home at 3-2-1.

The Title I and Migrant Advisory Committee had their first meeting September 29, 1975 at the New Home Cafeteria. The minutes from the last meeting were read by Adela Flores. An introduction of the Migrant and the Title I personnel was given by Mr. Harley McCasland. We have 33 Title I and 37 migrant children in the program. Also there was an election of officers held and Mr. Edward Kennedy was elected President, Oscar Roman, Vice-president, Adela Flores Secretary and Stella Correa, Reporter.

New Home tailback Roy Villarreal, who rushed for 158 yds on 28 carries, scored four touchdowns here Friday night to lead the Leopards to a 33-27 win over District 7-B foe Ropes.

Teammate Marty McClintock added another New Home tally on a 9-yard pass to Isah Roberson. McClintock completed 10 of 17 passes for 146 yards.

Ropes, which went scoreless in the first half, rallied in the second half, but couldn't overcome the New Home edge.

County Tour For October 21

The Farm and Home Management Subcommittee of the Lynn County Program Building Committee will sponsor a county-wide tour October 21 according to Sherry Etheredge, County Extension Agent (Home Economics).

The tour will leave from the north side of the Courthouse in Tahoka on a chartered bus at 9:00 a.m. and will return to Tahoka at 4:30 p.m. The bus is being sponsored by Farmers Co-op Assn. No. 1, Tahoka Co-op Gin, Louder Gin Co. and Haney Gin, all of Tahoka.

The tour will go through Jones Station during the morning hours, eat lunch, and tour Feather Fabrics during the afternoon. There will be no charge, except that each person is responsible for their lunch.

In order that there will be enough room for everyone to attend, people need to pre-register and return information to the county Extension office, Box 669, Tahoka by Oct. 17. If you have any question concerning the tour, call the office, 998-4650.

Send your name, phone number, and address to the County Extension Office, no later than Oct. 17, 1975.

Bridge Benefit For Cancer

Bridge players will strike a blow at cancer with a benefit game for American Cancer Society next Tuesday night at 7:30 at T-Bar Country Club.

All bridge players of the county are invited to play in this game which is this club's part in the nation-wide charity drive of the American Contract Bridge League. Players in the game will contribute $1.50 each, at least $1.00 of which, above expenses, must go to the "stamp out cancer" drive to aid both the national and local chapters.

More than 5,000 bridge clubs over the nation and other countries of the Western Hemisphere are participating in the program. ACBL Charity programs have already contributed more than three million dollars to national charities.

Advance tickets may be secured from Tahoka Drug, Mrs. Kenneth Turner, Mrs. W.H. Cords, or Mrs. Clint Walker, or those who wish to participate may pay when they come to the game next Thursday night.

STACY TURNER

DECA Thorofare for Freedom

This week we are introducing Stacy Turner. Stacy, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Turner. He is employed by Joe McKibben at the Farmers Co-op.

Some of his duties are waiting on the front, and fixing flats. Stacy is our 1975-76 DECA President.

Rice is rice whether it's milled white, instant, enriched, parboiled, or just basic brown. Regardless of type, there's going to be a lot of it. The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) reports that the rice crop is expected to set a new record this fall.

According to Tom Lutz, marketing specialist with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, "total production is expected to reach almost 125 million hundred-pound bags." That figure tops last year's record crop by 9 percent and is 28 percent over the past 3-year average.

While production has been steadily rising, technology has helped to improve the quality, uniformity, and cleanliness of U.S. rice and make it popular in all parts of the world.

From the rice bowl of America-Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, California, Mississippi, and Missouri -- comes some of the world's finest rice. About 60 percent of it is shipped to more than 100 foreign countries. On a global basis, the U.S. crop is grown on 2 percent of the World's rice acreage.

With technological progress, the U.S. crop is grown on only 2 percent of the world's rice acreage.

With technological progress, the U.S. rice crop has become highly automated. Airplanes are used to seed and fertilize the crop and to control insects and weeds. Tractors, combines, and automatic loading machines harvest the crop and deliver it to the rice mills. As a result, less than 2 man-days of labor per acre are involved in raising American rice as opposed to 400 man-days of labor per acre in many other countries.

In buying rice, select the kind of rice -- brown, white milled, parboiled or instant -- and match the kernel size to your use. Short grain rice kernels cook moist and tender and tend to cling together, thus, a good selection for puddings, stuffings, rice rings, and Oriental cooking. Medium grain kernels also cook moist and tender, but are best with meat and seafood. Since long grain kernels do not stick together, they are used best for side dishes, in soups or casseroles.

Because rice of all types and sizes will be in conspicuous supply this month, it may be a good time to plan some menus around rice.

With new fashions in food today, brown rice is becoming a popular food item. It is a product that has been subjected to little processing for only the outer hull has been removed.

The tan layer that remains is the bran which gives it a nut-like flavor and a crunchy texture. It can be used in any recipe calling for cooked rice. For a good combination, try fruited rice -- it will add color and spice to most any meal: 1 cup sliced carrots, 3 tbsp vegetable oil, 1 cup sliced green onions, 2 cups sliced, cored unpeeled apples, 3 cups cooked brown rice, 1 tsp salt, 1/2 cup seedless raisins, 1 tbsp sesame seeds.

Saute carrots in oil about 10 minutes. Add onions and apples. Cook 10 minutes longer. Stir in rice, salt, and raisins. Cook, stirring constantly until rice is heated.

through. Add sesame seeds and toss lightly. (Makes 6 servings).

Pewter, long-beloved of collectors, will enjoy new popularity for the Bicentennial -- but it needs special gentle care. Mrs. Janice Carberry, a family resource management specialist, says.

"Pewter, a soft metal that is easily dented and scratched, needs this gentle care to maintain its lustrous beauty. Wash by hand in lukewarm sudsy water, rinse and immediately dry with a soft cloth to restore luster and prevent water spots."

Mrs. Carberry is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

She suggested a quart of water with two tablespoons of ammonia is a good pewter

INSUR-MATION

Robert Harvick Lynn County Farm Bureau, 998-4320

Can life insurance compare favorably with a savings account as far as the return on investment is concerned:

Certainly. The unknown which you don't mention and maybe haven't thought of is time. For example, $100 a month invested in a savings account for 120 months equals $1,200 plus interest. At today's rate of interest this could very well amount to $20,000 to $25,000. That's great... if you have the time. Conversely, assuming a male, age company could write a whole-life insurance policy for around $5 a month. If the insured dies at the end of 12 months, the investment would be approximately $480.00 and the company the total $25,000.

TEXAS TALK

By Fred Myers

Some of the facts were hard to find. During the uproar about the grain sale to Russia the farmer came off as the fall guy. To keep things in proper perspective let's look at facts that were hard to find in the headlines. It takes one bushel of wheat to make seventy (70) loaves of ordinary white bread. Give or take a couple depending on wheat quality and milling methods. If wheat prices increased one dollar per bushel, then it takes less than a degree in calculus to figure out the increase is less than one and a half cents per loaf. The news media has a hang up on bread being a dollar a loaf. If bread were going to be a dollar a loaf... and if that increase were to be caused by farm prices... then wheat would have to go up FORTY DOLLARS - A BUSHEL. If it happens you'll have less to read since the efforts used producing this column will be diverted to plowing up the back yard... the front yard... the neighbor's yard...

two phones are better than one

...to save you steps, to bring more pleasure, convenience and security to your home. Now, for that second phone you really know you need, there's a fascinating selection of functional, colorful, clever, crazy, sophisticated, new-fashion old-fashioned designer/decorator telephones in General Telephone's Extension Extravaganza. Like the STYLELINE® telephone... the phone that puts the works so lightly in the palm of your hand... handset, dial and recall button, too. Could anything be easier (and come in 10 exciting colors, too)?

CRADLEPHONES are the very last word in sophisticated styling. Mediterranean, Brocade, Antique White... all resplendent with gold trim and fingerwheels. Conversation pieces right out of another world.

CANDLESTICK PHONE... the new-fashion old-fashioned phone styled right out of the roaring twenties in Black Bottom Black, Whiffenpoof White and Razzamatazz Red. Except that we did away with the separate big old bell box.

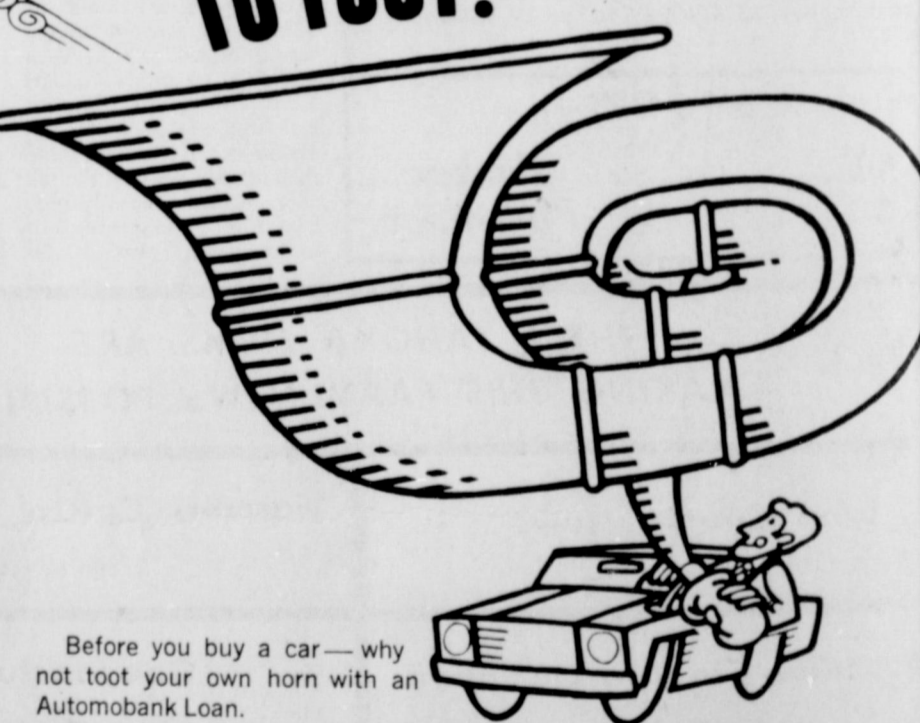

STARLITE® telephone is a practical luxury for the "bedroom." Dainty high-style with dial that glows. Ideal for night table or vanity for after-dark dialing, or as a friendly, adjustable-brightness night light.

power of the Legislature and would make it almost impossible for the Governor to consider the applications and qualifications of the many office seekers; the right to designate the chairmen of state agencies would really be no asset as a two-term Governor would be able to achieve this under the existing Constitution; and the Governor's term of office should not be limited so as to allow that a capable leader, who the citizenry wants, can serve longer than two successive terms.

Overall, proponents of Proposition No. 1 feel that: it is an improvement in the continuity of state government; it would provide a better delineation of authority; and it would be less wordy and complicated. Opponents point out that: there is really no change in the basic structure of state government; if anything, it grants more power to an all-powerful legislative branch while reducing the power of an already weak executive branch.

PROPOSITION NO. 2 creates a new Article V, The Judiciary, which governs the powers and organization of the state court system.

It proposes to establish a "unified" judicial system. This means that all appellate courts would have both criminal and civil jurisdiction; and that both criminal and civil cases would proceed on appeals from the trial courts of appropriate jurisdiction to a Court of Appeals and then to the Supreme Court.

It provides for the merger of the Court of Criminal Appeals and the Supreme Court. Those judges now serving on the Supreme Court would continue to serve until such time as the attrition by resignation, death or retirement reduces the number of the court to nine justices. Judges of the various courts would still be elected by the people for the same terms they now hold.

Proponents argue that: the unified system of all courts having both criminal and civil jurisdiction would give the judges of these courts a better overall perspective and reduce the likelihood of courts being too specialized and cases being determined on minute technicalities instead of their overall merits; the system of administration of courts would greatly expedite the handling of cases and the disposition of overcrowded dockets; and judges could be moved from different areas of the state to help speed up the clearing of dockets.

Opponents argue that: the unified judicial system would so diffuse the responsibility of judges that unreasonable results would be obtained; persons not trained and familiar with the intricacies of criminal evidence and the criminal law, itself, should not be trying criminal cases; the administrative system could provide a vehicle for an unscrupulous administration to build up a successor by moving him from district to district, providing him with a great deal of prominence; the administrative control over the various trial courts would tend to reduce the independence of the judiciary; and the proposal writes into the Constitution a three-fourths jury verdict in civil cases; and provides a right of the state to appeal certain criminal acquittals.

PROPOSITION NO. 3 creates a new Article VI, Voter Qualifications and Elections. It provides that a person who is at least 18 years of age, is not a convicted felon in prison, on parole or probation, or is not mentally incompetent, would be qualified to vote under laws enacted by the Legislature.

Proponents argue that this amendment establishes universal suffrage which is basically the requirement of the U. S. Constitution as it is now interpreted. Opponents point out that this provision would enable the Legislature to permit convicted felons to have a full restoration of citizenship, including the right to hold office, without pardon by the passage of a statute permitting such a person to vote.

PROPOSITION NO. 4 provides for a new Article VII, Education, which governs public education.

The amendment calls for an equitable system of free public schools below the college level. The system must provide each individual an equal educational opportunity but may provide local enrichment of educational programs.

Proponents argue that: this gives the authority and the mandate to provide an equal opportunity for every child in this state to have as complete an education as is possible; this is what federal mandate requires; and citizens should meet the challenge and move forward to accomplish it.

Opponents argue that: while the aim might be laudable, the words are subject to a broad interpretation which would come up with ridiculous results in financing, programming and staffing; and the last Legislature had spoken to the problem of equalizing educational opportunity under the existing Constitution and there is no need for a change.

The Permanent and Available School Funds remain intact as do the Permanent and Available University Funds for the use of the University of Texas and Texas A&M University Systems. A second "Higher Education Fund" financed by a 10c property tax, would be available to establish an endowment for all other state colleges and universities other than the A&M and Texas systems.

Proponents argue that all higher educational institutions in the state should have available to them an endowment fund from which to keep their plant and facilities up to date without looking to tuition fees and the public treasury to do so. Opponents of this part of the proposal argue that there should be no endowment fund of public property and money sitting idle while the Legislature is forced to levy new and additional taxes for the upkeep, maintenance and operation of the various educational institutions; that if public property and funds are collected, they should be spent to meet the public need at the time without creating a bigger taxation burden on the general public.

Bankless Banking

is eligible

You are if you receive a check from the United States government, either for Social Security, Treasury benefits, past government employment or any other reason. Instead of mailing your check to you directly, with your permission, the United States government will forward your check directly to us where it will be placed immediately into your own Deposits/Check account. That's all that's involved. It's probably the closest thing to bankless banking yet.

WHY should I join

For convenience. Now you can have your checks mailed directly from the U. S. Treasury to the First National Bank of Tahoka.

For safety. Eliminates the possibility of lost or stolen checks.

For thrift. With Deposits/Check you can write 10 checks per month for only $1.00, for such things as doctor bills, electric bills, food bills etc. In addition, you get all the personalized checks you need, free notary service and trust services and financial advice. All for only $1.00 per month.

HOW do I start

Just dial 998-4511 and ask for "My Private Banker." One of our ladies or gentlemen will come to your home at your convenience.

This means from now on, for any banking service, you need not leave your home.* And with fall and winter just around the corner having your own personal banker at your disposal is a nice feeling indeed. It's just another select service from everybody's bank.

*We still make house calls.

Cleland Elected V-P Of CPO

Jim Ed Waller, Lubbock President of the Better Business Bureau of the South Plains announced today the appointment of Malcolm T. Cleland as Executive Vice-President and General Manager of the Consumer Protection Organization which serves the public in 18 counties including local county.

Cleland, a 1952 graduate of Princeton University, and his family will establish their home in Lubbock when he assumes his duties on October 20. They come direct from Lincoln, Nebraska where he has been serving as Director of Business Relations for the State's Cornhusker Better Business Bureau. While holding this position, he initiated a Statewide Consumer Education Program which increased business community support by 80 percent in 16 months.

Cleland met with Waller and Jim Eppler, current Vice-President in charge of Expansion and Income '76 President of the Better Business Bureau of the South Plains, October 5 through 9 at the National Better Business Bureau Assembly in Atlanta, Georgia for briefing sessions.

He served in the U.S. Marine Corps during the Korean Conflict and has had 16 years experience as Treasurer and Director of Marketing for a large Integrated Egg and Feed Distributor and as Chairman of the American Egg Board in Chicago, Illinois. He is active in United Way and YMCA.

The Better Business Bureau of the South Plains grew out of the Better Business Bureau of Lubbock in May, 1975, when the organization expanded services from its Lubbock headquarters to an 18 county area. These counties include: Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Gaines, Dawson and Borden.
