CAROLYN'S CLATTER

by Carolyn Klaus

It seems every time you pick up a magazine or newspaper there are instructions on how to save money or conserve energy.

Most such articles are directed to the maker or whoever performs household work around your home. Those articles take two viewpoints—either a tug at your strings to conserve energy for our own or to save money to use for fun things we always wanted to do.

Whenever view the article approaches it is to give you at least ten methods to accomplish one or the other.

Only problem with the dedication of energy is that after reading several such articles you are completely confused. One may be lauded as the answer to conserve energy but at the same time may not be most economical.

When into consideration the expense and considerations for conserving energy when the family's weekly laundry.

The first thing for consideration would be the washer. That in itself will only cost 2 cents per load but the expense will considerably when you consider the cost of heating the water used in the washer.

When expense will amount to close to 12 cents to heat 20 gallons of water. In a load of warm water you would use approximately 5 gallons of hot water and in heating all hot water you would use about 10 gallons of water. Heating this much water in loads (3 warm & 3 hot) would total 25 cents.

When considering the dryer, it costs about 12 cents for each load of clothes dried. This adds up to 52 weeks plus about 100 extra cents and you have a yearly total of $74.12.

It would appear the simple solution would be to wash as many loads as possible in water and dry some outside in an effort to conserve energy and expense. While that may help, there is another aspect to consider.

While back it was advised that doing all loads of clothes at one time was a good idea, the dryer would not have to heat up all the time. After contacting a local electrician, that idea was disproved. According to him, the actual heating of the tub did not cost that much more electricity.

When I like to wash several loads at one time I was informed and ready to get it. Then I heard it was unwise to wash all loads at one time because the motors and appliances heated up more and were likely to show wear sooner.

After considering the price per load, the expense of new appliances and wanting to be a prudent citizen about the energy crunch, there was no time left to do any of the laundry. Before I scored big on each point for but what about tomorrow with all six loads plus 2 more to wash?

Congressman Stenholm Has Been Assigned To Important Agriculture Committee

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm has been assigned to the House Agriculture Committee, his first choice for Committee assignment. While campaigning for Congress, Mr. Stenholm frequently mentioned his background in agriculture and the importance such an assignment would have for the 17th District of Texas. The Congressman intends to be active in the legislative process and will use his new post to work toward meaningful legislation to insure a good return on investment for the agricultural producers and an adequate supply for our consumers.

Congressman Stenholm would like to express his appreciation to the people of the 17th District who helped make this possible and would be pleased to hear their views on matters that concern them. The newly elected congressman expressed gratitude that his request to the Leadership in the House was received so favorably.

Lynn County has totaled 11,679 bales of cotton this ginning season and nearly all the gins have completed their ginning except for a few bales still to come.

When compared to last year the total is nearly 100,000 bales short. The poor crops were a result of the bad weather and lack of

Joy Ringers Bell Choir To Play Saturday

The Joy Ringers Bell Choir of the First United Methodist Church of Tahoka is hosting a Bell Choir Festival Saturday, January 27. Choirs from Post, Lamesa, Brownfield, Midland and Tahoka will be participating. About 60 ringers are expected.

Clinician for the festival will be George L. DeHart, organist-choirmaster at First United Methodist Church in Midland. Serving there for 28 years, he directs three singing choirs and three handbell choirs. Handbells have been part of the graded choir system of the church since 1959.

He is a native of St. Johns, Michigan, and has lived in Midland since 1950. Mr. DeHart has been active in the Midland Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, the Midland Community Theatre and the Midland Symphony.

He received a Bachelor of Music degree from Westminister Choir College in Princeton, New Jersey. During this time he sang with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, the Little Orchestra Society of New York and the Jersey City Philharmonic Orchestra.

Mr. DeHart will direct the five choirs in a concert at 2:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall. The public is cordially invited to attend.

rain throughout the growing season.

The breakdown for the county were as follows: Tahoka, 20,3078; Wilson, 16,730; New Home, 35,122; O'Donnell, 9,303; Grassland, Draw and New Lynn area, 11,940; and all others totaled 19,206. This may be an indication of how the various areas were hit with hail and other inclement weather.

High Plains cotton prices were $5.25 to $13.50 per bale lower the week ended January 18, according to Paul R. Dickson, Area Director at Lubbock's Marketing Services Office.

Growers sold mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and better, staples 30-33, mikes 35-49 around 53.35 cents per pound. New crop lots of mostly grades 43 and 53, staples 30 and 31, mikes 35-49 brought about 49.15 cents per pound, Dickson said.

Gins paid High Plains growers $115 to $130 per ton for cottonseed.

USDA's High Plains Marketing Services Offices graded 129,000 samples this week, bringing this season's total to 1,635,000. This compares to 2,892,000 graded by January 19 last year.

Predominant High Plains grades this week were grade 41 at 10 percent, grade 51 accounted for nine percent, grade 42 amounted to 40 percent and grade 52 was 25 percent. Thirty-two percent were reduced one grade because of bark.

Staple lengths were mostly staple 31 at 28 percent, staple 32 was 44 percent and staple 33 accounted for 15 percent, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Micronaire was mostly in the desirable 35-49 range at 63 percent of the total. Thirty-seven percent was lower.

Breaking strength average 85,000 pounds per square inch.

County Proclamation Supports 1978 Census Of Agriculture

Officials of Lynn County issued a proclamation Monday, January 22, supporting the 1978 Census of Agriculture now being conducted by the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce.

Noting that the county benefits greatly from farming, the proclamation points out that "many business decisions made by the county's farmers, as well as those who do business with them, depend heavily upon accurate benchmark data from the Census of Agriculture."

Many farmers object to the census because there is not a space for expense but farmers can attach an extra sheet of expenses so it will give a more accurate picture and actually be a bid for those questions being placed on the questionnaire at a later date. If farmers fail to fill out the forms because of various reasons and some farmers that make extremely good crops fill them out then an unbalanced picture of the county has been presented and can put many people in a bind that rely heavily on the data received from the census.

The proclamation urges the county's farm operators to complete the census questionnaires accurately and return them promptly to the Census Bureau. Similar proclamations are being issued by officials of other counties and state governors in support of the census, the 21st in a series which began in 1840.

The current census will update the findings of the most recent farm census taken in 1974. Census figures are needed in making sound economic decisions. Many National and State programs affecting agriculture are designed or allocated on the basis of census data. For example, funds for extension work, research, soil conservation, and other services are based on census data. The more dependent a county is on agricultural income, the more vital census information becomes, Census Bureau officials point out.

Private industry uses the statistics from the agriculture census to provide a more effective production and distribution system for

Agriculture And SCS Are Getting Cuts

By Carolyn Klaus

It has been proposed for this legislative session that the Soil Conservation Service should be removed from the Department of Agriculture and placed under the Department of Natural Resources. The big opposition to this happening, from the farmers standpoint, is that with social trends going toward concern for parks and wilderness areas first that the farmer may be pushed aside.

The SCS has helped farmers improve their land to the point of being very productive but if farmers lose this boost of help that has been available for many years it could cause a reverse in trends in upgrading the land and thereby endangering the productivity of the area.

Nothing has definitely been passed, only proposed, so there is plenty of time to speak up and tell how you feel or the farmer could be trampled again.

Another thing in this line with the SCS is that they are proposing to cut funding and reduce the manpower by 1,000 people. This could put a serious strain on small counties that really need the manpower to cover the acres.

Another of the concerns for this session is the proposed cut in the Department of Agriculture. Some areas of aid in our government are funded because the law states they must be but then other areas, such as agriculture, is funded only by what congress can vote in. So, whenever it is necessary to "tighten the belt" agriculture is very open. The only way such actions can be reversed or fought is for concerned people to speak up or a loud minority will again get their way.

The American Agriculture Movement has given evidence to the fact that for the farmer to survive he must be willing to stand up for himself and unite with others with the same concern. Any politician will readily agree that the Movement has made them more aware of the farmer and easily reverses the saying, "Out of sight, out of mind". If farmers continue to stay in the background and remain silent then they will continue to be short changed.

Melvin Burks, County Judge, Reviews Duties

By Carolyn Klaus

Melvin Burks has only been sworn into his new office of County Judge for only a few weeks but he has already learned a lot about his job.

Mr. Burks chose to run for the office because he decided it was time for a change from working at the Tahoka schools. He had always enjoyed his work at the school but he thought it was a good opportunity to change jobs.

His main duties are as administrator of county financing, such as the budget, chairman of commissioners court and hearing minor cases such as fines when the defendant usually pleads guilty and pays his fine.

When asked what the priorities should be in the county he said:

"To maintain essential services without raising taxes." That sounds like a good idea but with costs of everything going up it almost sounds impossible. Melvin is not a man to think or act rashly. He plans to look into various state and federal programs and try for additional funds to be added to the county treasury by this method.

His experience at the school in the past several years since all the government programs have been initiated should be a big help to him in this area, at least he will know how to go about the process and where to look.

Some of the areas he will give consideration to in the next few years will be to improve the rural (dirt) road system and improving county facilities, such as the courthouse which will eventually need some repairs and remodeling, and another area to be considered would be the possibility of importing industry that could provide the county with a larger tax base.

Right now the county budget is very close and barely meets existing expenses for the services now being provided for the county. But, with some help from some of these other areas it is a possibility that the county will do okay. Of course, it will take time to get any of these things working for the county.

One of the things about the county roads is that each commissioner receives a total of $3,000 each year for roadwork in his precinct, this is the same total that was allocated 10 years ago. Burks says there are no immediate plans for improving the road systems but it is high on the agenda.

One area of help the county has used in the past are the revenue sharing funds but that too can only be expected to go so far and most of that money is already designated to existing county services.

Burks says he is in favor of giving the county every opportunity to improve itself and he will run his office with this in mind.

"It's not my idea to worry about being reelected but to do the best possible job I can for Lynn County. With this in mind reworking the county should be of benefit to everyone," Burks said.

As a citizen group the whole county will be in favor of his ideas and ready to stand behind such a man. A number of things may change in the county as a result.

A Visit With Your County Agent

by Stanley Young
Lynn County Agent

Correct Soil Fertility Improves Farm Income

The soil is a good starting point for improving farm income in 1979. A complete soil inventory with a soil test is suggested. It provides a producer with the opportunity to reflect on the production problems on farmed, pasture and wheatland acreages.

"The soil testing program is a logical step since fertilizer recommendations are keyed to the economical use of plant food."

Presently, many producers in Lynn County are uncertain about what crop will be planted. This uncertainty, plus the late harvest season, has prevented soil testing and fertilizer application. "If the producer is undecided as to what crop will be planted, then, it is recommended that the alternative crop to be planted also be listed on the information sheet. This approach will allow the producer to evaluate the fertilizer requirements and cost on both crops before determining which crop should be planted."

The county agent emphasized the importance of submitting soil samples which are representative of the field or pasture. "The results of the laboratory analysis will be as accurate and representative as the soil sample submitted for testing."

Agricultural producers will find that soil testing can help solve many of their soil fertility problems. The county agent invites any person interested in soil testing to contact his office for instructions on how to take soil samples, the information sheets to accompany the samples, how to prepare them for mailing, and the charges involved.

"And finally," he reminds, "there is no time like the present for taking and submitting soil samples for testing."

Agricultural Chemicals, Topic Of Meet

The usage of chemicals, herbicides and fertilizers in agricultural production will be the subject for discussion at a breakfast meeting at 7 a.m. on January 29, at the Tahoka Cafeteria. The meeting is being sponsored by Tatum Brothers represented by Leighton Knox and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. James Supak, cotton specialist and Dr. Dale Pennington, soil chemist, both with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will be present to give the program on the usage of herbicides and fertilizer in crop production. New as well as old chemicals will be reviewed.

All interested persons are invited to attend this meeting. The meeting is open to everyone regardless of age, socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

It is not quite clear what steps the Federal is taking (as in the case cigarette smoking) as wings from the Surge General of the U.S. perhaps the next Administration will have some for us.

Some students say "old enough", as there were some age that could defy the law's gravity.

Some students say "doctors give prescription which is one reason to feel that Doctors should be entrusted by the Fed. Gov. with the prescription power over intoxicating drinks as well as drugs."

The Bible does not temperance in these matters, and prescription plies the proper use.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Finding Out How Good We Are

About this time of the year in American School, teachers begin their lectures to the students about the Harmful Use of Drugs.

Alcoholic Beverages including intoxicating beer are listed as the number one drug problem in America. There are some reactions on the part of students when teachers begin their drug program.

Some students say "All my friends drink!", showing a poor choice of friends, and fellowship.

Some uneducated students say "Well, what about where Jesus changes water into wine?" Not knowing the story teaches the difference between the religion of the Old Testament and the New Testament.

What they are saying is that we don't really know what the Bible (the authority for Christian Religion) teaches about intoxicating drinks.

Proverbs 20:1 and 23:29-35 are enough to show what the teachers of the Bible felt and taught about the Alcohol Industry.
