find it interesting that Bill Griffin, in his reflections and prognoses, says that when he was County Agent in this county some thirty years ago that he had no idea the farming industry would change so drastically. And he says now that although he can't conceive of still more changes, he knows they're sure to come.

Farmer is no longer just a plain farmer—he's an agri-businessman. He must be an economist, a wizard, gambler, accountant, soil analyst, lawyer, and mechanic—all wrapped into one package. He is controlled by OSHA, HEW, OPEC, EPA, and FICA.

It's no longer a simple way of life and, as our soon-to-be-retired agent says, it is bound to be a complex.

However, all the agony is worthwhile when the "lash-up" looks as bountiful as it does in the surrounding area. Today, we're on top of the situation and tomorrow, even with the tightening grip of the bureaucracy, who knows?

Land White, president of the Lynn County Farm Bureau, is on the proverbial "soap box" about what EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) is trying to do to farmers by doing away with insecticides, fertilizers, etc.

Wholeheartedly agree with Leland that we're naive to think there's any merit to being the majority or minority either, whatever the may be.

Question, of late, is when are we going to get out that the tables have turned? The majority is now the majority in terms of "taking the hand."

Understanding of fractions is that the majority was lesser in number.

Thomas Jefferson said once upon a time, "Were I directed from Washington when to sow and when to reap, we should soon want for bread."

Bragg Is 1977-78 Twirler At Tarleton State University

Miss Toi Bragg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Bragg of Tahoka, has been selected to be a twirler in the Tarleton State University Band at Stephenville for the 1977-78 school year.

Tryouts were July 5 on the TSU campus when twelve girls were vying for the four positions.

Twirling scholarships will be given July 16 at which time the feature twirler will be named.

Miss Bragg was a 1977 graduate of Tahoka High School and was a twirler in the high school band. She is a student at the Stephenville university this summer and will be classified as a sophomore in December.

Salute To Country Music Is Coming To Tahoka Thursday Night, July 21

South Plains College's salute to country music in the Lone Star State, entitled "Texas—Cradle of Giants," comes to Tahoka on Thursday night, July 21st, sponsored by the Women of the Chamber of Commerce.

Showtime will be at 8:45 p.m. at the football stadium and a minimum donation of $2.00 will cover the cost of a box supper, proceeds going to the emergency vehicle fund of the Volunteer Fire Department.

Tickets are on sale now from any member of the youth of the Chamber or from one of the women's groups.

"Cradle of Giants" tells the story of country music in Texas through song and story, from the time Alan Lomax, folklorist, first heard Git Along Little Doggies at a cattlemen's convention in Fort Worth in 1910 to the current revolution in country music being spearheaded by native Texans Willie Nelson and Waylon Jennings.

Songs will include Home On The Range, the cowboys' national anthem; The Prisoner's Song, the first heard country music recording to sell over a million copies; and California Blues by Jimmie Rodgers, known as the Blue Yodeler and father of modern country music.

Lynn County Agent Bill Griffin To Retire; To Be Succeeded By Stanley M. Young Of Lubbock

William B. (Bill) Griffin, Lynn County Extension agent for thirty years, will retire August 31, ending a 33-year career with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

BILL GRIFFIN

He will be succeeded by Stanley M. Young of Lubbock, a Swisher County native who was named assistant county Extension agent (agriculture) in Lubbock County in 1974 and who was promoted to county Extension agent there two years later.

Griffin's retirement and Young's appointment were made by County Judge V. F. Jones and Billy C. Gunter, District Extension Agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Young graduated from high school in Kress and was an active 4-H Club member from nine years of age. He received the B.S. degree from Texas Tech University in 1968 and served in the Quarter Master Corp. with one year overseas service in Korea. While in Tech, he was a member of Phi Kappa and is active in the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association.

He will conduct educational activities in commercial agriculture and give leadership to the 4-H Club program in Lynn County.

Griffin lauded by colleagues

Griffin's career in Lynn County spans an era of agricultural development on the Texas High Plains that included technological advances in farming practices, major shifts to irrigation, and changes in the character of farm homes from isolated areas with few modern conveniences to highly advanced technological centers requiring huge outlays of capital.

County Judge Jones said, "Bill has been a dedicated, hard-working individual during his entire 30 years in Lynn County. He has done an outstanding job."

Charley Beckham, past president of the Lynn County Farm Bureau, added, "I've had many opportunities to "The World War II veteran steps down from a post of leadership that has influenced agricultural development not only in Lynn County, but throughout the Texas South Plains as well," said Gunter. Rotary Club Gives $500 To Fund For Emergency Van

At the noon meeting of Tahoka Rotary Club today, the club will present a check in the amount of $500 to the Volunteer Fire Department to be used toward the purchase of their new emergency vehicle.

The vehicle has been ordered and the cost of readying it for emergency use will be more than $6,000, says Fire Chief J. T. Miller.

A fund has been established at First National Bank to which donors may contribute, or any fireman in the department will accept donations toward the cost of the vehicle.

The Chamberettes will sponsor a musical entitled "Cradle of Giants" on July 21st, presented by South Plains College, and all proceeds from the sale of a box supper will go to the firemen.

Scouts Who Worked And Played Together Have Stayed Together

September 1970. Girl Troop #396 was organized in Tahoka, with five members and leaders.

Years later, the troop is still intact, with members, eight of them charter members.

At the outset, members of the troop were active and remained so until the end, much of that being due to dynamic leaders, charter leaders Linda Owen, Jean and Wanda Stewart, current leaders, Sandra J. Jolene Tomlinson, Sheri Tomlinson, and Frances Chancy served as leaders during seven years.

Eight charter members still active, are Elena DelToro, Marcy Raindl, Sheri Tomlinson, Cathy Meeks, Amy Porterfield, Cindy Chancy, and Lani Brown.

In addition to those eight, other current members are Denise Dodson, Teresa Arellano, Suzanne Brooks, Alma Hallmark, Kim White, Sandra Womack, and Kim Paynes.

They've been "ordinary" in a few areas—the day camps, cookie sales, flag ceremonies, etc.—and they have been extraordinary in many areas.

Part of the Girl Scout Law says that "I will do my best...to help where I am needed...to protect and improve the world around me." And they did just that.

In the 1972 elections, they exercised their patriotic privileges by making posters to remind citizens to vote. That same Scout year, they made tray favors for hospital patients and had a tea party for mothers and grandmothers.

1974 found them making plate favors for a senior citizens luncheon and doing hostess duties at the Caprock Girl Scout Council Headquarters' open house in Lubbock.

Among other things in 1975, they honored Mrs. Grace Prohl as their Bicentennial Heroine, at a Mother's Day Tea.

That year they became Cadettes and presented a program on ecology to Phebe K. Warner Study Club, the program being selected by the club as the best that year. The program was then entered in a district contest by the study club and was selected Outstanding Club Program for the year.

1976 was the Bicentennial year and it was then that Girl Scouts in Tahoka were responsible for many lasting things—the beginning of the unit as individually, to earn money for a trip to Disneyland. The jobs were many, the hours were long, and the rewards were endless.

But on July 5th of 1977, eleven girls and three adults flew on a jet to California and visited many places of interest, the culmination of seven years of togetherness and hard work.

Those making the trip were Elena DelToro, Marcy Raindl, Karen Stewart, Sheri Tomlinson, Cathy Meeks, Amy Porterfield, Denise Dodson, Teresa Arellano, Suzanne Brooks, Cindy Chancy, and Lani Brown.

Adults who accompanied the girls were Janet Porterfield, Jolene Tomlinson, and Sandra Brown.

On their return, their thoughts were put on paper, for posterity. One said, "I feel that scouting has really been a challenge to all the girls in Troop #396, both mentally and physically...we have done a lot, learned a lot, and had a lot of fun." Another, "I've learned how understanding people in Tahoka can be and how they can really help others out."

Still others, "Scouting has taught me to work for what I want." And one said, "I express my gratitude to the leaders who have worked with us and kept us going." And "Thanks to our leaders and parents, we've done many things."

One Scout said, "All this work we did showed me you got to work for what you want." Another wrapped it up by saying, "Girl Scouting has meant a lot to me. I experienced everything from Day Camp to Rio Blanco to Disneyland...we hoed cotton, cleaned yards...from this working, I realize anything can be accomplished with God's help."

The leaders were the spark that ignited the flame, needless to say, and their reward was seeing girls learn to work, learn to share, and learn to enjoy life.

Pattie Jackson, junior at O'Donnell High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Jackson, is one of 180 Texas delegates attending the 1977 Future Homemakers of America National Youth Leadership Meeting this week at the Olympic Hotel and Seattle Center in Seattle, Washington.

She is presently serving as Area II FHA president as well as the president of the O'Donnell chapter. Among her many responsibilities at the national meeting will be to assist the state parliamentarian with a demonstration on leadership, serve as one

Graduate of Texas Tech... President's Citation... Griffin was born at Sylvester on April 7, 1921 and attended what was at that time Texas Tech College, graduating with a B.S. degree in Animal Husbandry in May of 1942.

During 1942-45, he served in the United States Army in the African, Italian, and European theaters of war and received a Silver Star and the President's Unit Citation for his "courage and devotion to duty." During World War II, he rose to the rank of Staff Sergeant.

Griffin joined the Texas Agricultural Extension Service June 1, 1945, as assistant county agent in Lubbock County and two years later, was named agent in Lynn County where he has served until the present time.

He married the former Eloise Nettles of Tahoka and she has been employed by Poka-Lambro Rural Telephone for 27 years.

In Retrospect
Griffin began his career by teaching people to help themselves, using Extension's proven teaching method of field demonstrations, Gunter recalled. "One of his first efforts was to show Lynn County farmers how to deal effectively with noxious weeds and Johnson grass," he said. "In other demonstrations, he helped producers learn the best methods for fertilizer use on Brownfield sand soils and promoted deep breaking to improve the soil and prevent land erosion."

As cotton farming increased in Lynn County, Griffin used cotton variety demonstrations to help farmers select top-yielding varieties. Other types of demonstrations have included nematode and disease control.

Lynn County was one of the first counties selected in Extension District 2 in 1953 for introduction of Extension's new Program Building concept. Griffin selected a nucleus of three men and three women to set up the program. The county committee, formed in 1953, set as its goals to "provide information, encourage its use, and assist farm people to stabilize and increase farm income, raise the standard of living, improve health conditions, and develop desirable cultural value and social relationships."

The committee, expanded in 1954, revised its structure along subject matter lines to deal more effectively with problems and needs facing Lynn Countians. Griffin said other changes were made about every three or four years to keep pace with swift moving agricultural and sociological developments.

"Much of the material written by those six people," Gunter said, "was used to set up the official program in Texas and is still used today, reflecting the foresight and judgment of this man. He was the first agent in Texas to publish a county demonstration handbook."

Contributions
Over his 33-year career, Griffin established a long record of civic contributions. He served for 20 years as chairman of the Lynn County Chapter of American Red Cross. He was on the Planning Committee of the Referral Community Action Program, and is a member of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club.

He was one of the organizers of the Lubbock County and Lynn County farm bureaus and helped organize the Poka-Lambro Telephone Co-op, Inc. which serves the area. He is a former member of the agriculture committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Under his leadership, Lynn County 4-Hers have won major awards including grand reserve grand champions at several livestock shows across the state, several scholarships, and numerous state honors.

His Recollections
The county agent said that even though he's been in the middle of agricultural development, he's still amazed at how far agriculture has come in the last 30 years. He vividly remembers many of the important changes.

"A big shift in agriculture was brought about by the farm programs in the 30's," he recalled, "which led to a movement from farms to cities and subsequent trend to larger farms. In 1940, only 1,471 farms were still in business, a decrease of 667 farms in 10 years. All of these were using tractors and mechanized farming."

"World War II speeded up the movement of labor from the farm into defense jobs and had its part in bringing about a complete change to mechanization," he added. "Following the war, advances in the field were very rapid and production was increased by new methods and the shift to irrigation."

Griffin recalled that from 1960 to 1970, advances in mechanization were prevalent on all farms. Farm operators became fewer, working large acreages of land. Equipment and tractors became larger with more power to cover farms with a minimum of labor.

"Soon after 1965, cotton harvesting shifted from hand harvesting to cotton strippers and brought about changes in methods and equipment. Harvest aid chemicals and chemical weed control also came into use in the county," he said.

"In 1969 the county had 803 farms operating an average 729-acre farm. Large farms operating up to 2,000 acres now are numerous in the county. "Since 1970, inflation and rising costs of all materials, coupled with shortages and the fuel crises, have placed many farmers in a break-even or losing position generally," he lamented. "However, in 1973, Lynn County was fifth in the United States in cotton production and high prices for cotton put cotton producers temporarily in good financial position. But the drought in 1974 was severe and capital to live through the year without production came out of the 1973 crop."

"The 1974 drought increased the number of irrigated wells," he said. "About 35 wells were put into service that year to take care of declining wells with an attempt to maintain irrigated acres. Total wells now have increased to 2,572, but total acres have decreased to 90,000."

"Though fluctuating crop prices and skyrocketing input costs have made farming a bigger risk than ever," he continued, "many farmers have at one time or another reaped good returns and have been able to improve their living conditions."

The retiring Extension agent expects still further major advances in farming. "I can't imagine what they'll be," he said, "but then when I became a county agent, nobody could foresee the kind of tractor power, mechanized harvesting and sophisticated equipment we have today. I have no doubt but that the man who replaces me will see equally important breakthroughs in the future."

As for the future, Griffin plans to stay in the middle of things around the county, remaining in Tahoka. "I've got some things in mind I want to do," he said. "Now I have the opportunity."

Dear Editor:

I read recently of the old settlers reunion held in your county, and wished I could have been there for my great-great uncle home-steaded land in your county in 1901. He was Irven William Meyer.

He, his wife, and three children came and filed on 160 acres of patented land and took up two sections of school land. His wife was Miss Minnie Dickson, before their marriage. Their children were Elmer, Alma, and Chester. While living there, four more children were born to them. They were Clifton, Thelma, Eugene, and Vernice.

I am enclosing a story he wrote to the Semi-Weekly Farm News Jan. 11, 1924. If anyone remembers this family, please write to me. All postage will be refunded.

Sincerely,
Kelvin Meyers, Box 861,
Ralls, Texas 79357

*The following is the story enclosed by Mr. Meyers. Semi-Weekly Farm News Jan. 11, 1924

The First Family To Settle In Lynn County

I. W. Meyer, Route 4, Yakima, Washington

I am a subscriber to the Farm News and always enjoy reading it, as Texas is my native state. I was born in Gonzales County in 1862.

There were five of us children: Christeanie Louise, Steve Darden, Fannie Jane, Irvin William (which is my name), and Fredrick Daniel Meyer. My parents, Ann Elizabeth and Fredrick Daniel Meyer, died before I was grown and the others may all be dead by now. I have rambled about so much I have lost their whereabouts.

My father was German; he came to America in 1845, I think. He was a carpenter and cabinetmaker. He worked four years for the government during the Civil War in a government wagon shop on Gonzales. He also built many of the first homes in that town. My mother was English and raised in Texas. She was a Stevens and I have a great many relatives on her side, some as follows: Healy, Wallace, Iver, and Lewis, being some of them. I think they are all in the eastern part of Texas. Some, I think, are in the city of Galveston.

After marrying Miss Minnie Dickson of San Saba, Texas, I went west in a covered wagon, taking with me all my worldly possessions. I had always had dreams of going west and now they were being fulfilled. We arrived at Lynn County, Texas in 1901. There we settled in C. C. Slaughter's pasture, halfway between Big Spring and Plainview, Texas.

At this time I bought 160 acres of patented land and took up two sections of school land. Later I bought 240 acres more. We were the fifth family in Lynn County, and the first to plant cotton on the plains. I planted three acres for a test patch, from which I gathered one and a half bales. This I hauled to Snyder, Texas, seventy miles away, to be ginned.

After living on the plains for seventeen years, we moved to Buhl, Idaho, this time by automobile. Having lived in Buhl five years, we decided to move to Yakima, Washington, where we are now located. Although this is almost entirely a fruit country, I believe we like it best of all.

After reading in the Farm News of recent date about growing cotton on the plains, it reminded me of our pioneers like there. Best wishes and a happy new year.

7/3/77
To the Editor of Tahoka News:

We want to thank each and everyone of the nice folks of Tahoka for such a wonderful filled Saturday afternoon and dance celebration June 25 as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robbie Roberson. The crops, people, firemen, and police force outdid themselves to show everybody a good time we'll always remember. Thank you.

Bill Morris & Jerry Webb Family

Dear Editor:

Are you one of the silent majority? If you are, it is time we stopped being silent.

Nearly every day we see some minority group protesting in some form or another about something. Most of us think it is ridiculous, but at the same time look how many times these groups get something done in their favor.

Just a few weeks ago, the Texas Highway Department issued a statement that they were fixing to change all the highway signs to kilometers, but they got so many letters of protest they changed their directive.

If EPA and OSHA continue with their impractical, foolish, and ridiculous rules and regulations which were invented by impractical government personnel, we in agriculture will soon be out of business.

Now EPA is taking toxaphene off the market and they are looking at treflan next. Sure, we can get by without these, but they continue a little at a time.

OSHA has several ridiculous rules and regulations for gins and other segments of cotton industry.

Mr. Carrol Chaloupka, President of Texas Farm Bureau, is urging a letter writing campaign to your Congressman, Senator, and President Carter, stating your feelings opposing some of the regulations in these agencies. It is now time for the quiet majority to speak up.

The following addresses should be used:
President Jimmy Carter, National Capitol, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen, United States Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Senator John Tower, United States Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Summer... a time of outdoor fun, also a time for cuts and scrapes with first aid procedure generally being a cleansing of the wound and application of first aid ointment containing an antibiotic. Research studies have been completed to determine safety and effectiveness of these nonprescription, over-the-counter preparations. Good ointments do protect against potentially harmful bacteria. However, to avoid possible misuse in the treatment of more serious wounds, the FDA recommended products effective only on wound protectants be labeled as "first aid products" or "protectant" for cuts, abrasions and burns. Labeling should recommend gentle washing of skin wounds before application and warnings should be used longer than a week near the eyes or on long-lasting skin conditions. Label should also advise a physician be consulted in cases of deep puncture wounds or if complications arise.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight organza in an A-line silhouette with empire bodice and scooped neckline. An organza ruffle, edged in matching Belgian lace trim, accented the skirt and hat. Her bouquet was a cascade of white rosebuds and blue baby's breath, with blue and white streamers.

Control Pseudorabies In Swine

Pseudorabies, a disease running rampant in the nation's swine herd, can be brought under control if certain measures are taken by livestock producers.

More than 700 cases of pseudorabies, or "mad itch," were reported last year compared to 125 cases in 1974. The disease is caused by a herpes virus and can wipe out a whole herd of young swine under two weeks old.

Older hogs may suffer slightly from the disease, but are basically immune after they reach three weeks of age due to a developed natural resistance. But an animal may still be a carrier.

Since complete eradication is too expensive at the present time, protective action should be taken to prevent pseudorabies. The disease can also infect cattle, sheep, wildlife, dogs and cats, but is not known to affect humans.

The following recommended actions can be taken to combat pseudorabies:

- *Determine the extent and location of infection nationwide. This could include a pilot program for testing boards for the disease, with follow-up investigations of reactor animals, along with establishment of systems within each state for reporting the disease and quarantining infected herds.
- *Vaccinate infected herds when USDA-licensed pseudorabies vaccines are available. Vaccination of exposed or surrounding herds would be carried out under guidelines set up by state animal health officials.

- *Establish procedures for cleaning up infected herds. This could be done through testing and isolation of negative animals, with retests of the isolated herd before animals could be shipped.

- *Establish uniform methods and rules for herds to be officially recognized as pseudorabies negative. A herd would qualify for this status after all animals over six months old were tested and found negative. To maintain status, 25 per cent segments of the herd would have to be retested and found negative at three-month intervals.

- *Carry out epidemiology in states with infection to learn more about the disease and how it spreads.

- *Adopt state and federal shipping rules for all classes of swine.

- *Conduct an information program about the disease and what producers can do to protect themselves.

- *Carry out additional research to develop a quicker and more economical test for pseudorabies, to develop vaccines, to study the disease in wildlife, and to develop chemical treatment for pseudorabies.

Pesticide Users To Be Certified

A meeting to certify private applicators for application of pesticides will be held in the Lyntegar Meeting Room in Tahoka today (Thursday), July 14, at 1:30 p.m.

All interested people are invited to attend the training meeting, says Bill Griffin, County Extension Agent.

Double-Ring Ceremony Unites
Miss McNabb And Mr. Watts

A double-ring wedding ceremony was read for Miss Keren Lee McNabb and Stanley Michael Watts of Conway, Arkansas at 2 p.m. Saturday, July 9, in the First Baptist Church at Wolfthorpe.

Officiating was the Reverend Edward Scarbrough, pastor of the church.

The bride's parents are

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McNabb. Watts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Watts, Sr. of West.

The father of the bride gave her in marriage and she wore a gown of candlelight pure silk alpaca featuring the high-rise waistline, accented by a panel of ivory re-embroidered lace and a scoop neckline. Lace also trimmed the cuffs of the sleeves and chapel train. From a lace-seeded pearl headband flowed a three-tiered veil of silk illusion. She carried a carnation bouquet.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Jimmie Norris of Fort Worth, sister of the bride. She wore a floor-length blue dress and carried a long-stemmed carnation.

Donald Watts, Jr. of Duncanville, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

W. L. Griffen, uncle of the groom, and James Kirksey, both of Lubbock, were ushers.

Joyce Vines was organist and played Whither Thou Goest and The Lord's Prayer. She was attired in a floor-length blue dress.

Mmes. Don Moore of Artesia, New Mexico, Norman Stamps, and Dick Capps of Lubbock served at the bride's table at the reception following the ceremony.

Mrs. Ed Scarbrough presided at the register table.

Mmes. Milford Jobe, Harry Taylor, and Edna Jennings were hostesses at the reception.

The bride chose a red knit three-piece pantsuit with white turtleneck shell for a wedding trip.

The bride lived in Lynn County, near Lakeview, most of her life. She is a niece of Mrs. J. T. Swinson of New Home and graduated from Christ the King High School in Lubbock. She attended Texas State Technical Institute in Amarillo. Watts graduated from San Antonio College and is now employed by Baldwin Manufacturing Company in Conway, where the couple will reside after their honeymoon.

Points On Freezing Fruits

Most fruits can be frozen satisfactorily, but the quality of the frozen product will vary with the kind of fruit, stage of maturity, and type of pack.

Some fruits require special treatment when packed to make them more pleasing in color, texture, or flavor after thawing. Most fruits are best frozen soon after harvesting. Some, such as peaches and pears, may need to be held a short time to ripen.

Before Packing: All fruits need to be washed in cold water. Wash a small quantity at a time to save undue handling, which may bruise delicate fruits. Don't let the fruit stand in the water--some lose food value and flavor that way and some get water-soaked.

It is best to prepare enough fruit for only a few containers at one time, especially those fruits that darken rapidly. Two or three quarts is a good quantity to work with.

Use equipment of aluminum, earthenware, enameled ware, glass, nickel, stainless steel, or good-quality tinware. Do not use galvanized ware in direct contact with fruit or fruit juices because the acid in fruit dissolves zinc, which is poisonous.

Ways To Pack: Most fruits have better texture and flavor if packed in sugar or sirup. Some may be packed without sweetening.

In the directions for freezing, three ways of packing are given for fruits whole or in pieces--sirup pack, sugar pack, and unsweetened pack. Your selection of the way to pack the fruit will depend on the intended use. Fruits packed in a sirup are generally best for dessert use; those packed in dry sugar or unsweetened are best for most cooking purposes because there is less liquid in the product.

To keep fruit from darkening, they need to be treated. Directions for such fruits list anti-darkening treatment as part of the freezing preparation. Several types of anti-darkening treatments are used because all fruits are not protected equally well by all treatments.

Additional information regarding freezing of fruits may be had by contacting the county Extension office at 998-4650.

TAKE GOOD CARE OF YOUR PRECIOUS EYES

Nature has done everything possible to protect them, but sometimes they need help. If you are subject to re-occurring headaches, or your arms are too short to hold what you are reading, have your eyes examined.

Prescriptions for eye medicines require expert compounding. Solutions or eye drops must be free from foreign particles, no matter how small. Some must be sterile. We welcome the opportunity to use our compounding skill should you need any eye medication.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?

Rainbow Girls Collect Items For Clinic

Tahoka Rainbow Assembly is collecting items for the Well-Baby Clinic in Lubbock and persons having such items are asked to call D'Ann Phillips at 327-5645.

Items needed are new and used infants' clothing, clothing up to size 6x, paper sacks, plastic pill bottles, and strained baby foods.

Heavy equipment moved onto the lot on Friday to do the paving at the new carwash being built by C. W. Roberts and located on Seventh Street, near the Dairy Queen.

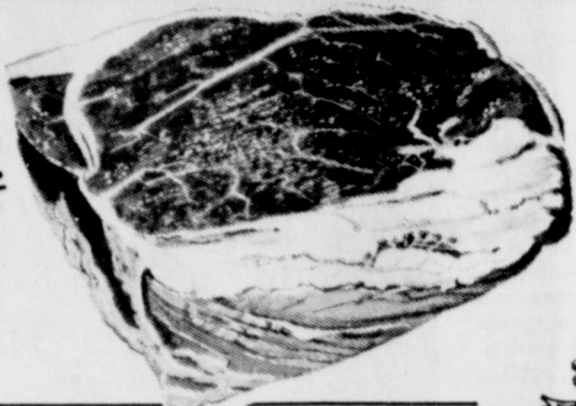

There is every indication the new business will be open soon.
