There are no "gray areas" in many of the issues scussed at the Conference. Homosexuals and stians have no more rights than do murderers, lieves, and the list is quite lengthy--our Creator oes not make excuses for such folks (sick syches, domineering mothers, ghetto raising, tc.)--the whole bit is classified as sin--nothing fore and nothing less. BY MARY BRECHEEN

Laura Belle Burleson was born May 23, 1895 at Brenham, married Thurman Wells in Tahoka on Christmas Eve of 1912, moved to O'Donnell in 1916, and recently moved to Commerce to live near a daughter.

And lots of "living" transpired in those 82 years from 1895 to 1977.

She was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Burleson, who came to Tahoka from Midland. Burleson was a ranch foreman and his only daughter first went to school called Plainview, near Lamesa, and also attended a one-room school in Tahoka Belle, as she was called by her family and friends, remembers that three of the students were Noba Stroud, Jack Wells, and Ruth Ketner. The teacher was

Miss Minnie Chambers. Thurman Wells, a young man from Tahoka and the fifth child of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wells, was in school at Abilene, to learn to "keep books," and when he was at home on Christmas Eve in 1911, at a dance, he met Miss Belle Burleson and they were married a year until 1916 when they moved to O'Donnell and he worked for Higginbotham-Harris, now Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company, until it closed in O'Donnell about

One daughter, Beverly, was born in Tahoka in 1914, and another, Jim Ellen, was born in O'Donnell in 1918. Beverly is Mrs. W. G. McKnight of Commerce, and Jim Ellen, a San Angelo teacher, is Mrs. J. L. Adams.

Mrs. Wells has always been active in civic affairs, having been given a citation at one time by the veterans of the Fern Allen Post of O'Donnell, for her services. She was a member of the 1937 Study Club there.

Following her husband's death, she lived alone in their home in O'Donnell, but on October 29 of this year, her friends, at a party in the Senior Citizens Building. wished her well and she moved to Commerce to start a new life.

She has three grandchildren and four great-grand-children who will help her "stay young."

STATE OF THE STATE

Sherry Ethere ne

Says

Should I buy nuts shelled or in the shell? This question will be weighing heavy on the minds of many shoppers this holiday season.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) reports peanuts, almonds, and walnuts to be plentiful. The 1977 pecan crop has more than doubled last year's.

To shell or not to shell, that is the question. Shelled is the answer if you are in a hurry with cooking and baking.

Buying nuts in the shell has its advantages, too. They are often cheaper than shelled nuts and shelling nuts can be a time for family

When buying nuts, compare the cost. A good rule of thumb is 2 pounds of nuts in the shell equal 1 pound of nut meats. If the cost of 2 pounds of shelled nuts is the same for one pound of nut meats, then they are the same. If there is a difference, and there usually is, the difference is the extra price paid for shelling.

When buying unshelled nuts, look for those that are clean and free from scars, cracks or holes.

Shelled nut meats should be plump and meaty. The kernels should be crisp and

To have one pound of shelled nut meats, you would need the following amounts of unshelled nuts: Almonds, 31/2 pounds Brazil nuts, 21/2 pounds Filberts, 11/2 pounds Pecans, 2 to 21/2 pounds

Walnuts (English) 21/2 pounds Walnuts (Black), 51/2

pounds Here are some tips that will make shelling nuts for holiday cooking and eating

Brazil Nuts - 24 hours in the freezer will make the shell so brittle that they will yield to gentle cracking.

Pecans - give up perfect halves if you soak them 6 - 8 hours in a cold salt solution (1/2 cup salt to 3 quarts

Walnuts - yield to the hammer for best results. Hold the nut so it stands on the flat end. Strike the pointed end, giving it a sharp, bouncing blow,

After shelling, store nuts in a covered container in the refrigerator. You can freeze shelled nuts for 8 to 10 months, if properly packaged.

In general, one pound of shelled nut meats equals 3 to 31/2 cups. Whole nut meats make more cups per pound than halves, pieces, or chopped nuts.

Shelled nuts won't do for the nut bowl. Nuts depend on their oils for their pleasing flavor. When nuts are stale, the oils become rancid and unpalatable.

Nuts in the shell keep better than shelled nuts. Nuts keep better in a cool, dark place and unsalted ones keep better than salted ones.

Nuts can absorb off flavors and moisture. When this occurs, you will have a limp, tough, even moldy nut.

Library Has New Volume

The City-County Library announces the receipt of Earth Has No Sorrow. presented by the Voluntary Action Center of Caldwell County and the Texas Commission on the Arts and Humanities.

Earth Has No Sorrow is the result of a year-long Oral History project funded by the Emergency School Aid Act in Lockhart. Approximately 150 elderly lifelong residents of all ethnic groups were interviewed and taped by local county volunteers. Twenty of the tapes were then transcribed verbatim and edited for inclusion in

This year instead of thinking how good we have it as Americans, do something different. Think what we don't have to be happy about. And when you come right down to it, it's a lot harder than it sounds. Because living the way we do, we've gone beyond what great numbers of people still accept as their lot; poverty, malnutrition, disease. Thinking what we have to be unhappy about gets harder all the time. Because, all the time we're making things better—and not just for us. Our ingenuity sooner or later is felt throughout the world. So that one day, instead of just an American holiday, maybe the whole world will have something to celebrate.

or exposed to toxic substances in the air. Farmers and ranchers are subject to plenty of bumps, scrapes. and other more serious hazards in the normal course of their work.

The following are specific body parts and the protective equipment used to protect them:

*Eyes--For protection against protruding or flying objects and airborne particles--especially in farm shops--wear goggles, face shields, impact-resistent spectacles or welding goggles, depending on the job. Wear splash-goggles and face shields when using anhydrous ammonia or other

*Head--Two major types of protective devices are the hard hat, which has an outer shell plus an inner suspension, and the bump cap,

*Ears--Inserts and muffs are the two basic types of ear protection and should be worn whenever noise is loud enough to interfere with normal conversation. Cotton inserts offer no protection at all. Proper inserts are made of rubber, plastic or special wax that must be shaped or fitted to the individual's ear canal. More convenient is a disposable wool-like insert. Muffs cover the whole external ear, generally cost less, and provide more dependable protection.

which is a shell without suspension. Wear a hard hat when there is danger of

*Lungs -- There are four basic types of lung-protecting respirators for farmers. Mechanical filter respirators are made with a fibrous filter and are useful for having, harvesting or other operations involving chaff, pollens, and non-toxic dusts or spray paint.

Specific chemical cartridge respirators are used for light concentrations of gases and vapors and usually contain pre-filters for dust as well--a good feature whre both field dust and moderately toxic chemicals are encountered.

Air purifying gas masks are used where heavy concentrations or toxic substances are used--such as during use of organic phosphate pesticides or use of toxic chemicals in confined areas.

Air-line and self-contained units provide fresh air to face masks and can be used in silos, manure pits, and other areas involving oxygen deficiency or highly toxic chemicals.

*Feet--A simple safeguard against foot injury is to wear steel-toe boots or shoes. An added feature in some footwear is a puncture-resistent sole. For wet weather wear, you can get rubber boots that have a metal toe

*Hands--Wear gloves that fit properly and are of a material to protect against the hazards of the job--cloth, leather or rubber. Do not wear gloves around moving parts of machinery.

Two things are important about PPE. First, have it available; and second, use it. It can't protect you when it's sitting on a shelf.

Pvt. Mendez Ends Training

Marine Private Juan M. Mendez, son of Conception Mendez of Wilson, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit

Depot, San Diego. During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines. He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship, and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

Mendez joined the Marine Corps in July of this year.

MOST OF THE CROPLAND FIELDS in Lynn County look like the one above. The only protection for the soil is the lowly cotton stalk. Much of the land is too dry to work, so leave those cotton stalks standing. They may not provide a lot of protection, but in our dry situation, a little protection is better than nothing. Shredding the stalks will only create more problems. Some farmers are running chisels between the rows and in the blanks to create a clodding effect and the stalks are left standing. This may work on your farm. These cotton stalks do more good than most of us think, so leave them and let's find out how much. For more information, call or come by the Soil Conservation office in Tahoka.

Gins paid growers 57 to 70

Twenty-five gins in the county reported 210,531 bales of cotton ginned by Tuesday of this week, and most are through ginning or in the final stages.

In the southern part of the county, at O'Donnell and Wells, ginners say they have considerable on the yard to gin and some modules and ricks to pick up. They expect to be through ginning in two to three weeks.

Prices paid cotton growers advanced $1.25 to $3.75 per bale the week ending November 18, according to Paul R. Dickson in charge of USDA's Cotton Classing Office in Lubbock.

Growers sold mixed lots of mostly grades 31, 41, 32, and 42; staples 30, through 32; base micronaire at about 42.50 cents per pound. Mixed lots of mostly grades 41, 51, 42, and 52; staples 30 through 32; mikes 2.7 to 3.7 brought around 40.00 cents per pound, Dickson said. High Plains classing offices graded 243,000 samples this week bringing the season's total to 1,249,000. This compares with only 241,000 samples graded by November 18 last year, according to USDA's

Some important dates are coming up on our Lynn County 4-H calendar. The first is a livestock entry meeting scheduled for December 1st, Thursday, 7:30 p.m. at Lyntegar Electric Co-op Meeting Room in Tahoka. At this meeting, we will complete entry cards and send them to their respective shows. It is important that parents attend this meeting if you plan to show livestock.

Also, the Lynn County Leaders Association will meet Wednesday, December 7, at 8 p.m. at the Lyntegar Meeting Room in Tahoka. We plan to make the Lynn County Leaders Association a very active part of the 4-H program in Lynn County. Plan to attend!

The District Gold Star Banquet was held Monday. November 21st, in Lubbock. Lynn County was well represented, with Laura McDaniel and Tommy Guin as honorees. Also participating was Lindy McDaniel who led the 4-H motto and pledge, and Mike Harvick who assisted in ushering.

The banquet was a first-class event with approximately 400 people attending. Among the guests were U. S. Representative George Mahon, State Senator Kent Hance, and State Representative Michael Ezell.

Those attending from Lynn County, in addition to the 4-H'ers, were Son and Sis Guin, Gerry and Sandy McDaniel, Sissy, Steve, and Stephanie, Mr. and Mrs. V. Jones, Bill and Eloise Griffin, Rick and Sherry Etheredge, Stanley Young, and James and Gav Fuller. Thanks for your attend-

Bacteriological Standard Is Exceeded In City's Samples

The Texas Department of Health Resources requires every city to take samples each month of its water supply, and the four samples collected in Tahoka in October exceeded the Department's "Drinking Water Standards," which were promulgated as required by the "Safe Drinking Water Act." Public Law 93-523.

Additional samples were collected immediately, city administrator Ray Mason said, and those reports were negative, indicating that the original samples possibly were contaminated by accidental touching of the containers by the person taking the sample.

According to the Department of Health Resources. drinking water containing coliform bacteria in excess of the standard may constitute a potential threat to public health, and their presence in water is an indicator of bacteriological contaminaof the sample either from the water system or from a sampling error.

Additional samples and customer notification of the public when the standards are exceeded are required by law as a means of keeping the public informed.

We would like to express our heartfelt appreciation for all the prayers, food, flowers, cards, love offerings, and other acts of kindness during our time of sorrow in the loss of our beloved husband and father.

Hazel Walker, Lester Walker, Tom Burns Family, David Cates Family. 47-1tc

Words alone cannot express our appreciation for every act of kindness shown us during the illness and death of our mother and grandmother, so we pray that through the grace of God, each of you may feel our gratitude. So many, sharing our sorrow, lightened our burden.

May God's richest blessing be on each and every one of you. There is no bond greater than friendship and love, we will always remember.

The family of Mrs. J. E. Thomas 47-1tp

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for being so kind to me during my stay in the hospital.

A special thanks to those who sat up with me, Dr. Chambler, and the Lynn County Hospital staff, and those who offered prayers in my behalf. May God bless each of
