Lynn Co. Cotton Harvest In Full Swing

First Light Freeze Recorded Tuesday

A light freeze of the fall harvest was welcomed by farmers just as the harvest was getting in gear. The first general light freeze came Sunday morning, when the light freeze was 30 degrees. The temperature remained at freezing for a short time, and a freeze was yet to come. During the past week, there has been coming in at rates from fields that were or had been damaged. Much of the crop is so far actually too "green", but farmers have been able to get the crop in despite unfavorable conditions.

As soon as cotton bolls open and green leaves are shed, the cotton gathering will get underway at a rapid pace. In fact, most gins over the county already have a big backlog of unginned cotton on their yards.

Bulldogs Close Season At Post

Tahoka Bulldogs close out their 1975 football season against the Antelopes at Post, Friday at 7:30 p.m. with hopes of an upset victory. The Bulldogs have promised to give the Antelopes a real battle in this final game.

The Bulldogs are 2 - 3 in conference play and 3 - 6 for the season, while Post, Denver City and Slaton are all tied at 4 - 1 in District 5-AA play.

Tahoka lost at Denver City to the Mustangs last Friday night 40 to 0. The Mustangs had scored one TD in each of the first two quarters to lead 12 - 0 at the half, which score held until late in the third quarter.

Then, a stingy Denver City defense and a couple of bad breaks for the Bulldogs caused the roof to cave in.

Late in the third, Tahoka attempted a quick kick from inside their own 10, and had it blocked out of the end zones for a 2-point safety. Then, punting from the 20, D.C. ran the ball back for a TD. Score 21 - 0.

Early in the fourth, the Mustangs scored again, and finally, with less than three minutes left in the game, Denver City scored twice more to make the final score 40 - 0.

Cotton Prices Were Steady

Grower prices were steady to firm during the week ending November 7, according to Paul R. Dickson, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office.

The USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reported trading was slow and growers offered small lots of new crop cotton in very light volume.

They sold small mixed new crops lots of mostly grades 31 and 41; staples 31 to 33; mike 3.0 through 3.2 for 39.00 to 40.00 cents per pound.

Demand was moderate to light. Most lots offered were 1974 crop cotton, Dickson said.

Prices paid growers for cottonseed ranged from $85 - $90 dollars per ton.

Grades 41, 51, and 42 were predominate qualities in this week's classings. Grade 41 was 40 percent, grade 51 - 22 percent and grade 42 - 15 percent. Bark reductions were assigned to 14 percent of the samples classed.

Staples 30, 31 and 32 were predominate lengths accounting for 18 percent, 25 percent and 21 percent respectively.

Mike readings 3.5 through 4.9 amount to 31 percent of the total. Mike group 3.3 through 3.4 accounted for 17 percent, 3.0 through 3.2 range 31 percent and mike 2.7 through 2.9 was 19 percent.

Pressley tests indicated breaking strengths at Lubbock averaged 88,000 pounds per square inch.

Ginning increased throughout the South Plains and about 14,800 samples were classes by the Lubbock Classing Office during the week ending November 7.

This season total stands at 22,700 samples compared to 629 on the same date a year ago.

In reporting last week on Billie Thuren's visit here, I failed to mention that she was awarded 2 football tickets because of her coming the greatest distance to be at the Homecoming of Tahoka Exes. Even though Billie admitted she did not come especially for the event, it just happened to coincide with her vacation, it was decided she should have this reward as she did come many more miles than the couple who won first prize just for coming for "Homecoming."

Compliance with a new law requiring hunters to keep wild game in edible condition after the kill--and following basic cooking guidelines--can mean safe, high quality meals with less pressure on the food dollar.

The Texas Legislature passed a statute requiring that "a reasonable effort be made to retrieve all wounded game animals or game birds and these animals or birds shall become a part of the legal bag limit."

This law also requires that all game animals, game birds and game fish taken into possession must be kept in an edible condition and it sets a penalty of $25 to $200 for violations.

This means that a hunter who shoots a dove which falls into a thick weed patch and then makes no attempt to retrieve the bird will be in violation of the law. And a hunter who kills game and leaves it in the trunk of his car until it spoils also will be in violation.

Proper handling in the field centers on proper cleaning and quick cooling. Hunters generally agree that proper cleaning demands a well-placed shot in a vital area that doesn't rupture intestines or pauch.

Since quick cooling delays spoilage, the animal should be drawn immediately after killing. Move it so its head is uphill. Make a ventral cut from the base of the tail to the breast bone and roll out the viscera. Avoid slashing the intestines or stomach. Wipe the body cavity with clean cloths or paper towels--but don't use water.

Hanging the carcass will hasten cooling. Protect meat from flies and dust with muslin or cheesecloth bags which let air circulate. Heavy tarpaulins and airtight game bags keep body heat in and slow down cooling.

Proper loading and transporting the animal is essential to handling, most hunters caution. Carrying the animal--still wrapped in the protective cloth--on top of the car is recommended. Also, on cool days, the car trunk is a safe place.

But avoid carrying animals on car or truck hoods and fenders, since heat from the sun and car motor can ruin all previous good care.

Once the animal has been handled properly in the field, the cook should remember some basic rules for preparation.

Dry heat, such as oven roasting, broiling, pan-broiling and frying, is suitable for young, tender game. Basting with additional fat may be necessary if the meat is lean.

It's best to cook older, less tender game by moist heat, such as braising, stewing or simmering. Swiss steaks and pot roasts are cooked by braising -- add a small amount of liquid to meat cooked in a covered container.

Long, slow cooking tenderizes meat without drying it.

More information on wild game preparation is available from the Lynn county Extension office at 998-4650.

Ask for "Wild Game -- Care, Cooking" (B-987) and "Field Dressing Big Game" (L-634). These bulletins will be mailed to you.

Moist Bread Stuffing
1 cup butter or margarine, 2 cups diced celery, 1 1/2 cups chopped onions, 1/4 cup finely chopped parsley, 2 1/4 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons poultry seasoning, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 16 cups lightly packed fresh bread crumbs, 3 eggs, slightly beaten.

About 40 minutes before using:

In a large sauce pot over medium heat, in hot butter or margarine, cook celery and onions until tender, about 10 minutes. Add parsley, salt, poultry seasoning and pepper, mix well. Stir in bread crumbs and eggs; mix well. Makes enough stuffing for one 8 to 11 pound turkey, about 8 cups.

Crumble Bread Stuffing: Prepare as above but use only 1/2 cup butter or margarine and omit eggs.
Oyster: Prepare as above but add one 16 ounce can "standard" oysters, drained to mixture.

TEXAS TALK

By Fred Myers

Some flak for farmers is coming in the form of complaints about farm chemicals from people who apparently consider the word "chemical" the opposite of the word "ecology". Not too surprising considering all the attention given by ecologists to some misuses of chemicals. Farmers however, are probably the most ecologically minded group in the country . . . have been for years. Making your living from the land means taking care of it. Proper applications of chemicals enhance vitality of the soil, replacing those elements used to produce the last crop. Necessary use of pesticides not only keeps quality of food production high, it also makes possible far greater quantity of production and thereby keeps food prices down. As far as overuse of chemicals is concerned, the guy paying the bills is going to be the last one to use more than is needed to do the proper job.

ONCE SAVED, ALWAYS SAVED - SCRIPTURAL OR COMFORTABLE? Teachers of "once saved, always saved" assert the believer has two natures, one of which is spiritual and can do nothing but sin (1 John 1:8); and another which is spiritual and cannot possible sin (John 3:9). This erroneous doctrine provides a means of harmonizing the two above mentioned scriptures. But please examine 1 John 3:9 translated in the New American Standard Bible - "No one born of God PRACTICES sin". James translation is unfortunate in that it conveys the full meaning of the Greek verb "martenain" meaning, "cannot go on practicing". Thus 1 John 3:9 simply states that the Christian cannot live in sin, he must hate sin, even when he "stumbles". It is inevitable that all Christians will stumble and sin as is stated in 1 John 1:8.

The "whole man" is involved if we practice sin or practice righteousness (Romans 6:12; 1 Cor. 7:21 - 23). Romans 7:25 does not, as claimed, teach two natures of the believer. It is a recount of the conflict which he experienced with himself while still under the Mosaic Law. "If we after the flesh, we shall die; if we live after the spirit, we shall live." (Romans 8:13) Paul was writing to Christians. (Romans 1:6-7)

Thank you for studying this vital subject with us. We are not satisfied with this brief series dealing with the "once saved, always saved doctrine", and we like to make an in-depth investigation please contact the Church of Christ in Tahoka.

FACTS FOR YOU

from Texas Farm Bureau

Brucellosis Program

The United States Department of Agriculture Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service in Washington wrote a letter to Mr. Norman Moser, Chairman of the Texas Animal Health Commission on September 30, 1975 stating:

The Texas program as presently outlined by your regulation is not designed for total eradication and does not meet national program standards. Therefore, it will be necessary that Veterinary Services redirect Federal brucellosis resources now allotted to the Texas program to other states where we would expect more brucellosis eradication for dollars spent. Field agreement number 12-16-4-8 requires at least a 60-day notice for cancellation. This is to officially notify you of our intention to cancel the field agreement on January 1, 1976. Further we will stop paying indemnity on brucellosis reactors disclosed in Texas on and after January 1, 1976.

Also, it will be necessary to take steps to protect the livestock industry in other states from being reinfected with brucellosis from Texas cattle. This may involve the use of Federal quarantine, revocation of certified status, or both and to notify other states of action being taken.

These proposed actions are not irreversible, and we stand ready at any time to continue or reestablish the cooperative brucellosis program in Texas. We hope the Texas Animal Health Commission will reconsider amending the regulation in the very near future so we may continue to participate with the State in our cooperative effort to eradicate brucellosis.

As a result of USDA's action Dr. H.Q. Sibley, Executive Director of the Texas Animal Health Commission wrote a letter to USDA administrators asking 14 specific status of Texas would be if the State regulations were not changed to comply with uniform standards. Dr. Paul Beeton, Acting Deputy Administrator for Veterinary Services, USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service answered Dr. Sibley's question and a copy of this letter to Dr. Sibley is reproduced here for your information:

This is in response to your letter regarding intended Federal actions as a result of the failure by Texas to adopt significant provisions of the Uniform Methods and Rules. I cannot provide specific answers to any of your questions but will give you general comments on our present thinking regarding the application of Federal quarantines and their implications.

If a Federal quarantine is placed on an area, certain restrictions on the interstate movement of cattle would be necessary. Such restrictions would probably include the following points:

1. Steers and spayed heifers could move interstate to any destination without restriction.

2. Brucellosis reactor cattle could move interstate in accordance with 9CFR, 78.7.1/

3. Brucellosis exposed cattle could move interstate in accordance with 9CFR, 78.8(a) or (b) only. 2/

4. Cattle from herds not known to be infected from a quarantine area could move only as follows:

A. Cattle from "qualified" herds (see new definition under paragraph 5) could move for:

i) Immediate slaughter if tested negative within 30 days prior to movement; or if moved in accordance with 78.8(b) 2/

ii) Quarantined feedlots (see new definition under paragraph 5) if tested negative within 30 days prior to movement; or if moved in accordance with 78.8(a) 2/

iii) Breeding or other purposes if such cattle, except calves less than 6 months of age and official vaccines less than 12 months are tested negative within 30 days prior to movement

B. Cattle from herds of unknown status could move for immediate slaughter or to a quarantined feedlot in accord with 78.8(a) or (b). 2/ The reason for these restrictions would be based on the presumption that all herds in a quarantined area would be exposed.

5. The existing definitions of quarantined feedlots and "qualified" herds should be amended to meet the conditions of a quarantined area as follows:

A. Quarantined feedlots must be approved annually by State and Federal Animal Health officials. All animals entering the feedlot must be permanently identified on the left jaw by a hot "S" brand. Other provisions of the current quarantined feedlot definition would be maintained.

b. Qualified herd in a quarantined area would be defined as a herd not known to be affected, which has passed a negative herd test not more than 240 days prior to movement not less than 120 days prior to movement, and has passed a second negative herd test not more than 120 days prior to movement. The herd tests must be performed not less than 90 days nor more than 150 days apart. See footnotes at the end of article.

All alleged violations will be investigated and the charges, if any, pursued as provided in Federal court. The penalty for violating the provisions of a Federal quarantine would be determined by the judgment of a Federal court.

Cattle from certified brucellosis-free herds in Texas would not be recognized for the purpose of interstate movement. Cattle from such herds will have to qualify under the provisions indicated above.

No restrictions would be placed, as such, on Texas livestock markets, but the animals moving from such points to interstate destinations must meet the requirements specified above. Livestock markets must however comply with the provisions of quarantine.

Veterinary Services would anticipate making brucellosis card test kits available to the State for distribution within the State to accredited veterinarians and State employees provided that the State maintains adequate control over the distribution, training, and utilization of the card test. Kits would not be furnished at Federal expense.

There are no restrictions anticipated on the availability of Strain 19 Brucella abortus vaccine; however, the administration of such product must be in conformance with the provisions of the UMR 3/ if the animal is to be recognized as an official vaccinee.

Reduction in the swine brucellosis program are not anticipated provided the UMR 3/ governing the validation of herds and areas are followed. Veterinary Services does not anticipate the implementation of restriction on the interstate shipment of milk or milk products. 4/ The status of the brucellosis eradication program in Texas and the proposed Federal action in Texas to restrict the interstate movement of livestock has been reported to other Federal agencies and national organizations. Such agencies have a direct interest in the public health aspects and the marketing aspects of the interstate shipment of milk from areas not following a brucellosis eradication program.

If the modified certified brucellosis status is removed from Texas because of failures to implement the UMR, it will be necessary to correct the deficiencies and authorities and program procedures plus requalifying areas under the initial certification procedures of the current UMR. 3/

The placing of a Federal quarantine on cattle in Texas will require active enforcement. It is anticipated that the Federal employees in Texas would be directed toward these enforcement activities. Other Federal programs administered by Veterinary Services will be continued in Texas.

Should a Federal quarantine for brucellosis be placed on Texas, then Veterinary Services will be unable to endorse health certificates or certify for export cattle originating within the quarantined area except in those cases where the animals originate from a qualified herd. It should be appreciated that most countries will not receive cattle from quarantined areas regardless of the presence of a health certificate.

Livestock moving from the State of origin to the port of export are considered in international commerce unless diverted enroute. Additional measures would be taken by Veterinary Service on shipments of Livestock moving through a quarantined area to prevent diversion enroute. Such measure would include sealing the carrier of the livestock prior to entry into the quarantined area. See footnotes at the end of article.

Should there be qualified brucellosis herds in area under quarantine for brucellosis and it can be demonstrated that the cattle in the herd are not exposed to brucellosis, then cattle from those herds that meet the export requirements of the Veterinary Services, and the destination country, would be eligible for export internationally from the herd.

Steers and spayed females would be handled in the same manner as they are at the present time. Unspayed females and non castrated males originating from tick infested areas of Mexico must be consigned to specifically designated counties in Texas only to comply with the applicable provision of 21 USC 104. 5/ Unspayed females and non castrated males originating from tick free areas of Mexico consigned to States other than Texas, may transit the State of Texas provided the vehicles transporting the cattle are sealed with USDA SEALS BEFORE LEAVING THE PORT OF ENTRY. 1/ 78.7 Brucellosis reactor cattle.

Brucellosis reactor cattle may only be moved interstate under this section for immediate slaughter directly to a slaughtering establishment operating under the provisions of the Federal Meat Inspection Act (21 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), or directly to a specifically approved slaughtering establishment, or directly to a specifically approved stockyard for sale to such a slaughtering establishment, in accordance with the following requirements:

(a) Marking of brucellosis reactor cattle. Brucellosis reactor cattle shall be marked for identification by branding the letter "B" on the left jaw in letters not less than 2 nor more than 3 inches high, and attaching to the left ear a metal tag bearing a serial number and the inscription "U.S. Reactor" or a similar State reactor tag.

(b) Required permit. Brucellosis reactor cattle shall be accompanied to destination by a permit for movement of the animals in accordance with Sec. 78.3.

(c) Marking of records. Each transportation agency moving brucellosis reactor cattle in the course of their interstate movement shall plainly write or stamp upon the face of each waybill, conductor's manifest, switch order, vehicle interchange record, or other document, which it prepares in connection with such movement, the words "Brucellosis Reactor."

(d) Segregation of brucellosis reactor cattle en route interstate. Brucellosis reactor cattle shall not be moved interstate in a railroad car, boat, truck, or other means of conveyance, containing nonreactor animals susceptible to brucellosis, unless all of the animals for immediate slaughter, or unless reactor cattle are kept separate from the other animals by a partition securely affixed to the sides of the means of conveyance.

2/ 78.8 Brucellosis exposed cattle.

Brucellosis exposed cattle may be moved interstate from any area only under the conditions specified in any of the following paragraphs:

(a) Movements of brucellosis exposed cattle to quarantined feedlots. Brucellosis exposed cattle may be moved interstate from any area directly to a quarantined feedlot, or directly to a specifically approved stockyard for sale and shipment to a quarantined feedlot, if such cattle are identified by a Veterinary Services approved metal eartag and by branding with heat the letter "S" on the left jaw, in letters not less than 2 nor more than 3 inches high, before the animals leave the premises from which they are moved interstate. Such cattle shall be accompanied by a permit. If the movement is directly to a specifically approved stockyard for sale and shipment to a quarantined feedlot, a separate permit shall be required for the subsequent interstate movement of such cattle from any such stockyard directly to a quarantined feedlot.

(b) Movement of brucellosis exposed cattle for immediate slaughter. Brucellosis exposed cattle may be moved interstate from any area for immediate slaughter directly to a slaughtering establishment operating under the provisions of the Federal Meat Inspection Act (21 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), or directly to a specifically approved slaughtering establishment, or directly to a specifically approved slaughtering establishment, or directly to a specifically approved stockyard for sale and shipment of such a slaughtering establishment, if such cattle are identified by a Veterinary Services approved metal eartag and by branding with heat the letter "S" on the left jaw in letters not less than 2 nor more than 3 inches high, before the animals leave the premises from which they are moved interstate. Such cattle shall be accompanied by a permit. A separate permit shall be required for the subsequent interstate movement of such cattle from any such stockyard directly to a slaughtering establishment. 3/ Uniform Methods and Rules, effective, January 1975.

4/ Milk and milk products are not regulated by USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service. The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, in cooperation with the State Health Department are the regulating agencies for milk and milk products. The U.S. recommended milk and milk products code is now in the process of being revised with a plan to print the revised U.S. Code in the FEDERAL REGISTER which will give the revised regulations force to law. When the revised regulations are approved, they will be the minimum requirement for all states. The present U.S. Public Health Service Milk ordinance recommendations for animal health are the same as state regulations and are reproduced here for your information.

5. Have an individual blood agglutination test annually with an allowable maximum grace period not exceeding 2 months.

For diseases other than brucellosis and tuberculosis, the health authority require such physical, or bacteriological, or bacteriological tests as he deems necessary. The diagnosis of diseases in dairy cattle shall be based upon the report of a licensed veterinarian in an official report of an official animal health officer or a diseased animal such test(s) disposed of as authority directs.

Oral Cancer

Cancer of the mouth is easy to detect, and treating it early can more than double the percentage of patients in Lynn County who are free of all symptoms after five years. Those who are treated early before the cancer spreads have a five-year survival rate of 67 per cent, compared with only 30 for more advanced cases.

The American Cancer Society advised people to see their dentist or physician if any swelling or growth, white scaly patches, sores, numbness, or bleeding in the mouth is noticed. These conditions, often first spotted during a regular dental check, may not mean cancer, but if they do, disfiguring surgery often can be avoided if treatment is begun early.

It is not known exactly what causes oral cancer, but it has been linked with mouth irritations by jagged teeth, poorly fitting dentures, drinking, smoking, poor diet, overexposure to sunlight, and excessively hot foods and drinks.

Oral cancer represents only two percent of the malignancies found in women, and five percent of those in men. Yet in the state of Texas, it is estimated that there will be 1,100 new cases of oral cancer in 1975, and 375 deaths. Nationwide 23,000 new cases are expected, and about 8,000 deaths. The best protection is alertness to warning signals and regular checkups.

The ACS leaflets, "Cancer of the Mouth" and "Open Wide" are available free of charge from the Lynn County Unit of the ACS. For more information contact Dr. David Midkiff in Tahoka.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hubbard and girls of Lorenzo visited his parents last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hubbard, Patricia was celebrating her 10th birthday.

Cadette Troop #396

Scouts Make Plate Favors

Cadette Troop #396 met Saturday morning to make plate favors for the Golden Years luncheon. Using nut cups, soda straws, scissors and glue the girls made old fashion pot bellied stoves. This troop has made the favors for the Golden Years luncheon every year since Phebe K. Warner study club started giving the luncheon. Girls shown in the picture are Kim Paynes, Cindy Chancy, Denise Dodson, Sheri Tomlinson, Amy Porterfield, Karen Stewart and Alma Hallmark.

Troop #396 is the largest Cadette troop ever registered in Tahoka. We have 16 girls and 3 adults registered. Nine of these girls have been with the troop since it was formed in Sept. 1970. They have aided our community by giving of their time to do service projects over the last three years. They prefer to do things for other people rather than for themselves. These girls are active and ready to meet all challenges, jobs and fun times in the planning. Members not shown in the picture are Lani Brown, Cathy Meeks, Diana Del Toro, Kim White, Nancy Raindl, Suzanne ... Teresa Arellano and ... Womock.

Tahoka has six other troops of Girl Scouts, including a troop of 4th graders who have been unable to meet because they don't have a leader. They are a good bunch of girls and an interested bunch. If anyone is willing to give of your time to perform a very worthwhile and rewarding service by working with this troop please contact Mrs. P.B. Hallmark at 8-4046.

ELEMENTARY GROUP PICTURES PRESENTED TO HOME SUPERINTENDENT - Six elementary students presented a elementary school picture to Mr. Russell ... New Home School Superintendent. Mr. Howle accepted the group picture, which will be displayed in the elementary school. The picture was decoupage by Mrs. Annie ... community coordinator for New Home School.

Coach Grant Teaff with Anthony Cervantes

16-Year-Old Paralyzed

Anthony Cervantes, a Waco High School student, got dressed for football practice, during practice on a tackle Anthony got hit on the back of the neck. This left him paralyzed. Anthony, a 16-year-old, has movement in his left hand and from his neck up. He is now at the Caruth Memorial Rehabilitation Center in Dallas, Texas. Coach Grant Teaff, head coach at Baylor University, has been visiting Anthony often and has set-up a fund raising drive. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Janie Martinez of New Home and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Maldonado of Encinal, Texas.

The A-line skirt featured lace bands down the front and above the hemline. The detachable train had lace ruffles that flowed in to chapel length. The full length mantilla was edged with lace.

Debbie Martinez of New Home served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Henry Caballero Sr., Mrs. Gilbert Hiracheta, Mrs. Oscar Roman, Pat Calderon, Elizabeth Caballero and Bebe Caballero. They wore A-line lime green dresses with matching hats and bouquets.

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS

Tax conscious farmers and others who need to shift their income and deductions to take the bite out of their taxes should be making their decisions now, a farm management economist says.

Estimating taxable incomes for 1975 at this time of the year allows time for tax management actions, says Marvin Sartin, Extension Service area specialist. Even though harvests are not complete, projections of yields, quantities to be sold, and prices along with deductible expenditures between now and Dec. 31 should be used to map strategy in reducing taxes.

"Most farmers currently use CASH METHOD OF ACCOUNTING, AN ALTERNATIVE THAT MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN THE FUTURE," Sartin says. "However, until this option is revoke, farmers can act to more nearly balance their taxable income from year to year. The most common methods to shift income and expenses between accounting periods involved postponing sales, making advance purchases of farm inputs, and postponing deductions."

These techniques are commonly used by most farmers and are generally understood, the Lubbock based economist says. In the past, most individuals wished to postpone the realization of income until their crop simply came over into the new year before the sale was made. Because ownerships maintained, no concern arose about the timing of income.

However, today with concern for fluctuating commodity prices, farmers may want to sell in the current market to avoid the risk of price changes not receiving the income tax accounting in the following year. This is accomplished by using a deferred sale contract.

An Income Tax Seminar will be held in the Room at 7:00 p.m. on December 4th.

INSUR-MATION

Robert Harvick
Lynn County Farm Bureau, 998-4320

My wife and I have been married for less than a year. How much life insurance do we need?

There is no set answer... depending on your needs, responsibilities and lifestyle. If you are childless, both working with well-paying jobs, your need for protection is less than a family with children, a non-working wife and probably a smaller savings account. Think of life insurance in terms of income. Income... to meet medical expenses in case of disability, to help cover the cost of your children's education, income to help support a family. With all these variables, you should discuss your personal circumstances with your agent. He will help advise you as to your needs and what is practical.
