The Spectator...

By Mary Brecheen

Prior to this week, I've had some difficulty typing two key figures' names straight--Cyrus and Bert Lance. Now, all I have to do is "lynch" for Lance.

Memory crutches are handy at times. The following came from The Dallas Times Herald and if it doesn't get my point across, I'll add further.

A columnist, Dick Hitt, tells of a weekend trip to the flora of East Texas and he discovered that shopping in the small town is different from that in city. Seems he decided to buy his son a pair of shoes while in Athens and made a series of queries about the "eccentric way people shop there."

They do it completely different from many of the bustling Metroplex. First, you pick out store you want, and you do a thing called Park in Front of The Store. Then you walk right into the store and something happens to you that is called Being Waited On.

Things got really eerie when the clerk accepted a credit card without calling the home office, looking through a volume of stolen numbers even asking for a driver's license or birth certificate. We didn't wait 30 minutes for the sales clerk to be made and for the shoes to be put into a bag.

I found this primitive system so fascinating I wondered if I didn't go back to town later and buy myself a shirt at a men's store. Parked in front of the store, I walked in, got waited on, and was allowed to pick out a shirt without being offered a vest, tie, pants and tie to go with it. The owner asked me for coming in and handed back the credit card without fingerprinting me.

Back in Dallas, I bought a throwaway fine-tipping pen. The clerk said, "That will be, uh..." he pushed nine buttons of an electronic console cash register, which went Kerricckk, nucllop, rrrreep, beep, poong, poong ticka hrsh chronk... two cents," he said.

"Machines make all that noise for sixty-two cents?" I asked him. "Yeah, but there's a lot of information nas to go along with it," he said. "It's for our records, y'know." There is no substitute for shopping at home.

Local businesses have been visited lately by representatives from the four schools in the county, and other organizations, asking for money, donations, etc. Not any of the requests are out of line, assuming they are done in a polite manner, all necessary information is provided.

However, those asking for favors from businesses should certainly not forget--when they are shopping. It may be a matter of educating ourselves about shopping at home, whatever it is of utmost importance.

Tahoka merchants pay taxes, donate to worthy causes of every organization, and have overhead expenses. They deserve and need the shopper's patronage just as certainly as the organization needs the merchant's support.

Leopards Lose Heartbreaker To Meadow

The New Home Leopards were able to contain the Meadow Broncos until the fourth quarter last Friday night when the Broncos came through to win the game 24-14.

The first quarter was scoreless, but in the second, Meadow's Martin Blair ran 24 yards for a TD and New Home defensive end Jay Ussery tied the score at 7-7.

Meadow then made a safety, leaving the score 9-7 with 1:33 left in the half.

Marty McClintock pitched a 23-yarder to Tracy Smith, with 33 seconds left. Tony Rodriguez's second PAT put the Leopards ahead 14-9.

The third quarter was scoreless, but late in the fourth, Meadow's Blair ran 2 yards and the 2-point conversion by Rudy Perez gave Meadow a 17-14 lead. With only 23 seconds left, Marcus Cruz made a TD for the Broncos.

Meadow had 235 yards rushing, New Home 75. The Leopards outpassed Meadow by 98 yards.

Wilson Loses To Eagles In Game At O'Donnell Stadium

After the stadium lights came on (a power failure had sent the stadium into darkness with 6:40 in the first half), the O'Donnell Eagles pushed across one touchdown and added two more in the next half to control an intra-county rivalry with Wilson.

The Wilson team, using mostly juniors and sophomores in their season opener week before last, was faced with injuries to several key players and couldn't keep their offense going.

Athletic Program Is Rotary Subject

Education of students comes first and the program of physical education in the Tahoka schools is secondary. Head Coach and Athletic Director A. D. Shaver emphasized in a talk at the Rotary Club last Thursday.

He and two of his assistants outlined the program of athletics during the program. Shaver more specifically told of the football program and prospects for the year.

Shaver pointed out that members of the coaching staff, in addition to work with athletics, each teach three or four classes in the school.

Also speaking briefly were Assistant Coach C. D. Bradshaw, a graduate of Oklahoma City University, and Clayton McKinnon, an Angelo State University graduate.

Dwain Lusk arranged the program. President Horace Rogers announced that the annual Rotary-Teachers Banquet is scheduled for Thursday night, October 13.

Sherry Etheredge Says

Styles are soft blouses, dirndl skirts, ruffled trims or dresses that hang gently from the shoulder. Fabrics are featherweight knits, challis, crepe de chine or flannel.

But gathers are the major structural detail. These tips will help make gathering easier and attractive:

--For even and small folds, use a stitch that is only as long as necessary. Woven or knitted fabrics that are thick and closely constructed usually need longer stitches than do woven or knitted fabrics that are lightweight and loosely constructed.

--When gathering heavy or bulky fabrics, stitch to each seamline, stop and start again on the other side of the seam. Push seam allowances to the opposite side so that the gathering stitches can go all the way to the seamline.

--To gather a long area, divide into several sections that can be drawn separately.

--Before drawing up the gathers, pin the matching notches or seamlines together. Draw the gathering threads to fit the area. Distribute the fullness evenly.

To gather with a straight stitch, first slightly loosen the upper tension so bobbin thread will draw easier. Use heavy-duty bobbin thread such as silk or nylon to minimize breakage.

Run two rows of stitching for better control and evenness. Stitch from the right side.

If ripped stitches leave their marks in the fabric, stitch along the seamline and again 1/4" within the seam allowance. If ripped stitches don't show, consider making each row of stitches 1/8" on each side of the seamline.

To gather with a zigzag, adjust the machine for medium to wide stitch width. Place fabric under pressure foot wrong side up. Take one stitch through the fabric so that all zigzagging will be within the seam allowance but next to the seamline.

Pull the bobbin thread up through the fabric. Pull both the bobbin and top threads together to be the length of the area to be gathered. Zigzag over these threads without catching them in the stitches.

Gather by pulling the encased threads.

Our History

Everybody recognizes him—but practically nobody knows much about him. He's Uncle Sam, and it took a long time for the top-hatted figure to win his present honored status.

UNCLE SAM wants you to know more about him.

The term "Uncle Sam" was born during the War of 1812 as an unfriendly nickname given to the government by New Englanders who opposed America's declaration of war against the British, says The World Book Encyclopedia.

The name is believed to derive from the initials "U.S." which were stamped on barrels of salted beef by Samuel Wilson, an Army meat inspector and provisioner of the time.

Uncle Sam's stars-and-stripes costume made its first appearance in the political cartoons of the 1830s, but then he was young, dark-haired and beardless.

He won lasting popularity in two World Wars when his features were used widely in military recruitment posters and in war bond campaigns.

"Pretty" plants in the house, garden or wilds could kill. Prompted by the back-to-nature movement, individuals have dosed themselves with poison hemlock, thought to be wild carrot. A youngster, seeing dandelion greens prepared for a tasty salad, may nibble similar-looking lily-of-the-valley with possibly fatal results. "Pretty" poisons in the garden include: wisteria, larkspur and morning glory, along with the bulbs of iris, daffodil, narcissus and hyacinth. Non-experts should: "Look but don't lick, admire but don't taste". If plant poisoning is suspected, contact your doctor or go to the nearest hospital immediately. One of the 450 Regional Poison Centers may also be contacted for information.

Tahoka High Juniors/Seniors Given Times For ACT Tests

Juniors and seniors at Tahoka High School who are considering attending college after graduation will have five opportunities during the 1977-78 school year to use the ACT Assessment Program, a guidance-oriented service that is used each year by students throughout the nation as part of their college and career planning.

The first of five national test dates on which the ACT will be offered is Saturday morning, October 8, at Texas Tech University, Lubbock Christian College, or the high schools in Lubbock. Those planning to take the exam on that date must have registered by September 12, said Mrs. Jane Roberson, counselor at Tahoka High.

The full 1977-78 schedule of national test dates (with registration periods in parentheses) is: October 8 (August 8-September 12); November 19 (September 26-October 21); February 11, 1978 (November 14-January 13); April 1, 1978 (February 6-March 3); and June 17, 1978 (March 27-May 19).

At the test centers on those dates, it takes students about three hours to complete four standardized exams (covering subject areas of English, math, social studies, and natural sciences) that make up the Test Section. The ACT Assessment's other important section is a two-part questionnaire that is completed by students at home as part of the registration process.

The basic student fee is $7.50 for the ACT Assessment Program, which is recommended or required for use by student applicants at more than 2,600 colleges and scholarship agencies.

"THE ELECTRIC SAVINGS MACHINE"

Here's how heat pump pumps

Think of it as a two-way electrical wonder: an amazing machine that cools your home or office in summer — then automatically reverses itself to heat in winter.

Think of it as a savings machine that costs less to operate than other electric heating/cooling systems now on the market. You know that all air — even frigid arctic air — contains heat. The heat pump just puts this simple principle to work. In winter, it squeezes heat from outside air and pumps it inside. In summer, it extracts unwanted heat from the inside air and pumps it outdoors.

Or consider something already in your home that accomplishes the same thing as a heat pump — your refrigerator. It removes heat from the interior of the box and expels it. Like a refrigerator, the heat pump's basic components are simple — electric motor, compressor, condenser, evaporator, and blower system. Unlike a refrigerator, the heat pump has a reversing valve that lets it change the direction warm air is pumped — inside in winter, outside in summer.

Stanley Young Says...

Without a soil test, it is difficult to determine how profitable fertilization is. That's why soil samples should be collected now and tested so that a fertilization program can be planned for fall crops.

A profitable return from fertilization depends on the level of available nutrients in the soil before fertilization. Nutrients in the fertilizer must supplement those in the soil to insure an adequate supply of those nutrients needed. Since soils vary in nutrient levels, this means that each soil and each nutrient must be considered and fertilizer applied that contains those nutrients whose available soil level is below that required by the crop.

Soil tests are used to determine which nutrients are deficient in the soil and needed in the fertilizer. No profit can be expected from a nutrient applied to a soil that contains a high enough level to support yields above that possible by the most limiting production factor.

Now is the time to collect soil samples for fall planted crops such as small grains and winter forages. Early sampling will insure time to obtain the fertilizer needed as well as to prepare to utilize the best application methods.

Soil sampling is really the key to a profitable fertilization program.

Commercial-Non-Commercial Pesticide Applicator Certification Workshop

A commercial/non-commercial pesticide applicator certification workshop is scheduled for September 26-30 at the Plains Co-op Oil Mill, 2901 Avenue A, Lubbock. Training will be presented from the 26th until noon of the 29th in the following categories:

Agricultural Pest Control (field crop pest control, fruit and vegetable pest control, weed and brush control, predatory animal control, farm storage pest control, and fumigation); Ornamental and Turf Pest Control (plant pest control, greenhouse pest control, and weed control); Seed Treatment; Right-of-Way Pest Control; Animal Pest Control (tick, louse, and mite control, and fly control); Aquatic Pest Control (aquatic plant control and aquatic animal control); Health Related Pest Control (vector control and rodent control); Regulatory Pest Control; Demonstration and Research Pest Control.

Examinations will be administered by the Texas Department of Agriculture, Texas Animal Health Commission and the Texas Department of Health Resources from noon on the 29th through the 30th at the same location.

Persons planning to attend must pre-register by contacting Dr. W. P. Morrison, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Route 3, Box 213AA, Lubbock, 79401 (806/746-6101).

Persons pre-registering will receive appropriate category study manuals and a program schedule.

The challenges which 4-H youngsters face give them a chance to place new ideas into the lives of their families and communities. 4-H'ers also learn through their experiences and gain wisdom that will benefit them in later years.

Whether 4-H members are competing in food or livestock shows, method demonstrations, or county fairs, they are working toward a more mature self.

To start the journey that can lead to fun-filled as well as rewarding experiences, contact the county Extension office at 998-4650 to learn all about the 4-H program.

County Leads In Sunflower Production

Lynn County was among the largest producers of sunflower seeds in Texas last year, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

Lynn County farmers harvested some 2,749,600 pounds of sunflower seeds, which accounted for 3.8 percent of the state's total production of 71,875,000 pounds, Brown noted.

"Yields last year were disappointingly low," Brown stated, "primarily because many of the High Plains crops, which were planted late, were hit by early frosts before reaching maturity."

Nursing Home News

Family Night at the nursing home will be Thursday, September 15, at 7:30, in the dining room. Everyone is invited.

Birthdays for this month are Lallie Black and V. W. Maniord.

Mrs. Carrie Harvick received a special letter this week from Congressman Omar Burleson, Washington, D.C., congratulating her on her recent birthday.

The home needs volunteers.

Field Storage Topics To Be Discussed

Field storage of cotton will be the featured topic of a public meeting to be held at 1 p.m. on September 19 at Brownfield School Board Room, 601 East Tahoka Road, in Brownfield.

The large cotton crop in this area will prolong the ginning season causing increased exposure of cotton to weathering losses unless field storage is used.

According to County Extension Agent Stanley Young, field storage has been used on the South Plains during the past four harvests, but the benefits may be more widely realized in 1977 than any previous year. Because the aggregate production of this area will vastly exceed recent norms and with several hundred module builders and rickers available, more cotton will be stored in the field by more producers than ever before.

These facts, along with the shift to moduling on the ground, make it imperative for those less experienced in these techniques to learn about them before harvest begins. The field storage that has occurred in the last two years has not been plagued with adverse weather, but we cannot depend on this fall being equally kind. Steps to protect the lint and seed that is stored in the field are inexpensive insurance policies.

The educational program will feature discussions on techniques of moduling and ricking cotton, economics of field storage, and preservation of quality in stored cotton by specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This program is one of a series across the South Plains area in support of the SPD Cotton Profit program.

The Cotton Profit program is a producer-sponsored effort in conjunction with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to help all area producers achieve higher profits from cotton production. All cotton producers and interested persons are encouraged to attend and learn more about the advantages and pitfalls in field storage of cotton.

Mrs. Dulin Attends HM Training Meet

Mrs. Leo Dulin of Tahoka attended training in Lubbock on Friday, September 9, for Homemakers employed by the South Plains Homemaker Service.

Training involves 60 hours of training sessions covering a variety of aspects about aging, including physiology and psychology of aging, personal care, first aid, nutrition related to elderly needs, consumer education and home management skills, sources of assistance for the older American, care of the terminally ill, and safety in the home.

By utilizing this para-professional training, homemakers are able to provide competent, supervised assistance of home care service to the elderly in their communities. The homemaker services, provided at a nominal fee according to client income, include menu planning and meal preparation, escort to the doctor or beauty shop, personal grooming and care, visitation and companionship, and help with laundry and light housekeeping needs.

In short, the South Plains Homemaker Service provides training and employment for dependable mature homemakers and offers an alternative to nursing homes or institutional care for elderly who desire to remain in their own homes for as long as they possibly can with limited in-home care.

Anyone interested in receiving a homemaker service aide or desiring information about employment in the community may contact Mrs. Dulin at 998-4369.

Notice

*The following letter was received by members of Lynn Co. Club and is of interest to the citizens in general.

Dear Club Members:

...I was distressed to learn of the difficulties you, the Lynn County CB Club, and the people of Tahoka have suffered.

The Jerry Lewis Telethon is a "happening" and an experience filled with love that should make everyone connected with it feel proud and happy. It is unfortunate that at times a series of accidental events will occur that will preclude this feeling.

All of us connected with the telethon and with MDA are thrilled and thankful for your organization and other organizations that are made up of people who want to help other people and volunteer to help MDA and its patients when we need it the most. My sincerest and most grateful thank you to all of you for a job well done. I hope all of you will be back to help again next year. We need you.

A little explanation concerning the problem with the pledge envelopes. Our normal system is for the pledge to be taken over the phone and written on a pledge envelope. That envelope is then mailed to the pledger who then places his check in it and mails it to New York. Our district director in Lubbock, Marci Myers, is a recent addition to our staff and understands that this is the system. What she did not realize was that in some areas, such as yours, CB clubs or other types of mobile organizations, will go out and pick up the pledges as your group did.

The system dictates to her that pledge envelopes are to be mailed, which she did, not knowing they had money in them. This created a very unfortunate situation in your town when your townspeople began receiving their own money back. I apologize for this. I have the responsibility of training our people and I failed to cover this eventuality with Marci.

I know that you and your club members did an excellent job with the materials and information that you had, and I feel that Marci also did the best job she could with the information she had.

I hope we can find a way to erase the bad feelings in the town, and I hope all of you know how much Jerry, Marci, myself, and all the rest of our patients and friends appreciate your efforts and need your help in the future.

Good luck to you and the Lynn County CB Club. I hope you understand and will be standing tall in our corner come next Labor Day.

Sincerely,
John W. Davies

TDA Milk Tank Inspectors: Keeping Things on the Level

CONCENTRATION—It takes concentration and skill to obtain an accurate reading when measuring the volume of a milk holding tank. Above, TDA milk tank inspectors Don Ross, left, and Roy Hegefled, take a reading from a water-filled tank. By waiting until the water level is perfectly still, a true measurement can be taken.

COLLEGE STATION—No one will argue that the job of a Texas Department of Agriculture milk tank inspector is overly glamorous. He must drive an average of 30,000 miles a year and work in dairy barns that are usually steamy in the summer and frigid in the winter.

But there is no question that the service performed by the TDA's 10 inspectors is vitally important to dairy farmer and consumer alike.

Inspector Roy Hegefled and inspector trainee Don Ross were at the Texas A&M Dairy Barns recently checking to see if the 1,200-gallon milk storage tank there was correctly calibrated.

The tank's measuring rod is marked off in inches and thirty-seconds of an inch. While it doesn't sound like much if the measurement were off by one thirty-second of an inch, Hegefled stated, "if it's off just a little, it can make a lot of difference."

He explained that with a tank the size of A&M's, the small increment equals about seven pounds of milk. Of course, the larger the tank, the larger the potential error. The same increment in a 5,000-gallon tank equals around 30 pounds of milk, he said.

Hegefled said testing the tanks to ensure the measuring rod correctly reflects the true volume benefits both parties involved in the production. "If the tank is unlevel and the rod is measuring less than the actual amount, the farmer is losing," Hegefled stated. "And if it's measuring over, the buyer is hurt."

A chart is kept by the farmer which shows how many gallons correspond to the measurements on the rod. If this chart checks out and is proven correct, within state tolerances, the TDA seal of approval is attached to the tank. If it doesn't check out, a new calibration chart will have to be prepared.

Why is it necessary for the state's approximately 4,000 milk storage tanks to be rechecked periodically?

Hegefled says that several things can contribute to a tank becoming unlevel. Among them are shifting building foundations and unstable supporting legs on the tanks themselves. In addition, it is required that all new milk tanks be inspected as soon as possible after installation, and anytime they are moved.

Hegefled estimates that approximately 60 per cent of the new tanks that the TDA inspects require recalibration. When considering the volume of milk that flows through these tanks every day statewide, the importance of their being accurate becomes clear.

In hopes of speeding up the checking process, which is always arranged around the dairy farmer's milking schedule, the TDA is planning to put an automatic metering truck into use in early 1978. If the truck proves to be faster and more economical, more could be on the way.

Female Impersonator

You might not think it of the manly Scots but one of Scotland's most famous princes was a female impersonator—at least long enough to save his skin. He was Bonnie Prince Charlie, otherwise Prince Charles Edward Stuart, also known to history as the Young Pretender.

After the defeat of the Highland Army in 1746, Prince Charlie took refuge in the Highlands of Scotland.

When news finally came that a French ship was off the Isle of Skye, ready to rescue him, the Prince was separated from the island by strong English lines. But a resourceful woman named Flora Macdonald dressed him in the clothes of her Irish servant.

Teacher's Scotch Information Centre is happy to relate that the Prince passed successfully through the government forces and sailed for France.

Rural Areas Are Hardest Hit By Lightning, Brown Warns

AUSTIN—Four out of five human deaths or injuries from lightning take place in rural areas, Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown warns farmers.

This is because isolated rural buildings and equipment are often interconnected by a network of water pipes, electric wires and metal fencing which are excellent grounding agents and attract lightning, says Brown. Also, he states, a farmer perched high in the cab of a tractor or rancher straddling a metal fence make ideal targets for lightning bolts.

Brown notes that animals are also frequently victims of this awesome electrical force, and over 80 per cent of accidental livestock losses are a result of lightning.

Like humans, animals are not nearly as often hit directly by lightning as they are electrocuted by ground currents radiating from a tree or other object, Brown notes. And since animals tend to drift under trees or against fences to seek shelter from storms, their instinctive behavior easily makes them an even greater risk, he says.

Some good can be attributed to lightning, however. It is responsible for forming nitric-oxide gas, which is returned to the soil as an enriching nitrate through precipitation.

"While lightning presents an obvious danger, both in rural and urban environments, the wise person can protect himself and his belongings," Brown states. "Lightning rods are the best preventive measure, but once lightning has struck, check for fire damage immediately."

In case of a storm, get inside, stay low and stay away from metal objects, water, electrical equipment and telephones.

Notice

Dear Parents,

We are concerned that the skin infection of scabies might well become prevalent among our students this year.

Last year, a severe epidemic was successfully treated by the school nurse, Mrs. Harvick, who examined all students and applied the anti-scabies salve, Kwell, to those infected.

This year, to prevent such widespread infection, the school nurse will examine all students who complain of an itchy skin rash. Again, if the scabies is present, free treatment with Kwell will be given at school.

The parent of a treated child will be informed. In line with the school program, Kwell will also be available free to adults and younger children with scabies, at the Community Action Clinic, Old Prohl Hospital, Tahoka.

It is stressed that timely treatment of the individual scabies case now might prevent the widespread epidemic experienced last year.

Any parent not wishing his child to be treated at school should call Mrs. Harvick, 998-4233, as soon as possible.

Sincerely,
Jim Coulston, School Superintendent
Kenneth Chamblor, M.D., Lynn County Health Officer

AROUND TOWN

By Leona Waldrip 998-4496

Leaving here on Friday afternoon, September 2, I went to Roff, Oklahoma to visit my aunt, Ruth Koch, for the Labor Day weekend.

Mrs. Myrtle Lovelady went with me, as far as Davidson, Oklahoma and stopped off to visit her brother and several nieces and nephews.

We returned on Tuesday, which accounts for the column not appearing last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Henry of Tulsa, Oklahoma visited me later that same Tuesday, having been on a vacation trip to Ruidoso, New Mexico. They are cousins of mine.

Mrs. W. J. Jordan who has been in Lynn County Hospital for about three weeks was able to go home on Friday.

Mrs. Edna Brasher is visiting relatives in Longview.

Wilson Sewing Club met with Mrs. Elmer Rice on Monday, with nine members present.

T-Bar Hobby Club met on Thursday, with Mrs. Ruth Reece as hostess.

Eight members were present and the time was spent working on yarn poodles.

The hostess served angel-food cake and ice cream.

After services were conducted at the local nursing home on Sunday afternoon by a group from O'Donnell Baptist Church, several of the ladies visited with Mrs. Faye Thayer at Golden Manor Apartments.

Included in the group were Mrs. Kenneth Pearson, Maggie Spears, and Mrs. Harris.

Mrs. Thayer's daughter, Betty Williams, of Lubbock also visited the same afternoon.

Mrs. Ben Hur Lawson of Los Angeles, California has been in this vicinity since July when the Lawson reunion was held and she has just completed a month's stay with her brother in Levelland.

She will be remembered here as a Massengale girl who lived in the Grassland community.

She is spending time now with Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lawson, and her husband's sister, Mrs. Rosebud Watson.

Her husband will fly here this week and they will drive back to Los Angeles in a few days.

A large crowd was on hand at the last noon luncheon of Lynn County Pioneer Club, including two visitors from Brownfield and Clara Harper of Earth who formerly lived in Tahoka.

Carrie Colwell won the lucky member gift.

The club voted to have a "country store" booth at the upcoming Fall Festival and also to buy a TV for the center, with the Robert Abbe Memorial money.

Members are meeting for an arts and crafts session each Tuesday afternoon and physical fitness classes meet Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings at 9 a.m.

Persons who have such are encouraged to donate cotton, silk, velvet, or double-knit quilt scraps to the center.

The next regular luncheon meeting will be this Friday, with Teddie Kelley and Zella Taylor as hostesses.

Tim Walker To Marry Miss Hinshaw

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hinshaw of Wichita, Kansas announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dianne, to Tim Walker, son of Mrs. Ruth Walker of Lubbock.

The couple will be married October 8 at 3 p.m. at the Villa Inn in Lubbock.

PSAT/NMSQT Exam Set For October 18th At Tahoka High

Mrs. Jane Roberson, guidance director at Tahoka High School, has announced that sophomores, juniors, and some seniors will be able to join over one million other students around the world in taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) this fall. The test, co-sponsored by the College Board and National Merit Scholarship Corporation, is an important step in making college plans.

Scheduled for October 18 at Tahoka High, the test measures verbal and mathematical aptitude and can also lead to other opportunities for high school students.

By taking the test, students can enter the competition for scholarships administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and can get a good idea of what the Scholastic Aptitude Test is like.

Aleta Frazier, Mark Porter Are Married

Mrs. Aleta Powers Frazier and Mark Porter were married in a simple double-ring ceremony at 2 p.m. on Friday, September 9, in Tahoka.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Powers of Tahoka, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Porter of Stanton.

Zenda Lewis, Mr. Hodge Are Married

Zenda Kay Lewis and Larry George Hodge were married on September 3rd in the First Baptist Church at Graham, where they will be making their home.

West Point Home Demo Club Meets

Five members of West Point Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Bragg on Thursday, September 8th.

Extension Agent Sherry Etheredge was also present.

Lugene Hudson, home service advisor for Lyntegar Electric, presented a program on molding fancy candy, and the group agreed that it was more tasty than "store-bought" candy.

There are four home demonstration clubs in Lynn County and persons interested in becoming a member or who might like to visit a club are asked to contact Mrs. Etheredge at 998-4650.

The West Point club will meet next on October 7, at 2 p.m., with Dottie Ashbrook.

The first automatic match-making machine was patented in 1851.

Law Enforcement Agencies Receive Grant For Upgrading

Lynn County Sheriff's Office and the Tahoka Police Department are among several law enforcement agencies who have received a $28,974 grant to upgrade the Texas Law Enforcement Telecommunication Network in the South Plains Association of Governments region.

The award was among 118 approved by Governor Dolph Briscoe statewide from Law Enforcement Assistance Administration funds under the Crime Control Act of 1976.

U.S. Department of Agriculture officials gave a progress report September 7 in Lubbock on the industry's first field test of cotton classing by instrument. The test was conducted at the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office on about 50,000 bales on 1976 crop cotton from eight gins in Lubbock, Crosby and Garza Counties.

Paul Dickson, head of the Lubbock office, termed the test "successful from an operational standpoint" but "inconclusive as regards the possibility of instruments being used to replace manual classing in the future."

The past year was the first of a scheduled five-year testing period.

Harvin Smith, chief of USDA's Memphis, Tenn. testing section presented an analysis of the instrument test line results, showing what he called "reasonably good" repeatability of the test. Ninety percent of the samples retested came within 8.00 microgram of the original test for micronaire, within 8.00 pounds per square inch when retested for strength, and within 1/32 of an inch on staple.

Percentage-wise, differences in the other measurements recorded — length uniformity, color and trash content — were in the same range.

Test results on different bales from the same 10-bale model were also compared. Typical ranges in these tests were from 1 to 4.2 on micronaire, 31.3 to 33.3 thirty-seconds of an inch on staple, and on strength from 81,000 to 89,000 p.s.i.

All samples in the test received double evaluation, one by instrument and one by the cotton classer. Comparisons of the two sets of data, both of which appeared on the producer's grade card showed close correlation, Smith said. However, it was noted that instrument measurements in length came out a little shorter than classers call on the low end of the staple range and slightly longer than classers call on the upper end.

Smith emphasized that his analysis covered a relatively small number of samples, related to only one year's experiment, and that future analyses during the five-year test could therefore show entirely different results.

Plans call for continuing the experiment in 1977, drawing cotton from the same eight gins. However any gin is free to withdraw from the test at any time and any gin customer can request his cotton be excluded from instrument testing.

USDA's Economic Research Service is charged with evaluating effects of the instrument testline on cotton marketing and Don Ethridge, in charge of the Lubbock ERS office, reported the 1976 testing "had little, if any, impact in the cotton marketing system."

This result, Ethridge said, was anticipated because of a relatively small number of bales tested and the unfamiliarity of many people in the marketing chain with the cotton measurements generated by the instruments.

The USDA report was given to officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., two major textile companies, area cooperatives, interested ginners, producers and others.

Milk Good Nutrient Source In Spite of Recent Bad PR

AUSTIN-In spite of some recent bad publicity about milk, this old standby in the diets of millions of Americans is still one of the best sources of several important nutrients, says Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

One of the arguments brought against milk, Brown says, is that normal persons can get enough calcium from other foods rather than milk. Although milk is rich in calcium, it is also an important source of protein, riboflavin and Vitamins A and C, Brown notes. This is especially noteworthy at this time, when studies have shown many American diets to be deficient in these elements, he adds.

Brown warns, however, that raw milk should always be pasteurized, in spite of claims this process could destroy Vitamin C content. Pasteurization kills pathogenic organisms responsible for typhoid, diphtheria, scarlet fever, dysentery and salmonellosis, he noted.

Last year Texas ranked ninth in the nation in the production of fresh cow's milk, Brown added.

Immediate Action is Needed When Crops Are in Danger

AUSTIN-When a farmer's crop is endangered by insects, it's hard to explain to him that the most effective pesticides are not available only because they have not been approved by the government.

That, plus the Texas Department of Agriculture's continuing policy of giving Texas farmers every possible edge, was the reason four new insecticides were made available for use on cotton on an emergency basis in June, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown explained recently.

"Although these four insecticides had not obtained full registration from the Environmental Protection Agency, the fact that the bollworm/tobacco budworm complex in several counties had become resistant to other pesticides made it necessary to try them," Brown said. He added that Texas was the first state to use the pesticides under the EPA's emergency program, and other states will be observing the results obtained here.

Under the emergency program, 30 Texas counties were ultimately registered for use of the insecticides on a county-to-county basis. The insecticides used were Bolster 6, Ambush, Pounce and Pydrin. The EPA emergency authorization expires on Sept. 30.
