The Spectator...

By Mary Brecheen

The Tahoka Bulldogs lost one of their most devoted supporters this week.

Rufus Slover was an ex-student of the local schools and, without a doubt, he attended more athletic events, as a spectator, than any other fan, for a great many years. The fact that he did not have a child who "played the game" in recent years was of no consequence. He was there, come rain or shine, when his failing health permitted.

To my knowledge, it was only recently that the coaching staff reserved a place for the Slover car so he could observe the football games when he was not able to go to the stands.

He was an avid fan and certainly not a rabid one. My observation was that he took school sports for what they were--games for children and young adults, and for adults as courteous spectators only.

He provided an example which is almost extinct among fans today, and his optimistic, consistent good will shall be missed.

And it came to pass that two young fleas fell in love, and after a short courtship, married and settled down. They found a large, good-natured and inactive dog for a home.

Theirs was truly an ideal life. Food, shelter, and heat were provided. There was a housing unit in every wrinkle. Life was sweet and easy. All they had to do was eat, sleep, and multiply.

Freedom from want and fear had been attained, and they and their offspring enjoyed the abundant life.

But the patient old dog, sore and unappreciated, grew weak and weary. Unable any longer to support the hungry and rapidly multiplying non-productive population, he finally staggered into the woods and died.

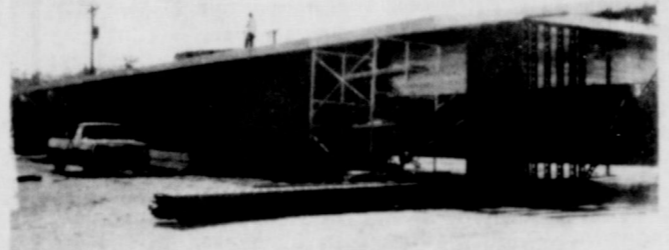

Consternation reigned among the fleas! They held meetings, protesting that the economic system had let them down. Some even threatened to vote for the other party. There was talk of suing the old dog for lack of cooperation.

Many of those panicky parasites perished on the spot. Others, bitter in spirit, trudged off into the cruel world and died by the roadside, trying to hump a ride on another dog. None thought of shifting for himself.

Now the moral of this little story is that if too many people depend on society, industry, or government to look after them, to provide them with security, they may end in want and distress amid the wreckage of the nation.

Men must never forget that there is no substitute for self-reliance, individual striving, and thrift to provide for their future needs.

Would that I were clever enough to have written the above parable! It is a potent piece of prose, author unknown, which appeared in the October issue of Grain Producers News.

THE NEW BUILDING for Rim Rock Grocery, at Avenue N and Lockwood in Tahoka, should be completed by November 1st, says Richard Williams, owner.

Gins Report 112,469 Bales Of Cotton

Twenty-five gins in the county reported a total of 112,469 bales of cotton having been ginned or on the yard by Tuesday noon of this week.

Clear, open weather and good to excellent drying conditions all week allowed cotton harvesting to resume, according to Paul R. Dickson, in charge of USDA's Cotton Classing Office in Lubbock. The High Plains cotton harvest regained earlier momentum.

New crop trading increased the week ending October 14. Growers accepted bids ranging from 300 to 500 points over 1977 loan rates. Small mixed lots of mostly grades 32 and better, staples 30 through 32 brought 44.00 to 44.50 cents per pound, Dickson said.

About 90,000 samples were graded by High Plains Classing Offices this week. Season's total stands at 266,000. This compares with only 94 graded by this date one year ago, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Predominant grades from High Plains Classing Offices the week ending October 14 were grade 31 at 35 percent, grade 41 was 18 percent, and grade 32 accounted for 22 percent.

Staple lengths were mostly staple 30 at 18 percent, staple 31 was 39 percent, and staple 32 accounted for 28 percent.

Micronaire was mostly in the 3.5 to 4.9 range and accounted for 86 percent across the High Plains. About 10 percent was higher and four percent lower.

Pressley tests indicated breaking strength averaged 89,000 pounds per square inch.

Clyde Ashcraft Gets Postal Safety Award

Clyde Ashcraft, who has been a rural mail carrier out of Tahoka for nineteen years, on Tuesday of this week was presented the Safe-Driving Award for the month of September by the U.S. Postal Service.

Ashcraft is now eligible to compete for the Safe-Driver-of-the-Year Award.

His daily mileage on Route 5 is approximately 145 miles, and Ashcraft compares it to driving to Amarillo, from Tahoka, and making a stop at least every mile. He says that he uses about 90 gallons of gasoline per week.

Mike Orr, Local Farmer, Tells Experiences With Pecan Trees

Mike Orr, Tahoka farmer, told Chamber of Commerce members, at their Tuesday breakfast meeting, about his efforts to grow pecan trees on his farm east of Tahoka.

Orr said that he planted 500 pecan trees last spring, on an experimental basis, primarily to "improve the environment."

Authorities say, according to Orr, that the future of the pecan industry is in West Texas and eastern New Mexico. His trees were from one-half to one inch in diameter at the trunk and were eight feet tall before they were pruned. Trees were planted forty-eight to the acre, in holes the size of fifty to fifty-five gallon barrels. Approximate cost per tree was $6.50, and he paid an additional $4.00, approximately, to have them set out. He expects to have pecans in six to eight years.

Orr told his audience also that there were three keys to producing leaves on the trees--water, zinc, and fertilizer. The first year, trees need to be watered every ten days. Due to the fact that area soil is very alkaline, an application every thirty days of two pounds of zinc in 100 gallons of water, sprayed on foliage, is necessary. After the second year, trees are irrigated like cotton.

Aphids are the only insects in the area which are a problem in growing pecan trees; however, rabbits will gnaw the trunks, especially when the ground is covered with snow. Orr said that wrapping the trunks in tin foil would prevent the rabbits' gnawing.

A "rule of thumb," said Orr, is that ten acres of

Applied Learning, Skills Prepare Students For 'Real-Life' Jobs After Graduation

MARY VASQUEZ, using the typewriter, has been receptionist in the office-classroom the past ten days. Cindy Havens, standing, left, is also a receptionist, and Robin Bingham is office manager.

Once upon a time, students in public high schools all had the same prescribed course of study and if that prescription gave them knowledge which enabled them to make a living, great! But if not, the student just happened to miss out.

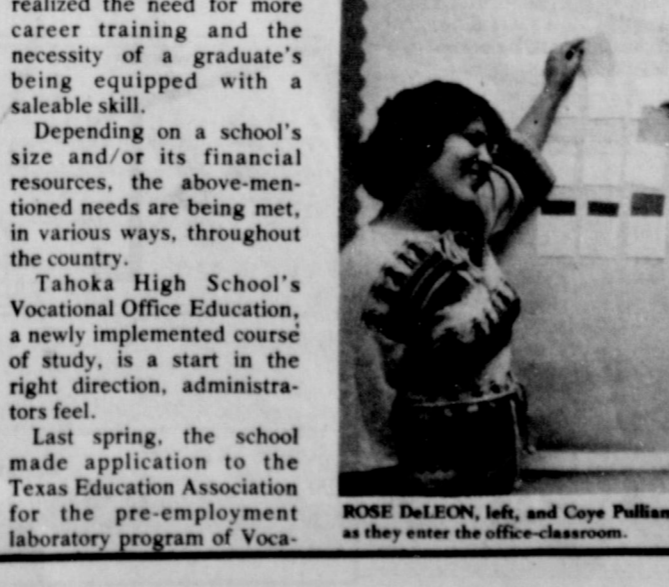

For the past several years, however, educators have realized the need for more career training and the necessity of a graduate's being equipped with a saleable skill.

Depending on a school's size and/or its financial resources, the above-mentioned needs are being met, in various ways, throughout the country.

Tahoka High School's Vocational Office Education, a newly implemented course of study, is a start in the right direction, administrators feel.

Last spring, the school made application to the Texas Education Association for the pre-employment laboratory program of Vocational Office Education. The Board of Education gave its approval for the program, and formal application was made for funding. The necessary equipment for Tahoka's program cost approximately $10,000, with the State paying $7,000 and the local district paying $3,000.

Certain requirements had to be met, one of which was that the teacher of such a course must have a degree in business, and must have had two years of work experience in an office.

Mrs. Barbara Jaquess, teacher of the course in Tahoka High, is a December 1970 graduate of Texas Tech, with a degree in business. She has been a teacher in Tahoka since the fall of 1971, and her office experience includes her employment by Norman Igo, director of new construction at Texas Tech, in addition to her unique employment in the president's office at Texas A & M University.

Another requirement is that the classroom in the school have the setting of a model office. Each of the fourteen students enrolled (there can be a maximum of twenty students in a class) has a time card which she "punches" as she enters the room for the two-hour period.

There are two receptionists at the entrance of the classroom and every student answers to an office manager. There are bookkeepers, adding machine and calculator operators, filing clerks, and stenographers--all of whom are on a ten-day rotation set-up. For example, the stenographers will be assigned

VICKI DUNN, seated, and Sylvia Salinas will have mastered the dictation machine, as well as the art of business-letter writing, at the end of their course of study.

Letter To Editor

Letters to the editor do not necessarily express the views of this newspaper. All correspondence must be signed and in good taste before it will be published; however, the writer may request that his name be withheld. Letters are not edited as to grammar, punctuation, and spelling.

October 17, 1977
Seven years ago I retired after twenty years in public office. It has been my privilege to listen to and give counsel to many young people.

I would like to comment in regard to your article of October 13, about young people who cannot read.

None of us likes to just slide by in life, even young people. We want to take part. I believe those young people get more confused as they get older if they miss some beginning school knowledge. It is not good for the country either. Moving them up in grades is not the answer. Even a child is not qualified in school unless he is efficient.

I have always been one to admire new inventions and improvements. I have not been considered old-fashioned in my ideas, according to my friends.

However, I do feel that there is a need to be old-fashioned in beginning school work in reading, writing, spelling, and arithmetic. Some people might think that it would not be practical to forget about grade numbers before high school. I think, however, that improvement could be seen even if it took five years to change over. I think a young person feels better about himself if he is in fifth grade and can read a fifth reader than if he is in eighth grade and can only read a fifth reader.

I want to mention some of the things that worked 80 years ago when I started to school that might be practical now.

A student did not leave the chart class until he understood everything presented and he was able to read the first reader (a large book). Sometimes people twelve or fourteen years old would be in the chart class with seven-year-olds.

A student did not promote from the first reader to the second reader until he could read and comprehend the first reader.

No one was held back. A person could make chart class and first reader in one year. And no one was passed on until he was ready. The opportunity for regular attendance was not like it is today.

Arithmetic instruction was given the same way. Everyone could move at his own rate. We used the blackboard every day and everyone had to work on his slate, drilling over and over. This was good. Also, work at home was expected every day.

Studying words from the blue-backed speller was a must.

A student could read from a geography book after he was ready for the third or fourth reader.

School was a serious business.

Each school day was opened with a prayer and a song. The teacher read a story or parable to the students each day.

If a student did not do the home-work, parents were notified that very day and they took care of the discipline.

Special rewards for learning allowing the students and schools to show off what they could do were realized almost every Friday at the matches between schools. Families would attend. School might be dismissed a little early. Each school might have as many as 100 spellers in a match. It might take several hours for one school to spell the other school down. That might be true for arithmetic matches which were held on the Fridays when there was no spelling match. The students worked on the blackboard and slates. Often on Friday nights, after these matches, we had literaries. Students gave speeches at these events. There might be other talent or beauty contests at the same event. Money was donated to the school at this time; sometimes in connection with one of the beauty contests or box-supper meetings.

Thank you,

Phebe K. Meets In Carter Home

Members of Phebe K. Warner Study Club met in the home of Mrs. V. P. Carter on Tuesday, October 11, with Mrs. Don Boydston and Mrs. Rick Etheredge as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Ike Carter presided at the business meeting, and program chairman, Mrs. Elmer Owens, appointed committees for the luncheon for senior citizens, to be held Tuesday, November 8, at noon, at the First United Methodist Church.

A donation of $25 to the Girlstown Education Fund, a Caprock District project, was approved.

Members answered roll call by naming a historical place in Texas that gives an insight into Texas heritage.

Mrs. Truett Smith presented the program on "Albates-Flint Quarry and Plains Antelope Indian Culture," using color slides with sound, filmed by Mrs. Charles Barkley of Borger, who designed the presentation to provoke an appreciation of pre-historic culture and to inform the public about the national monument in Texas--north of Amarillo near Lake Meredith.

The next meeting will be a tour of the Briercroft Savings and Loan Historical Section in Lubbock. Members will meet at 9:30 a.m. on October 25 at the Tahoka First United Methodist Church, to make the tour.

Dianne Hinshaw, Tim Walker Married In Lubbock Ceremony

Miss Dianne Hinshaw and Tim Walker were married in a double-ring ceremony in the Garden Room of the Villa Inn in Lubbock at three o'clock in the afternoon on Saturday, October 8th.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hinshaw of Wichita, Kansas, and Mrs. Ruth Walker of Lubbock, formerly of Tahoka.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Retired Chief Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, The Honorable James A. Ellis, uncle of the groom.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal white satin gown with a chapel-length train, long sleeves, and a stand-up collar. The entire gown and train were covered with an Alencon lace redingote. The bride's cathedral-length veil was of silk illusion topped with a seed pearl tiara. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses and blue carnations.

Mrs. Brian Brough of Emporia, Kansas, twin sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a blue pleated chiffon and lace gown. Both the bride and matron honor's dresses were made by the bride's mother.

Chan Thomas of Tahoka was best man, and Jeff Jay Thomas, nephews of the groom, from Lubbock, presented white roses and carnations to the mothers of the bride and groom.

Tracy Scott, the groom's niece, of Tahoka, was ring bearer.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Lillian McCord of Plains, former of Tahoka.

Following a short trip, the couple will be at home in Jamaica Beach, Texas, where the groom is a building contractor.

The bride graduated from Campus High School in Wichita, Kansas in 1973 and attended Emporia State University in Emporia.

Walker is a 1970 graduate of Tahoka High School and he attended Texas Tech University.

AROUND TOWN

By Leona Waldrip 998-4496

A visitor in the home of Mrs. Hattie Bartlett on Tuesday was her sister, Mrs. Marlin, from Lubbock.

Mrs. Gladys Cobb is spending a few days with her daughter, Nancy, in San Antonio.

Due to revival services and other conflicts, there were only eight members present when Rebekah Lodge met on Tuesday night.

Next regular meeting will be October 25th at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Shawn left on Thursday to attend a family reunion in Decatur.

Her brothers and sisters from Brownfield, Amarillo, and Tulsa plan to meet there on the weekend.

After a month's visit in western states, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Townsen have returned home. They went by plane, visiting sons Scotty and Dwain near San Diego, then going by car northward through the Redwood Forest to Oregon City, Oregon for a two weeks' visit with Dwight and family.

They report it the best vacation they have ever had.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lichey spent several days last week in Corpus Christi, baby-sitting grandchildren while the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Bogus, were in Oryland, Tennessee.

Past Noble Grand Club will meet in the home of Mrs. Willie Childress on Thursday night at 7 p.m.

My sister, Leta Brown, of Lubbock honored me with a birthday dinner in her home on Sunday. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Lemon.

Plans will be finalized at the noon luncheon on Friday for the garage sale to be sponsored by the Lynn County Pioneer Club.

To be held on Saturday, the sale will be in the old North Main Laundry building at North Fifth and Main Street.

Anyone having anything to donate can call 998-5264 for a pickup.

The organization, barely two years old, continues to grow, with more people attending each luncheon day.

Anyone sixty years old or older is invited to come any day Monday through Friday, from 8:00 to 5:00.

Rotarians Fete Local Teachers

Dr. C. L. Kay of Lubbock Christian College was the featured speaker last Thursday night at the annual banquet sponsored by Tahoka Rotary Club to honor local school personnel.

Doctor Kay's topic was "The Panama Canal--Peace or Confrontation?" and he showed slides of the Canal Zone which he took on a recent trip there with a government task force.

Horace Rogers, club president, introduced Superintendent of schools Jim Coulston, who presented building principals. They, in turn introduced teachers in the various buildings, as well as other personnel.

Monte Dodson introduced Doctor Kay to the assembly of several hundred people, the banquet being held in Tubb Elementary cafeteria.

Deanya Wood, Rotary Sweetheart, provided dinner music.

Vitamins fall into two classifications: fat-soluble and water-soluble. The fat-soluble vitamins, which include A, D, E and K are dissolved in fat and are absorbed along with dietary fats. They are not needed daily in your diet. If you take in more than you need of this type of vitamin, the excess is stored in your body, and, in some instances, toxicity can develop. However, a diet that is extremely low in fat intake should be suspected of being deficient in fat-soluble vitamins. Water-soluble vitamins (C and B-complex) must be supplied daily, as any excess is not stored by the body. A well-balanced diet is the best source of the water-soluble vitamins but when deficiencies occur, they develop rapidly. Vitamin supplements may prevent the occurrence of such deficiencies.

WHEN TO CALL YOUR CHILD'S PHYSICIAN

You should never hesitate or be afraid to call your child's physician whenever any abnormal conditions arise. A doctor knows better than anyone else how to relieve and treat them.

Certainly call if any of the following occur: abdominal pain, accidents, blood in stools, convulsions, croup, cough—especially if severe, diarrhea, earache, fever, poisoning, poor appetite, rashes—especially those associated with fever, sore throat, swollen glands, vomiting, wheezing or difficulty in breathing. Of these, poisoning, severe abdominal pain and croup associated with fever and lethargy are most dangerous and urgent.

A Visit With Your County Agent

by Stanley Young
Lynn County Agent

Time For Soil Sampling

Any farming operation requires planning, and this is particularly true when it comes to applying fertilizer. Fertilizer applications should be based on a soil test, and fall is a good time to take soil samples for testing.

Containers and instructions for submitting soil samples are available at the county Extension office. Based on a soil test, a sound fertilization program can be developed for the coming crop year.

Such a program will be increasingly important in the months ahead. Under present economic conditions, low yields are not profitable, and fertilization, at least with nitrogen, is generally necessary for profitable yields. Yet, the need for each plant nutrient and its potential profitability should be closely evaluated.

For additional information on fertilizer use in Lynn County, I invite producers to review the 1976 and 1977 handbook of result demonstrations. Various fertilizer rates were used on different crops to determine the highest profit potential, and these studies merit close evaluation.

With current high production costs, uncertainty about farm prices, and other risks in crop production, farmers must study their fertilizer needs more closely than ever to make sound management decisions.

As you select spring flowering bulbs, set aside a few choice bulbs for indoor forcing.

Bulbs good for forcing include crocus, grape hyacinths, daffodils, tulips, and hyacinths. Blooms from these bulbs can brighten the indoor landscape during the long, winter months.

Pot the bulbs as soon as they are selected. First, place a one-inch layer of gravel in the pot. Then add a soil mix of equal parts of soil, peat, and sand. Firm the soil around the bulbs, leaving the tips of large bulbs showing above the surface. Barely cover small bulbs and space them about one-half inch apart in the pot.

Store newly potted bulbs at a temperature of 40 to 50 degrees F. The vegetable drawer in the refrigerator provides excellent conditions. Success with forcing bulbs depends upon their developing roots during the cold storage period. Keep the soil moist but not saturated. In six to ten weeks the bulbs should have made adequate root growth and should be ready for forcing.

After the cold storage treatment, first place the bulbs in a cool, semi-lighted location, and then gradually move them to a sunny area for good growth and color. Be careful not to allow them to dry out at any time during the forcing period.

Most bulbs will be in flower by January. By purchasing pre-cooled or pre-treated bulbs, you will have blooms by Christmas.

Sherry Ether SAYS

September to March is apple time--and October is National Apple Month.

"Apples that break into pieces when cooked are usually best for applesauce," says the Agent. "The best baking apples keep their shape. Tart apples are good for cooking; sweeter apples are better for eating raw."

For a main course, try Apple Stuffing--with Roast Pork Shoulder or Sweet Potato-Apple Casserole. Apples also make exciting salads and desserts to perk up fall meals.

Apple Stuffing (Makes Four Cups)

1/4 cup butter, margarine, or bacon
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
4 cups diced, tart apples
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar

4 cups small bread cubes
Melt fat in large frypan. Add onion, celery, and apples. Sprinkle with salt and sugar. Cook, turning occasionally, for 8 to 10 minutes or until apples are lightly browned. Add bread cubes and toss gently to blend ingredients.

HOW TO USE: Pork shoulder with apple stuffing--Sprinkle the inside of a 4-pound boned fresh pork shoulder with one teaspoon salt and pepper, as desired. Spread with stuffing. Fold meat over stuffing and skewer. Place on rack, skin side up, in a shallow baking pan. Bake at 325 degrees F. (slow oven) for about 2 1/2 hours, or until meat is tender and the juice is no longer pink.

Sweet Potato, Apple Casserole (Makes 6 servings)

1/2 cup each
1 can (18 oz.) sweet potatoes, drained
1/4 cup sweet potato liquid or orange juice
1 can (20 oz.) apple pie filling
1 teaspoon grated orange rind, if desired
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 cup bread cubes
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
Arrange sweet potatoes in a 2-quart casserole. Blend remaining ingredients except bread cubes and fat.

Pour over sweet potatoes. Mix bread cubes with fat and sprinkle over apples. Bake at 375 degrees F. (moderate oven) until liquid is bubbly and bread cubes are lightly browned.

Apple Spice Muffins (makes 12)

1/4 cup milk
1 egg, beaten
1/4 cup melted fat
2 cups unsifted flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup finely chopped apples
1/4 cup raisins
Add milk to egg; stir in fat. Mix dry ingredients thoroughly; stir in apples and raisins. Add liquid mixture and stir just until most of the dry ingredients are moistened. Do not overmix; batter should be lumpy.

Fill greased muffin tins two-thirds full. Bake at 400 degrees F. (hot oven) 20 to 25 minutes until golden brown.

Apple Coffeecake (makes 9 servings, 3 by 3 inches each)

1/2 cup light brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 to 3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup shortening
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 cups unsifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups thinly sliced apples
Blend together the brown sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, butter or margarine, and cinnamon. In another bowl, combine sugar, shortening, and egg; beat thoroughly. Stir in milk.

Mix 1 1/2 cups flour, baking powder, and salt thoroughly; stir into egg mixture just until smooth.

Spread half the batter in a greased 9-inch pan; cover with half the apples; top with half the brown sugar mixture. Repeat.

Bake at 375 degrees F. (moderate oven) for 45 to 50 minutes or until cake is set. NOTE: If preferred, put all the batter in pan at once. Arrange the apples on top of the batter and sprinkle with brown sugar mixture.
