Tahoka Bulldogs Fall To Hamlin, 68-64

Dogs End Year With 25-4 Record

Tahoka's Bulldogs traveled to Snyder Tuesday night and dropped a 68 - 64 Bi-District decision to the Hamlin Pied Pipers. Tahoka controlled the opening tip, but it began to look as if that was all they were going to get out of the try to Snyder as the teams hit only one of 18 free goal attempts in the first quarter, with the Pied Pipers, not especially hot from the field either, building an 18 - 5 first quarter lead. With 4:24 left in the first half Hamlin led 24 - 12 when 6'2" Delbert Thompson went to the bench with his third foul. With Thompson out the Bulldogs press began to pay off as they cut steadily into Hamlin's lead until with 29 seconds left and Tahoka owning the ball and trailing 26 - 25, the Bulldogs worked the ball for one shot. David Graves got the pass coming across the lane and laid it in at the buzzer for Tahoka first lead 27 - 26.

The Bulldogs came out in hot in the 3rd quarter, controlling the tip and picking up 8 points before the Pied Pipers could get the ball across the center line. The Bulldogs led by 11 points at one time in the 3rd quarter. But Hamlin failed to panic and kept Whittling at the Bulldogs lead to pull to within 6 - 49 - 43 at the end of the 3rd quarter.

However the 4th quarter proved to be the Bulldogs undoing as the Pied Pipers, behind the outstanding play of 5'9" guard Gerald Rodgers and Delbert Thompson raced to as much as a ten point lead after the Bulldogs could do no better than a 53 - 53 tie with 4:47 left in the game. Tommy Botkin led Tahoka with 23 points. The Pied Pipers got 29 points each from Rogers & Thompson. The Bulldogs finished the year with a 25 - 4 record. Hamlin, 20 - 3 for the year will advance to the Regional Tournament and will meet the winner of the Spearman - Childress Bi-District game.

The Bulldogs will lose only two Seniors from this years team, but will surely miss the outstanding play of Mitch Raindl & Tommy Botkin.

Sherry Etheredge Says

Weekends provide many good opportunities to replace broken windows and doors around the home --and it's a job most people can do.

Recommended are specific techniques and guidelines.

The difficulty in replacing broken glass increases as the size of the opening gets larger. Small windows may be repaired with sashes in place.

Large openings, however, are easier to repair if the sash is removed from the frame and placed on a flat surface. This cannot always be done, so you may need outside help in replacing a larger glass.

Tools needed for the job are window glass, glazing compound or putty, putty knife, hammer, pliers, knife, glaziers points, and metal clips or plastic tension strip for metal-frame windows.

Metal-frame windows may look more complex than wooden sash, but usually they are no more difficult or time-consuming to repair than the wooden ones.

Many tools and procedures for repairing wooden windows apply also to metal units. The major difference in wood and metal sash windows is the way the glass is secured to the frame. For wooden frame windows, small triangular-shaped pieces of metal called glaziers points are placed against the glass and are driven into the wood. Glaziers points are covered with putty or glazing compound.

Two of the most common ways of securing glass in metal sash windows are with metal clips and plastic tension strips.

Metal clips press against the glass when inserted in the window frame opening. Putty is applied over the clips as in a wood frame window.

Cut plastic tension strips into four pieces to correspond with measurements of the window opening.

Plastic strips are compressed slightly and inserted to fit under a groove in the frame and against the window glass. When the four pieces are secured around the opening and the glass clean, the job is complete.

Follow these steps in replacing broken glass:

--Step 1. Remove broken glass from the window frame. Wood: Working from the outside, remove loose putty, bits of glass and glaziers points. Metal: Working from the outside, lift or pry off plastic tension strips with screwdriver. Do not damage strips. They may be reused. If putty is used, pry it out and remove metal clips holding glass in place. Keep clips for reuse.

--Step 2. Clean frame well.

Wood: Use a wood rasp or sandpaper to remove all putty from the grooves. Wipe clean with damp cloth. Metal: Rub with steel wool to remove putty, rust and corrosion from opening. Wipe clean with damp cloth.

--Step 3. Seal frame opening from moisture. Wood: Coat wood with linseed oil, wood preservative or house paint. Dry thoroughly. Metal: Apply coat of paste wax. Dry thoroughly.

--Step 4. Have glass cut to size.

Wood and Metal: Measure length and width of opening. Have glass cut one-eighth inch smaller in each dimension.

--Step 5. Prepare frame for glass. Wood and Metal: Apply a bead of putty or glazing compound in groove around frame to cushion the glass. Carefully press down into putty.

--Step 6. Secure glass to frame. Wood: Lay glaziers points against glass and carefully tap into frame. Use the flat blade of a screwdriver against the point. Tap on the screwdriver, not the glass. Use two points to a side in small panes, use one for each six inches in larger sashes. Metal: Secure glass with the old fasteners. Spring-metal clips wedge against the glass when inserted into holed in the frame. Compress plastic tension strips slightly and insert to fit under a groove in the frame and against the glass. If strips are damaged when removed, cut new ones. Except for sealing and cleaning, the job is complete when all four strips are in place.

--Step 7. Apply sealing bead of putty. Wood: Work putty or glazing compound well down into the "L" formed by glass and frame. Press firmly for a good seal. The putty should be flush with the outer edge of the molding and as high as the inner edge (inside glass). Trim excess as you work. Dry for several days. Metal: Where metal clips are used to secure glass to frame, apply putty or glazing compound as for wood frame windows.

--Step 8. Apply paint to match window unit. Wood: With trim or sash brush, paint glazing compound the same color as the windows. Paint should reach one-eighth inch up on the glass to assure weather seal.

Metal: Where putty or glazing compound is used, apply paint as for wood-sash window.

--Step 9. Clean glass in window unit.

Wood and Metal: After paint has dried thoroughly, remove paint and putty smudges with thinner. Polish glass.

Are some people really eating pet food to save on the grocery bill?

Reports of this practice continues despite all the warnings from the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service -- the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) agency responsible for federal meat and poultry inspection.

"Eating dog and cat food can be hazardous to your health," declared Dr. Hugh Irvin, southwest regional director of USDA's meat and poultry inspection.

"Pet food is processed for animals -- not for humans," he emphasized. "Just as there are many scraps of food at home that you feed to your pets but would not feed to your family, so there are many items that go into commercial dog and cat foods that are not fit for human consumption," he explained, listing as examples ground up bone and waste products not used in foods for human consumption.

The fact that some pet foods are processed under state or federal inspection and are labeled as such may lead some people to think that pet foods are safe to eat. Dr. Irvin observed, but he emphasized that sanitation standards for processing pet food are not as high as for preparing food for human use.

"Pet foods must be safe for pets, but this does not mean they are necessarily safe for humans," he declared.

A final point that Dr. Irvin made against humans eating pet food was that nutrients in pet foods are carefully balanced for pets -- not for humans.

GSPA Speaks Out Against Export Restrictions

Governmental intervention into the free market system resulted in loss of more than $430 million in the 1975 grain sorghum crop alone, according to testimony presented last week before the Senate Finance Committee.

The hearings, presided over by Finance Committee chairman Sen. Russell Long, are investigating the Soviet Trade Agreement and possible violations of the 1974 Trade Reform Act.

A.W. (Dub) Anthony, Jr. of Friona, Tex., president of the Grain Sorghum Production Association, told the committee that "government embargoes and restrictions have hurt our market prices by at least $1 cwt. or $0.56 per bushel ... this is not only a loss to our farmers but to the entire United States economy."

Anthony charged that the embargo on sales to Russia, Poland and other Eastern European countries last summer and fall "collapsed the grain markets which forced many grain farmers into bankruptcy."

"Due to government interference in the free flow of grain, the market prices have been like a roller coaster over the last three years," Anthony continued. Illustrating his point, he said that in 1973 grain sorghum prices crashed from $4.75 cwt. to $4 cwt. within four months. After two months, the prices were back to $4.75. By the following

June, prices had dropped to $3.60 cwt.

In 1974, Anthony pointed out, prices rose to $5.90, crashed to $4, then rose again to $4.75 last August at the time of the grain embargo to Russia and Eastern Europe. Since then, prices have been weak. In early February sorghum sold for $3.70 to $3.80 cwt. which was at least 50 cents below the cost of production.

"The ups and downs of the grain market are largely a result of government restriction of export sales through numerous actions which ranged from the requirement for sales approval by government to an outright embargo. No business can operate under these conditions," the GSPA official pointed out.

Anthony reminded the senators that last year the White House "assured our producers free access to export markets provided they plant fence to fence, which they did. But then the White House placed an embargo on export sales. Can farmers no longer have confidence in their government? Can we re-establish our foreign customers' confidence in our government?" he asked.

"To the overseas grain buyers, we have demanded our credibility as a constant and dependable supplier. Such abrupt actions and complete reversal of policies as we saw last year can only lead to distrust," Anthony said.

Also testifying before the Senate hearings were Don Woodward of Pendleton, Ore., president of the National Association of Wheat Growers; William M. Prichard of Louisville, Ga., vice president of the American Soybean Association; James Williams of Dayton, Tex., president of the American Rice Growers Cooperative Association and Thurman Gaskill of Corwith, Iowa, president of the Iowa Corn Growers.

The National Association of Wheat Growers is seeking a $1 million fund to mount possible court action against administration export policies. A Washington law firm, hired several weeks ago by NAWG, concluded that the President did not have constitutional authority to enter into the Russian grain agreement. The firm also concluded that the Administration's systems of export licensing is inconsistent with provisions of the Export Administration Act, and the manner in which the 1975 moratorium on sales was brought about may represent a violation of anti-trust laws.

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS.....

Based on a nationwide survey about a year ago, people across the United States look favorably on 4-H, the youth program of the Cooperative Extension Service.

The survey was conducted by the Gallup Organization to determine public awareness and attitudes toward 16 major youth organizations in the U.S. It sampled 1,582 adults at 320 different locations between Oct. 11-14, 1974. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is the present Organization of the Texas 4-H program.

The survey showed that 77 per cent of the U.S. population is aware of 4-H, while ninety-three per cent of these have favorable attitudes toward the youth organization.

Among the 16 organizations that respondents were asked about in the survey, 4-H came in fourth as far as awareness was concerned.

People who have been associated with 4-H as members, leaders of financial contributors are most likely to have favorable attitudes toward the youth organization, according to the survey.

The survey also shows that the more people know about 4-H, the better they like it. In addition to liking 4-H better, these people who know a great deal about the program have a more accurate image of what is taught in 4-H.

People who are aware of 4-H but have limited knowledge of its teachings see the main good as helping youth develop agricultural and homemaking skills. People with a great deal of knowledge about 4-H tend to view it as an organization that helps youth develop. They use terms such as "making better citizens" and "developing character" according to the survey summary.

Of those aware of 4-H, 19 per cent of the survey respondents feel its activities are essential to the welfare of American youth and an additional 58 per cent feel its activities are worthwhile.

Many people still associate 4-H only with rural agriculture. While 4-H did have a rural beginning and continues to serve rural youth, a significant part of the present - day 4-H program is for youth who reside in urban areas.

Vegetable Transplants

Are you anxious to start vegetable gardening? Instead of waiting for spring to roll around, you can begin now by growing your own transplants from seeds and then setting them in the garden after the danger of frost is past.

According to Bill Griffin, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, any vegetable can be started indoors and transplanted later.

He suggests starting vegetables in seed flats, peat pots, peat pellets, peat cubes or paper or plastic cups. Peat containers have the advantage of being decomposable and thus can be set in the soil along with the plants.

Vegetables such as watermelons, cantaloupes, squash and cucumbers should be started in peat containers with three or four seeds per pot. Tomatoes, peppers, eggplants, broccoli, cauliflower and cabbage do best when started in seed flats, say the county agent.

First line the bottom of the seed flat with newspaper, then add soil. (An artificial mix is best.) The rows should be one-eighth to one-half inch deep. Plant two to three seeds per inch of row.

Cover the seeds lightly with soil and water gently until the entire mix is moist, but don't soak the soil, cautions Griffin. Later, water only when the soil surface is dry. Put transplants in a well lighted, warm area with a temperature of 75 to 80 degrees F.

When plants get their first true leaves, they can be transplanted to pots at the same depth they were growing before. However, tomato plants should be set a little deeper. After transplanting, water plants with a fine spray.

Before setting the vegetables in your garden, says Griffin, toughen them up by watering less and exposing them to lower temperatures. Water plants just before you transplant them.

Postal Consumer Protection Week

"The week of February 23-28 has been designated by Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar as Postal Consumer Protection Week to emphasize the importance of consumer protection and inform the public of its availability to users of the mail. Postmaster Charles Townes said today.

"The Postal Service provides safeguards in the transportation of mail, against mail fraud and false representation, and provides assistance with mail-order and service problems. Our consumer protection program works through the Inspection Service, Consumer Protection program works through the Inspection Service, Consumer Protection Office of the Law Department, the Judicial Office and The Consumer Advocate."

Working together these four departments resolve complaints of alleged mail order swindles when postal customers fail to receive merchandise ordered, refunds promised or find that the service or product purchased is not as advertised.

When a complaint is made, the Postal Service decides whether to investigate for possible commercial deception or to handle it informally as in cases where poor business practices are found to be the problem. Whatever the action, the customer is notified.

In cases where it is believed that false representation by mail exists, Consumer Protection Office working with information obtained from postal inspectors initiates administrative proceedings to stop the false representation. If it is found following administrative procedure that the mails are being used to promote schemes to obtain money by misrepresentation, the Judicial Officer issues a mail-order and service problem. Our consumer protection program works through the Inspection Service, Consumer Protection Office of the Law Department, the Judicial Office and The Consumer Advocate."

Where violation of Mail Fraud Statute is indicated, postal inspectors refer the case to appropriate U.S. Attorney for consideration of criminal prosecution. The Consumer Advocate provides the consumer a strong voice in management in cases of delayed or lost mail, receipt of mail on purchases or refunds, deletion of rural routes, delivery schedules and employment.

"If you have any problem with the mails, come in talk with me or a postal inspector. We want to help," Postmaster Townes added.

TEXAS TALK

By Fred Myers

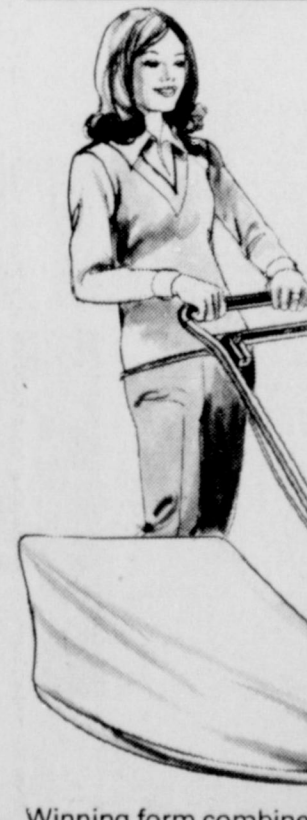

... Ever grow a gallon of gasoline? Lots of folks are taking a hard look at that very thing. Well... not gasoline... but fuels distilled from grain. Not unlike the legendary white lightning... a 200 proof product that will give nearly anything a start. There's no secret about the ability of alcohol to power combustion engines (the four cycle engine was invented for it) but the cost spread between alcohol and gasoline has made such uses obsolete for several years. Lately that spread has been noticeably thinner. Thin enough for a serious experiment with a product called gasohol carried out around Holdrege, Nebraska to get national attention. Use of gasohol (90% gasoline - 10% alcohol) in the Holdrege tests resulted in reports of 7% better mileage, better starts in cold weather, and exhaust emissions no worse than regular gasoline. Looks like the choice could come down to taking a drink or a drive.

INSUR-MATION Robert Harvick Lynn County Farm Bureau, 998-4320 Life insurance is often talked about as being an investment tool. How can life insurance be used this way? The ownership of life insurance is considered by many people to be a sign of financial responsibility, integrity and maturity. Permanent life insurance accumulates cash value ... sometimes referred to as an equity. Should you need to raise extra money and require collateral a potential lender might very well accept the cash value or paid-up value of your permanent life insurance as the collateral needed. Often, the only requirement is assignment of the policy for the term of the loan.

Only one cotton herbicide really fits the sandy soil conditions in West Texas.

Sancap® The cotton herbicide made for sand, loamy sands and sandy loams. Made for the soil conditions that make growing cotton in West Texas different from most any other place in the world.

Sancap controls your toughest weed problems. Carelessweed and Russian thistle.

And Sancap does the job without injuring your cotton. Just follow the label. There's no guess work about rates—no worry about applying too much or too little.

So build your weed control program around Sancap this year. Then watch your cotton come through clean and healthy. Because now you've got a herbicide that really fits your conditions.

Smoking Causes Lung Diseases

"Cigarette smoking is the major cause of all lung diseases," was emphasized in a talk and film presented at the Rotary Club last Thursday by Mrs. Georgia Brewer, executive director of the West Texas area of the American Lung Association, formerly the TB Association. Major diseases caused by smoking, she said, are cancer of the lungs, mouth, throat, larynx, and stomach; asthma, bronchitis, and chronic coughs. But, much of her program dealt with emphysema, an ailment which breaks down the interior of the lungs, caused almost entirely by habitual smoking. She also included pipe and cigar smoking as causes of these diseases, as well as pollution of the air and harm to other people from second-hand smoke. Clint Walker was in charge of the program, and his wife, Lottie Jo, who is a member of the Advisory Council of the South Plains area of the Lung Association.

New Home Selected In Accreditation Process

In accordance with the responsibility of the Texas Education Agency for the accreditation of schools, New Home School District has been selected as one of those to be involved in the accreditation process during the 1976-77 school year.
 This procedure consists basically of establishing district-wide goals on student development, conducting a self-study, identifying student needs, placing the needs in priority order, and making a long range plan for program improvement. Each district's accreditation status will be based on meeting accreditation standards through this method of systematic planning.
 Texas Education Agency choose thirteen school districts from the West Texas area to participate in this program. They are as follows:
 1. Floydada, 2. Lubbock, 3. Lubbock - Cooper, 4. Roosevelt, 5. New Home, 6. O'Donnell, 7. McAdoo, 8. Morton, 9. Seagraves, 10. Smyer, 11. Motley County, 12. Plains, 13. Union.
 It will be a real opportunity for the community to get involved and something that should be a real help to our community.
 Russell Howle, Superintendent and Wendell Morrow board member attended the first special meeting that explained procedures to be followed. Many hours will be spent on this project and hopefully will benefit the entire community.
 Several meetings will be planned and dates will be announced later.

Education Center Work Is Explained

The scope of services rendered by the District 17 Education Service Center at Lubbock to 65 school districts with 83,000 students in this 20-county area were recounted by Dr. O.C. Douglas, executive director, at last Thursday's Rotary meeting.
 The service was created in 1967 to equalize distribution of Federal funds so that smaller schools would get their share instead of a major portion going to the big city schools.
 Among the many services available to Tahoka and other schools of this area include audio tapes, films, bus driver training, driver education, data processing, migrant education, program planning, bilingual education, crime prevention and drug education, adult education, child abuse, dental health, and many others.

Dr. Douglas formerly was superintendent of the Brownfield schools.
 Clint Walker, a member of the Education Service Center board of directors, introduced the speaker.

Card Of Thanks

I wish to thank all my friends for the visits, gifts, flowers, and cards I received while I was in the hospital, for the food, and gifts brought to me when I came home, most of all for your prayers.

Sincerely Ruby Henry 9 - 1tp

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for all their kindness shown to us during Don's stay in the hospital. We are especially grateful for all the prayers, flowers, and cards that we received. Words can never express our thanks and gratitude for the way that everyone helped in preparing our land for planting and for keeping our children and sending them to school while we were away. May God's richest blessing be upon each of you is our prayer.

Don, Joy, Keith and Gregg Spears 9 - 1tp

I wish to take this means to express to each of you my appreciation for your prayers, cards, flowers, and many acts of kindness shown me while I was in the hospital. God Bless each of you and I Love you.

L.C. Unfred

District V (College Avenue, New Home and Wilson Cooperative Gins) is represented on the ACG Board of Directors by L.C. Unfred, a firm believer in cooperative enterprise who makes time for local, regional and national service to cotton.

In addition to serving as president of PCCA's Board, he heads the New Home Cooperative Gin Board. He is Chairman of the National Cotton Council's Public Relations and Promotion Committee, Secretary of Cotton, Inc., and on the Board of the Texas Federation of Cooperatives.

A native of Winters, he has farmed in the New Home area since 1947 where he began after serving in the European Theater during World War II.

His wife, Natalie, shares her husband's enthusiasm for furthering the cotton industry. She is active in local and regional cotton promotions and serves as Regional President of the Women's Cotton Organization.

With regard to ACG and the many hours he spends in devotion to cooperative enterprise and cotton industry affairs, Mr. Unfred states: "Farmers can do more for themselves working together, particularly in processing and marketing, than they can as individuals. In soundly managed and properly directed cooperatives, farmers can reap the benefits of enterprise that is operated on a cost - of - doing - business basis. I believe the self - help principle is agriculture's brightest hope."
