CAROLYN'S CLATTER

by Carolyn Klaus

You think family farms are the only ones being endangered by corporate farming? There is no corporation on earth that is not attracted to an industry that is not making money. This was the reason so many farms were bought by corporations in the late and early '70's.

Insurance and loan associations are now being run with the same problem. It's a problem because money is involved.

Right now, at 10% interest, a $50,000 home mortgage loan will cost $107,955 in interest payments. The dangerous aspect of this is that there is a campaign in Texas to raise the states usury ceiling price from 10% interest for home mortgage loans.

With this possibility in the making, banks are buying savings and loan associations right and left. The possibility of getting all that extra interest on 30 year loans is really too inviting to resist.

One sad part of this situation is that many corporations come from out-of-state and wherever that happens the money is more likely to flow more freely across state lines and into Texas with less and less money available for our own use.

At the same time a savings and loan association is being bought by a larger corporation that is possibly out-of-state, it only invites still larger corporations to offer even more money. Then the problem increases because the control of the banks is under fewer companies and runs the risk of developing non-competitive action, the fact that local control is gone. Once a monopoly is formed the price for money (interest rate) has no limit.

Senator Bill Patman of Ganado says, "tight money is only a temporary condition but if interest rates are allowed to rise to 12% farmers will pay for 30 years or more. If you are interested in this area write your senator for information of SB 134."

Farmers and ranchers feel this does not help them, they should look again. What if they think their loan money is not behind and subject to the same pitfalls? It happens in one place it will strike again there else.

Lynn County Receives Needed Fertilizer For Spring Planting

Most of the past week's rain brought moisture in the form of rain to most of Lynn County farming country, most unusual for this time of year.

In some areas the rain has been heavy, in others it has been light.

Most of the rain has been received in the form of rain, and fog for six of the seven days. More was received on Wednesday.

On Wednesday at least, Tahoka had a total of .86 of an inch of rain having been on last Thursday .05 on Friday .10 on Saturday .10 on Sunday .10 on Monday .10 on Tuesday .49 by this morning. So far, this year has recorded 1.07 inches of rain, compared to .73 for the same time last year.

Soil moisture is good, thanks to the rain received in September, October, November, and, at this time, prospects are good for a good planting of crops.

Much heavier rains have fallen over large areas, but much lighter in parts of the east and south areas of the county.

The heaviest rainfall reported the past week was in the Lakeview-Petty area, where three or four inches of rain fell. The New Home community nearly matched that amount but they also experienced high winds with some damage. West Point also received a good rain.

Wilson reported two inches or more with 1.7 to 2.3 inches northwest of Wilson. East of Wilson the rain was lighter this week but last Saturday heavy showers covered large areas.

Parts of the Grassland and Draw areas had light rains but others in that area reported up to an inch.

There were some heavy rains east of O'Donnell but lighter rainfall was reported inside the city limits.

Southwest of Tahoka, the Hagood farm area, received about an inch while the rain was heavier at Wells.

Some hail fell over scattered areas of the county but no damage was reported.

CAL HUFFAKER, right, received the Student of the Year award from Jim Solomon. The Chamber of Commerce banquet was held in the school cafeteria.

According to Postmaster J. D. Coleman, Heck's award is for the Month of February and makes Mr. Heck, eligible for Driver-of-the-Year consideration.

In recommending Mr. Heck for the award, Postmaster Coleman filed a written report listing the following commendations:

1. Has exceptional safe driving practices while serving 253 boxes and 242 postal customers, and driving 129 miles per day.

2. Makes sure his vehicles are in top condition at all times to enable him to give better and faster service during severe road conditions.

4. He has established a good reporting record at work. His sick leave record show 2,232 hours.

5. All communications related to Mr. Heck, are good. We get reports from customers about special service, he gives when weather and road conditions are bad. For these reasons Mr. Heck is selected Driver-of-the-Month for February 1979.

FLOYD HECK, left, from Wilson, was selected as Driver-of-the-Month for rural carriers in Lubbock Management Sectional Center of the U.S. Postal Service. Wilson Postmaster J. D. Coleman presented the award to Heck.

Solomon presented it to Cal Huffaker. His ability to show good leadership qualities in any activity was one of the main reasons he was chosen by the Chamber to receive the award.

On behalf of the Soil Conservation Service, Eual Davis, District Conservationist, presented the Conservation Farmer and Homemaker Awards.

The Conservation Homemaker of the Year was announced as being Mary Lee Littlepage, wife of Eual Davis. Together the couple farm 1500 acres that is a combination of row crops and an Appaloosa horse ranch. During the presentation Eual made comment that the Littlepages were remodeling their home and during one of their visits Mary Lee told him, "The house is not my life. I want it to be clean and comfortable but most of all, enjoyed by the whole family."

Her response when given the award was, "Thank you. I do try to be a good homemaker as many of you out there in the audience do too." Mary Lee is from Tahoka.

Conservation Farmer of the Year is from New Home and is Charles A. Smith. During the presentation Eual explained a bit about the Smith farm. He farms 3500 acres of land in Lynn and Terry Counties, some he owns and others is leased. Cotton is his main crop and during the years he has

Tahoka Citizen Abuse Of Trash Containers

The large trash containers (dumpsters) in Tahoka are being misused by the very citizens they were intended to serve. City officials explain that foreign material, such as weeds, lumber or rocks, are being placed in the dumpsters and causing problems to sanitation employees as well as damaging property.

People having such foreign material are being urged to haul such items to the city dump individually because they are damaging trucks and not allowing the dumpsters to empty properly.

City officials would greatly appreciate the cooperation of it's citizens.

BETTYE GREEN was named Woman Of The Year at the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce Banquet Thursday night, March 15. Nadine Dunlap, right, presented the plaque.

HAROLD ROBERTS, left, receives the Man of the Year award from Tahoka's Mayor Meldon Leslie. About 275 people attended the event.

Chamber Of Commerce Banquet

filled 400,000 feet of tiled terraces, or 77 and two of his main conservation practices planting wheat on sides and turnrows and ending cotton burrs on and.

When accepting the award he said, "Thanks to all people in Lynn County work with me and help special recognition was to the group that took time from their busy schedule to put up the new Christmas decorations in the past year. Western Public Service recognized as being possible for getting up decorations. The manager, Harold Roberts but the work" was done by Johnston and Pat son.

When the Chamber recognized three individuals who have been in business in Lynn County for 50 years or more. Receiving certificates were C. M. Wood, Dr. K. R. Borden Davis. The speaker for the evening was Eddy Nicholson, America's Rocking Chair Philosopher. He is a unusual after-dinner speaker because he spoke, and played the piano to entertain his audience.

The large crowd of 275 people was completely hushed as he spoke about getting back to basics and slowing down our lives enough to "appreciate living". He remembered bygone days and applied the philosophy of those days to present living.

"Kids don't need all the gifts we give them as much as they need a mommy and daddy," said Mr. Nicholson.

He said America was built on people wanting to do a better job and we started chipping away at the foundation of America when we started sweeping little things, like manners, under the rug. One of the errors in our system today, he cited, was that we want to take something away from someone and give it to another and hope it will correct things.

He commented that the only solution to making a community grow is for "Every person to take it as a personal responsibility to be the best public relations person for their community."

The only way, in Eddy Nicholson's opinion, to get ahead in the world is to learn how to give, even in your job. He said people reach their goals by helping others reach their goals.

He ended the hour long presentation, that seemed like ten minutes, with his own personal philosophy, "Laugh often, Live well, and Love much."

His presentation fit perfectly with the theme of, "A Community United".

Cotton Producers Begin Terms On Cotton Incorporated Board

Twenty-four cotton producers elected or re-elected as members and alternate members of the Cotton Incorporated Board of Directors officially began their terms at the board's recent annual meeting in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Cotton Incorporated is the fiber company of American cotton producers. Supported by producers' per bale assessments, it conducts programs of research and marketing for every cotton producer.

The Cotton Incorporated Board of Directors is composed of cotton producers selected by certified producer organizations in each of the 18 cotton-producing states. The number of directors elected from each state is in proportion to the bales of upland cotton produced. Directors, and their alternates, on the 39-member board serve on a staggered term basis.

The new board includes two directors who formerly were alternate directors: Hugh Arant of Jackson, Mississippi; and Vernon Scott of Tillar, Arkansas.

Short Confirms Tech Board Of Regent Men

Two new members and one reappointed member to the Texas Tech University Board of Regents were confirmed by the State Senate, according to State Senator E. L. Short.

Dr. Nathan C. Galloway, Jr., of Odessa, and Joe Pevehouse of Midland were confirmed to serve on the nine-member board for six year terms. Reappointed to the board for a second term was J. Fred Bucy of Dallas.

Galloway, a specialist in internal medicine, has been active in the planning and development of the Texas Tech School of Medicine's Permian Basin Regional Health Center, to be located in Odessa. He replaces Judson F. Williams of El Paso whose term expired.

Pevehouse, who replaces Andrew J. Kemp, Jr. of Fort Worth, is a 1948 Tech graduate, and owner of Adobe Oil and Gas Corporation. A member of the Texas Tech President's Council, Pevehouse has served as president of the Midland College Foundation Board.

Bucy is president of Texas Instruments, Inc., and received his bachelor's degree from Texas Tech in 1951.

New alternate directors include Steve Wilson of Wilson, Arkansas; D. R. "Bob" Yandell, Canton, Mississippi; L. C. Thomas, Covington, Tennessee; and Gerald Caswell, Brownfield, Texas.

Directors re-elected for three-year terms are: ARKANSAS: Otis W. Howe, Jr., Wabash; CALIFORNIA: James B. Fisher, Los Angeles and Harold Weeth, Coalinga; GEORGIA: Robert L. Webster, Waynesboro; MISSISSIPPI: William A. Percy, Greenville; NORTH CAROLINA: E. Hervey Evans, Jr., Laurinburg; TENNESSEE: William B. Cowan, LaGrange; TEXAS: Donnell Echols, Lamesa; L. C. Unfred, Tahoka; J. D. Smith, Sudan.

Alternate directors re-elected include: ARKANSAS: Ralph Abramson, Holly Grove; CALIFORNIA: M. E. Hillman, Tulare and Jack Stone, Stratford; GEORGIA: Frank Wilkinson, Haralson; MISSISSIPPI: Henry C. Self, Marks; NORTH CAROLINA: Charles B. Griffin, Jr., Lewiston; TEXAS: Donley H. Marble, South Plains and Clifford Hoelscher, Garden City.

Prior to the annual meeting, most of the new alternate directors visited Cotton Incorporated's Research Center in Raleigh and sales/marketing headquarters in New York City to fully acquaint themselves with the various programs under way to expand markets for U.S. cotton and help producers improve their profits.

Tech Nutrition Expert Exposes Food Fallacies

Some of the food and diet proposals made popular these days by U.S. Government bureaucrats, do-gooders, "experts", and even a few physicians were exploded in a talk at Tahoka Rotary Club last Thursday noon by Dr. Mina Lamb, retired head of Texas Tech University home economics department and a nationally known authority on nutrition.

She urges common sense in diets. Most of our standard foods are safe, she declared, and the value of so-called "natural" foods and "health" foods were down-played. Many of the higher priced foods on the grocery shelves are safe but no better than most of the lower priced items on the shelves. Reading labels closely will prove the point, she said. Some of the imitation foods, also may be worse than the real things.

If our foods in the United States are so bad, why is it that our life expectancy has increased to 76 years, about ten years in twenty years. We have one of the highest life expectancy rates in the world. Compare this, she said, with India, where the average life is only 40 years, although the average diet there is frugal.

Americans are living longer and are, therefore, susceptible to heart diseases and cancer. Of course, diabetes and obesity are also major causes of death in our country.

This is not to say, though, that we should not be careful with too much foods that will raise our cholesterol such as sugar and fats, and nitrates.

The program was arranged by Calloway Huffaker, who introduced the speaker. Dr. Lamb's husband, Arch Lamb, former Lubbock county commissioner, accompanied her to the meeting.

'GOOD' MARRIAGES NEED GROWN PEOPLE
"Good" marriages require grown people—in their "fifth" stage of emotional development.

Five Stages
Age—in years—does not necessarily equal emotional maturity.

A sound marriage requires that both partners have progressed through five stages of development—reach the adult stage.

Marriage, Needs
A marriage is an union involving two separate personalities—and maturity is needed in order to build a mutually satisfying relationship that gives consideration to individual needs.

Maturity Takes Time
Maturity is a process that takes time, and it is doubtful that anyone is completely mature in every way.

However, when immaturity hinders successful adult relationships, there is need for concern.

Stages 'Self-Study'
A bit of self-study may help each person recognize his own stage of emotional development—and motivate him to action that "growing up."

Here are the five stages of INFANT SELF-LOVE. The infant stage is self-love. Attention and concern with self-ed fulfillment are characteristic.

A marriage partner keeps major traits self-adoration will be difficult in acknowledging the needs of another. DEPENDENCY ON OTHER—As an infant his love is expanded include that of his caregiver, usually his mother.

Her attention to his and well-being satisfies most basic needs.

Individuals still in stage have strong urge to be pampered, to be for--or to have demands met in a "mating" way.

CHILDHOOD PLAYS—A child shows in playmates of his own and sex. His interests around activities include these friends.

If, being "with" remains crucial to individual, it is understood how remaining in this stage could mean, with marriage.

TEENAGE FLIRTATION—In adolescence, they short but strong attraction to members of the opposite sex. Most are "relationships which dissolve as the individual's interest is directed someone else.

The "constant flirt" be the individual who has traces of the adolescent. A long-term involvement a lifetime commitment be unrealistic for him.

ADULT—In the adult stage, the individual sorted through his trial error experiences and ed on one individual whom he desires a meaningful relationship.

W VEGETABLE TRANSPLANTS

want to get a jump on spring gardening and save money, too, your own vegetable plants. As an infant, your own vegetable plants are being economical, self production of readily available transplants lessens danger of disease and fresher plants. But you can transplant indoors if you get early yields. The garden publicizing the proper dates for the most popular transplants are seed peat pots, pellets. You can buy a 4-inch flat 3 inches deep, easy to handle, yet enough to grow 250 to 300 plants to transplant.

Regardless of the containers, you'll need a good growth medium. Topsoil often contains weed seed and disease organisms. Therefore, the best choice is artificial mix. It may be mixed at home or bought.

For a homemade mixture, get a half bushel of shredded sphagnum peat moss, a half bushel of grade 2, 3, or 4 vermiculite, eight tablespoons of 5-10-10 fertilizer, three tablespoons of 20 percent superphosphate, five tablespoons of ground limestone and a half teaspoon of chelated iron. Just before mixing, dampen the peat moss with a gallon of warm water. Then thoroughly blend the peat and vermiculite and add the dry fertilizers.

For best results, start tomatoes, peppers, eggplant, broccoli, cauliflower and cabbage in seed flats. To sow seed, line the flat with newspaper to keep soil from sifting out. Rows should be 1/8 to 1/2 inch deep. Sow two or three seeds per inch. Cover them lightly with soil, then apply a fine stream of water until the entire mix is moist. Be careful not to soak the mix since peat moss will hold nine times its weight in water.

Once the flats are seeded, put them where they will receive plenty of light and a constant temperature. Most vegetable seeds germinate best at 75 to 80 degrees F. If you're growing plants such as watermelon, cantaloupe, squash and cucumber, start them in peat containers rather than seed flats.

Sow three or four seeds per pot. After germination, thin to one or two plants.

To transplant vegetables to containers, lift them after they've developed their first true leaves. Gently pry plants to keep roots from breaking.

When you put the plant in the pot, set it at the same depth it grew in the seed flat. However, plant tomatoes a little deeper.

After transplanting, gently water plants with a fine stream at their bases. Once they're established, water only when the surface feels dry.

A few weeks before transplanting in the garden, reduce watering and expose plants to lower temperatures to toughen them.

Water plants immediately before you set them outdoors. For plants grown in peat, dig the hole a little deeper than the container and cover it entirely with soil. If any portion is exposed, moisture will be drawn out, drying the plant's root system.

Water Group Tries To Protect Fresh Water In West Texas

Representatives of Southwest Soil and Water Protection Association, a newly formed and chartered group concerned with the exploitation and pollution of the fresh water supply in the West Texas and Eastern New Mexico Area, were supported in their efforts Wednesday, March 7, by members of the Texas Farmers Union. Mr. and Mrs. Rex Dunn and Charlotte Garner of Seminole, along with Ron Butler, Executive Secretary of the Texas Farmers Union met in Austin with Representative Jim Rudd, Senator E. L. Short, and representatives of the Department of Water Resources. The group told these officials of what they feel is a problem currently facing farmer/landowners and tenant farmers as well as the population of the West Texas/Eastern New Mexico area as a whole—the pollution and exploitation of the fresh water supply in the area. All of the persons visited were aware of the formation of the Southwest Soil and Water Protection Association and seemed sympathetic to the group's cause in that each offered suggestions for further action.

Recently the Railroad Commission has requested an audience with the Steering Committee of our group," Mr. Dunn, temporary president for the group, said. "That meeting will be taking place soon. We would like to find the quickest and best solution to protecting both oil and water production in the area."

According to Butler, "Texas Farmers Union has taken a stand concerning the protection of the fresh water supply in our policy statement for eight years now; we are very pleased to see others joining in this effort and will be happy to be of help in every way possible in the joint effort."

The Southwest Soil and Water Protection Association is a newly-formed group which first began meeting in November of last year as a group of citizens concerned with the exploitation and pollution of the fresh water supply of the area and the protection of surface rights. Since a meeting held February 19 where the by-laws and articles of incorporation were discussed and it was revealed that the group had a charter, the group has grown to some 75 families in membership. Applications for membership have been received from persons in Tahoka, Seminole, San Angelo, Loop, Seagraves, Brownfield, Lamesa, Denver City, Welch, Lubbock, Stanton, O'Donnell and Lovington, New Mexico.

PARKER PHARMACY

No one likes the idea of putting the old choppers to soak in a glass on the bedside table overnight, and more Americans than ever are realizing that by undertaking a fairly simple home-routine of oral hygiene, they can anticipate sinking their natural teeth into an apple, even at age 90. Gum disease remains the greatest "tooth thief" for adults over 30 but the affliction could almost be erased through preventative dentistry and inexpensive home care. The idea that dentists like to pull teeth is a myth, and your dentist will gladly teach you how to brush, and floss your teeth, and use disclosing tablets to discover plaque formations. In the long run, you'll save some money and discomfort if you see your dentist regularly, and faithfully practice the home care he recommends.

REV. JIMMY L. BEGGS
Assembly Of God Hosts Missionary

The Reverend Jimmy L. Beggs, an Assemblies of God missionary to Kenya, will be the guest speaker March 25, at 6 p.m. at the Assembly of God Church in Tahoka at 1929 Lockwood, the Reverend Elmer Tyler, pastor, has announced.

Mrs. Beggs was the national director of the women's auxiliary groups.

Before their ministry in Kenya, the Beggses ministered for 7 years in evangelism and teaching in Tanzania.

About their work in Kenya, Mr. Beggs says, "Kenya is the calm eye of the hurricane of war and trouble that is sweeping Africa. God is allowing Kenya's churches to experience growth. Their stability and maturity will be a basis for African missionary activities in the future."

Prior to their missionary ministry, Mr. and Mrs. Beggs pastored in Morton. To prepare for their ministerial careers the Beggses attended Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahachie. Mr. Beggs earned a B.A. degree. They will also present the need for missionary recruits. The public is invited to attend.

Check Crop Yield Notices

NCA and Crop Yield Notices should be checked by all operators as they are received. Grain sorghum and wheat operators have 15 days from the date of the notice to file a proven yield request. If an appeal is filed, the operator must furnish production records for all farms in this county and adjoining counties in which he has an interest. The base period for proven yields is the 3 years, 1976, 1977, and 1978. If you have any questions go by the ASCS office.

Area Farmers Testify In Austin For Aid To Young Farmers

Pete Bryant of Midland, Charlotte Garner of Seminole, and Vernie Moore of Floydada, farmers, told members of the House Agriculture Committee Wednesday, March 7, that a state guaranteed loan program to aid young farmers in land purchases would be a valuable catalyst in keeping family farms in the hands of family farmers.

Members of the House Agriculture Committee, chaired by Rep. Forrest Green of Corsicana, heard an overwhelming amount of positive testimony Wednesday afternoon for the Family Farm Security Act, a bill authored by Rep. Luther Jones of El Paso. Among the major proponents are the Texas Farmers Union Young Couples committee, the Texas Department of Agriculture, the Texas Independent Bankers Association, and several other expert witnesses.

The FFSA program is designed not to set up a new loan program, but rather to place the state in the role of guarantor in order to help the young farmer obtain a loan through conventional means. The land itself would revert to the state as collateral in case of default and a board of both farmers and financial experts would set forth rules, select and approve candidates, and administer the program. The Texas Department of Agriculture would be the controlling agency.

"These are the young farmers who we're asking the state to help. We want to keep family farms in the hands of families. And we can easily prove that such action is helpful not only to the farmer but to every consumer. It's to America's interest that we keep our productive land in the hands of independent family farmers and no one else."

The Family Farm Security Act is already operating in the State of Minnesota, where one former official from that state who testified, said "things are going well with the program (FFSA) in our state; it's a success we're proud to claim."

Stenholm Says SBA Extends Deadline

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announces that the Small Business Administration has extended the deadline for submitting applications under the Disaster Loan Program. April 5, 1979, is the new deadline for Physical Disaster Loan applications. Farmers and ranchers who suffered financial hardship due to drought losses on 1978 crops may now file by the April 5 deadline. July 6, 1979, has been set as the new deadline for Economic Disaster loans.

Congressman Stenholm has been working with the Administrator of the Small Business Administration on a daily basis in an effort to seek these extensions. Many farmers and ranchers in the area have faced difficulty in filing applications because of the fact that it has been impossible in many instances to harvest crops and obtain the necessary ASCS certification which must accompany an SBA application. The Congressman indicated his hope that this extension will prove helpful to individuals who have experienced losses and thereby qualify for this program.

SCS Plans To Employ More Veterans

USDA has announced plans to expand employment of Veterans in the Soil Conservation Service. "We have several technician vacancies throughout Texas which have been designated as priority positions," said Eual Davis, District Conservationist in Tahoka. "Those who served in the Armed Forces any period from August 5, 1964, through May 7, 1975, are eligible," Davis continued.

Appointments can be made at the GS-3 level ($4.02 hr.) regardless of qualifications but you would need to move where the jobs are. For appointment to grade GS-4 ($4.51 hr.) the applicant must meet appropriate qualification standards.

Children's Home, Rotary Club Subject

The work of Lubbock Children's Home, which has served 1,700 boys and girls since its establishment in 1954, was discussed at Tahoka Rotary Club last Thursday by Floyd Stumbo, superintendent for 21 years.

The establishment is located northeast of Lubbock on the Idalou highway. The home now has 18 substantial cottages in which familytype living is emphasized for the 75 children on campus. On the farm, youths are given training in several vocations in addition to crop and livestock production. Recreation facilities include an indoor heated swimming pool.

Land and building have been largely by interested Church of Christ members of this section, as well as much of the $900,000 annual budget.

The Home organization is a multiple service agency and provides homes for orphans and children from broken homes. Other major work of the staff is in providing foster homes or adoption for children, family counseling, and maintains centers in several other places including Plainview and El Paso.

Fred McGinty was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker. President Monte Dodson announced next Thursday, March 29, will be Farmer's Day at the club and Rotarians are expected to bring a farmer guest to the luncheon and program.

REV. R. E. ZELL, evangelist, will conduct services at Grassland Church of the Nazarene March 27-April 1.
