THANKSGIVING

The Tradition of Freedom... Our Cherished Legacy

Freedom is a tradition in our great nation. From the earliest beginnings, the courage of our Pilgrim forefathers made it possible. The will and faith of our people have kept it alive. It will remain ours with vigilance and dedication. So—the past, the present and the future are inextricably woven together. Through freedom. Today we give thanks for this precious legacy. We remember and cherish our tradition. We pray that freedom will become the inalienable right of all nations.

Sherry Etheredge Says . . .

Holiday foods can carry food poisoning bacteria-- but simple precautions can prevent food poisoning and ruined holidays, Frances Reasonover, a foods and nutrition specialist, says.

"Bacteria need the right combination of time, temperature and moisture to grow. When foods remain between 40 and 120 degrees F. for three or four hours, bacteria grow and make the food unsafe to eat.

"And the only way to kill the bacteria is to heat food to 170 degrees F. Freezing doesn't kill bacteria, it simply slows growth," the specialist said.

She's with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

Turning to specific food safety guidelines, she said to thaw the holiday turkey in the refrigerator. Fresh or freshly thawed turkey should be refrigerated and used within 24 hours.

"When preparing the turkey, cook it until done throughout -- with an internal temperature of 180 degrees F. And if it is to be stuffed, wait until just before placing the bird in the oven to stuff the cavity.

"Good sanitation during food preparation is important to prevent contamination. Make sure hands, utensils and cutting boards are clean when handling turkey and other holiday foods. Also, keep hands away from mouth, nose, hair or skin infections such as boils, open cuts and sores while working with food.

"Miss Reasonover reminded. After the meal is over, don't leave the turkey at room temperature long. Staph germs multiply rapidly between 45 and 115 degrees F.

"If turkey is part of the holiday buffet, use several serving trays instead of only one to keep the meat from remaining at room temperature too long.

"Bring out a fresh tray frequently to replace that partly used. The turkey stays at the right temperature--and bacteria don't have a chance to grow."

Food-borne illness can cause diarrhea, vomiting, stomach cramps and other unpleasant symptoms which can last for several hours or days. Young children and elderly people are most susceptible, the specialist said.

Holiday Checklist

-- In Buying turkey, look for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's shield. The federal inspection mark of wholesomeness means the product is wholesome--not that it is germ free. However, proper handling and cooking will keep microorganisms at safe levels.

-- In selecting turkey, choose one from a refrigerated case in the store--and refrigerate it quickly at home.

-- In determining the size of turkey to buy, remember large turkeys usually have more meat in proportion to bone than smaller turkeys. For turkeys under 12 pounds, figure three-fourths to one pound per serving.

-- Turkey parts may be the answer for those who want only drumsticks or white meat. Also, a small family might cook a half or quarter of a turkey and store the rest in the home freezer. Some markets will cut the bird into halves or quarters for their customers.

The Tahoka Lions Club needs your old used eyeglasses. It's part of a district wide roundup of old glasses to be recycled by C.A.R.E. Condition of the glasses is not important. Glasses in any state of repair can be used.

Why not take a few minutes, dig in the back of that junk drawer and give your old glasses to the Lions.

You can drop them off at the Lynn County News or call any Lion. The Tahoka Lions will Thank You and C.A.R.E. Thanks you.

Pythians Convention

Pythian Sisters District Convention No. 9 was held in Lubbock Nov. 1st, presided over by Elgah Cope, District Deputy, Lubbock. Lynn Temple furnished 3 officers and the Degree Staff, which performed at the evening session.

Past Grand Chiefs present were, Evelyn Harden of Lubbock, Katie Lou Ashley, Lamesa, Thelma Oliver of Tahoka, Ruth Cullen of Abilene and Velma Middleton of Lamesa. The five ladies gave a Ritual quiz to those present, which was very informative, as well as entertaining.

Two sisters were present from Amarillo, two Grand Officers, Grand Chief, Naomi Frost and Grand Protector, Mary Francis Talley, both from Denison and Ruth Cullen, Past Grand of Abilene.

A banquet was served at the Johnson House between sessions.

Grand Chief, Naomi Frost told of her project which is new beds and locker space

Judy Holden, acting Secretary invited the ladies to Tahoka next year for the 1976 Convention. A good time was declared by all who attended, approximately 50 ladies and two men.

Welding Course At New Home

Charles H. Yeates

An oxy-acetylene welding short course for adult farmers will be held Dec. 8-9-10-11 under the sponsorship of the New Home High School Vocational Agricultural Department, according to Mr. Russel Howle, Superintendent and Mr. Bob Ballard, teacher of vocational agriculture.

Mr. Charles H. Yeates, welding specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Agricultural Engineering at Texas A&M University, will be the instructor for the course. He is headquartered at Texas A&M University.

Mr. Yeates holds a B.S. degree from Texas A&M University in Agricultural Education. Mr. Yeates taught vocational agriculture and farm shop for a period of 15 years. He also taught automobile mechanics, electricity, electrical and acetylene welding and woodworking in the Jasper County vocational school. He has had two years experience as a draftsman, and two years experience as a welder.

"Many oxy-acetylene welding short courses in various parts of the state have been taught by Mr. Yeates and all have met with outstanding success," according to Mr. Hulaw Harris, area supervisor of vocational agriculture Big Spring, Texas. Arrangements for the adult education short course in welding and in other fields are made through Mr. Harris's office.

The short course at New Home is scheduled to begin Dec. 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the vocational agriculture building. Other meetings in the series of 4 will be held Dec. 9-10-11. During the dates the short course is in progress, Mr. Yeates will be available to assist farmers with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Bob Ballard.

Farmers interested in attending the short course should write or call the superintendent of schools, Mr. Russel Howle, or the teacher of vocational agriculture, Mr. Bob Ballard. An entry fee of $15 will be charged. Oxy-acetylene welding short course certificates are to be presented to each enrollee who attends all the training sessions.

Mr. Yeates stated that the short course will be adjusted to wishes and interests of farmers enrolled but that he expects to cover such subjects as safety in oxy-acetylene welding, factors controlled by the operator in oxy-acetylene welding, choosing adjusting torch flames, types of welding rods, preparation of joints, distortion, cutting and hardsurfacing.

Short courses in welding, as well as in other areas, are now available to farmers throughout the state under the new cooperative program between the Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University.

This cooperative program is designed to make the services of specialist available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to farm people.

TAHOKA DRUG

Don't simply eat turkey

This year instead of thinking how good we have it as Americans, do something different. Think what we don't have to be happy about. And when you come right down to it, it's a lot harder than it sounds. Because living the way we do, we've gone beyond what great numbers of people still accept as their lot; poverty, malnutrition, disease. Thinking what we have to be unhappy about gets harder all the time. Because, all the time we're making things better--and not just for us. Our ingenuity sooner or later is felt throughout the world. So that one day, instead of just an American holiday, maybe the whole world will have something to celebrate.

Activities scheduled for the first two weeks of December in the Lubbock area furnish additional evidence that the eyes of the textile industry are turning more and more to the Texas High Plains.

On December 1, three representatives from the Investa Foreign Trade Company of Prague, Czechoslovakia, accompanied by an official from the Czech Embassy in Washington, will be visiting the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech. Investa is one of the world's most important and progressive manufacturers of textile machinery.

On December 2 W. Gordon McCabe, Jr., Group Vice President of J.P. Stevens & Company, Inc., will bring head cotton buyer Foy Fisher and five of the company's mill superintendents to look over the High Plains crop, visit gins and acquaint themselves with Lubbock's new open-end spinning plant, Feather Yarns, Inc. Stevens, based in Greenville, S.C., is one of the U.S. leaders in open-end spinning and the mill superintendents are those from plants involved in the production of yarns on the open-end system.

The following week, December 9, the Cotton Committee of the American Textile Manufacturers Institute (ATMI) will hold a breakfast meeting in Lubbock followed by a tour of harvesting and ginning operations and the Feather Yarns plant. The 30 members of the ATMI committee are top officials of 27 textile manufacturing companies that account for over half the cotton consumed in the U.S. each year. They are meeting in Lubbock at the invitation of James Parker, Director of the Textile Research Center at Tech.

The increased attention being paid to the High Plains by people in the U.S. and world textile industry, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is directly related to "the growing interest in open-end spinning, the expanding physical plant and activities of Tech's TRC and the continued production on the High Plains of from 15% to over 20% of the U.S. cotton crop each year." PCG is joining other individuals and groups as hosts to the distinguished High Plains visitors.

The ATMI Cotton Committee has broad responsibility for all matters concerning the textile industry's interest in cotton fiber, such as trading procedures and rules, quality, supply and arbitration. It is also responsible for national policies regarding cotton and advises the ATMI Board of Directors on cotton related matters. Fifteen or more of the 30 committee members are expected to attend the Lubbock meeting, according to Staff Secretary Donald J. May.

The Textile Research Center at Tech is becoming an increasingly important factor in the textile world, especially where open-end spinning is concerned. Construction of a new wing at the Center, adding 12,500 sq. ft. of floor space, is scheduled for completion in the Fall of 1976. The new space will be used for an open-end spinning laboratory, larger and more complete knitting facilities, three chemistry laboratories and additional fiber testing.

West Texas Savings Ass'n.

West Texas Savings Association was chartered and founded by lifelong residents of West Texas for the express purpose of providing financial services to the rural areas and small towns throughout the South Plains that have not previously been served adequately. Tax Management Meeting Set

How to increase profit by reducing taxes is the theme of an income tax management meeting for area producers and other interested citizens at Lyntegar Room, December 4th, at 7:00 p.m., says County Extension Agent Bill Griffin.

Sponsored by Extension Service, the session will include topics on changes in tax laws, how to handle depreciable assets, investment credit, capital gains, deferred payment contracts, advance purchases and other tax management methods.

Marvin O. Sartin, area farm management economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Lubbock, will lead discussions.

ions. Griffin says tax producers and business considering year-end and expense should benefit from the information.

"This is an session," says Griffin those who want more about shifting and expenditures in their taxes. This is to session, open public and there admission charge.

The county-wide tax management one of a series meetings being several counties South Plains says Griffin.

Does the same kind of policy cost the same with different companies?

No. Many policies may have special features . . . at extra cost. Because of the importance of all types of insurance, and in some cases, the long-term nature, insurance should be purchased with care. The most important single factor is choose a good insurance agent. He or she will be advising you on matters which will affect your security and pocketbook. Every agent must pass a state test to qualify for an insurance license. Check the company. Has it met State Insurance Commission regulations? Compare companies' premium-rate schedules. However, as with anything you purchase, cost is not the only important factor. Service from your agent and the company he represents are of equal value and importance to you.

"I'd rather explain higher gas bills than why you don't have gas."

Your natural gas bill is higher. And, you have every right to know why.

One reason is lower temperatures brought on by winter.

The main reason, however, is simply that you are paying more for natural gas. Because we are paying more. This chart shows how much:

This increase hurts both you and Pioneer. It adds to your bill and to our cost . . . a cost for which Pioneer is not entirely compensated. It is passed through without mark-up or additional charges.

Why does gas cost more? Competition . . . particularly from petrochemical and other industries. The competition for gas has never been so fierce.

We will have to pay more for gas than in the past. But by working together, and without outside interference, you'll have the gas you need today and in the future.

HOW'S The Electric Company DOING?

Let's ask J. T. Burk, stores superintendent

"Crossarms are such a common sight that you probably don't even notice them. But we have thousands of crossarms in our system . . . and they're necessary to bring electricity to you. Ten years ago, one of these crossarms cost $3.43, but today an identical crossarm is $11.46."

That's a whopping 234% increase . . . a reason electricity may be costing you more these days. Even so, electricity is still a big bargain . . . because it's always there when you need it.

The Future IS Electric!

LORD, behold our family here assembled. We thank Thee for this place in which we dwell; — for the love that unites us: for the peace accorded us this day: — for the hope with which we expect the morrow; — for our friends in all parts of the earth, and . . . Let peace abound in our small company.

The fourth grade is busy making Thanksgiving decorations for their table in the cafeteria. Pilgrim boys and girls, turkeys, log cabins and autumn leaves are the things that remind us of Thanksgiving.

Most of us have completed our friendly letters and are ready to go the New Home Post Office to buy a stamp and mail our letter. "Multiplication is so easy" if you will just spend a little time studying each day. picture

These ladies prepare our food each day. They spend endless hours fixing special menus, cleaning the kitchen, cleaning pots and pans, and cleaning facilities to give us an attractive and sanitary place to eat our well prepared, nutritionally balanced meal. Then after working all morning to make the meal deadline, they meet the children with a smile and a cheerful word while filling their food tray. On this Thanksgiving week we express our appreciation to our food service personnel.

Farm Bureau Sponsors Auto Safety Demo.

Amazing! Spectacular! Very Enlightening! Who would have believed it? These were some of the statements being made by students and faculty at Wilson as they returned to classes following an automobile stopping demonstration on Main Street, presented by Ben Bullard of the Texas Farm Bureau Safety Department Waco, between 10:35 a.m. and 12:00 a.m. November 18, Royce Whitley, said.

In a specially equipped car the following persons drove tests to demonstrate the distance required to react (move the foot off the accelerator to the brake pedal) and to brake (stop after you have reached the brake pedal):

Doug Savell at 20 MPH, Reaction 15'4 plus Braking, 24'7 equals Total, 40'1.

Shelly Cook at 20 MPH, Reaction 22'4 plus Braking 37'9 equals Total, 60'3.

Miss Stewart at 30 MPH, Reaction 20'10 plus 48' equals 68'10.

Mr. Gaines at 40 MPH, Reaction 33 plus Braking 96'9 equals 129'9.

Note the greater distance to stop as the speed was increased. Bullard explained that the reaction distance will nearly double for each driver when he or she is not aware that it will be necessary to stop at a given point.

Bullard said that excessive speed is the greatest single cause of traffic accidents and that most drivers really believe that "they can stop on a dime." He pointed out that most makes and sizes of cars will require the same distance to brake whether small or large, when everything is equal; surface, brakes, tires, load, etc.

Bullard emphasized that a driver who observes speed laws but neglects other items of importance such as proper signalling, intersection approach, proper lane for turns, etc., is not a safe driver. We should drive near the speed limit to avoid the hazards of passing and

FACTS FOR YOU

From Texas Farm Bureau

BRUCELLOSIS-HUMAN HEALTH

Men can contract undulant fever from the following sources: cattle, swine, goats, sheep, horses, mules, dogs, cats, chickens, and wildlife species such as deer, buffalo, caribou, rabbits. Brucellosis is caused by brucella, a train of bacteria which causes undulant fever in human. The most active or hottest strain is brucella melitensis, carried by goats. The second most active, or hottest strain, is brucella suis carried by swine. Brucella abortus is most commonly found in cattle. Reported cases of undulant fever in the United States reveals that swine is the major source of undulant fever. The number of reported undulant fever cases in the United States has decreased from a high of 6,321 cases in 1947 to 246 cases in 1974. Of the total 246 cases reported in 1974, 235 of them were investigated and had case reports. Of the 235 which have confirmed case reports, 86 cases (36.6%) were probably acquired from swine (65 cases (27.7%) from direct contact with cattle, 21 cases (8.9%) were from either cattle or swine, 4 from dogs (1.7% AND 1/2 (8.9%) were from the consumption of unpasteurized dairy products. Of the 21 cases of undulant fever traced to dairy products as a source of infection, 14 cases came from Mexico and 7 cases from the United States. The major cause of reported undulant fever cases in Texas in 1975 was traced to the consumption of unpasteurized goat cheese from Mexico. (There were 38 source unknown cases (16.2%)

In 1973 there was a total of 168 cases of undulant fever reported in the United States, of which 166 had case history. Out of the 166 case reports 51 (30.7%) probably acquired undulant fever from swine, 43 (29.9%) from direct contact with cattle, 15 (9.0%) either cattle or swine, 33 (19.9%) from unpasteurized dairy products (of which 30 were cases from Mexico) 2 from accidental vaccination, 3 from laboratories, 2 from caribou, 2 from dogs, 2 from swine, cattle, sheep or goats, 13 unknowns. Texas in 1973 reported 34 cases of undulant fever of which 27 were traced to goat cheese from Mexico.

The highest occupational rate of people contracting undulant fever are the packing house, rendering plant employee and government inspector. The second major category is the livestock producer, livestock marketing employee and veterinarian. The third category is the housewife and laboratory worker.

On page 276 the table reveals the number of U. S. reported undulant fever cases 1962 - 1974. In analyzing these statistics, remember that there may be some discrepancies in reports submitted to the U.S. Center for Disease Control, Bureau of Epidemiology, Atlanta, Georgia. Texas ranks fifth in the number of U.S. cases of undulant fever reports the table on page 276.

Brucellosis is an infection especially prevalent in cattle, but the number of people that contract undulant fever is highest from swine. Brucellosis is characterized by inflammation of the female reproductive organs, which results in the expulsion of the immature young. Brucellosis can be contracted by contact with the vaginal discharges, fetuses, placentas, urine, manure, carcasses and salvage animals. Man usually contracts undulant fever from (a) untreated food products of raw milk origin from infected animals; (b) raw vegetables contaminated by infected animal urine or fetuses; (c) viscera, bone marrow and lymph nodes in muscle tissues in infected carcasses which may retain visible brucella for more than a month after slaughter and for much longer in the case of frozen or chilled meats; (d) water supplies such as cisterns and wells contaminated by infected animal excreta.

SCHOOL FEES

The Attorney General on October 1, 1975 issued his opinion #H-702 dealing with the general subject of the authority of school districts to charge fees for certain courses, school supplies and extra-curricular activities.

In this case, the Attorney General was asked to consider the following three questions:

(1) tuition for driver education training

(2) charges for school supplies and instructions and lab fees in conjunction with normal academic, vocational, or physical education, classroom instruction or training.

(3) fees for extra-curricular activities, such as band uniforms, athletic lockers and towels and club membership.

In answer to these questions, the Attorney General issued the following summary: "In the absence of specific legislative sanction, a school district does not have the authority to impose tuition for driver education training; charges for school supplies and instruction and lab fees in conjunction with normal academic, vocational or physical education classroom instruction or training; or fees for extra-curricular activities such as band uniforms, athletic lockers and towels and club membership."

An Attorney General's Opinion is nothing more than an opinion. It is not a ruling of the courts neither is it designated as law. The Attorney General writes no regulations but does issue a large number of opinions designed to guide state administrators.

It is true that if a case goes to court, it is the job of the Attorney General to represent the state agency involved. This is the main reason why the Attorney General's opinions have had much influence in guiding state agent's decisions. When a person has formulated a decision, it is very difficult for that person to argue or defend any other position. School districts are not bound by this decision and they are perfectly free to test the case in a court of law.

There is one other chapter to the story and that is the Texas Education Agency. This agency does have rule-writing authority and these rules can be used as a qualification for state aid. The Texas Education Agency did attempt to clarify the ruling in a letter to school administrators. The agency offered the following suggestions in answer to many questions:

1. The effective date is the date of the ruling, October 1, 1975. The Attorney General's Opinion did not cover fees collected prior to the date of October 1, 1975.

2. The ruling does not speak to students furnishing traditional supplies such as pencils, paper, etc.

3. Fees charged to buy such materials as workbooks, etc., are covered under the ruling. Fees for typing, labs, etc., are also covered by the ruling.

4. Materials necessary for the student to acquire basic skills required in vocational education courses must be furnished by the school district; however, the school district may allow a student, at his option, to furnish costlier or different vocational materials for approved projects undertaken for credit in such courses without incurring any obligation to pay for such materials, so long as the materials and the projects created from them remain the property of the student.

5. A school district may charge tuition for driver training if taught in a student's fourth quarter (summer school). This is one of the areas in which tuition may be charged as indicated in Texas Education Code, Section 16.864.

6. A school district may charge nonparticipating students admission to extra-curricular activities where attendance is voluntary.

7. A rental fee may not be charged on band uniforms. The Opinion does not address the question of students furnishing their own uniforms and/or equipment. (Attorney General Opinion No. H-702, Authority of School Districts to Charge Fees for Certain Courses, School Supplies, and Extra-curricular Activities, Oct. 10, 1975)

LOCAL SCHOOL FINANCING

Is the state authorized to establish the market value of property in a school district for the purpose of computing ad valorem taxes? The State of Texas has no authority at this time to establish market value of local property for the purpose of computing ad valorem taxes. The confusion comes as result of the State Legislature's revision of the laws pertaining to the financing of public school education in 1975 in the form of House Bill 1126.

Sub Chapter G, Financing The Program of Chapter 334 Financing Of Public School Education, VERNON'S ANNOTATED CIVIL STATUTES is the law establishing guidelines for state administrators to determine the amount of money to be raised by the local school district for the support of the Foundation School Program. This section is reproduced here in part for your study:

Sec. 16.251. Financing: General Rule

"(a) The sum of the approved minimum salaries for personnel, current operating expenses, categorical program aid, and transportation services for each district, computed in accordance with the provisions of this chapter constitute the total cost of the Foundation School Program.

"(b) The program shall be financed by:

"(a) ad valorem tax revenue generated by an equalized local school district effort;

"(2) state and county available school funds distributed in accordance with law; and

"(3) state funds appropriated for the purposes of public school education and allocated to each district in an amount sufficient to finance the cost of each district's Foundation School Program not covered by other funds specified in this subsection.

"Sec. 16.252. Local Share of Program Cost

"(a) A school district's share of its guaranteed entitlement under the Foundation School Program is determined by multiplying the total taxable value of property in the district by an index rate of 30 cents per $100 valuation for the 1975 - 1976 school year and 35 cents per $100 valuation for each school year thereafter. Provided that for the 1975 - 1976 school year, the local fund assignment of any school district shall not exceed 100 percent of the maintenance tax revenue collected in that district in 1974 - 1975 and provided further that for the 1976 - 1977 school year, the local fund assignment of any school district shall not exceed 150 percent of the maintenance tax revenue collected in that district in 1975 - 1976. Provided further that for the 1975-1976 school year no district's local fund assignment shall exceed an amount equal to its local fund assignment for the 1974 - 1975 school year multiplied by two, and for the 1976 - 1977 school year no district's local fund assignment shall exceed an amount equal to its local fund assignment for the 1974 - 1975 school year multiplied by three.

"(b) A district's share of the program cost for the 1975 - 1975 and 1976 - 1977 school years is based on the value of the district's property for the 1974 tax year as reported in the 'Official Compilation of 1974 School District Market Value Data' Office of the Governor State of Texas. The commissioner may adjust the values reported in the official compilation to correct apparent discrepancies and may reduce the local share of a district in which local natural or economic disaster has dramatically reduced the value of the property since 1974. The commissioner's decision is final. For succeeding school years, a district's share is based on the value of its property for the tax year commencing in the school year two years before the school year for which the share is calculated. However, the commissioner may reduce the local share of a district in which local natural or economic disaster has dramatically reduced the value of taxable property in the intervening two-year period.

"(c) A school district need not raise its total local share of its program cost.

(FINANCING OF PUBLIC SCHOOL EDUCATION, Chapter 334 (H. B. 1126), Subchapter G, Financing The Program)

In reference to the official compilation of 1974 school district market value data, Office of the Governor of Texas; this is a document setting forth the market value of property in each of the school districts of Texas. Contact with the state governor's office reveals that this information is credited to the Management Services Associates, Inc., P.O. Box 3750, Austin, Texas 78764, Area Code 512 Telephone 327 - 2680. Management Service Associates is a privately owned organization serving the public on a fee basis in the area of taxes. Mr. Harry C. Hastings, Vice President of Management Service Associates and director of property tax division reported that his organization had 89 days to put this information together and he was not at all pleased with it. He also indicated that his feelings were shared with the State Legislature before House Bill 1126 was passed. This first attempt was only a starting point for such information.

The law quoted above indicated that this study will be used for the 1974 - 1975 and 1975 - 1976 school years only. Future school financing programs are to be computed on information collected by a study being conducted by the governor. The state legislature provided $5 million for this study and it is now in the process.

In summary, the state legislature has laid the groundwork for "equalizing" the tax effort in each of the school districts as determined by the governor's office under rules and guidelines provided by the State Legislature. Farmers and ranchers will need to watch very carefully the governor's tax study information as the primary limits to excessive local financing of the Foundation School Program expires in the present law with the 1975 - 1976 school year. It is also possible that the figures established by the governor's office will be used by local taxing authorities for the purpose of taxing property.

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS

Applying fertilizer in the fall for spring crops has certain advantages as well as disadvantages.

It doesn't make much difference whether potassium or phosphorus is applied in the spring or fall. However, studies have shown that spring application of nitrogen gives slightly better results over a period of years.

Nitrogen applied in the fall must be from an ammonium source and should be used only on fine-textured or clay soils when the soil temperature is below 50 degrees F. If nitrogen is applied as a nitrate or on coarse-textured soils, it will leach and be lost. Also, nitrate become denitrified in clay soils.

As far as advantage fall fertilizer application concerned, the saves time when the planting season rolls. It can also save fertilizer prices going spring. Furthermore provides a tax advantage.

It's up to each farmer to weigh advantages and disadvantages and to decide himself when to use "Of course, all fertilizer practices should be in the expected response of each plant nutrient fertilizer."

Cotton Prices Are Steady

Grower prices were steady to firm during the week ending November 21, according to Paul R. Dickson, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office.

The USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reported trading was slow to moderate and growers offered small lots of new crop cotton in light volume.

They sold small mixed new crop lots of mostly grades 41; staple 32; mike 3.5 through 4.9 for about 46.00 cents per pound. Mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and 52; staples 28 and 29; mike 3.5 through 4.9 brought about 41.25 cents.

Demand was moderate. Most lots offered were 1974 crop cotton, Dickson said.

Prices paid growers for cottonseed ranged from 75.00 - 90 dollars per ton. Grades 41, 32 and 42 were predominate qualities in this week's classings. Grade 41 and 24 percent, grade 32 - 13 percent and grade 42 - 36 percent. Bark reductions were assigned to 21 percent of the samples classed.

Staples 29, 30 and 31 were predominate lengths. Staple 29 was 29 percent, staple 30 - 31 percent and staple 31 and 17 percent.

Mike readings 3.5 through 4.9 amounted to 18 percent of the total. Mike group 3.3 through 3.4 accounted for 14 percent, 3.0 through 3.2 range 34 percent, mike 2.7 through 2.9 was 27 percent, and 2.6 and below was 7 percent.

Pressley tests indicated breaking strengths at Lubbock averaged 85,000 pounds per square inch.

Rains halted harvest at midweek, and some gins caught up. Skies cleared Thursday and limited harvest resumed Friday. About 128,000 samples were classed by the Lubbock Classing Office during the week ending November 21. This seasons total stands at 169,000 samples compared to 6,300 on the same date a year ago.
